PLANNING CAMPAIGN TO RAISE $150,000 FOR MEMORIAL HALL

Veterans May Ask City For Site On Federal Square.

The committee appointed from the three soldier organizations in the city to secure funds to build a Memorial Hall to the soldiers who fell in France is going to launch a campaign to raise $150,000.

"We don't want a monument in some park where we can just go up and look at it," said E. A. Pocock, one of the committee, to The Advertiser. "What we want is a club house for every soldier and all the soldier organizations to meet in. The first floor could be made into an auditorium for the use of the city. On the second floor we could have the club rooms for small meetings. I think the basement might be made into an artificial skating rink.

"The best location in the city for this hall would be the Federal Square. If the city would lease us the property for a number of years we would do our level best to raise the $150,000, and I don't think we would have any trouble getting it. After the lease of the property expired, it could revert to the city to do whatever it liked."

It is expected the committee will meet shortly to discuss the campaign.

AGED TRAVELER IS RATHER ECCENTRIC

Resents Attempts of Well-Meaning Officials To Make Things Easy.

There is one woman at least who does not believe that young women are in any danger when traveling alone and who has her own ideas about the travelers' aid and other offices of the Y. W. C. A. She is a frequent visitor to London, where she comes to see the sights. Although she always travels alone she has never been interfered with, and she disdains all help.

The woman has just passed her 84th birthday. She is a resident of some little town in the vicinity of Chatham, where she lives with a son and his wife. Having an independent fortune, she travels when she likes and thinks of telling no one where she is going.

Scorns Assistance.

She arrived in this city on Saturday morning on the G. T. R. train from Windsor. The representative of the travelers' aid, who is always on the lookout for people she can assist, hurried forward to help the little grey figure, bent but active, alighting from the train, apparently alone. She asked the little lady if she could help her to the car, but she was nonplussed when her offer was turned down with quite a sharp "Why should you?"

The little old lady went down the platform and was not seen again until evening, when she returned to take the 5:40 home. John Crooks, the night station agent at that time, took her under his wing, but asked the official of the travelers' aid to watch over her while she was in the waiting-room.

Cross-Questioned.

The official approached the lady, having forgotten the caustic remark of the morning. This is the total result of the interview:

"What train do you take?"

"H'm, who are you?"

The good lady told her to some length.

"How much do you get?"

"Oh, money is no object in my work."

"Can't be any good if they don't pay you."

"But it is a pleasure for me to help anyone."

"Oh, I know. I have been through the same pleasures myself."

This was enough to discourage a saint, so the official of the travelers' aid gave up the attempt.

Another Episode.

The old lady then turned to another woman sitting near. "Come and have something to eat?"

"No, thank you. I will soon be home."

"Are you too stingy to spend your money?"

"No, it is not that, but I prefer to eat home."

"H'm. I eat wherever I can get a bite."

It was getting near train time, so John Crooks came bustling in. He approached the old lady and said with elegant grace: "I'll help you to the train."

"No you won't. Not till I'm ready."

"But, madam," he persisted. "I'm busy, and the train will soon be leaving."

"And who are you?"

Mr. Crooks did not wait to answer. The old lady got on the train safely, but before she left she said that she had come to London without telling anyone at home where she had gone.

SAYS CITY DEPENDS ON ARTESIAN WELLS FOR WATER SUPPLY

Frederick Abbott of San Antonio, Visiting Here, Tells of Conditions.

Drinking water for San Antonio, Texas, a city of 200,000 population, is obtained entirely from artesian wells and springs, although a large river flows through the heart of the business district, Frederick Abbott, head of the department of public speaking in the San Antonio high schools, stated in an interview with The Advertiser today. He is paying a short visit to his father, H. C. Abbott after an absence of eight years.

Mr. Abbott said that although the river had its source almost within the city limits and was, therefore, much purer than the rivers from which many cities draw their drinking supply, that it had been considered a better plan to obtain water from wells. This proved thoroughly successful, the city's supply being one of the finest on the continent.

