Great Excitement Over Mirror Pond.

Mrs. Jenny Bluejay was very fussy to keep her health and youth, so that she could keep the love of Mr. Bluejay. So she always came to take a drink of nice cool water at Mirror Pond, for her complexion, health and beauty, long before breakfast, even before the sun was up, sometimes.

On the morning after naughty Sammy Muskrat had made a hole in the dam of Mirror Pond and let all the water out, it happened to be very dark when Mrs. Bluejay went to get her drink, and at first she did not notice that Mirror Pond had run away, so walked right into the mud where the water had been, and got her slippers all covered with mud. And she began to scold in a very high and loud voice. Then her husband and children, and all her friends, came, and they made a terrible racket, and scolded and scolded, until everybody was wide awake, and came to their doors and looked out, and saw what had happened to Mirror Pond.

It was an awful sight and everybody was sad and down-hearted. Truly, Mirror Pond was ruined, and its place was taken by acres and acres of deep and black mud. Silver Pond had run away in the night! It had no legs, but it had run away.

Dick Otter called out to Benny Mink, who was sitting on the top step of the porch of his little house, with both hands covering his sad face: "Hey, Benny Mink! Isn't it awful, awful, that Silver Pond is ruined! We're going to move today, way down to the Big River. They say the fishing down there is fine. Come and go along with us."

But Benny had been thinking very hard; and he called to Dick Otter, "Come on with me. Let's go down and see the Beavers. They are wonderful engineers and builders, and I believe they are smart enough to make a new Silver Pond, for you know they made the one that ran away last night in the dark."

So Dick Otter called back, "All right, I'll come over and we'll make a try." And Benny and Dick started to cross over to the house of the Beavers. But what do you suppose happened to those two smart fishermen? Why, they both got stuck fast in the mud.

You would have laughed to see the sight. For you know that both Dick Otter and Benny Mink have very little, short legs; and their feet are very big for their size.

Now, that mud in the bottom of Mirror Pond was about two feet deep, and there was sticky clay mixed with the black mud; and Dick and Benny were stuck fast in the mud. It certainly was a funny sight!

Tomorrow—The Mud Trap.

They both got stuck fast in the mud.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1918.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. B. Linscott, D.D.

Jacob Deceives His Father. Genesis xxvii., 18-29.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

1. Verses 18, 19. Where can you draw the line between innocent and wicked deception?
2. Why is a lie never justifiable?
3. What is your definition of a lie?

Golden Text—Speak ye truth each one with his neighbor.—Ephesians iv., 25.

DECEPTION TO A MAN'S HURT IS CRUEL.

One of the meanest records in Scripture history is that of Jacob deceiving his father; it was a most cruel and unworthy act. That it worked out good, and that the results were apparently what God originally intended, is no excuse whatever for the meanness of the act. God would have worked out his own purposes in some just way, and, at any rate, God never depends upon evil deeds to accomplish his good purposes. Whoever deceives a man to his hurt is ignoble and deserves the censure of all right thinking people. There may be rare times when keeping back certain facts for a righteous purpose is justified, but to deceive a person to his injury is never justifiable. We must avoid such deception.

DAILY FISH BULLETIN

STEAM TRAWLING.

(Issued by the Canada Food Board.)

Trawling is perhaps the simplest method of catching fish. There are no hooks, lines or bait to bother with, for the whole operation consists of dragging a huge poke-shaped net over the sea bottom. This net is made of strong hemp or manilla twine, with a mouth ninety to a hundred feet wide. It is kept open by means of two doors or "otter boards" at each side of the mouth. To these otter boards are attached the steel wire towing warps. The warps are coiled around the drums of the great trawl winch on the fore deck of the vessel and lead to two gallows placed forward and aft on the side of the ship. When the winch winds the net in, the otter board come up to the gallows and the net lies alongside the ship and can be hauled aboard by tackles. The fish slide into the apex, or "cod end" of the net. A strop is placed just above the cod end, and, clapping on a stout tackle from the foremast, the bag of fish is hauled up over the pens on the forward deck. The draw rope of the cod end is pulled and the fish are discharged onto the trawler's decks. The draw rope is made up again, and the net is hove into the water, ready for another haul.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baskett announce the engagement of their second daughte Eva Irene to William Edgar Holland this city, the marriage to take plac this month.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Pole, Glencoe, Ont., was the scene of a pretty wedding on October 30, when their youngest daughter, Lettie Irene, was united in marriage to George W. Hodgson of Chatham. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Whaley of Appin. The bride was charmingly gowned in shell-pink crepe de chine with overdress of ivory georgette crepe trimmed with French lace and seed pearls, with veil of French tulle arranged in an original manner plaited and bound with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and maiden hair fern. After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served. The young couple motored to London, the bride traveling in a suit of reindeer brown and seal furs, the gift of the groom. Among the guests were friends from Sarnia, Chatham and London.

