ACTRESS SAVES LIFE

Handsomely Gowned She Dives for Drowning Girl.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 27.—Miss Linet Whittaker, an actress in the Academy Stock Company, saved Miss Erma Reel, an elocutionist, from drowning. The rescue took place at the large swimming tank of the Milwaukee Athletic Club. It was "ladies' day" at the gymnasium, and Miss Whittaker's sister, Elba, who is an instructress at the pool, was engaged in teaching her swimming class, when Miss Linet entered to visit. The actress was handsomely attired and had taken a seat near the edge of the pool, when she noticed Miss Reel sink. Miss Reel had tried to float in seven feet of water. The young woman sank twice, and the actress, herself an expert swimmer, saw it was time to act quickly. Regardless of her handsome gown, she dived into the water and soon came to the surface with Miss Reel in her arms. A moment later she had the girl at the edge of the tank. The actress sent to her home for a change of clothes, and tonight appeared as usual.

MUNICIPAL CONVENTION

To Be Held at the Capital September 16th, 17th and 18th.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—The convention of Union of Canadian Municipalities will be held at the city hall, Ottawa, on Sept. 16, 17 and 18. Every Canadian municipal council is invited to send a delegation of one or more persons. The union was established at the first convention, held in Toronto, in August, 1901, its object being co-operation for the advancement of all municipal interests, especially legislative self-protection. During the past year the association has won many expressions of approval of its practical work for the protection and information of municipalities, affording a common rallying point of great practical value, as well as a means of exchange of mutual ideas. The smaller municipalities have been benefitted as well as the larger. The membership roll includes most of the principal cities of the Dominion and numerous smaller municipalities from Halifax to Vancouver.

DRIFTED OUT TO SEA

Woman Carried Seventy-Five Miles From the Coast.

Rockland, Me., Aug. 27. — Mrs. Clara Carter, of Munroe's Island, was carried out to sea in a dory in a gale and was picked up thirty miles east of Mount Desert rock by the fishing schooner Hazel Oneta, of Gloucester. The woman was nearly dead from exposure, and from the effects of the salt water she drank to quench her thirst, but she will probably recover. Mrs. Carter is now at Swan's Island.

Early Sunday evening she started from Owl's Head for Munroe's Island in a light dory. Under ordinary conditions the passage of three-quarters of a mile would have been made in a few minutes, but the breeze stiffened to a gale and Mrs. Carter found it difficult to manage her craft. Then one of the oars snapped, leaving her helpless.

It was so dark that nobody on shore observed her predicament, and the gale drowned her cries for help. The dory drifted out to sea and the gale continued all day Monday.

On Tuesday, more than 40 hours after Mrs. Carter had left the mainland, the schooner came up with the dory. It had drifted about 75 miles and was half-full of water when picked up.

Newspaper Sky-Scraper.

New York, Aug. 27.—The Tribune building, which, when it was built in 1873, was the tallest building in the city, but has been overshadowed by scores of other in the last few years, is to be extended into an eighteen-story skyscraper. Plans for the reconstruction have been filed with the building bureau. The clock tower, which once made New Yorkers twist their necks, will be removed and rebuilt, in its present style, to surmount the new structure. The entrance will be remodeled so as to give access to the building at the ground floor. The improvements are to cost $350,000.

EDISON HAS A CANCER CURE

The Wizard Makes a Remarkable Discovery Through the Radium Experiments.

West Orange, N. J., Aug. 27.—Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, announced today that he had branched out temporarily into medicine and had made a study of a cancerous growth which started on the arm of his assistant, Charles Dally, after Dally had been burned by Roentgen rays. The inventor says he thinks he has hit upon a cure for similar cancers, although he will let the surgeons and scientific physiologists work out the problem.

Mr. Edisons' theory is that any cancer which begins as Dally's did, on the surface, can be cured by the introduction of fresh blood from a healthy subject into the blood of the person affected. He asserts that cancer resulting from burns produced by exposure to radium is in the same class as that started by Roentgen rays.

Dally's malady began with a slight flush on the back of his hand. He has since lost his arm because of the cancer that grew upon it.

Mr. Edison's theory is that any cancment he now proposes had been applied in Dally's case in the beginning of the trouble, Dally might have avoided most, if not all, that he has since been forced to undergo.

The inventor says he believes that there are in the human body cells which are capable of movment and whose sole function is to restore shattered and injured tissue. Mr. Edison points out that in the case of a cut, wound or even an ordinary burn, nature, through the medium of these cells, sets to work to restore normal conditions, and, if no outside influence interferes, succeeds.

The radium and Roentgen rays apparently possess some equality, he says, which is not only destructive to the tissue itself, but which detroys the restoring cells. The result is that the wound thus formed will not heal. Nature, however, says Mr. Edison, does her best, even under these adverse conditions.

When the restoring cells in the neighborhood of the injury fail to heal the wound there is immediately a rush of healthy cells from other parts of the body to the seat of the trouble. There then seems to be an improvement, but it is only apparent.

Soon a mass of reddish granulations, which soon grow to a large size, is seen on the surface and presently develop into what is known as "rose cancer." All this time there is a steady influx of restoring cells until other portions of the body are deprived of the cells. Then the disease has obtained full sway.

As an antiodte to this, Mr. Edison says, he believes that the introduction of the blood of a perfectly healthy person, untainted by cancer or other malignant disease, will provide enough strong, reproductive cells to overcome the injury. He says that the necessary operations would be very simple. Some blood from the healthy subject could be drawn off into a sterile hypodermic syringe and then injected into the body of the affected person in the region of the part affected. The seat of the disease would then be attacked by uncontaminated germs, as it were, possessing the strength to conquer the malady.

