The Canada of To-Day.

Western British-American, Chicago.

Canada may well be congratulated upon the attention which she has attracted during the present gathering of statesmen at London on the occasion of the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee. Few, however, now living, can realize the struggle made by her sons for the purpose of obtaining the system of responsible and representative government which she enjoys to-day; for, preceding as well as following the accession of Victoria, turbulent times existed in Upper and Lower Canada, and in 1837, when the Queen ascended the throne, Canada was in the throes of open rebellion against the Crown.

Peculiar conditions have always existed within her borders, possibly mainly owing to the settlement of her eastern provinces by the descendants of old France, who, with full enjoyment of the laws, language and religion of that country, felt themselves anything but in accord with their fellow-citizens of British origin, the western portion of Canada being settled with Scotch, English, Irish and Germans, congregated for the most part in scattered settlements and all imbued with old feuds and traditions, as well as with a feeling, among the British-born, of their superiority to the French-Canadians in the Lower Provinces. This caused a continued irritation and made it a delicate problem to govern Canada; hence from the time of the conquest of the French many British governors had tried to pacify the people but failed, and, governor as she was at that time from Downing-street, with the assistance of a so-called Legislative Council, mainly composed of imported figureheads holding little sympathy with the colonists, it seemed impossible to bring about a condition of peace and satisfy the people. But with the year immediately following the Queen's accession dawned a new era, which brought to Canada's shores Lord Durham, the first man to grasp the serious dilemma and prepare the way for a union of the provinces. Thus commenced the fusion of the two races and the foundation of responsible government, which led to a general amelioration of the colonial policy of Great Britain and brought about the present happy condition existing in the Dominion.

At one time there might have been a question as to the future of Canada, whether it would remain a part of the Empire or become incorporated with the United States, but this question is further from being solved to-day than ever before. Canada is no longer a stripling; she is cemented from the Atlantic to the Pacific, has possibly the greatest system of internal public works in existence, and her school system will compare with that of any country on the globe. Her people to-day are characterized by devoted loyalty to the person and crown of Great Britain's sovereign, and she has much to be thankful for on account of what has happened to her during the reign of Queen Victoria.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION.

All the Canadian and American Committees Earnestly at Work.

Rev. H. G. Henderson, A.M., of Winchester, Ky., President of the Kentucky State Epworth League, was in the city yesterday.

An E. L. secretary, writing from Brocton, Mass., writing for accommodation, says: "New England Yankees do not care to pay $1.50 if they can get fairly well taken care of for $1" (per day).

Dr. Bell's office was a busy place yesterday, offers of accommodation for Epworth League delegates streaming in all day. The executive may find that the canvassing scheme will not now be necessary.

The secretary of the Michigan E. L. writes: "We are working this State for all there is in it."

Norfolk, Virginia and the surrounding country expect to send 100 delegates to the convention.

Rev. J. M. Walden, D.D., Bishop of the M. E. Church North, U. S., will preach in Broadway Tabernacle on the evening of July 11.

The Broadway E. L. Bicycle Club were entertained last night at a garden party on the grounds of Mr. J. E. Ford, Jameson-avenue.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MATTERS.

Tenders Awarded for Coal — Heating the Victoria-Street School.

A sub-committee of the Property Committee of the Public School Board met yesterday afternoon to consider the question of a more improved method of heating Victoria-street School. The Colson underfeed system was recommended, and the full committee meeting subsequently approved of the recommendation.

Seven furnaces will be required for the 12-room school building, at a cost of $1640.

The Finance Committee met and passed accounts, and recommended the payment of $38,000 for salaries, rents, etc.

The Supply Committee, which had asked for new tenders for coal, met and made the award for soft coal to Elias Rogers at $3.75 per ton, and hard coal to William McGill & Co. at $5.03. Over 2800 tons will probably be purchased. This is 10c per ton in each case less than the last tenders, owing in a measure to slight changes in freight and duty.