SEND BOXES TO SOLDIERS.

BLENHEIM, Nov. 3.—The Blenheim I. O. D. E. and the Women's Patriotic League are two institutions that are exceedingly busy these days preparing Christmas boxes for the soldiers overseas and mailing them. Their first consignment already shipped consisted of 23 mail sacks. There are more in preparation. Each society is making an effort to see that each soldier shall receive a box. This means two boxes for every Blenheim soldier.

THORNDALE W. I.

The Woman's Institute shipped 35 chickens to Parkhill to be canned for the soldiers overseas.

PORT DOVER W. I.

The monthly meeting of the Port Dover branch of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Bell, the president. There was a fair attendance of members, and after the usual routine of business was disposed of a solo by Miss Law was enjoyed. Mrs. H. B. Barret, in her ever pleasing and able manner, gave a paper on "Success," which was listened to and enjoyed by all who were privileged to hear such a helpful message. Mrs. (Rev.) Ward addressed the meeting, and in a telling manner gave an outline of how best to strive for higher ideals, and in so doing drove home the points of Mrs. Barrett's paper.

A pleasant feature of this meeting was the presentation of Thrift Badges to three Girl Guides by the president. Unfortunately others of the Guides were unable to be present.

There was a voluntary egg shower, but for some unlooked for cause not enough were brought in at the time for shipment. They expect to have a jam shower next month.

After listening to remarks from several Woodhouse Women's Institute visitors all adjourned to the refreshment room, where war-time lunches were served and much enjoyed.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Who Replates Silver?

Dear Cynthia Grey,—How many times may I come to your corner and have a "wee" chat? I sincerely hope I am welcome.

Well, Miss Grey, we have some knives that were once silver, but with constant use for years the silver has disappeared. Can you tell me of any place they could be replated?

Here is a recipe for dark cake, and it is a reliable one: One egg, ¾ cup of brown sugar; beat together, add ½ cup of sour milk with ½ teaspoon of soda stirred in milk, dissolve 2 teaspoons of cocoa in a little hot water and add to mixture, vanilla flavoring, and sift in 1 heaping cup of flour with 1 heaping teaspoon of baking powder, and last but not least, add ½ cup of melted butter and fold in. Put in buttered pan and bake in slow oven for from 20 to 30 minutes. This is a tested recipe, and never has failed.

Baking Powder—One-half pound baking soda, ½ pound cream of tartar, 3 ounces tartaric acid, 1 cup of flour; mix together and put through sieve three or four times, and put in tins.

Now, I think it's time for me to bid you au revoir. CLOVER LEAF.

Ans.—At various times I have read advertisements telling of a method to replate silver. Just now I cannot locate one of these addresses, but perhaps I may come across them later. Or, in the meantime, can any reader advise us what to do?

Making one's own baking powder is a new idea to me, and one that commends itself from the economic point of view if from no other. We're always pleased to see you, "lucky leaf."

Sends It to England.

Dear Cynthia,— Who comes oftener than I do? Oh, Miss Grey, I was looking at a paper the other day and noticed the Mail-Box on it, so I glanced over it to see who had written that day, and what do you think I saw? It was a girl who had written to your cosy corner, and her name was signed "Babe 17." She said she hoped that no one would steal her pan-name. It was Tuesday, February 5, I think, and I thought then that I had nearly stolen it, but mine is just "Babe," so it lacks the "17."

I thank you for telling me where to write to to find out about wrapping apples. I do enjoy your Mail-Box very much, and every night I cut it out for to send to my brother in England.

They are drawing sugar beets now, and all we can hear and see is wagons every day but Sunday.

Isn't the "flu" just awful? We have all kept away from it so far. I must close and get supper. I am chief cook and bottle washer nowadays. I am a regular little housekeeper, although I am only 14 years old. I will close. Good luck to you always, BABE.

