HARRY CARVELL son of Lewis Carvell, died at Charlottetown on Sunday, 26th ult,

SMELT FISHING with bag nets began on Friday last and the season will continue until 15:h February.

SHOCKING :—A boy of 13 years died from exposure while drunk in Charlottetown, P. E. Island, last Thursday night.

PRECARIOUS :—Mr. Wm. Lyons piloted the Tracadie mail carrier over the Miramichi to Chatham yesterday morning. They were about three hours accomplishing the feat, and they returned again about 11 a. m.

LOGS LOST.—The Campbellton Enterprise says that on Tuesday night 26th, ult. the river broke Wm. Glover's boom, causing the loss of about 3,000 logs, a few of which are being recovered at a great expense. Mr. Glover will be a loser to the extent of $1,500 by this misfortune.

PERSONAL:—The Telegraph says that Mr. Edward Hickson and wife, of Bathurst, are staying at the Knoll, Sussex where they are visiting Mrs. Hickson's sister.

Senator Snowball returned home on Thursday last from a trip to the upper provinces.

DIED ABROAD:—Word has been received of the death of John Agate, a former resident of Campbellton. He died of fever, Nov. 4th, at Cartagena, Republic of Columbia. Mr. Agate served his time in the I. C. R. shops in Montcon, afterwards moving to Campbellton but has been in the Isthmus of Panama for the last few years.—Enterprise.

TRACADIE:—An Ottawa despatch of Tuesday says:—"Rev. Father Babineau, chaplain of the Tracadie lazaretto, arrived in the city yesterday. He visited the department of public works, where plans are being prepared for the leprosy hospital, tenders for the construction of which will shortly be invited by the department. The new building will give ample accommodation, and in point of comfort and convenience also will be a vast improvement upon the old hospital building."

PRICE WEBBER IS COMING with his dramatic company, and they are to appear in Masonic Hall, Chatham, on Monday evening next. The entertainment-loving public will be glad to welcome the old favorites back. Mr. Webber is one of the most reliable managers travelling and he always gives his patrons good value for their money, and clean performances.

Do you Cough? Hawker's Tolu and Wild Cherry Balsam is a sure Cough cure.

THE SIDEWALKS :—If the Street and Fire Commissioners cannot furnish the citizens with a better service than they now have for cleaning the sidewalks of snow, they had better get out of the business altogether. The snow plow used this season is one of the most stupidly contrived things we have seen for a good while. It is simply a waste of money to pay anybody for dragging it along the streets.

THE CHATHAM FOUNDRY has passed into the hands of Mr. James G. Miller, who is a son of Mr. James Miller, late of Mortimore. Mr. Miller, jr. has had considerable experience in the business in Portland and other places, and is a practical machinist. He will take charge of the Foundry and machine shop personally and will no doubt, receive a fair share of public patronage.

A REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE:—On Tuesday morning Mrs. Joseph Rigby, of Glenelg—whose home was on the Rigby farm, part of which is in Kent and part in Northumberland counties—died at the age of 81 years. An hour and half after her brother, Mr. John Hacket also of Glenelg, died, aged 85 years. These two were also married on the same day 51 years ago. The coincidence of their marriages and deaths is a remarkable one. Mr. Hacket was the father of Mr. Jas. Hacket of Chatham. The funeral will take place at 11 a. m. to day.

KEDGED TO A PLACE OF SAFETY.—It was not the str. St. Nicholas that saved the sch. Bessie by bringing her from Tyrrel's Point, but Joseph Curry and Thomas McFarlane. The St. Nicholas could not be got for the work, on account of the ice in the river Monday morning, and Messrs. Curry and McFarlane kedged the schooner all the way, grounding her in a safe position near the ferry wharf and getting out her cargo of oysters. They had only a short cable to work with, but brought the waterlogged craft up in good time with the flood tide.—[World.

