CALIFORNIA GOLD.--The New-York Commercial Advertiser says—"It appears from the statements of the amount of gold deposited at the mint, that the quantity received from California is not far from twelve millions of dollars. The confidence of the community in a continuance of the supply is increasing rather than otherwise, and as the only material demand upon the specie in the vaults of the banks is for the sub-treasury, there is little apprehension felt of any serious pressure, and both borrowers and lenders operate with freedom and confidence."

MISSISSIPPI RIVER TRADE.—The St. Louis Republican of the 6th inst., gives the following view of business between that city and New Orleans;

A number of steamers have arrived from New Orleans within the past week or ten days with unusually heavy cargoes, and receipts of groceries and general merchandise from that quarter were, perhaps, never known more liberal at this season of the year.--Several boats have brought up five, six, and even as high as seven and eight hundred tons of freight, but the fine steamer Atlantic, Captain Oglesby, which arrived yesterday has borne off the prize in the way of big cargoes. She came into port loaded to the guards, and her manifest exhibits the names of over one hundred and twenty consignees. We have formed no estimate of the probable value of this immense cargo, but as it consists principally of general merchandise—hardware, dry goods, wines, liquors and West India fruits, we would say, at a low estimate, the entire cargo, 927 tons (10,160 packages,) would not fall much short of $100,000.

The total number of lives of officers and men of the regular army and volunteers, lost in the war with Mexico from all causes, was 12,798.

The Cincinnati Gazette estimates that the yearly consumption of cigars and smoking tobacco in that city by citizens alone (not including strangers,) amounts to $219,000.

From a document just sent to Congress, it appears that the production of wool in this country, during the last year, was 70,000,000 pounds, valued at $25,000,000.

BERLIN, Feb. 18, 1850.—Dr. Stolle, of this city, has just published a beet sugar map of Europe. Nothing is marked on it except the boundaries and names of states, the courses of rivers, and the sites of the manufactories of beet sugar. It appears that there are,

In Russia - - - - -	430
In France - - - - -	288
In Prussia - - - - -	114
In Austria - - - - -	111
In the rest of Germany -	30
In Belgium - - - - -	27
In Poland - - - - -	21
Making in all - - - -	1021

This table may give an idea of the vast extent of the sugar industry in Europe. Since the discovery by the Prussian naturalist, Markgraf, of the mode of extracting sugar from beets and potatoes, it has been an object of the policy of the different European states to protect this industry by high duties. Though the article produced is insipid in comparison with the cane sugar, the price is exorbitant. In France, for instance, the price of common sugar, such as that used by ladies, for preserving fruit, is sixteen sous a pound, that of common table sugar twenty; and that of the better sorts between twenty-five and thirty. In Prussia, the prices are lower but the sugar is not so good, being in great part manufactured from potatoes. It costs from ten to fifteen cents a pound, but as a sweetener, it is equivalent to only half the quantity of cane sugar. Under the American tariff domestic sugars are protected by a duty of from 2½ to 6 cents on foreign ones; here the duty is twice as heavy. Several attempts have been made to manufacture beet sugar in the United States; they have all proved failures.—Future attempts of a similar kind must also fail, for the beet sugar is nowhere made for less than eight or ten cents,—even in Europe where labor is so cheap—and can not compete with the product from the cane.—(Cor. N. Y. Com. Adv.

Several vessels were advertised in Liverpool for California. Among the number is the splendid iron steam yacht Tintern, of 200 tons burthen, and 80-horse power. Price of passage, fifty guineas to San Francisco. Speaking of California, one of the English papers says:—

The wealthy members of the Jewish fraternity appear to be embarking freely in the lucrative branch of trade in their favourite metal—gold—opened out to them by the recent California discoveries. Among the list of consignees in this country of gold from San Francisco by the late arrival, the name of Rothschild appears opposite a shipment of some $200,000; and, as at the date of the advices per Niagara, $1,000,000 were stated as about to be forwarded home on English account, we may predict, with confidence, that another considerable amount of the same metal will find its way to the strong-box of the same eminent capitalist. The trade is too good and safe to escape the keen eye of his tribe. Unlike all other articles of import, there is always a market with a fixed price and an excellent customer for this article. It can be picked up at San Francisco for from $12 to $16 an ounce, or in English money, from £2 16s. to £3 6s. 8d. per ounce, of standard fineness, whilst the Bank of England generously opens her coffers to receive all that is offered to her at £3 17s 9d. net. The trade, we repeat, is a good one for the Rothschild tribe. It remains to be seen whether it will prove an equally good one for the Bank.