Ans.—I wonder how many other Pagelies live in the sugar beet district? Have you ever gone to the factory to see the sugar-making process, Babe? It would be quite interesting, no doubt. You should congratulate yourself on being able to "cook and bottle wash"; it is an accomplishment few women get along without some time in their lives, and how nice to have learned early. Suppose you often wish brother was home again, so you might "scrap" over the Page. We'll hope the time is not far distant when all our brave lads will be in the Land of the Maple once again.

Just What She Wanted.

Dear Miss Grey,—I guess I am rather late in writing to thank Rose Leaf for the crochet pattern she sent me. It is just the kind I wanted, and am going to use it right away. Does Rose Leaf want it returned when I copy it? I enjoy reading your page very much. Please criticize my writing. 1, 2, 3.

Ans.—Such nice appreciation is gladly passed on to Rose Leaf.

Was It Side-Tracked?

Dear Miss Grey,—Well, this is the first time that I come to write to your column, although I read it almost regularly. Have seen where Forest asked how to sweeten lard. Heat up the lard to boiling point, then put in four or five apples (cut but not pared) until brown, then put in crock and tie with paper, omitting the salt and cloth. If the lard is very rancid try onions or raw potatoes, let simmer until brown. Will sign SOLIDER'S SISTER.

Ans.—What nicer signature could you have than just "Soldier's Sister"? It's a title to be proud of, I think. Very glad to publish your hints for benefit of Forest and others.

Try Another Brand.

Dear Miss Grey,—Thanks ever so much for the address; my correspondents were nice. Say, readers, isn't the flour awful nowadays? Mother made a coffee cake this morning, and it was just like a lot of bread crumbs. She said it was a waste of sugar to make a cake nowadays.

I saw in The Advertiser where you had no lonelies' names, so I am sending you a name. This boy has the military medal. My lonely sent me a strap taken off a German he had killed himself. I saw where a reader wanted to know who else writes to Driver Stephens. I, too, write to him, and I find him a very interesting correspondent. I wonder if he will go to Siberia? I am. THE ORIGINAL H. S. GIRL.

Ans.—I am pleased to hear that you liked your correspondents. The name you send will be given out to someone anxious to be kind to a "lonely." Thanks for sending it.

As for the flour, I do not believe all the flour is unsatisfactory as that your mother is using. Would advise her to try another brand.

A Helpful Letter.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see "Blue Bell" would like to know how to stiffen crochet baskets. I made ever so many last year, and successfully stiffened them with granulated sugar and water, boiled until the consistency of liquid glue. If necessary to wash the article, be sure it is well dried before dipped, using a spoon to work the sugar into the cotton. Then I keep a basin of cold water to wash my hands often, while I stretch it over a form and keep pulling it into shape as it hardens. The shine on them is not acquired from the sugar, but a coating of white shellac after two or three days.

The recipe of green tomato mincemeat is just grand. I made some last year. This year I had tomatoes already cleaned and cut to put through the chopper when we all took sick with the Spanish "flu," and, after standing two or three days, was obliged to throw them away. Am afraid it is too late now for more green tomatoes.

Am sending a recipe for graham bread: 1 cup white flour, 1 cup graham flour, ½ cup grapenuts, ¾ cup raisins or sultanas, 1 teaspoon soda, pinch of salt, ¾ cup brown sugar, sour milk or buttermilk. Mix all dry ingredients well, then add milk enough to make a batter, as for cake. Bake one hour in slo woven, using large baking powder tins or coffee tins, and keep covered while baking.

As you say, lux and warm water, I found, will wash brushed wool. I washed my little girl's cap and scarf and my own sweater coat, and they were just lovely after dry, only I find brushed wool stretches very easy.

A READER FROM KITCHENER.

Ans.—Your letter is packed full of help from A to Z, and for it all we are most grateful. Hope some time you may in turn be helped by the Box.

No Joke For C. G.

Dear Miss Grey,—Has the stocking foot pattern been exhausted before I asked for one? I sent a stamped addressed envelope for it, and have waited and waited. Two or three of my friends have also asked for it and they tell me they have not received it yet. Is it a joke, or is there some more to pay? If so, we would like to know.

I am sending you a recipe for preserved apples, that is good. Perhaps some of the readers may like it. Plenty of apples and brown sugar now.

Apple Preserve (Good).—Weigh equal quantities of good brown sugar and apples; peel core and cut the apples into small square pieces; make a syrup of one pint of water to three pounds of sugar. Boil until pretty thick, then add the apples, the grated peel of a lemon or two, a little whole white ginger (if liked). Boil until the apples are clear and begin to fall, then it will be done. (Signed) AMETHYST.

