THE CORNWALL MURDER.

HOW PATRICK COSGROVE RECEIVED HIS DEATH BLOW.

Found Lying Asleep By a Man Named Green He is Awakened Only to Receive His Death Blow—Green's Companions Make a Clean Breast of the Affair—Green Arrested.

Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 14.—An unexpected light has been thrown on the death of Patrick Cosgrove, who was found lying in a coal shed in Water-street, this town, on Tuesday morning and died the following day. The adjourned inquest was held in the Music Hall, and after the evidence of Doctors Wagner and Gravely, who made the post mortem, had been taken,

Carney, alias Dublin, and Henderson were examined. The two men left Cornwall on Tuesday morning in company with another man named Green to avoid arrest for stealing plums. The previous evening they went to Massen, N.Y., and thence to Waddington. On Thursday afternoon Carney and Henderson crossed to Morrisburg, leaving Green at Waddington. On landing at Morrisburg they were arrested on the strength of a letter from Constable Crites of Cornwall, on suspicion of complicity in the death of Cosgrove, to which their sudden disappearance gave color. The two men were brought to Cornwall this evenung by Policeman Smith and were called after the medical men had given evidence.

Carney told how he had spent Monday night, including the steeling of the plums in company with Henderson and Green, and that they had left because the owner of the plums had threatened arrest.

Henderson Tells of the Murder.

Henderson was then called, and corroborated the evidence of Carney, but in telling the story of their journey from Cornwall to Waddington he stated that Green had told them that after they had parted on Monday evening he went into the coal shed which was near his boarding house, and there saw a man lying down. He stirred him up and asked what he was doing there. The man said he wanted a place to sleep, as he had no money, though he hoped to get a hotelkeeper to keep him. Green went to bed, but got up and went into the shed again, pretending to be another party. He stirred the man again, and received about the same answer as before. He struck the man with his fist and the man fell. Green then rifled the man's pockets, but he found no money. He then went to bed, and next morning went to the shed and saw the man lying there.

Carney Makes a Clean Breast of It.

Carney at first was unwilling to tell what Green had said about striking Cosgrove, or that he had said anything, but finally made a clean breast of it all. The two stories agreeing in the main, there seems no doubt that Cosgrove came to his death from the blow inflicted by Green. This the jury will no doubt find, though they had not rendered a verdict at a late hour.

Steps have been taken to secure Green's arrest.

A DOUBLE DROWNING.

Two Well-Known Young Ladies of Peterboro Drowned on Little Lake.

Peterboro, Ont., Sept. 14.—A sad drowning accident occurred here this evening, by which two well-known young ladies lost their lives. Mr. H. O. Kerr took two lady friends, Miss Ada Alfords and Miss Maggie Kennedy, out for a canoe sail on Little Lake. All went well until the steamer City of Peterboro passed them and they entered the swells caused by the steamer, when the canoe upset, and all three occupants of the boat were thrown into the water, the two young ladies going down almost at once, and were drowned before assistance arrived. Some of the steamer's crew threw out a life preserver, which Mr. Kerr caught, saving himself. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

There he hung for some time until found, when life was extinct. No person was at home at the time of the fatality.

A Passenger Train Ditched While Running at Full Speed.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 14.—On the Mackinaw Railroad near New Weston to-day the northbound passenger train jumped the track while running at full speed and the engine and two cars were turned into the ditch. Engineer Nathan Harvey of this city was killed, also Fireman Miller. A number of others are badly hurt.

A BLACKSMITH BIGAMIST

Arrested in Ottawa and Taken to Hull For Trial.

Hull, Que., Sept. 14.—Fred Muller, a German by birth, but who for several years past has kept a blacksmith shop at Kazabazua, is under arrest on the charge of bigamy preferred against him by the father of his second wife, who lives near Kazabazua. On a visit to Ottawa, Muller was seen by some fellow-countrymen, who, knowing that he had a wife in the Fatherland, inquired after her. This reached the ears of the woman he had married since residing here, and a warrant was sworn out. Muller levanted, but was located by having only two fingers on his left hand.

