In the Dining-Room.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 17.

BREAKFAST—Cantaloupe. Dried beef frizzled. Creamed potatoes. Sliced cucumbers. Bread and butter. Coffee.

LUNCHEON—Eggs poached on toast. Pie-plant marmalade. Brown bread. Bohemian buchtells. Cocoa.

DINNER—Green corn soup. Weak fish. Sliced tomatoes. Mashed potatoes. Marguerite salad. Ginger pears. Wafers. Coffee.

Cut out these recipes and paste them in a scrap-book.

Bohemian Buchtells—Three cups of milk, one cup of sugar, half a cup of butter, two eggs, a level teaspoon of salt; flour to make a stiff batter; one cent's worth compressed yeast, in just enough warm water to dissolve it; fruit, fresh or canned. Warm the milk until you can just bear the touch. Add sugar, butter melted, eggs beaten, yeast and flour until thick enough to roll out on a moulding board, but use no more than you must in order to roll it out. Set to rise in a warm place. When very light turn onto a board, and roll out until a third of an inch thick; then cut into four-inch squares. In each one of these place a small piece of fruit and a sprinkling of sugar. Gather the edges together, pressing them, so that they do not separate, and set into a large dripping pan. Rub each one with a little melted butter and sprinkle over sugar and cinnamon. Let it rise again until even with the top of the pan, and bake. These can be made the day before using; leave in the pan, and a few minutes before needed set in a hot oven.

Pie-plant Marmalade—One and one-half pounds of pie-plant; one pound sugar, half an ounce bitter almonds, blanched and cut in halves; one lemon cut into small pieces. Boil well together until quite thick. Delicious, and will keep any length of time.

Marguerite Salad—Cut five hard-boiled eggs into slices about an eighth of an inch thick. Remove the yolks carefully, so as not to break the rings. Place the rings on a lettuce leaf or cress in a circle, overlapping each other. Beat the yolks thoroughly with two tablespoonfuls of oil, a few drops of lemon juice, an even saltspoon of salt, and a sprinkling of cayenne. Heap with a teaspoon into the center of each ring.

Ginger Pears—Six pounds of sugar; eight pounds of pears, peeled and quartered; one pint water, half pound preserved ginger, grated peels of three lemons, with juice of one. Boil from four and a half to five hours, until clear, and dark as the ginger. Very nice served with ice cream. When used as a dessert, heap on wafers, and pour cream, whipped or plain, over them.

Chili Sauce—Eight quarts tomatoes, ten small cayenne or red peppers, two cups onions, three cups sugar, one cup salt, three pints vinegar, three teaspoons cloves ground, three teaspoons cinnamon, four teaspoons each ground ginger and nutmeg. Chop tomatoes, peppers and onions very fine. Boil all together three hours. Bottle while hot and seal.

SOME OF THOSE CURED.

He Thanks Munyon.

Mr. James Dempsey, No. 392 Clarence street, London, Ont., Canada, says: "I was troubled for over a year with a severe form of dyspepsia. There was a disagreeable feeling in my stomach, acompanied by the feeling as if there was a heavy lump. I had griping pains for a short time after each meal. I had no ambition to do any kind of work. My head also bothered me at times. I tried a number of remedies, but received no relief. It only required three vials of Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure to make me entirely well. I thank Munyon for his wonderful remedies, and will gladly recommend them."

Relief Was Quick—Trouble All Gone.

Mrs. Annie King, residing at No. 921 William street, London, Ontario, Canada, and a resident of London for the past five years, says: "I suffered very much with dyspepsia for the past twelve months. In performing my household duties, or even when walking, there would be a blindness, also a dizziness, come over me. Very often I had a fainting sensation. I had used quite a number of remedies, but I did not seem able to get relief. I was also under the care of an able physician in this city. I used the medicines he prescribed, but as I found I was getting no relief, I determined to stop using them. Seeing an advertisement of the wonderful cures that Munyon was making, I determined to try his remedies. I have used two vials of the Dyspepsia Cure, and the blindness, dizziness and faintness have all gone. The relief was quick, and I can heartily recommend this remedy, for I am satisfied that others will receive the same great good that I have if they use it."

Several Persons Received Injuries—Horse and Jockey Have a Narrow Escape.

An accident in which a number of people were injured—but none seriously—occurred yesterday afternoon at the Fair grounds. To the many thousands who witnessed the incident, the marvel was that one or more fatalities did not result. A horse in the running race got beyond the jockey's control, and without pausing for an instant cleared the fence at the ringside, just south of the grand stand. At this point the crowd of spectators was dense for some distance back from the fence, and everyone was crushing forward to get a view of the race. It was the first heat of the farmers' running race, and the horse which dashed into the crowd was Van R., owned by J. Cutler, of Strathroy, and ridden by Jack Westover, of Tilsonburg.