A special committee of the Public School Board will meet to-day, with Trustee Douglas, chairman.

HIGH SCHOOL BOARD.

New and Reduced Estimates Will Be Submitted to the Trustees To-Night.

High school trustees will to-night consider a proposal to submit to the City Council new estimates, $5000 having been cut off the $47,000 which they had asked. The proposal comes from the Finance Committee on the advice of the solicitor of the Board.

The School Management Committee recommends the appointment of W. C. Mitchell as teacher on the staff of the Jarvis-street school. The adoption of a new scale of fees is recommended.

The attendance for June is reported to be 795, Jarvis 245, Harbord 541, and the fees collected—$975, Jarvis $347, Jameson $317 and Harbord $311.

County Orange Service.

The annual divine service of the County Orange Lodge will be held on a larger scale this year than ever before in the history of the lodge. It being Jubilee year, instead of it being held in the Pavilion, as in the past, it will be held in Massey Hall, which has been taken for the occasion. On account of it being very much more central and cooler an audience that will fill the large building from floor to top gallery is anticipated by the Executive Committee. It will be held Sunday afternoon, July 11, and will be conducted by Rev. H. C. Dixon, County Chaplain, and the sermon will be preached by Rev. James Allen, the popular pastor of the Metropolitan. As in former years the collection will be used for charitable purposes.

In Honor of the Betrothed.

The ladies and gentlemen of "Big B." camp, Bala, Muskoka, enjoyed a pleasant outing on the Humber on Saturday afternoon. The party, numbering about 30, paddled up in ten canoes and enjoyed the contents of many delightful baskets at the old mill. The picnic was given in honor of Miss Maude Thompson of Toronto and Mr. Thomas Bulman of Winnipeg, who are shortly to be married. General amusement was caused by the especial adornment of the bride-elect's canoe, the paddles of which were tied with long white streamers, telling its own story to spectators upon the river.

Ernest Grant Govan in Town.

Ernest Grant Govan, managing director of the Gold Fields of British Columbia, Limited, the largest corporation yet established in London, England, for the development of the mineral resources of British Columbia, is stopping at the Queen's. Col. T. H. Anstey, R. E., who is also a director of the Gold Fields of British Columbia, and chairman of the Waverley Mine, Limited, is also at the Queen's.

The Temperance Medals.

The gold medal offered by the Canadian Temperance League to the Toronto Public school scholar most proficient in temperance was yesterday awarded to May Wight of Dufferin School, and the silver medal given by Trustee Davis for the one standing second was awarded to G. Fraser of Gladstone-avenue.

THE HORRORS OF NEW YORK.

Remains of a Murdered Man Found Which Sets Everybody in Gotham Talking—What the Wounds Show.

New York, June 28.—No clue; only conjecture. A few pieces of blood-stained red oilcloth, a few bits of old burlap, a few strings of white oilcloth and some straw paper. No head, only the sawed-up body. Arms and shoulders, upper part of the chest, ghasty red blotch where the head had been severed, the legless trunk found eight miles from the arms and chest.

These are the properties in a tragedy as terrifying, as mysterious as ever was told by De Maupassant or Edgar Allen Poe.

The arms, shoulders and upper chest of a strong, apparently vigorous man were found Saturday in the East River, off 111th-street. Sunday afternoon the trunk of a body was found above the Harlem River, eight miles from the scene of the discovery on Saturday.

An autopsy held revealed the fact that the man had been stabbed three times in the region of the heart and once through the back. The palm of one hand had been cut as though the knife had been grabbed by the victim. All seemed to tell of a terrible struggle and a bloody finale. The part found in the East River was wrapped in red oilcloth, still smelling of the enamel paint. Old burlap was inside the oilcloth, then some straw paper and then the ghastly remains. Some boys saw the package floating. Other boys discovered the second bundle in the Ogden woods at Harlem, wrapped in the same manner.

The coroner examined the body, noting the build, weight, etc., but with him all is conjecture.