WEDDING AT HARDWICK :—Mr Joseph Savoy had his marriage celebrated at his home in the Village with a good old fashioned wedding, where music and dancing were the prominent features of the evening's amusement. It was a jolly hoedown, where all hands present seemed to be making merry over the fact that their friend Joe had taken unto himself a wife. His large residence was thronged with happy ones, all bent on making it merry for Joe and the happy bride. He was married at the R. C. Chapel, Point Sapin, to Mary Robichau, daughter of Lazarus Robichau. [World.

"THE LEADER" is the latest addition to New Brunswick journalism. We have received a copy, but it does not appear to be the first issued, as there is a portion of one of Mr. T. G. Marquis' stories in it, evidently continued, although there is nothing to indicate that there has been some of it in a former number. The paper is evidently a juvenile production, but nevertheless, a creditable one, as it is newsy, well printed and unobjectionable in tone. The publisher omits to say where his office is or what are his terms of subscription or advertising. We wish him success anyhow. Its interesting editorial on St. Andrew's Day is seasonable and well written.

ASSIGNED :—The Montreal Journal of Commerce says :—Belyea & Alexander, shingle mill, Chatham, N. B., have assigned. Liabilities $1 500. They went there in the spring of '82 from Marysville, N. B, and have been doing but little since the start. Last season they practically did nothing and went behind."

This firm fitted up, at considerable expense, the old Lamont mill below Douglastown, on the Newcastle side of the Miramichi. Their capital was considered sufficient at first, but the non-paying prices offered for shingles in the United States markets rendered it impossible for them to meet their bills. They deserved to succeed but trade was against them almost from the start.

THE WHALE FISHERY :—The whaling steamer Eclipse, says the St. John's (Nfld) Herald, which arrived at Dundee a few days ago from Davis Straits, had on board the largest catch of whales that has been received for years. Eight whales were caught, equal to one hundred and twenty five tons of oil, and six and a half tons of bone. The Eclipse reports that the catches of the Dundee vessels were: Aurora, 10 whales, equal to eighty tons oil, and four tons bone; Esquimaux, one whale, equal to twenty tons oil and one ton bone; Nova Zembla, clean. The price of bone, is £1,700 per ton and of oil, £20 per ton. It is estimated that the value of fishing oil is £4,500, and of bone £29,000.

UNITED WORKMEN :—Mr. John Milne, of Toronto, organized a Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen in Chatham on Monday evening. Twenty five good citizens signed the roll. They are liable to assessments, which have averaged less that $14 a year in Canada in the past, and are insured for $2,000, payable at death. No one over forty-five is eligible for membership. The Lodge was instituted in Odd Fellows Hall. The following officers were installed.

Alex. Robinson, Past Master Workman.
R. B. Adams, Master Workman.
Robt. Murray, Jr., Foreman.
W. R. Gould, Overseer.
Geo. Watt, Recorder.
Edw. Johnston, Financier.
W. T. Harris, Receiver.
M. S. Hocken, Guide.
C. A. A. Bruce, Inside Watchman.
John Rundle, Outside Watchman.

A Grand Lodge with 2,000 members and 43 Lodges, is about to be formed for Quebec and the Maritime Province.—[World

STILL THEY COME:—The St. John Globe says:—A little son of Mr. Michael Donovan, butcher, King street, Carleton, had a providential escape from death. While playing in one of the rooms of the house he was struck in the head by revolver shot accidentally discharged by his brother. Fortunately the bullet did not reach any vital part, so the lad is all righ', The injured child is hardly three years of age and the brother who fired the shot not more than ten. He had in some way become possessed of a small 22 calibre revolver, and was working with it, when the hammer fell, exploding a cartridge. The bullet struck his brother just above the eye and lodged in the forehead. Dr Kenney was summoned and examination showed the wound was not dangerous. The bullet was removed and this afternoon the child was all right. Had the bullet entered the eye it would have penetrated the brain, causing instant death, The child's escape was a very narrow one.