There were eleven starters in the race, and when the end of the first heat was reached Van R. was among the leaders, but forced close to the fence by the other horses. Westover decided to remain behind, instead of passing the horse that was crowding him. He pulled the rein, and the bit slipped through his horse's mouth. A chin strap is usually worn to prevent an accident like this, but in this case no chin strap had been used.

Westeover remained cool, and tried his best to pull his animal to the left, but found it impossible. Those at the fence did not see the jockey's predicament and it was not till the jump was actually made that any danger was apparent.

The horse after clearing the fence fell, but—remarkably enough—escaped without injury. Westover was thrown over the animal's head and was on his feet in a second. He was uninjured excepting for a small scratch on the forehead.

Two of the men struck were knocked unconscious, four others were badly cut and bruised while several were weak from the shock. There was a great rush to the scene of the accident and all the police force had a difficult task to keep back the surging crowd.

Charles Kemp, of 42 Palace street, and Frank Dunn, of 665 Princess avenue were picked up for dead and carried to the horse shed. Dunn was the first to regain consciousness. His face was slightly scratched and he was badly shaken up.

Kemp was unconscious for nearly an hour and was removed to the hospital, where it was discovered that he had sustained a fracture of the cheek bone.

Wm. Brown, of Kirkton, was also taken to the hospital with Kemp, but left before night. The others injured were: Nils Lindstrom, of Crumlin, who suffered a broken nose and a cut on the face; Ole Gunderson, of Crumlin, a bad deep gash under the eye; Alex. Mains, an employe of the London Brass Foundry, who resides at 604 Princess avenue, was severely cut on the forehead; John Smith, of Morpeth, was cut on the right hip [illegible] hand; Lachlin Leitch, inspector of [illegible] London Mutual Life Insurance [illegible] pany, and W. T. Edge, of [illegible] avenue, were both knocked down, and the former fainted twice before he was taken home.

THEY "CANED" HANNON.

A Pleasant Event Which Caused the Canadian Manager Great Surprise.

There was a gathering last evening in Short Bros.' parlors of a most informal and pleasant character, the central figure being H. H. Hannon, the popular and energetic Canadian manager of the Deering Harvester Company, of Chicago, who was tendered a complimentary supper by the travelers and agents connected with this famous firm. Besides the employes of the company, several connected with other establishments were present, and everybody spent a most pleasant evening. The affair was a demonstration of the esteem in which Mr. Hannon is held by travelers of the Deering Company, and other admirers besides.

Among those present were: George Berrell, Toronto; D. Dupert, Harriston; A. E. Campbell, Parkhill; J. L. McIntosh, London; J. B. Smith, St. Thomas; L. Lang, Woodstock; H. Pearson, Weston; Chas. Merrill, London; John Fowell, Woodstock; J. Robinson, L. Burr, Dresden; R. Dreaver, Wingham; D. C. Caven, Port Elgin; L. Beatty, Varna; J. Murphy, Carholm; George Hartley, Wyoming; M. Wagner, Mildmay; Thos. Haggerty, Aylmer; M. Bowlby, Lucan; James Gedy, Glencoe; W. A. Gerolamy, Tara; H. Misener, Waterford; W. J. Nethercott, Norwich; Thos. McEwen, Aylmer; J. C. Hyndman, city; M. Hart, Dresden; J. Pubelo, Brockville; H. McIntosh, city; Jas. Cushman, Galt; A. F. Hatch, Toronto; Geo. Hogg, and C. Stuthers, Tara.

The well-served and tasty supper being disposed of, H. Pearson, of Wiarton, who made a capital chairman, intimated the object of the gathering, and after a few complimentary sentences regarding the efficiency and popularity of Mr. Hannon among employes and customers, asked him to accept the gold-headed cane, which bookkeeper Chas. Murill presented.

The guest of the evening, though startled, was equal to the occasion, and made a bright speech, in which he thanked everybody for their kindness. In discharging his duties to the firm he always endeavored to do the fair thing to his employes and customers, and it pleased him beyond measure, he said, to know how well his efforts were appreciated by those with whom he came in frequent contact. Mr. Hannon heartily thanked the donors of the gift, which he would always cherish among his valued possesslons.

Spicy speeches were made by George Beaull, Toronto; A. E. Campbell, Parkhill; J. B. Smith, St. Thomas; Miles Hart, Dresden; J. Murphy, Carholm; John Fowle, Woodstock; H. Ewing, Prescott; H. McIntosh, city; A. F. Hatch, Toronto; J. C. Hyndman, city; J. L. McIntosh, city; M. Wagner, Mildmay; D. Rupert, Harriston, and F. G. Bowley, local agent, city.

The jolly company separated shortly after midnight.

A DINNER PILL.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner.