Previous to coming here, Mr. Abbott spent a few days in New York getting in touch with some of the latest educational advances there, and, as he pointed out, "giving them a few tips on some of the advances we have made." On his arrival here he was taken on a tour of the city schools by Harry Hayman, chairman of the board of education. Riverview, Ryerson and the Technical schools were visited. The two latter especially, Mr. Abbott declared, were a credit to the city, and had not been surpassed by any he had seen in somewhat extensive travels. He believed that the Technical School had been built with an eye to the future, and that this would be fully justified by subsequent developments. He was much impressed by the general advancement of the city during his absence.

He is an enthusiastic booster for his present home town. He pointed out that it is the gateway of Mexico, and that when conditions there have been settled that millions of dollars of commerce will pour through at this point. Population has increased steadily from 96,614 in 1910 to 157,000 in 1920, which with suburban population is practically 200,000.

COURT IS LENIENT WITH MARY DUNCAN

Let Go On Condition She Returns To St. Thomas.

Mary Duncan appeared in police court today charged with vagrancy and was allowed her freedom on condition she leave town at once. Mary promised to fulfill the condition and thanked the magistrate for the privilege of doing so.

"Here you are again," said the court to accused. "The only thing to do for you is to send you to the reformatory."

"I just came over from St. Thomas," pleaded the prisoner, "I have my return ticket here. I was walking along the street, minding my own business when arrested."

Constable R. Bramner swore that she was staggering along King street at 5:25 a.m. today and he "could smell something on her breath very strong, and her clothing was disarranged, as if she had slept in some back yard."

"I see," commented the court, "she has been out on an all-night jamboree. I will let you go to St. Thomas, but see that you stay there."

"Thank you," said Mary as she marched away.

Was Fined $10.

Joseph Catalano paid $10 and costs because a forged license marker was detected on his auto.

"You may have been perfectly honest about it, or thoroughly dishonest, and that lost marker may be on another car," remarked Magistrate Graydon in imposing a fine.

"Somebody turned off my lights while I was in the show," pleaded Tony Zoccano.

"If that excuse were to go, there would be no convictions," said his worship in tacking a $2 fine against Tony's account.

Fred Van Dusen paid $5 and costs for a breach of the motor vehicles act, while A. Parsons parted with a two-spot for a similar offence. The sum of $2 was required from A. Camp, Alfred Ball and William Mullins, with a dollar boost for Arthur Heddon, because of city bylaw violations.

BUSINESS BETTER IN CIGAR TRADE

Not So Many Workers In the City as Formerly.

These are quiet days in London's labor world and local leaders announce that the relations between capital and labor here are practically free from dissatisfaction or misunderstanding. Most lines of labor are busy with the exception of the cigarmaking trade, and some improvement has been noted here in the last few days. London lost many skilled cigarmakers, however, during the past few months on account of slackness in the industry here. Forty or fifty workers went to Hamilton, and smaller numbers to Detroit, Buffalo, Cuba and Tampa, Fla. Cigarmakers with family ties or, for other reasons averse to leaving London, temporarily undertook other lines of work and as conditions improve these will gradually return to their own trade.

A meeting of the Labor Representation Committee will be held in the Labor Temple on Thursday evening.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

DEATH OF WM. SNOWDEN.

William Henry Snowden died at his home, 21 Thornton avenue, this morning after an illness extending over some months. Mr. Snowden had lived in London many years, and was an employee of the Empire Brass Works. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. O. Woods and Mrs. E. Ackert, both of this city, and three sons, James of Detroit, William and Charles of this city. Four sisters also survive him, Mrs. J. Burridge, Mrs. J. Spalter, Mrs. A. Hilton and Mrs. J. Sargent, also his parents.

Mr. Snowden was a member of the Woodmen of the World, and the local union of metal polishers. The funeral will be held from his home on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

BURIAL AT ST. PETERS.