Mr. Edison was asked if he had considered the cure of cancer developed in an organ in the interior of the body of a person who had never been exposed to rays. The course of treatment to be pursued in treating internal cancers was, said Mr. Edison, a question to be solved by the surgeons. He disowned any knowledge of what could be done in that case.

Mr. Edison says he does not intend to do anything to work out his theory. That he said was a matter for the surgeon and physiologist.

"Perhaps it is a rather daring theory," he said, "and it may take a man of courage to work it out, but I really believe that the idea is entirely tenable and will work out that way."

TOWED BY RUNAWAY

Girl Guides Tricycle While Holding to Dashing Horse.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Susie Schulz, 11 years old, had a thrilling experience with a runaway horse while riding a tricycle. The child collided with the animal, which immediately took fright and ran away.

To save herself from going under the wheels the girl, still seated on her tricycle, grasped the thills of the wagon, and while the horse ran at breakneck speed several blocks she retained her hold, coolly guiding her machine beside the plunging animal, which was captured after running half a mile. The child suffered a few bruises. Her tricycle was undamaged.

FOR LOVE OF HER

A Young Man Steals Furniture for His Bride.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Irwin Marty, a bride of less than two weeks, has just learned that her husband stole the furniture for their home.

Marty was employed as shipping clerk for the Prufock Furniture Manufacturing Company and was arrested on a charge of stealing furniture valued at $200.

"Irwin did wrong," declared the bride, "but he did it because of exceeding love for me."

A month ago Marty wrote his sweetheart that everything was in readiness for the marriage. His employers gave him a vacation and the wedding followed on Aug. 14.

Mrs. Marty urged him to make a full confession, but the firm's suspicions had been aroused and detectives were already working on the case.

PROF. KRULL AND THE EVIL EYE

The Neapolitans Think He Is Responsible for the Repeated Eruptions of Vesuvius.

Naples, Aug. 27. — The people of Naples and environs witnessed a remarkable spectacle at noon yesterday. One thousand feet below the central cone of Vesuvius the volcano opened like a huge mouth, out of which belched a fiery stream of lava, which ran down the side of the mountain, and at first seemed to menace the observatory, but later deviated from the building. The eruption occurred without any warning whatever. There was no earthquake detonation or rain of ashes, nothing but a clear stream of lava and red hot stones, which were thrown to a height of 700 feet. The stream of lava, fifteen feet broad at 11 o'clock last night, had covered a distance of 2,700 feet.

The eruption seems to be decreasing, and it is hoped that no damage will result. The spectators far enough away not to be frightened stood entranced at the spectacle, but those nearer were seized by panic and rushed down the sides of the mountain to the villages near by. The populace was somewhat quieted by the mayor fixing notices that there was no immediate danger.

The chief of police of Naples has gone personally to make a tour of the villages around Vesuvius, in order to reassure the peasants and superintend measures of protection which may be deemed necessary. The superstitious lower classes are agitating for the expulsion of Prof. Krull, of Munich, who predicted the eruption, declaring that he has "the evil eye."

LOVE'S LABOR LOST

Wife Had Savings in a Stove and Hubby Burned Them.

New York, Aug. 27.—To help her husband pay off a mortgage of $1,000 on their home, Mrs. Frank Plitz, denied herself many things and saved money. She did not tell her husband. Fearing he would find out if she placed her savings, $635, in the bank, she hid it in an old gas stove.

When her husband returned home yesterday Mrs. Plitz was away. Wishing to cook something and finding the fire out, he lighted the gas stove and burned up the $635. His wife is heartbroken.

A KLONDIKE HOLD-UP

Four Masked Men Clean Up $20,000 in Gold Dust.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 27. — Four masked men held up the watchman of the Featherstone Hough mines at Atlin last night and stole nearly $20,000 worth of gold dust which had been collected in the sluices during the day. It was the largest robbery ever committed in Alaska.

Twenty workmen had just gone to supper. The watchman was walking up and down, swinging his rifle over his shoulder, when he was caught from behind and pinioned. Then masked men gagged him so that he could raise no alarm. In twenty minutes the gold dust of the big clean-up was in canvas sacks which the robbers brought for that purpose.

The robbers fled away in the darkness. Within an hour a posse was out, but not a trace of the robbers was found. Every route out of Atlin is being guarded and a thorough search of the camp will be made by the mounted police.

Special dispatches from Dawson state that owing to the lightness of rainfall the clean-up for the season is very disappointing. Instead of $18,000,000 or $20,000,000, as it was last year, the Klondike output this year will be less than $10,000,000.

BIG HEARTED FOLK

Windsorites Offer to Pay for Mrs. McKee's Defalcation.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 27.—Sergt. Barrington, of the Royal Irish Constabulary, arrived in Windsor Tuesday evening, and will begin his homeward journey with Mrs. Ellen McKee, the defaulting postmistress of Tubbermore, Ireland.

In answer to a letter written by him to the Postmaster-General of Great Britain asking for leniency in the prisoner's behalf, and stating that, if acceptable, the citizens of Windsor were prepared to make full restitution to the postoffice department for both the defalcation and expense incurred searching for the former postmistress, Mayor Drake has received the following letter, under date of Aug. 15:

"Sir,—I am directed by the Postmaster-General to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 9th ultimo, with reference to the defalcation of Ellen McKee, of Tubbermore, Ireland, and inquiring whether in the event of your community paying the amount of those defalcations, the postmaster would condone the offense.

"In reply, I am to inform you that as it is a criminal offence to receive back goods which have been stolen or to receive other amends, as a condition not to prosecute, it is not in the postmaster's power to adopt the course suggested in your letter.

"The Postmaster-General desires to say that he fully recognizes the kindly feeling which has prompted your inquiry, and that he much regrets that he is not in a position to send you a more favorable reply.

"(Signed) RAFFLES THOMPSON."