BAD FOR THE PAINTERS.—The wife of Alex. McDougall, caretaker of Camp Hill cemetery, was surprised, early yesterday morning, to find several painters placing their ladders against her house on Gottingen street, and proceeding to do it up in a very artistic manner. She remonstrated with the men, telling them that they had certainly made a mistake but they felt quite positive they had the right house, and proceeded to change its sombre hue into a resplendent canary color. They remained in blissful ignorance of the fact that they were painting the wrong house until the owner of the property arrived home for dinner, and even then it took considerale argument to convince them of their mistake. It is said that the firm whose men were sent to do the work will be compelled to paint the unpainted portion of the house.—Halifax Mail.

A WOOD WHICH DOES NOT SHRINK.—The quality of shrinking in dry air and swelling under the influence of moisture is so intimately connected with our ideas of all kinds of wood that it is very difficult to accept suddenly the idea of a timber that is unaffected by water, as far as dimensions are concerned, either when absorbing or evaporating it, says the Indian Textile Journal. Such, however, is the case with a description of the timber known as "billian," which grows plentifully in Borneo, and is famous for its strength and durability, both on sea and on land. Without being the heaviest known wood, for it weighs sixty pounds per cubic foot, against ligunm-vitæ eighty-three pounds, boxwood eighty pounds ebony seventy-four pounds, and African oak sixty-two pounds, it has a breaking strain 1.52 times that of English oak, while its weight is only five per cent. greater. Compared with Burmese teak, it is sixty-two per cent. stronger transversely, and eleven per cent. heavier. Billian, or Borneo ironwood, is a hard durable wood of a dark brown color. When seasoned, it turns to a deep red, and with long exposure becomes black as ebony. It resists the Teredo navalis (so destructive to timber in salt water) and the white ant, and is almost indestructible. Its breaking strain is the highest of any known wood.—Family Herald.

Holiday Advertisers.

We are inconvenienced nearly every year, at this season, by our holiday advertising patrons sending in their favors on Tuesdays or Wednesdays, when they might just as well do so on the Saturdays or Mondays preceding the day of publication. We always endeavor to get the paper to press on Wednesday afternoons, so that the mails may be made up in time for the early closing at the Chatham post office, but our friends who bring in their advertisments, and other favors on Wednesdays prevent us and frequently cause the whole edition to be delayed for twenty-four hours in the mails going both north and south. We hope, therefore, that our holiday advertisers will make an effort to be more prompt than they have usually been heretofore.

A Complaint.

To the Editor of the Adeance.

SIR;—Can you inform me why it is that the snow-plough used for taking the snow off the sidewalks cannot get along Wellington Street as far as the school until late in the afternoon, or perhaps the next day after a snow storm. It is too bad that three or four hundred children who attend this school, half of whom are girls, are thus compelled to wade four times through the deep snow which, on a fine morning, could easily and ought to be cleared off before the opening of school. After the sidewalks of the business portion of the town are cleared off, this street should surely come next. It seems very, very strange why such is not the case. Would the individual having charge of such work in the town, please explain why he neglected to go on Wellingingstreet as far as the school is located until late in the afternoon although he got up the same street as far as the Snowball corner early in the forenoon.

Death of Sheriff Phillips.

William Phillips, Esq., High Sheriff of the County of Restigouche, died at his home in Dalhousie on Friday last, aged 50 years. Mr. Phillips was the son of the late John Phillips, who represented Restigouche in the House of Assembly from 1874 to 1878. He had been sheriff of the county for nearly twenty years and was a genial and popular man. He had been ill for more than a year and his death was, therefore, not a surprise. He leaves a widow and five children. The funeral took place on Sunday and was very largely attended, many residents of remote parts of the county being present. Deceased was a brother of Mrs. W. T. Connors of Chatham.

The Smelt Fishery.

Smelts are a comparative failure, so far as the fishing off Chatham is concerned, this season, up to date. The nets take three tomcods with every smelt captured, and a sample lot in a packing house on Tuesday, of forty barrels, ten of which were smelts the rest being tomcods, with small proportions of flounders and cusk, was a fair average. To make matters worse we had a heavy fall of snow, for the time of year on Sunday, which submerged the ice and made fishing from it both dangerous and difficult. On Tuesday night 15 ins. of snow fell, which made fishing almost impossible, as the underlying ice is only from one to two inches thick and is wasting away under the slush which now covers it, so that many fishermen will be glad if they save their nets, which cannot now be safely reached.