The funeral of James Flannigan, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital on Saturday, was held this morning from the residence of his brother, 33 Garfield avenue, to St. Peter's Church. Requiem high mass was sung at 9 o'clock by Rev. Father P. J. McKeon. Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The Knights of Columbus attended the funeral in a body. The pallbearers were six members of the Knights of Columbus—A. McIntyre, C. Kilgallin, A. Bowers, G. Donahue, G. Quigley and F. Slaght.

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT TROOPS N PURSUIT OF PEDRO ZAMORA

Mexico City, Aug. 24.—Pedro Zamora, the bandit chief, whose men carried off a number of captives, including several British subjects, from the town of Cuale, state of Jalisco, on August 20, is being closely pursued by government troops, said General Eduardo C. Garcia, chief of staff at the war department last night. He added the bandit's followers were readily deserting, and that "by the end of the month" not more than 15 or 20 men would remain of the band.

ANCIENT EGGS RETURNED.

When a large truckload of eggs which had been shipped by a local firm to Windsor were refused at their destination and returned to this city last week it was not necessary to call in a claims agent to determine the cause of the refusal. Before the expressmen on the G. T. R. platform could move the eggs, the case had to be soaked with a strong disinfectant. The company does not provide gas masks.

SCARCITY OF LABORERS.

Scarcity of labor has been the great problem of the G. T. R. in its attempt to carry out its building program this year, according to Superintendent C. F. Forrester of the local division. The labor gangs used for the construction work are made up almost entirely of foreigners. Since the end of the war it has been almost impossible to secure enough of this class of labor to carry on the work.

When the war ended, the foreigners who were in this country in large numbers, flocked back to their native lands to seek their relatives and friends who had lost their homes and had suffered in other ways because of the war. In this way the railroads of Canada lost the best of their construction labor.

Mr. Forrester expressed the opinion, however, that this handicap would soon be overcome, because other foreigners were already flocking to America. The men who returned home have told their countrymen of the excellent conditions to be found in Canada and the United States, and their friends are acting on their advice. Most of the immigrants now are going west, but Mr. Forrester is confident that they will soon be in the east in large numbers.

It has been found impossible by the railroads to get white men to do construction work, as the majority of them prefer to work at other things. Mixed labor does not work well.

PAY CHECKS COMING.

All employees of the G. T. R., who received increases in wages as the result of the fight put up by the C. B. R. E. and other railwaymen's organizations a few months ago, will get the back pay checks within one week or ten days, according to local officials. Separate pay sheets covering the back pay have been sent to headquarters.

The checks will vary in amounts from $5 to $135. They will be made to cover the increases for two months. The new schedule went into effect on June 16, but it dated back to April 17.

PICNIC AT GALT.

The Toronto C. P. R. Recreation Club will hold its annual picnic in Galt on Saturday next.

ANOTHER EMBARGO.

Because of congested freight conditions on the American railroads an embargo has been put on all carload shipments of freight entering the United States by way of Port Huron. As the result of the embargo no freight routed via Port Huron will be accepted by the G. T. R., as less than carload lots have been embargoed for some months.

Despite the order, the 800 cars of freight destined to the western lines of the G. T. R., which were tied up in the local division east of Sarnia, are gradually being cleared away. Local officials expected that all cars will have been moved by tonight, if the road has a good day.

MUCH NEEDED WORK IS NOW UNDER WAY

Council Will Brave Taxpayers' Wrath For City Hall Improvements.

Braving the possibility of being termed "wildly extravagant" and being turned out of office by an enraged populace, the city council has authorized no less an undertaking than the repapering of the mayor's and city clerk's office. Other less venturesome councils have shrunk from the task, but not so the interepid city fathers of 1920, and as a result the wor kis now well under way.

Perhaps too much credit should not be given them for their courageous action, as conditions had almost reached the stage where the work could be delayed no longer. In spite of heroic efforts on the part of Mayor Little and City Clerk Sam Baker to cover the most noticeable deficiencies in the wall covering up numerous pictures of the visits of various governors-general, framed greetings from sister cities, pennants, flags and every other known type of ornament, the sad state of the ancient wall paper could not be concealed.

