Dress Advice from Woman Lawyer

"A Woman's dress has a twofold effect on her progress in business," says Miss McCormick, the observant young district attorney of Brooklyn.

"It reacts on her own nature. Well dressed, a woman has that feeling of comfortable assurance which frees her mind, and leaves it receptive to ideas and programs of work.

"Then in turn people are more receptive to the ideas and the propositions of an attractive personality and in a woman clothes almost entirely determine this quality."

Beauty alone can sometimes be lost if a woman has not planned how to set off her charms with distinction.

A well-dressed woman is never overlooked.

Good looking clothes have helped many a woman over life's difficult places. They disarm antagonism.

If girls could realize how carefully their dress is examined and judged when they apply for positions, they would make their clothing a deliberate study instead of the wanton indulgence in taste and fads that is practiced by many.

Gertrude Hill, Reta Murdock, Blanch McVicar.
"Just Lizzie," the Ghost, ... Muriel Brooker
Miss Allas, Miss Alike, (The Silent Sisters) .....
Winnifred Brown, Margaret Gillis
The music was furnished by Miss Elit Bissit.

FOR THAT SUMMER PLACE.

The attitude of some women toward a summer cottage or shack is that any piece of discarded furniture will do. This is often a matter of necessity. It is financially out of the question to buy new things for two homes and the wise decision is to have the better things in the Winter place, where they may be enjoyed for more months of the year and where they will not be subjected to the winds and possible dampness that penetrates the walls of lightly built Summer places.

But though old furniture is made to do and though little money is spent, it not infrequently happens that a woman's Summer home is more artistic than her Winter home. If she has inherent good taste without the courage of her conviction she is apt to stick to old conventions in furnishing, cramping her really good ideas, in her permanent home, while in the Summer place—even though it may be no more than a two-room shack put up for an occasional week-end—she may go ahead unrestrained, producing an effect at once comfortable and pleasing.

Of late years much has been done by means of paint in making old furniture relegated to the Summer cottage look presentable. The old oak bed with the high headboard is cut down to comfortable proportions, and painted solid white, gray, soft blue or brown. Sometimes a cheerful effect is obtained in the living room by painting chairs in different colors. A soft yellow, green, gray and black would all be harmonious together. Shelves inexpensively put up for books, dishes or personal belongings may be painted a bright color.

By means of home dyes old curtains and hangings may be endowed with greater decorative possibilities.

A long nose is a sign of merit, power and genius.

A Roman nose indicates a propensity for adventure.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

High Heels Win.

The high heel will not be sent into exile—not just yet. It will not be placed upon the shelf where repose extinct things of yesteryear—not right now.

The Massachusetts legislature has killed the heel bill.

This piece of proposed legislation prohibited the manufacture and sale of high-heeled shoes in the state.

The allowable heel was not to exceed an inch and a half.

The bill got as far as the committee room.

Then the anti-heelers took the matter up with the Life Extension Institute, asking Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, president, to campaign against the high heel.

He replied: "Women wouldn't obey such a law. You can't legislate an absolute reform." He did, though, point a way out:

"Make the low heel the fashion and you won't need legislation," he said. "It is only through fashion that any radical change in existing conditions as regards garments can ever be hoped for.

"Persuade some of the real leaders of society to wear low-heeled and comfortable shoes and no law will be needed to make the wearing of such footgear universal."

The use of blue ribbons to carry the lace bridal train was a prominent feature of a recent London wedding.

Ropes of pearls are wound around the wrist in lieu of bracelets.

BITS OF GOSSIP.

Time is turning backward surely, for just the other day a woman in Wilkinsburg, Pa., was indicted and convicted for being a "common scold." Luckily for her the old-time "ducking chair" has gone out of existence, so instead of being half-drowned, as she would have been for a like offense, in old New England days, she was let off with a light fine and a reprimand.