To-day the whole of New York is talking of the mystery.

COUNTY BRIDGES.

Commissioners' Enquiry as to Mimico Creek and Woodbridge.

The special committee of the York and Peel County Councils, composed of Warden Davidson and Messrs. Chester, Woodcock of York, and Sir Melville Parker and Warden Graydon of Peel, met at the Court House yesterday to decide on the building of a bridge over the Mimico Creek, between Etobicoke and Toronto Junction.

On behalf of Peel, Sir Melville Parker announced that he would not agree to pay more than its proportion of $500.

York County Engineer McDougall said that in his opinion nothing less than a 60-foot span bridge would be advisable, which he thought could not be built for less than $800, if a wooden bridge was built.

It was finally decided that County Engineer McDougall be instructed to prepare plans of a wooden bridge, 45-foot span, with pile abutments of same, and invite tenders for construction thereof, to be put in not later than July 23.

The York Commissioners then left for Woodbridge to personally inspect the locality as to the building of a bridge on Race-street in that village, which was asked for at the last meeting of the Council.

The York Commissioners will resume their business at the Court House this morning.

Buffalo Bill's Big Show.

The following is taken from The New York Herald, April 27, of the present year: "Buffalo Bill's Wild West, his Indians, his cowboys, and his United States and foreign men-at-arms, raced over the earthy floor of the Madison Square Garden last evening in the presence of military chieftains and an admiring public. A long list of generals and governors and their staffs looked upon the fierce fighting men who sped over the arena in weird clothes, and clapped their hands at the sight. The young men in gold lace, who accompanied the governors, looked in a wondering way at the cavorting and frisking broncos. It seemed as though all the devilry of these untrammeled sons from the western wilds was concentrated into one performance. One of the most startling things in the program was the performance of a host of Riffians, who did feats of juggling and tumbling which put circus acrobats to shame. There was a broad-shouldered fellow who walked around with a pyramid of ten men on his shoulders, and he did it as easily as a milkmaid might balance a pail on her head."

This big show will be in Toronto next Monday and Tuesday, July 5 and 6.

Methodist Cycle Clubs.

The Broadway Tabernacle E. L. Bicycle Club will run to Cooksville next Saturday. This club, which was the first formed Methodist cycle club in the city, entertained the Gerrard-street and Yonge-street Methodist clubs at Long Branch on Saturday afternoon.

Penetanguishene Summer Hotel

"OFFICE OF PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH OF ONTARIO,
"Toronto, June 7th, 1897.

"I beg to report that I visited the Penetanguishene Summer Hotel, situated on Penetang Bay, on June 1st, and carefully inspected the plumbing arrangements from garret to cellar, as well as the drainage and the method of sewage disposal.

"Like most summer-resort hotels, the old sanitary arrangements were crude and of a more or less temporary character. I am glad to know that all this is radically changed. The bath-rooms and water closets are well distributed for the convenience of guests, and are fitted up with the most modern plumbing appliances. The water supply is that of the town, and is laid on everywhere in abundance, and is one of the best town supplies possible. The kitchen and laundry appliances are those of a modern hotel, and in the introduction of steam heating into the corridors the proprietors have been unusually assiduous in consulting the comforts of the guests of the hotel.

"Perhaps the most satisfactory feature of the new improvements is the sewage disposal works. They are an admirable illustration of good engineering and mechanical work applied to carrying out a method of sewage precipitation and filtration by sub-surface irrigation, which, during the past number of years, I have had carried out at different places with great satisfaction. Practically automatic in their operation, they will, nevertheless, in this case, absolutely remove from the shores of this beautiful bay those contaminating influences which were present in the past.

"I shall indeed be surprised if the work done in this public resort will not result not only in the increased credit and popularity of the resort, but also give many an object lesson of sanitary methods which will be disseminated far and wide by the visitors to Penetanguishene.

"(Signed) P. H. BRYCE,