FLAMES BEAT BACK A TRAIN.

Forest Fires in Michigan Raging As Fiercely As Ever—Great Destruction of Timber.

Wakefield, Mich., Sept. 14.—A heavy cloud of smoke enveloped the town from the forest fires to the westward. So dense is it that many of the old miners refuse to work underground. A number of miners who went out to fight the fires yesterday were driven back, badly affected by the smoke, and one of them whose name could not be learned was overtaken by the blaze and perished.

It was reported that Trout Creek on the South Shore and Atlantic Railway was sure to go, but nothing has been heard from there.

The Bresque Isle River Railroad bridge between here and Marescho is said to have been burned, but even this lacks verification.

A Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic train had to be abandoned because it could not pull through the blazing fires. An engineer made the trial alone, and after having made a dozen miles was forced to come back, half dead with the heat and smoke. He said no train could live in the fires he found ahead.

It is estimated that nearly 500,000,000 feet of pine will be destroyed in Ontagonan and Golebic counties and not a green tree left standing.

SUICIDE AT CRYSTAL BEACH.

George Francis of Buffalo Found Dead in His Room.

Ridgeway, Ont., Sept. 14.—George W. Francis, a well-known business man of Buffalo, 50 years old, was found dead today in his room at Crystal Beach. A partly filled box of sulfonal was lying beside the bed. The family deny that it is a case of suicide, but an autopsy will be held.

A NEW CANADIAN BOOK.

A Charming Novel Just Issued From a Canadian Press.

A book very much after the style of the "Pansy," "Elsie" and "Annie S. Swan" books, yet slightly more like some of the best works of fiction of the day, has just been published in a Canadian Edition.

This book is entitled "Hill Crest," and is by Mrs. Flewellyn, a native Canadian, and is now for sale by John P. McKenna, Bookseller, 80 Yonge-street. The charming descriptions, the quaint character sketches, the abundance of incident, combine to make this book one which is sure of a quick and increasing sale. Its moral tone is much above the average of the fiction of the day. For this reason it will suit the hammock and the fireside, as well as all public, private and Sunday school libraries. p

PETERBORO MAN MISSING.

Traced to Plainfield, N.J. — Present Whereabouts Unknown.

Plainfield, N.J., Sept. 14.—The disappearance of Frank Fisher, a school teacher of Peterboro, Ont., was to-day reported to the Plainfield police. His wife and three small children and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Johnson, arrived here from Canada last night, expecting to meet Fisher. They said he left home three weeks ago from New York, and wrote home from Plainfield, telling his family that he had found work, and instructing them to come on and learn his street address from a letter in the post-office. No such letter awaits the woman and no trace of Fisher can be found. The family is destitute, and is being cared for by charitable people.

What France Demands of Madagascar.

London, Sept. 14.—The Daily News correspondent in Paris says that Le Myre de Vilers, special French envoy to Madagascar, will demand the entire Bay of Diego Suarez on the north coast of the Island, and the whole peninsula between that part of the coast and Cape Amber, the most northern point of land. He will require for France the right to buy the land and obtain concessions of mining, water and other privileges, while for other nations such concessions will be invalid unless first examined and approved by the French Resident General. These sweeping demands, the correspondent thinks, are likely to rouse much opposition in the United States and Germany.

DID BRITAIN FOIL JAPAN?

STARTLING NEWS CONCERNING THE ATTACK ON WEI-HAI-WEI.

A Report That as the Jap Warships Were About to Bombard the Fort an English Warship Fired a Salute, Thus Notifying the Chinese of the Enemy's Presence.

New York, Sept. 14.—The following remarkable message in the original and translated, is printed in The Herald this morning. It was sent in the first instance by a Japanese special correspondent serving with the fleet in the Gulf of Pechili to the newspapers in Japan which he represented, and which is for obvious reasons withheld.

The Japanese Government, however, which exercises a strict censorship over all news relating to the war, prohibited its publication, and the information which it conveys is therefore for the first time made public.