Already a great improvement is noticeable. The mayor's office and the city clrk's private office have been entirely repapered and the paperhangers are now busy with the general office.

UNUSUAL INTEREST IN THE HORSE SHOW

The final board meeting of the Western Fair Association previous to the first Monday of fair week, will be held in the association's office in the Dominion Savings building on Thursday afternoon. Reports of committees and final plans for the various departments of the exhibition will be received and confirmed.

Secretary A. M. Hunt reports unusual interest in the horse show this year. Entries of eight and ten horses by single exhibitors from Lakside, Aylmer, and other places, were received today. Work on the catalogues will be commenced within a day or two, and an effort is being made to get all the entries in as soon as possible.

FINED FOR BOXING ON DUNDAS STREET

Nellie Taylor and Herbert Nuttall Were Taken in Charge.

Nellie Taylor and Herbert Nuttall paid $10 and costs each because they staged a boxing bout on Dundas street this morning, with Constables Frayne and Chamberlain as an audience.

"I suppose I am guilty, sir," said one drunk in paying the usual $10 and costs.

"How did you come to get drunk?" inquired the court.

"Drinking too much, sir," was the reply.

"That is how they all do it," said the magistrate.

"Well, I have just been operated on for appendicitis and was feeling very bad," was the excuse of the prisoner.

"Too bad," said his worship.

HAND LACERATED.

URGE PERMANENT LEGAL DISTRICTS

Special Commission To Make Report On Judges' Appointments.

Not even the most staid of all institutions of the province, that of the judges, is to escape investigation and reorganization at the hands of the commission of five appointed by the Drury Government to report on the outside offices of the attorney-general's department in Ontario. A plan is being worked out, whereby the legal profession of the province will be decentralized.

It is stated that the old English system of sending out judges from a central point and the centralizing of all the big legal offices in one city, as in Toronto, is costly to the public and unfair to the legal profession at other points. The lawyers throughout the province are strongly in favor of doing away with the system, and, as it would be to the disadvantage of the lawyers in Toronto, they do not seem to be strongly opposed to the change.

Will Consider Plan.

A plan somewhat after the one in use in the Province of Quebec has been suggested and is being considered. By this system legal districts each with their own high court and judges will be laid out. The appellate court and probably the supreme court will perhaps need be the only ones to remain centralized. Two, three or four counties would constitute a legal district.

Although the county court judges are every bit as well educated and trained as those of the high court they are not thought competent to try civil cases involving amounts over $60 under the present system. It has been suggested that the county court be given a greater dignity by turning over to it some of the high court cases. Special judges need then only be sent out on murder or other serious criminal cases.

Complaint have been made about giving a justice of the peace power to take away a man's freedom for three years on a criminal charge when he is not considered capable of trying a civil case where a small amount of money is involved.

If the plan to appoint competent traveling magistrates for the counties is successfully worked out there is no reason why the lesser civil cases could not be turned over to them, thereby dignifying the position of the judges.

The commission has found that there are far too many junior judges in the province. This has been brought about by the system of allowing the province to nominate the judges, and the Dominion Government paying them. The appointments were made as rewards for political party service. Little can be done to remedy the evil, as a judge receives his appointment for life.

YOUNGSTERS ENJOYED A FEAST OF BANANAS

When a wagon loaded with bananas had a slight mishap at York and Clarence streets today, passersby had a demonstration of how rapidly news travels. When the wagon collapsed the fruit was strewn along the pavement, and before the dealer could collect his wares, scores of boys appeared, and a scene followed such as is only witnessed in the movies, where the players have little regard for a few dozen bananas or pies. The owner of the fruit could only look on and watch his fruit being speedily devoured by the lads.

A pavement littered with banana skins was the only evidence left a few minutes after the accident.

ARCHITECTS FOR NEW HOTEL COMING

Architects intrusted with the planning of the big 16-story hotel to be erected in London will arrive on the ground some day this week. Only tentative plans have been prepared as yet, the exact location having been in doubt until a few days ago.

