Woman's Love.

Gay as the soaring lark,
Trilling its glee,
Sweet as the clover flower,
Seemed the to me.

Bright as an angel form,
As free from guile,
Pure as the mountain snow,
Seemed she awhile.

Smiles for my backward love,
Luring me on,
Soon fill my heart with joy,
Bid care begone.

Fair as a sculptor's dream,
Ay, stilled cold!
False as a Punic oath,
Worshipping gold.

No'er more shall woman's smile
Influence me;
Henceforth a bachelor state,
Loyal I'll be.

Proof against all woman's wiles
Careless and free;
Blest be the flirt that gave
Such spur to me.

ODDS AND ENDS

A grave mistake—Accidentally burying a man alive.

There is a painter and glazier in Boston by the name of 'Consider Glass.'

'Oh for a thousand tongues!' said the lad when he crawled into a molasses barrel.

A lady was lately hugged to death in Minnesota—another illustration of the 'power of the press.'

A grocer had a pound of sugar returned to him, with a note stating, 'too much sand for table use, and not enough for building purposes.'

'How many unfortunates have fallen in war!' said a spinster to a veteran general, who was a veteran bachelor. 'Not half so many, madam, as have fallen in love!' was the testy reply.

'Daddy, I want to ask you a question. 'Well, my son!' 'Why is neighbor Smith's liquor shop like a counterfeit shilling?' 'I can't tell my son.' 'Because you can't pass it,' said the boy.

One of the Miseries of Human Life.—Being a compositor on a newspaper, and have to insert the marriage of the girl you love with a man old enough to be her father—rich and you are poor.

Men and Angels.—When a man dies,' says Mahomet, 'the people ask, 'What property has he left behind him?' But the angels, as they bend over his grave, inquire, 'What good deeds has thou sent before thee?'

Well Said.—The successful competitor at a foot race on having the prize presented to him, said: 'Gentlemen, I have won this cup by the use of my legs; I hope I shall never lose the use of my legs by the use of this cup.'

'A girl of the period' comments thus upon Mormonism: 'How absurd—four or five for one man, when the fact is each woman in these times ought to have four or five husbands.' It would take about that number to support her decently.

An old lady followed up an Episcopal bishop as he travelled over his diocese, and was confirmed several times before she was detected. She wished the ordinance to be repeated because she had 'understood it was good for rheumatism.'

A teacher in Sunday school gave out the word enchariot in the spelling exercise, and then asked one of the pupils to give the definition of the word. Fancy the feelings of the teacher when he asked—'Doesn't it mean a first class euchre player?'

A teacher wishing to explain to a little girl the manner in which a lobster casts it shell when it has outgrown it, said, 'What do you do when you have outgrown your clothes? You throw them aside don't you?' 'Oh, no,' replied the little one, 'we let out the tucks!'

'Come, girls,' said a jolly old aunt, about this census. We are always hearing of united ages. Let us club our years. I'll put in sixty-two, and you four shall put in twenty each. Then we shall be under forty!' The girls nearly kissed the old lady's head off her for her modesty.

Mrs. Brown's pretty Irish waiteress got married the other day. 'I hear you are going to Australia with you husband, Kitty,' said her mistress. 'Are you not afraid of such a long, dangerous voyage?' 'Well, ma'am, that's his look out. I belong to him now, an' if anything happens to me, sure it'll be his loss—not mine.'

A farmer on the road between Charleston and Worcester, Mass., having been terribly annoyed by drummers, put up the sign, 'No sewing machines wanted. Got one.' It was of no use, however, the next drummer wanted to see the machine, so now the farmer has put out, 'Small pox,' and says that works first-rate.

In one of the courts a juryman being called and not answering, the usual notice that he would be fined was pronounced against him; upon which a person who stood by said to the judge, 'You may fine him as much as you please, but I don't think that you will recover the fine, for I saw him buried about a week ago.'

A Harvard graduate who had been now devoted to terrestrial than celestial duties during his course, at his final examination in physics was asked: 'Mr. ——, what planets were known to the ancients?' 'Well, sir,' he responded, 'there were Venus and Jupiter, and' after a pause—'I think the Earth, but I'm not quite certain.'

Bunyan's Preaching.—It is said that Owen, the divine, greatly admired Bunyan's preaching; and that, being asked by Charles II, how a learned man such as he could sit and listen to an ignorant tinker; he replied—'May it please your Majesty, could I but possess that tinker's abilities for preaching, I would most gladly relinquish all my learning.'

Learning Lightly Prized.—In a country village pleasantly situated between the Tyne and the Wear, a rude [illegible] 'whose talk is of bullocks,' the [illegible] contempt [illegible]

THE FARM

Cost of a Small Cheese Factory.