Ans.—No, Amethyst, the pattern isn't exhausted, but my time (and I'm afraid, patience) has been! I can assure you too that there is no "joke" about the pattern. You'd realize this if the mail man kept bringing you "milyuns" of requests at every mail. However, I think that by now your pattern will have reached you, and you can refoot to your heart's content. That recipe for apple preserve certainly do sound "scrumptious."

Stiffening a Basket.

Dear Miss Grey,—In the paper I saw where Blue Bell was asking how to make a crochet basket stiff.

Take white wax and melt it, put the basket in this while hot, take out and shape it. This does not soften when wet. I hope my help to Blue Bell is all right. Can I come again? Yours truly, A SCHOOL GIRL.

P.S.—How's my writing?

Ans.—I am sure Blue Bell will be pleased with your help. Of course you may come again, dearie.

P.S.—Pretty well, thank you.

APPLE RECIPES

Apples Balls With a Mixture of Fruit.

Peel large apples, with a potato scoop cut out small balls, dropping them into water with a little vinegar added to keep them white. Prepare a mixture of grapefruit pulp, pineapple and banana and put into glasses; add a few of the apple balls, pour over all the juice left from the fruit, which has been boiled down to a sugar. Cool and serve at once, or the apples may turn brown.

Apricot Sherbet Served in Apple Shells.

Select bright red apples of uniform size, rub until they have a high polish. Cut off the blossom end and scoop out the pulp; carefully notch the edge. Fill with sherbet and serve upon apple leaves.

Cream Sauce.

Beat the white of one egg stiff; add the well-beaten yolk of one egg and gradually add one cup of powdered sugar. Beat one-half cup of thick cream and one-fourth cup of milk until stiff; combine the mixture and add one-half teaspoon of vanilla.

Brown Betty.

One cup of bread crumbs, eight sliced apples, one-half cup of molasses, one-half cup cold water; butter a baking dish, put a layer of crumbs, then a layer of apples, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar and dot with bits of butter; repeat until the dish is full; insert a knife in several places and pour in the water and molasses. Set in a pan of hot water and bake for forty-five minutes. Serve hot with cream or hard sauce.

Afterthought.

One pint of nice apple sauce, sweetened to taste, stir in the yolks of two eggs well beaten; bake for fifteen minutes. Cover with a meringue made of two well-beaten whites and one-half cup of powdered sugar. Return to the oven and brown.

Apples in Bloom.

Cook red apples in boiling water until soft. Have the water half surround the apples, and turn often. Remove skins carefully, that the red color may remain, and arrange on serving dish. To the water add one cup of sugar, grated rind of one lemon and juice of one orange; simmer until reduced to one cup; cool and pour over the apples. Serve with cream sauce.

Apple Butter.

Pare, core and quarter the desired quantity of apples, allowing one-third of sweet to two-thirds of sour apples. Boil sweet cider until it is reduced one-half. While the cider is boiling rapidly add apples until the mixture is the desired thickness. Cook slowly, stirring constantly and skimming when necessary. When the apples begin to separate from the cider, take two pounds of sugar to each bushel of apples used; add a little ground cinnamon and boil until it remains in a smooth mass, when a little is cooled. Usually one and one-half bushels of apples are enough for one and one-half gallons of boiled cider.

Apple Balls Served in Syrup.

Prepare the apple balls as above; prepare a rich sugar syrup; color with a little pink color paste and drop in the balls, cook slowly until the balls are softened, pile in glasses and add a little syrup to each glass. Serve cold.

Apple Butter Canapes.

Cut thick slices from a loaf of brown bread; stamp into rounds with a biscuit cutter, spread each round with apple butter; in the centre place an English walnut or hickorynut meat and arrange a border of chopped nuts around the edge. Serve with cheese cubes.

Apple Catchup.

Quarter, pare and core twelve sour apples; put in a saucepan, cover with water and let simmer until soft (nearly all the water should be evaporated); rub through a sieve, and add the following to each quart of pulp: One cup of sugar, one teaspoon of cloves, one teaspoon of mustard, two teaspoons of cinnamon, and add one teaspoon of salt, two cups of vinegar and two grated onions. Bring the catchup to a boil and let simmer gently for one hour. Bottle, cork and seal.
