Some You Coax, Some You Bully, and Some You Beat

There Are Various and Peculiar Ways of Handling Fighters Who Are About as Tempermental as Prima Donnas.

Prizefighters are as temperamental as prima donnas and almost as hard to manage in the opinion of Jimmy Dime, of Newcastle, Pa., who has been in the business of managing and training fighters almost since the time that Chris. Columbus cast anchor off Sandy Hook or wherever it was that he cast anchor.

"They're a hard bunch to handle unless you just get the knack of it.' declares Lime, who at present has as big a 'stable' as any man in the country. "Some of 'em you've got to humor. Others you have to browbeat. You have to study their temperaments and figure out just the right method of reach. When you discover the method and apply it, the rest is easy.

"Big Dan Dailey, the heavyweight in my string, used to have a fondness for pastry, with cream puffs as his particular specialty. Everybody knows that pastry isn't good for fighters. I told Dan so, but he said he guessed it wouldn't hurt him. Finally I forbid his eating pastry. But he used to slip away and eat his fill at a neighboring restaurant.

"But I fixed that finally. Took the restaurant man in my confidence. The next day when Dan called for cream puffs he got them. But he noticed a peculiar flavor about them. The delicious flavor was gone. And he kept noticing that peculiar flavor every time he ate the cream puffs. Pretty soon he decided that cream puffs did not agre with him. And he quit. The flavor that he noticed was alum, which had been injected in the cream puft.

Tommy Jones, one of the lightweights in my string, is a tango fiend. Tangoing is all right if it isn't overdone—but what tangoer doesn't overdo it? Tommy used to slip away at night and go tangoing instead of sleeping. I finally had to cure Tommy's tangoing ideas by instructing one of the men that he works out with to slip over a punch that would blacken Tommy's eye. No matter how crazy a man is to tango he isn't going to glide around a dance floor wearing a black eye. At any rate, Tommy didn't.

'Joe Chip, a middleweight, and brother to George Chip, who was middleweight champion until Al McCoy put him out has a strange fondness for jewelry. Where other fighters think of banking their money, Joe thinks only of investing it in diamonds and rubies. He has quite a collection of gems now, and he wears them in the ring, contending that they wouldn't hurt his fingers, but I finally convinced him to the contrary by hiding his jewelry on the night of his fights.

'George Chip has a 'bug' on gathering cigarette coupons. 'bearcat' Tom McMahon likes the movies. He's a fiend. And I have discovered that watching the films isnt good for the eyesight. It hurts it, as far as a fighter is concerned. I had a hard time trying to convince McMahon though.

"Patsy Brannigan, the bantam, is what might be called a dude. Patsy aims to be immaculate in his street dress and usually is. He never goes into a fight before he gets his hair cut, his face shaved and is treated with a massage. It sems funny a man who is facing the prospect of having his face battered beforehand, but that's the case with Patsy.

"So it goes with all the others that I am handling now or have handled. They're mighty peculiar. As I have said, you have to humor some and browbeat the others. And when both these methods fail you have to hit upon some scheme whereby you can cure them of the faults and peculiarities that are a detriment to their ring succes."

Fire at a Wake.

At a wake at Bootle on Tuesday, the coffin containing the body of a child which was lying in the back bedroom of a house in Campbell-street, with several lighted candles near, was burnt through the curtains being blown against the candles and becoming ignited. The fire brigade was called, and soon extinguished the flames. The body was only slightly affected.

Shag Grabs Two

OTTAWA, Aug. 3.—The Ottawas yesterday made slight gains on the leaders by taking the morning and afternoon games, which both went into extra innings of stubbornly battled fixtures by the score of 2 to 1 and 6 to 5. Roberts, late of the Toronto Beavers, kpet 10 hits to the Hamilton club well scattered for only one run, while Donahoe was nicked for seven hits only, which brought two runs.

The last game found Clements opposed to Kubat and Shocker, the former being knocked out of the box in the eighth, giving the visitors a one-run margin. The game went three more innings after Smykal stole home in the ninth with the tying run.

Saints There With Wallop

ST. THOMAS Aug. 4.—The Saints administered a beating to George Ort's Beavers yesterday, and it was not an ordinary cue, but was one thickly coated with kalsomine. When the last man was out in the ninth the score board showed it was a 7 to 0 victory. Incidentally it might be mentioned that St. Thomas moves into fourth place as a result of the win.