It is said that the Mikado's Government prohibited the printing of the news lest it should stir up a strong anti-British feeling in Japan, and thus imperil the safety of British subjects residing in Japan.

Japs Foiled By a British Salute.

"With the Japanese fleet before Wei-Hai-Wei, Gulf of Pechili, Aug. 12, 1894.

"At 1 o'clock yesterday morning, Aug. 11, our fleet, consisting of 12 men-of-war and a flotilla of six torpedo boats, took advantage of the darkness of night and crept into the harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei, unknown to the Chinese. Six torpedo boats were sent out with the purpose of blowing up the Chinese warships anchored within.

"When midway, a British man-of-war, which was anchored there, fired salutes for the Japanese vessels, a very unusual thing to do under such circumstances.

"Upon this all the electric lights and search lights at the forts were lighted in an instant, and soon all the forts were in activity. An exchange of shots for over an hour followed.

"Seeing that their plan to take the Chinese by surprise fell through on account of the salutes from the British, and further firing being of no avail, the Japanese retired.

"As the torpedo flotilla was retiring a Chinese torpedo boat discharged a torpedo against it, but failed to do any damage, and for its trouble was instantly rewarded by being sunk by a torpedo discharged by one of the Japanese boats.

"The salutes from the British vessel cannot but be regarded as signals to make the slumbering Chinese know of the presence of the Japanese, as it is not customary to fire salutes at dead of night."

Assuming This To Be Accurate.

The Herald adds, in commenting on the above: Assuming this to be accurate, the conduct of the commander of the English warship stands badly in need of explanation. It is an unheard of thing to fire a naval salute at night. In the U. S. navy regulations it is expressly provided that "no salute shall be fired between sunset and sunrise," and the same rule is observed in all the navies of the world.

British Warned Against Chinese.

Hong Kong, Sept. 14.—Gen. Barker, commander of the British troops here, has issued a warning to the men under his command not to listen to offers of Chinese agents, who are trying to induce men belonging to the British garrison to desert and enter the Chinese service.

Coreans and Japs Fight.

Advices from Corea say that the Corean troops attacked the Japanese advance guard, 2000 strong, who were on the march from Fusan to Seoul, and so completely dispersed and destroyed the column that only 800 of them succeeded in getting back to Fusan.

General Li Hung Fu of the Chinese army attempted, with a chartered steamer, to convey 500 troops from Swettow to Formosa. The owner of the vessel, however, rescinded the contract upon hearing that the Japanese squadron was in the vicinity. Subsequently three Japanese cruisers boarded the transport and examined her papers.

Jap Victory at Whang-Chu.

London, Sept. 14.—A despatch to the Central News from Seoul says that on September 6 a force of Japanese troops met and defeated a troop of Chinese cavalry near Wang-Chu, and also attacked and captured the Chinese fort near that place. The Chinese escaped toward Ping-Yang, where the Japanese army is now centering by several routes.

The Japanese Emperor left Tokyo to-day for the general headquarters of the Japanese at Hiroshima. Two thousand fresh troops have arrived at Fusang to protect the Japanese settlement against an uprising of the natives.

Jap Repulse at Ping Yang.

London, Sept. 15.—The Times publishes this despatch sent from Shanghai via Tien-Tsin: The Japanese in force attempted to surprise the Chinese at Ping-Yang on the night of the 12th, but were repulsed with a heavy slaughter. The standing corps impeded the Japanese and hid the Chinese. Japanese ships have resumed scouting in the Gulf of Pechili.

Missionaries in Danger.

London, Sept. 14.—A despatch from Shanghai to the Central News says that the foreign missionaries in the Shun King province are fleeing to Noo Chwang, fearing violence at the hands of the Chinese soldiers, who, it is reported, are burning the Christian chapels. Two Japanese who were arrested on suspicion of being spies have been sent to Naukin, where they will probably be tortured and beheaded.

London, Sept. 14.—The War Office has ordered Capt. Du Boulay, who is now at Gosport, to proceed without delay to the Japanese headquarters in Corea to act as military attache in the interest of the British Government.