Quite a number of persons have broken through the ice. Messrs Patrick, James and Fred Nowlan had a narrow escape on Monday night. Capt. Robert. McLean tried soundings and got a good ducking, and even Mr. W. S. Loggie, who was close to the shore superintending the landing of a load went through and was glad he had been sufficiently cautious not to venture out of soundings. Mr. Wm. Walls took a plunge also and Mr. Alex. Barr stepped from a snow into a snow-covered hole and got a ducking, while Mr. Edwd. Barry is also numbered amongst those who have had narrow escapes.

Hotel Dieu X'mas Fair.

The Fair under the auspices of the ladies of the Hotel Dieu, Chatham, reference to which we made a few weeks since, is to be held on the Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday immediately preceding Christmas week, the first day being the 19th inst, when the opening will be at 2 p. m. The opening on the last two days will be at 5 p. m. A tea will be served on Tuesday and Thursday and refreshments, useful and fancy articles etc., will be offered during the whole period of the fair. This is the first time the good ladies of the Hotel Dieu have given the local public an opportunity to patronise them by means of an affair of this kind, and as their hospital and other works of charity deserve well at the hands of the community generally, they ought to receive the encouragement of a large attendance and substantial marks of appreciation from liberal purses.

Oyster Supper and Sale.

A very pleasant evening was had in the Temperance Hall, Chatham, on last Thursday evening—"St. Andrew's Nicht"—when the Oyster Supper and Fancy Sale of St. Andrew's S. S. Sewing Circle was held. The oysters were first-class and the pleasing strains of music by Prof. Smythe on the organ and Mr. Campbell Johnson on the harmonica mingled in harmonious unison with the click of the oyster spoons and the animated conversation of the large company present. During the evening the sweet auld Scotch song "We'd Better Bide a Wee" was nicely sung by Miss Clara Loggie, and Mrs. H. H. Pallen sang "Within a Mile of Edinboro Town" in her usual good style. Much credit is due to the energetic president of the Circle, Miss M. Sutherland, and her band of willing workers, for the success that has attended the work of the Circle since organized. As a result of their efforts the interior of St. Andrew's S. S. Hall has been tastefully painted and decorated, and furnished with new window shades, etc. The receipts on Thursday evening were about $80

A "Sun" Fish Story.

The ignorance and recklessness of some persons who send telegrams to the press, and the lack of editorial care exercised in the publication of alleged facts respecting even business matters, are afforded in the Kent county notes published in the Sun of Monday last. Similar absurd exaggeration was seriously published by the same paper last year, and we directed attention to it at the time, but the old story "bobs up serenely" in the same paper this year under an editorial display heading. The Sun's readers are gravely informed that from $40,000 to $50,000 in cash is "emptied out," within a radius of ten miles of Richibucto in about two months as a result of the smelt fishing. The character of the statement will be apparent when it is known that very little more than thirty thousand dollars will pay for the total season's catch of smelts in the whole county of Kent, and it will be admitted that while Richibucto is a very important place, it does not yet embrace the entire county. The Sun ought to overhaul its statistics before publishing its fish stories from Richibucto. General "blow" goes very well at times but it is dangerous to reduce it to figures.

Fatal Fire.

ST. STEPHEN, Dec. 4.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in the rear of the Pettegrove house, a three story building on Main St., Calais, Me., conducted as a boarding house by Mrs. Frank Pettegrove. The alarm was given and at once both departments from Calais and St. Stephen were on the scene.