A Prediction by Lord John Russell.—"I believe that both the mother country and the colonies will flourish all the more for the abolition of useless restrictions; and after some period of murmuring—perhaps some passing cloud of discontent—we shall acknowledge, both in this country and in the magnificent possessions which belong to us, that we have hitherto been mistaken in following that policy; that our affections will be all the warmer when neither is subjected to grievances by forces imposed by the other (Hear!); when the colonies are neither obliged to submit to restrictions for some supposed benefit to the mother country, nor the mother country deprived of the benefit of some of the cheapest productions of the globe for the sake of some colonial interest which is to be favoured by an erroneous policy. Sir, the colonial empire of this country is an empire of which any statesman may justly be proud, and to which the people justly attach the highest value. I trust when this better system has been adopted we shall see those colonies increase and flourish, that we shall be proud of them, as our creations, enjoying the liberty which we have given them, and that both will flourish in union for many long years to come, (cheers)."

The list of Sunday Newspapers, one of the most annoying and demoralizing sins of the metropolis, has been lessened by the discontinuance of the Sunday editions of two important journals—the Spectator and the John Bull. The latter which the discontinuance met with at the hands of newsmen, we hope will encourage others to yield thus much to the demands of public morals.

Government are giving £10,000 to improve the navigation of Loch Erne, in Fermanagh.

On Friday morning, Lord Gough went to Buckingham palace, and had an interview, by appointment, with Prince Albert. At the interview, his lordship received from the Prince the Queen's command to dine with her Majesty in the evening at Buckingham palace.

On the 23d inst., the East India Company will entertain Lord Gough at a splendid banquet.

VALUABLE TESTIMONY FROM THE SOUTH.

We like, at all times, to give credit when credit is due, and at the same time we can't see the distressed, when doubly gruelled, we therefore copy the following voluntary testimony as to the beneficial effects of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, by the editor of the Columbia South Carolinian, who appears to have obtained great relief by its use.—Old Dominion, Portsmouth, Virginia.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

We seldom resort to patent medicines, having a great respect for the skill of the regular profession, but chance threw into our way the above named medicine, immediately after the close of the last session of the Legislature, when our lungs were almost dried up by the highly rarified atmosphere of our stove-warmed State House. The Balsam immediately relieved us of a most harrassing cough, which threatened our health in a serious degree. We feel that we are indebted to it for some fifteen pounds of animal weight—which addition once FELT, cannot be forgotten.

DIED.

Suddenly, on Saturday afternoon, in the 35th year of her age, Jane, wife of Mr. John Lees, merchant, Market-square, and youngest daughter of Mr. John Scott, of Queensbury Bay, Scotland.—Funeral To-morrow, (Wednesday) at 2 o'clock, when friends are respectfully invited to attend.

On Sunday night last, at the Mission House in Portland, the Rev. S. Busby, Wesleyan Missionary. For the long space of 33 years, he had sustained an unblemished reputation, as a man, as a christian, and as a Minister of Christ. The early part of his Missionary life was spent in Newfoundland—from which mission he was removed, in 1816 to Prince Edward Island, forming part of the Nova Scotia District.—After eleven years of devoted labor in that district, he was removed to New Brunswick, where he spent the last 23 years of his pastoral and ministerial life.—The fidelity and affection with which he fulfilled the sacred duties of his office, greatly endeared him to the people of his charge. Possessing a soul prompt to sympathy, and feeling a deep interest in the comfort and salvation of the afflicted, he was always ready to obey the calls so frequently made upon him—fearless of disease in whatever form it might appear. His uniform kindness in sustaining his domestic relations greatly endeared him to his family.—The loss to them is irreparable. He bore his protracted affliction without a murmur, being comforted and supported by the consolations of religion, which he had for so many years recommended to others—He died in great peace.—His funeral will take place To-morrow (Wednesday) from his late residence, at Three o'clock, when relations and friends are requested to attend.