BURGLAR AND MURDERER AT 16.

Frank Morris Robs An Old Couple—Kills the Man and Fatally Wounds His Wife.

Connellsville, Pa., Sept. 14.—Bernard Toker, a coke worker, was shot and killed and his wife Mary fatally wounded yesterday afternoon by Frank Morris, a 16-year-old boy who had been living with them for several days. The deed was committed at Toker's home at Rich Hill, six miles from here. The motive was robbery.

Yesterday afternoon Morris came to the house and, without warning, shot and killed Toker. He then ransacked the house, taking $30 in money and two silver watches. On his way out he encountered Mrs. Toker and opened fire on her. Two bullets entered her breast and she fell unconscious to the floor. Morris then fled to the mountains.

To-day a man named Holfhill was riding on horseback from the scene of the tragedy when he encountered Morris, who ordered him to dismount. Holfhill refused and Morris shot him twice, inflicting serious but not fatal wounds. Morris is hiding in the mountains.

ALLEGED SWINDLE.

Owen G. Martin Arrested For Defrauding a Farmer.

Cheap jewelry auction rooms have a resistless attraction for rural gentry, who are deceived by the sophistries of the men engaged in this business. Yesterday morning a farmer named Henry Smith strolled into the auction rooms conducted at 136 King-street west by Owen G. Martin. Martin induced him to agree to exchange watches and he now claims that Martin took possession of his watch and would give him nothing but a $2 ticker in return.

The matter was reported to the police and Acting Detective Forest put Martin under arrest. John Davis also claims that Martin is guilty of the larceny of his bicycle, and had issued a warrant for Martin's arrest. The prisoner has several times during the past year been called upon to answer to charges of fraud, but has heretofore succeeded in keeping clear of the law.

EACH THOUGHT IT MOTHER.

BUT NEITHER COULD BE ABSOLUTELY POSITIVE.

The Victim of the Accident At Carlton Still Unidentified — Two Women of Similar Description Are Missing, and a Daughter of Each Believes the Deceased is Her Mother.

The woman killed on the Grand Trunk Railway near Carlton Station on Tuesday has not yet been identified. The adjourned inquest last night brought out the fact that two old ladies are missing, and their two daughters were each under the impression that the unfortunate victim of the accident was her mother, but neither could make the identification sure. Another peculiar incident is that while the dog found with the corpse belongs to one of the women, the other resembles the deceased very strikingly in appearance.

Result of the Post-Mortem.

Heydon's Hotel, Toronto Junction, was again the scene of the enquiry, Coroner Cleland presiding, H. S. Osler being present on behalf of the Grand Trunk. After evidence corroborative of former testimony re the finding of the body after the accident, Dr. Perfect, who made the post mortem, took the stand. He found all the ribs broken and detached from the spine, a fracture at the base of the skull and other injuries. The body was that of a woman of 60 and was well nourished.

Is She the Mother of Mrs. Moore?

Mrs. Mary Emily Moore, 21 Camden-street, Toronto, testified to having viewed the body, but could not positively identify the remains as those of her mother. The presumption that it was was based on the fact that her mother came to her home on her way from Buffalo to Belleville to look after property, which she has there and which she intended disposing of. She arrived from Belleville last week and then left suddenly, and that was the last seen of her. That she may have wandered to the Junction by way of Bloor-street seemed to them probable. The articles of apparel which were worn by the deceased, however, she could not recognize, but her description of the teeth of her mother were identical to those of the deceased.

Mrs. Prince Kissed the Corpse.

Mrs. Leah Jane Prince, 106 Wallace-avenue, was the lady who kissed the remains on Tuesday night, thinking in the dim light of the lantern that they were those of her mother. Next day, however, she again saw them, when she seemed positive that they were not.

William Prince of the Junction was the owner of the dog found with the old lady in the station after the accident. Had seen the body, but could not recognize in it that of any of his acquaintances.

This concluded the testimony.

Verdict of Accidental Death.