South Carolina is a queer state; recently the legislature passed a law declaring that moving pictures showing white women, should not be presented in theatres catering to the colored people—and in Charleston all principals and teachers in the negro schools are white, and nearly all are young women.

GENERAL SECRETARY PRESENTED WITH PIN

At the reception rooms of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon the Board of Directors and the Secretary gave a tea in honor of Miss Tapscott, the retiring general secretary, and presented her with a gold bar pin set with a diamond and a letter of appreciation for her work with the association.

REGARDING PEARLS.

Pearls which are reported to have been found for the first time in the Mediterranean, were one of three possessions for which our British ancestors were chiefly respected by the ancient world, the other two being tin and oysters. The Romans apparently found pearls plentiful in Britain, for Julius Caesar dedicated to Venus Genetrix "a breastplate studded with British pearls." These were probably obtained from fresh-water mussels with distorted shells.

Fisheries for these "seed pearls" have existed on many rivers of Ireland, Wales and Scotland from time immemorial; but pearl-fishing is now discouraged by most riparian owners in the supposed interests of the salmon.

A fine pearl from the river Ythan has adorned the Crown of Scotland, and a Welsh pearl from Conway holds a place of honor on the British Crown.

EMPIRE DAY PAGEANT.

The various chapters of the I.O.D.E. are uniting in an Imperial pageant to be given in the Imperial Theatre at half past four on Monday. Each chapter has become responsible for the presentation of one scene depicting some outstanding incident in British history. The entertainment which will thus be of a purely patriotic nature, is regarded as being particularly appropriate as a feature of Empire Day.

Love is Blind.

The absent-minded professor came home one evening to be accused by his wife of sore neglect.

"You have not kissed me for two whole days," was her sad complaint.

"Indeed, my dear!" exclaimed the professor. "Then whom have I been kissing?"

A cleft nose indicates benevolence.

A thick nose is an indication of indolence.

A turned up nose is said to indicate impudence.

An acquiline nose indicates high mindedness.

When Baby Is Sick

When the baby is sick—when he is cross and peevish; cries a great deal and is a constant worry to the mother—he needs Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are an ideal medicine for little ones. They are a gentle but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Philippe Payen, St. Flavien, Quebec, writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have been a wonderful help to me in the case of my baby and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL

By HELEN ROWLAND

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The sweetest surprise a man can have is to marry a girl for her "spiritual charm," and discover that she can broil a steak.

There is no such thing as "alienated affections." A man never SEES another woman, until he has stopped looking at you, and begun looking for consolation or diversion.

Next to trying to escape from the woman who wants him and would make him happy, the hardest work a man puts in in his lifetime consists in trying to win some other woman who doesn't want him and will make him miserable.

To succeed in kissing a girl at the first attempt is about as thrilling to a man as shooting at a wild fowl and hitting a canary.

Next to a fat man in a bathing-suit, the funniest sight on earth is a man in a fancy-dress costume or a Knight Templar uniform. He doesn't know whether to feel delighted with himself or disgusted with himself, whether to strut or to run and hide—and the strain of conflicting emotions is simply paralyzing!

To light the spark of interest in a man's heart, flirt with him—to fan the flame to love, flirt with somebody else.

A young man's taste in girls, like his taste in food, may be naturally simple; but it's amazing how suddenly it changes, as soon as he makes money enough to afford the spicy, and highly seasoned variety.

That "married feeling" is the perfect understanding that comes, after a few years, when a wife knows exactly what her husband is going to say when he is planning an evening at the club, and he knows exactly what she will answer, when he says it.

A man can play so cleverly" at the love-game that he cheats himself out of all the thrills.

Land of Night Greatly Enjoyed

Successful Play Given in Exmouth St. Church Schoolroom by the C. I. G. T.