Soon the inmates began to seek means of escape and several jumped from the windows. John James leaped from a third-storey window and injured his shoulder. James Hooper, of Plymouth, England, leaped from a third storey and cut his head badly, and injured his hips. Wm. Armstrong, a native of Cornwall, England, sustained injuries, believed to include a broken back, and will probably result fatally. Peter Kennedy, of Aberdeen, Scotland, and John Moore, of St. George, N. B., did not succeed in escaping, but lost their lives in the flames. The charred remains of their bodies were found yesterday some distance from where their rooms were located, showing that they had each awakened and made an effort for their lives. They were between twenty and twenty-five years of age, and like all the men injured were employed at the New Brunswick and Maine Red Granite Works. All the inmates who escaped were attired in their night clothes. The building was totally destroyed including the furniture. The adjoining house occupied by Stephen Berry was also burned. The snow on the other structures in the immediate neighborhood was instrumental in preventing the spread of the flames.

Elevation to the Privy Council.

TORONTO, Dec. 4.—The following special cable appears in the Empire from London: The Canadian Gazette in a leading article commends Sir John Thompson's elevation to the imperial privy council, and says his presence in London would be of the highest advantage to the members of the judicial committee by increasing their usefulness in dealing with any Canadian question that comes for decision. The Gazette hopes that this advantage, which will be in the interests of Canada, will not long be denied. It says that Sir John will best honor the privy council in serving his native country, where men of such high principle, keen insight and sound judgment are needed.

Coming From Boston.

The Boston and Maine notes in the Railroad Trainman contains the following: "What a large number of railroad tramps there are! Where there was one a year ago there are now 25. Tramps of all kinds, tramps of all ages, all dirty, dusty, ragged, lame, tired, weary, and worn out. A long pitiless winter is closing in about them. What suffering these poor, unfortunate human beings must pass through before the warm spring time comes back again. All come from the direction of Boston and go east."

Sons and Daughters of the Maritime Provinces.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—The annual convention of the supreme assembly of the Sons and Daughters of the Maritime Provinces was held in Commercial hall, yesterday.

The supreme treasurer's report showed the finances of the order to be in a satisfactory condition.

The report of the supreme secretary stated that the membership is gradually increasing and that three new assemblies have organized during the year in Boston, Attleboro and Concord, N. Y.

A plan for the establishment of a beneficiary fund under the auspices of the order was presented and discussed, and various amendments to the constitution were enacted.

At the afternoon session the supreme officers were elected as follows:

W. R. Wenzel, Concord, N. H., supreme prest.; W. W. Beck, Fall River, supreme vice prest.; Archibald Dakin, Brockton, supreme secty; Jas. N. Murray, Boston, supreme treas.; Miss May Gillis, Brockton, supreme chaplain; A. R. McDonald, Brockton, supreme marshal; Alex. McDonald, Concord, N. H., asst. supreme marshal, and trustee for three years; Oscar Smith, Brockton, supreme inside guard; John McLean, Brockton, supreme outside guard.

These officers were afterward formally installed.

The Sea Serpent.

The everlasting "Sea Serpent" is again the topic of conversation. Mr. Wm. Whynacht saw it on Tuesday morning in the back harbor. Capt Rueben Heisher of the S. S. Lunenburg and passengers saw it the same day while on their way to Halifax. The captain was interviewed regarding the matter and said:—"On Monday I saw it and on Thursday while steaming between Little and Big Duck we observed it. The animal, sea serpent, sea horse, or whatever it is, resembles a whale in some respects. There was about ten feet of neck and head out of water. Its head was about the size of a kerosene cask, and eyes as large as dessert plates. It had two enormous wings or fins, by which it propelled itself along. I have been sailing a number of years and seen some very funny things on the seas, but nothing to equal this." Twenty odd passengers on the boat corroborated the captain's story, among them being Mayor Oxner, who, with a pair of opera glasses and not thirty yards away, observed the movements of the monster.—Lunenburg Argus.

A Remarkable Family.