"There will be a lot of outside people in town this week. Keep your eyes open," said George M. Reid, today, in response to a reporter's interrogation whether there was anything new on the new hotel, motor truck factories, and other industrial and commercial enterprises which are part of a program for big strides ahead which London is about to take.

NO JUSTIFICATION FOR COMPLAINTS HERE

Inspector Ballingall in City Investigating Work of the Humane Society.

D. R. Ballingall of Toronto, chief inspector of the Ontario Humane Society, is in the city inspecting the work of the local Humane Society. This is Mr. Ballingall's first visit to the city, and he said that he was much pleased with what he has seen.

"There have been complaints regarding the work in London," he stated to The Advertiser, "but as far as I can see there is no justification for any now. I understand that you are going to have new grounds here. When the plans are completed and work extended, I think London will rank among the best cities in Canada for Humane Society work."

The convention of the Ontario Humane Society will be held in London this year. It is expected that it will be some time in the fall. More than fifty delegates, including inspectors from all over the province, will attend.

Inspector Ballingall recommends the purchase of an electric chamber for destroying vicious dogs. This will be installed when new buildings are erected.

"These are established in many parts of the province," he said, "and have given the very best results. They cost about $800, and will pay for themselves in a very short time. Death in these chambers is painless and quicker than shooting."

Mr. Ballingall expects to be in the city some time.

COMMEND DRURY'S STAND ON RADIALS

Copies of Resolution Sent To Toronto By Local Labor Party.

Copies of a resolution, drawn up at the last meeting of the Independent Labor party in this city, commending the stand of Premier E. C. Drury on the hydro radial scheme, were sent today to Premier Drury, Hon. W. Rollo, minister of labor, and Attorney-General Hon. W. A. Raney, by the officials of the party.

In a letter accompanying the resolutions, it was explained that the Labor party in this city stood firmly behind the premier in his decision that the hydro radial scheme should be fully investigated. The resolution was passed without a dissenting voice.

OVERSEAS EDITORS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER BEAUTIES OF WEST

Southern Alberta Affords Them Their First Real Holiday.

Golden, B. C., Aug. 24.—"I've had a splendid ride," said Viscount Burnham, as he stepped from the cab of a locomotive yesterday morning, clad in businesslike overalls. The chairman of the imperial press conference, traveled from Lake Louise to Field yesterday morning, beside the engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway train carrying the visiting newspapermen of the British Empire across Canada. In the last few days the visitors have been doing just such unaccustomed things and enjoying relaxation from formal functions and continuous traveling. The beauties of the Rockies have occupied them to their great delight. The week's end at Banff and Lake Louise was followed yesterday with a visit to Lake Windermere Camp for boating and fishing and today the fruit country of British Columbia will be inspected and the Vernon Board of Trade will entertain the party to luncheon at the Long Lake Country Club. Vancouver will be reached Wednesday morning.

Southern Alberta afforded the newspapermen their first real holiday since their arrival in Sydney nearly a month ago. Since then they have been entertained in 28 cities and towns and have listened to several score of speeches of welcome, and have responded in kind. Their enthusiasm about Canada is not less keen in their private conversation than it is in their speeches.

MUCH PRELIMINARY WORK BEFORE G. T. R. ARBITRATORS CAN HEAR THE CLAIMS

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Canadian Press.—No date has yet been set for the meeting of the Grand Trunk arbitrators, but it is expected that the first meeting takes place early in October. As there is an immense amount of work involved in getting out the necessary statements it is not expected either side will be ready to proceed before another six weeks.

WILL TREAT ALL OCEAN TRAVELERS THE SAME

Toronto, Aug. 24.—There is to be no preferential treatment for certain classes of steamship passengers in regard to vaccination against smallpox so far as Ontario is concerned. Since the legislation was adopted in 1907, first-class passengers have not been so strictly dealt with as others, but Dr. J. W. S. McCullough stated today that incoming passengers first as well as others, would be dealt with alike, as nothing should interfere with the protection of the public.