As many farmers are thinking inquiring about butter and cheese factories, they will probably be interested in reading the following estimate of the cost of a small cheese factory, which we find in the Manufacturer and Builder. For 100 cows, a building fifty by twenty-six feet, with sixteen foot posts, making it two stories, would be required. The twenty-four feet from the lower story to be used for a 'make room' leaving the remainder and the upper story for curing rooms. The upper story should be partitioned off the same as the lower. The twenty-four foot room over the 'make-room' should be plastered, and furnished with stoves suitable for curing early and late cheese. The outside on the roof of lumber and tarred felt, which defies all localities. A room substantial building, which will last for ever, costs in most localities, would cost $1,500. If finished with paint, etc., $2,000. It could be furnished with vat, tank, presses, hoops, scales, &c., for $500, making in all, $2,500 for room building. For 200 cows it would cost one. For 200 cows the same building would answer. For vat and fixtures $500, making in all, $1,500 for rough, and $1,800 for finished building. Stock companies are formed by those interested by taking one or more shares, which may be $50 or $100 each. A committee is chosen by the shareholders, who superintend the building of the factory, hiring help, etc. A dairy of 100 cows can be managed by a man of experience with additional help, which could be hired at from two to three dollars and board. For two hundred he would want an additional hand, which might be a woman and inexperienced. The question is often asked: How many cows must a factory number to pay? For an individual to build a factory to work up milk for others at two dollars per hundred, which is the common price for making and furnishing the cheese, boxed and ready for market, he would want three hundred cows or more to make it a paying business.'

Growing Carrots.—Select a piece of good dry land, suitable for corn, either corn stubble or greensward. Plow in the fall if possible, or early in the spring. Pulverize thoroughly with the cultivator and harrow. Plow again just before planting; manure and work in with cultivator and harrow; mark, for seed, twenty inches apart, leaving drills two inches deep. Soak seed over night in water as hot as the hand can be held in; drain and mix with dry ashes until the seed will separate.—Sow about the 10th of May. After sowing, brush a little dirt on the seed. The row should be rolled or stamped hard, leaving the spaces between as light and loose as possible. The carrots, if the seed is good, will appear in about ten days, or about two weeks sooner than by the old method of planting.—They should be hoed as soon as they begin to come up. The previous rolling in the row will hold the small plants so that the hoe may cut close without disturbing them. Repeat the hoeing in about a week.—The weeds and surplus carrots may now be easily pulled from the rows. Stir the ground often, either with the hoe or cultivator, and dig them out with a good plow, turning them out every other furrow. One thousand bushels per acre is an average crop.

Sprouting Potatoes.—Sprouting white potatoes will advance the crop two weeks. They should be cut so that about two eyes are allowed to each piece, and these should be planted in hot beds with very thin covering of soil; or it is better to plant in boxes and set these in a hot bed, so that after they are properly sprouted they can be at once carried to the place of planting. If the nights should be anyway cold, protect with a thin covering of straw when the plants make their appearance above ground. Some persons who want a large quantity sprouted, cut the potatoes as desired, and spread them on boards, boxes or crates, in a dark place, and when sprouted, say from an inch-to-an inch and a half, expose them to the light, moistening two or three times a week with tepid water. They should be planted out so that there is not more than two inches of soil over the top of the sprouts.

THE HOUSEHOLD.

A Useful Article.—Ammonia, or as it is generally called, spirits of hartshorn, is a powerful alkali, and dissolves dirt and grease with great ease. It has lately been recommended very highly for domestic purposes. For washing paint, put a tablespoonful in a quart of moderately warm water, dip in a flannel cloth and then wipe off the wood work; no scrubbing will be necessary. For taking greasy spots from any fabric, use the ammonia nearly pure, then lay white blotting paper over the spot and iron it lightly. In ironing lace put about twelve drops in a pint of warm suds. To clean silver, mix two teaspoonfuls in a quart of hot suds. Put in you silverware and wash, using an old nail-brush, or tooth-brush, for the purpose. For cleaning hair brushes, etc., simply shake the brushes up and down in a mixture of one tab espoonful of ammonia to one pint of hot water; when they are cleansed rinse them in cold water, and stand them in the wind or a hot place to dry. For washing finger marks from looking-glasses or windows, put a few drops of ammonia on a moist rag, and make quick work of it. If you wish your house plants to flourish, put a few drops of the spirits in every pint of water used in watering. A teaspoonful will add much to the refreshing effects of a bath. Nothing is better than ammonia for cleansing the hair. In every case rinse off the ammonia with clear water. To which we would only add, that for removing grease spots, a mixture of equal parts of ammonia and alcohol is better than alcohol alone; and for taking out the red stains produced by the strong acids in blue and black clothes, there is nothing better than ammonia.—Providence Journal.

Cement for Fastening Instruments in Handles.—A material for fastening knives and forks into their handles, when they have become loosened by use, is a much needed article. The best cement for this purpose consists of one pound of colophony and eight oz. of sulphur, which are to be melted together, and either kept in bars or reduced to powder, one part of iron filings, fine sand, or brick dust, and the cavity of the handle is then to be filled with this mixture. The stem of the knife or fork is then to be heated and inserted in the cavity; when cold it will be found fixed in [illegible] with great tenacity.