The challenge issued by Thos. F. Sutherland, the Union street boot and shoe manufacturer, offering to match for a tug-of-war contest six or eight brothers, who are in his employ, against a similar number of men belonging to any one family in the city, has created no small amount of talk. The fact that any man had in his employ eight brothers was of itself a rather surprising thing, but that they should be men fitted for a tug-of-war was even more so. A SUN reporter saw a couple of these men yesterday and learned the ages and weights of the eight men, which are as follows: Amos Wood, 44 years of age, 180 lbs; James Wood, 42 years of age, 220 lbs; William Wood, 40 years of age, 200 lbs; Harry Wood, 38 years of age, 250 lbs; Chas. J. Wood, 36 years of age, 180 lbs; Peter Wood, 33 years of age, 170 lbs; Samuel Wood, 29 years of age. 168 lbs; George Wood, 20 years of age, 190 lbs.—Sun

Exit Lieut MacGowan.

The Halifax correspondent of Progress gives the following particulars respecting the disappearance of Lt. MacGowan, who has been, for some years, a visitor to the Tabusintac goose-shooting grounds and is, therefore, quite well known to many of our readers:

Lieutenant MacGowan of the royal artillery was "in society" and he was in everything else as well, and society seems to like him none the worse for it. If there was a cock-fight, MacGowan was sure to be there, and one of his more recent acts was to contribute a fine to the county for being one of the number whom the S. P. C. pounced upon at a hard fought cocking-main. If there was anything approaching a prize fight this officer was on hand if he knew about it, and he generally did. The S. P. C. had its sharp eyes upon him for cruelty in baiting cats with dogs which he set upon them where there was no chance to escape for the poor feline He imported a set of hounds which were to be used in hunting wild cats. The untamed animal was not sufficiently plentiful, and was hard to get at, so as a sort of variation the domestic animal was made to answer the purpose, till measures were taken to put an end to the "sport." These are only a few of the distinguished traits of Lieutenant MacGowan, for a score of others could be mentioned. Yet "society" delighted in the presence of this officer. He was in the garrison for seven years and became one of the institutions of Halifax, as it were.

When it was announced, not very long ago, that Lieutenant MacGowan was going on a hunting expedition, it was taken as a matter of course that he would early return with the spoils of the chase, and that he would soon be back, for it was known that at last his time in this garrison had almost expired, and that he had been ordered home to England. Before his genial face was seen, however, a second announcement was made that the lieutenant's happy hunting ground was not the forest primeval, but it was the broad Atlantic, and before people had time to realize the position of affairs "society" had one member less. There was mourning and lamentation, but the regret was most poignant in the hearts of the people who never had an invitation to one of the "swell dances" where he figured, not to speak of the larger "functions." The most genuine mourners were the shop-keepers, whose bills were unpaid; the men who, in these hard times could ill afford the loss of a good round account. Lieutenant MacGowan's indebtedness in this city, when he took to himself wings and fled, can only be approximated, but it is estimated at from $1,000 to $1,500, probably midway between the two amounts. The shop-keepers who thus lose their money have the sympathy of honest people, for they were deceived, but "society" which makes a hero of a man who acts all through as Mr. MacGowan did, and which thus suddenly loses a shining light, receives no sympathy but a considerable degree of scorn and contempt.

The Cure For

Scrofula was once supposed to be the touch of royalty. To-day, many grateful people know that the "sovereign remedy" is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This powerful alterative extirpates "the evil" by thoroughly eliminating all the strumous poison from the blood. Consumption, catarrh, and various other physical as well as mental maladies, have their origin in

SCROFULA

When hereditary, this disease manifests itself in childhood by glandular swellings, running sores, swollen joints, and general feeblenessof body. Administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla on appearance of the first symptoms.

"My little girl was troubled with painful scrofulous swelling under one of her arms. The physician being unable to effect a cure, I gave her one bottle of Sarsaparilla, and the swelling disappeared." —W. F. Kennedy, McFarland's, Va.

"I was cured of scrofula by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—J. C. Berry, Deerfield, Mo.

"I was troubled with a sore hand for over two years. Being assured the case was scrofula, I took six bottles of Ayer's and was cured."—H. Hinkins, Riverton, Neb.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.