A very successful play, entitled the "Land of Night," took place last evening in the Exmouth street Methodist Sunday school-room, under the auspices of the Canadian Girls in training of that school. The cast of characters follows:

Princess of Night.....Edith Shaw
Princess of Dawn.....Mabel Adams
Courier Moonbeam....Margaret Jack
Jane Jogway.....Pearl Finley
Nora Mulligan.....Grace Hughson
The Six Star Maids—Dorothy Handren, Laura Lawton, Marion Cosman, Florence Christie, Dorothy Young, Doris Jones.
Sunbeam Maids—Helen Handren, Rebecca Semple, Helen Morgan, Grace McKee, Doris Shaw, Bessie Cosman.
Pages—Wendal Black and Jean Young.

The play concerns the adventures of four people who left the earth in an airplane and landed in Mars. Their strange adventures and the acts of Nora Mulligan, the Irish girl, brought many laughs and much applause. Great credit is also due to Edith Shaw and Mabel Adams, through whose efforts the play was such a success.

Miss Helen Morgan and Harrison Morgan gave a very excellent violin duet.

Rev. W. E. Taylor Talks On Missions

Educational Secretary of Missionary Society Tells of Work in Distant Lands.

At a gathering of the Woman's Aid yesterday afternoon in the school-room of Trinity church, the Rev. W. E. Taylor, Educational Secretary of the Missionary Society of Canadian Churches, spoke on the work they had accomplished in the past year.

Mr. Taylor mentioned his travels in China and spoke at length on the depredations the famine was causing and the millions of lives being lost. A movement is now on hand to raise money to relieve the distress in China at the present time. In Honan, a province of China, containing about seven millions souls, there is one hospital and one lady doctor. From this startling statement some idea can be gained of the immensity of the work with which the society is confronted. Mr. Taylor also spoke on the other missions in the Far East in Japan, Egypt, Palestine, India and others in South America, Baffin Land and the Yukon, so that from this lecture the ladies of the W. A. might realize the size and importance of the organization with which they are affiliated.

IMPERIAL

TODAY You've Been Waiting For This.

THE LONG LINGERING LAUGH THAT'S RIPPLED ROUND THE EMPIRE

"ALF'S BUTTON"

BETTER THAN "THE BETTER 'OLE."

EVERYBODY KNOWS THAT WHEN ALLADIN RUBBED HIS MAGIC LAMP an Oriental Genie immediately appeared and executed the most fantastic wish of the wish-ful young man. Now bring this story up to date. Imagine a soldier's button made of the brass from that magic lamp and again imagine that button sewn on the coat of an illiterate Cockney Tommy in the trenches. From the moment the snappy Sergeant Major ordered the Tommy to polish up his buttons, eliciting the murmured protest "Stroike me pink" (when, Presto, the Genie appeared) until the last flip of the seventh reel off the screen, this comedy is a delirium of fun and hilarity. Clean, wholesome, clever, and darned if it ain't natural too. Has packed theatres for weeks' runs in all cities and still going strong.

U. N. B. Arranging For Trip To Stat

Encouraged by Success Hockey Last Winter Exp to Send Strong Team.

Encouraged by the success of t hockey team last year U.N.B. is p ning to be more active along that next year than they have been in past. Their first proposition b send their puck chasers to Bo and other American cities as s as the season opens. It will be membered that King's College their team to the States last se and were not as successful as had hoped. In spite of that the N.B. supporters believe that, s the reds and blacks outclassed bunch from Windsor in the g played for the possession of the S ner trophy, their outfit will mak better impression on the Yan cities than the Windsorions Wm. Lounsbury, the captain of last year's team, is now ma efforts to arrange the trip. year's team will be carried stren ened by "Cotton" McKenzie, the er of Campbellton's team last and of the U.N.B. quintette the vious season.

An effort will also be made to de in the line-up Fred (Larry) n, the sensation of the N.B.H in the past season. Without McI and McKenzie U.N.B. trimmed Marysville stickhandlers in a g played late in March by a score eight to one. This should indi that if that university team goes the States the fans here can ex to see about as good a team as part of the country can produce.