The jury rendered the following verdict: "We find that the unknown deceased woman came to her death by being struck by a Grand Trunk engine; and, further, we wishh to exonerate the train hands from any and all responsibility for the accident."

The articles of apparel will remain in the Crown's hands to aid identification, while Undertaker McCabe has the jacket.

AT THE BRAMPTON ASSIZES NEXT WEEK.

The Crown Authorities Have Decided To Postpone His Trial Until the Spring Sitting of the Court—MacWherrell's Case Not Affected By the Postponement.

John Walker, alleged accomplice of William Walter MacWherrell in the murder of the old Williams couple on Dec. 14 last, will not be put on trial at the assizes, which open at Brampton on Monday next.

MacWherrell was given a respite until Oct. 1, and it was expected that Walker would be put upon trial before that day. The crown authorities, however, have decided otherwise.

Will Not Be Tried Until Spring.

When the case of the crown against John Walker and William Walter MacWherrell for the murder of Eliza Williams is called the crown will have the case traversed to the Spring Assizes. Long before spring sunshine has begun to melt away winter snows MacWherrell will have paid with his life the forfeit of his crime, and Walker will be left to face the bar of man's justice alone.

Why the Trial is Postponed.

No reason is assigned by the crown authorities for their determination to postpone the hearing of the case. It is understood that new and important evidence is expected, but up to the present it is not in the hands of the authorities. The postponement of the trial cannot have any effect upon the sentence of MacWherrell. He is already convicted and doomed to suffer the extreme penalty. A dozen convictions piled on top of this one could not make the sentence any more severe, nor can the disposal of his case make any difference in Walker's circumstances.

On March 18 MacWherrell was sentenced to hang on June 1 for the murder of James Williams. The horrible butchery that was committed on the Middle-road on Thursday, Dec. 14, is now an old story. MacWherrell was respited to allow the Minister of Justice time to review the case. As announced some time ago, Sir John Thompson refused to interfere with the finding of the court, and in all human probability the chief actor in the awful tragedy will die on the morning of Oct. 1 next.

Walker was tried with MacWherrell and found "not guilty." He has since been held on the other charge.

It Has Not a Peer.

In the Royal Household a considerable quantity of spirit is used by the cooks for making sauces, etcetera, and some whiskies sold for that purpose are advertised in a manner misleading. Such, however, is not the case with the celebrated fifteen years' old Four Crown Brand of whiskey, same as supplied H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and H.H. Prince Bismarck of Germany for their personal uses. You can obtain it from first-class dealers only. Try it once and you will not drink any other liquor. Quality and flavor defy competition, at the price. Agency, 13 Front-street east, Toronto. 246

One of the Big Ones.

The News says in speaking of the present drop in coal that "only three or four large dealers in Toronto have so far laid in any large stocks."

The People's Coal Company are one of the large firms who mine their own coal, and have always a large stock on hand. For some time back this firm have been selling hard coal, A1 quality, at $5 per ton. In yesterday's issue of The News it was announced that the firm referred to had made a further cut to $4.75 per ton, and are offering to return to their customers who paid the former price the difference of price. The action of the company in this respect is deserving of commendation. Those who have not laid in their stock of winter coal should also take advantage of the present low rate.

He Didn't Have the Dough.

Mary, dear, I've lost him;
And oh! I loved him so!
But in the ditch I tossed him—
He didn't have the dough.

How, is it that we lose them when
Their funds are very low?
How is it that the best of men
Are always short of dough?

Some man I hate for every cause
Will hit my heart a blow,
And win me for his bride, because
The duffer has the dough.

Mary, dear, I'm sick to-night;
The mark I'll surely too;
The man I hate is quite a fright—
But oh! he's got the dough!

A Hint For Hostesses.

Those hostesses who do not have wine on the table at dinner parties often feel the lack of a substitute, as many diners-out are averse to simple cold water. The lack may be easily supplied by the use of Obico natural mineral water. When bottled nothing excels this water for table use. It has rapidly come to the front rank of mineral waters and is bound to stay there.