"Grave of the righteous! surely there
The brightest bloom of beauty is;
Oh! may I sleep in couch as fair,
And with as bright a hope as his."

At his residence in Duke Street, on Sunday morning, after an illness of several years, Mr. William Jacobs, in the 64th year of his age.

On Tuesday evening last, Mary Jane, daughter of the late Mr. James McMinn, aged 14 years and 5 months.

At Portland, on Tuesday morning, Sarah Jane, only daughter of Mr. Robert Sweet, aged two years and eleven months.

At Portland, on Thursday morning, William, second son of Mr. James McLean, aged two years.

On Wednesday, 27th ult., after a painful illness, William Howard, third son of Mr. Nathan Lund, of Golden Grove Mills, aged five years and five months.

At Moncton, on the 23d instant, George G. sixth son of Thomas Prince, Esquire, in the 23d year of his age.

At Fredericton, on Monday the 25th ult., Mr. William Wansoughby, aged 56 years.

At New York, March 20th, from the effects of a burn, James H., youngest son of Ellis and Eunice Barnes, aged one year and three months.

On board the ship Mary & Susan, Feb. 24, previous to her arrival at New London, John McDougal, of St John, N. B., aged 20 years.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE;
OR How to Live and What to Live for; with ample rules for Diet, Regimen, and Self-Management; together with Instructions for securing Perfect Health, Longevity, and that sterling state of Happiness only attainable through the judicious observance of a well-regulated course of life.
BY A PHYSICIAN.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"There is a vast deal of good sense in this little volume. The rules relating to the important operation of eating are admirable. The observations are as good as the physical, and the writer is well entitled to be heard."—London Atlas.

"The work before us is written in a plain homely style, and the information which it contains in connection with all matters relating to health and diet, is of an very valuable and useful kind."—Sunday Times.

"A little book abounding in sound, sensible, and practical advice for the management of health from infancy to old age. The writer's instructions are eminently judicious. This is a manual which every homeowner should possess, and which young and old will read with profit."—Cité.

"Here we have sure and practical rules laid down for adoption, which, if followed accurately, will tend to the comfort, if not to the longevity of life. As a manual for general use, it is so prepared as to avoid everything that is offensive, whilst treating upon topics requisite to be considered."—Bell's Weekly Messenger.

"The design of this essay is extremely laudable, it being intended to promote a most useful and important study—the study of diet and regimen—which at present too much neglected. There are excellent things in the work, several useful and important observations."—Weekly Times.

To the Friends and Correspondents
OF THE LATE
Mr. WILLIAM CARSON, of Dublin.

GENTLEMEN,—It is with the deepest regret I have to apprize you of the loss of my estimable Father, who died in London on the 13th instant, and that the general business of SHIP AND COMMISSION AGENT, so long conducted by him, will be continued by me as his Administrator, until his affairs are closed, and thenceforward on my own account, and for the benefit of his family.

My late revered Parent, by his integrity and assiduous attention to business, succeeded in obtaining a large share of the public confidence. I am determined to imitate his example, and, by strict attention to the interests of those who honor me with their support, to aim at securing a reputation similar to that which he enjoyed for so many years.

I may add that a partnership was arranged between us, which, if he had been spared, would have commenced the next month, a fact to which I advert as affording evidence of his confidence in my acquaintance with the business in all its various departments. Until 1st June next the business will be carried on in my name as Administrator, and after that, in accordance with my Father's wish, under the style of WILLIAM CARSON & SON.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obliged Servant,
JOSEPH CARSON.

Dublin, 20th February, 1850.

NOTICE OF REMOVAL.

THE Subscriber informs the Inhabitants of the City and Province generally, that in consequence of having leased his Store situated on the *Corner of King and Germain Streets to Messrs.