Verne Hughey was on the mound for St. Thomas and had the Beavers eating out of his hands al the time. But six scattered hits were secured off his delivery. Combined with his good twirling, the Saints got their bats to work and pounded out 14 bingles off Alex. Graham's delivery. A couple of errors by Marty Killilea aided the Saints to make it a larger score, but had really no effect on the win.

St. Thomas got away to an early start, scoring a run in the first, second third and two in the fifth, and the last two in the seventh. Craven, Hadley McNellis, Nevitt, Hunt and Isaacs all starred with the willow.

Broke Even With Kockneys

LONDON Aug 4.—A win and a loss was chalked up against Peterboro and London yesterday as the baseball program of the Forest City's civic holiday, the visitors shutting out the Tecumsch's in the morning by the score of 4 to 0, while the locals completely swamped the Blountmen in the after dinner episode by the score of 18 to 1.

Schettler, in the box for the Petes in the morning argument, was invincible as he was in grand form, allowing but five well scattered hits, tightening up whenever the locals threatened with men on bases, especially when his support wobbled. Hammond, who was his opponent, pitched good ball, also, but the six bingles combed off his delivery were bunched by twos in three innings netting the visitors all their runs.

Three Hits Off Steiger

Steiger, who hurled the afternoon tussle, was as much a mystery to the Petes as Schettler was to the locals in the early battle, since he allowed but three scattered hits and should not have been scored upon, as a walk and an error gave Peterboro their run in the ninth without the sign of a hit.

Pitchers Tracey and Cresswell were mauled aplenty, as the Tecumsehs hit their offerings to all directions, mixing stolen bases with bunts and long distance clouts until they became fatigued and dizzy from circling the bases.

Curley Blount Chased.

The morning game was marred by a run-in when Manager Blount disputed a decision about ground rules, which ended up in a slap for Manager Reisling by the hand of the visiting pilot and his banishment, but not before the players circled the local leader before he could retaliate.

Pitcher Schettler was fined $5 by Umpire Bedford for questioning a decision also.

The Petes secured their tallies in the third, fourth and eighth. With one out in the third Miller doubled and scored on Kelly's single. In the fourth Dolan walked and went to second on Byrne's hit and a double steal put them on third and second. Kading singled through the infield, scoring Dolan, In the eighth Miller singled and went to third when Hammond tossed Schettler's bunt high to first. Welsh drove in Miller and Schettler on an infield out.

Manager Reisling Is Making Big Effort To Fill Vacancies

(London Advertiser.)

That the London Club intends to replace Mullin and Snyder as soon as possible is demonstrated by the fact that Manager Reisling sent a telegram Saturday afternoon to Jay Rogers, a young catcher,, who played in the Virginia League last season, on the same club with Ray Whitcraft and Frank Long. Rogers was drafted at the end of the season by the New York American League club and was carried by that club for a time in the spring. He was finally released without any strings attached, and is now a free agent. According to Whitcraft and other players who knew him, he is a promising yonngster and a fine ball player. The fact that he was drafted by a big league club shows that he looks pretty good. Just whether the local club can secure him or not is not yet known.

Manager Reisling left Saturday evening on a trip to secure a couple of players, a third baseman particularly. He will likely be back in the morning and may bring the men with him. Johnny Nelson, the former Brantford third sacker, will be given a chance to make good also, it is expected.

Two .300 Hitters.

In losing Mullin and Snyder, the London team loses two pretty good ball players and it is regretted that they took such drastic action. Both are hitters well over the .300 mark, and they have been making a great showing with the club breaking up many a game. hTey seem determined to follow up the course they have taken, although there is still a chance of them coming back into the field. Following their announcement of uqitting Saturday morning,, the London club suspended them and fined the amount of money due them. Saturday was pay day ,but these two players had not received their checks when it became known they intended to jump. In suspending them and fining them, the London club has organized baseball behind it, as it is regarded as a serious thing for a player to jump a club in such a way. The suspension is an indefinite one,, and both players will be unable to play with teams in organized baseball until the suspension is lifted.
