THE MILL STRIKE.

The Men's Meeting Last Night—They Resolve to Work No More Than Nine Hours Per Day, and Insist Upon the Same Rate of Wages as Before the Strike.

The mill men held another rousing meeting at Berryman's hall last evening, when reports were received from the committeemen who had interviewed the mill owners. The reports, as foreshadowed in last evening's GAZETTE, showed that the interviewers had met with little or no success in their efforts to arrive at a settlement with the owners. In regard to Mr. Hilyard who was reported as having stated that he would have nothing to do with union men, the secretary of the Ship Laborer's union said that if Hilyards mill was started by outsiders the ship laborers would refuse to handle the deals sawed by it.

Mr. Gleeson said he was told some of the owners were willing to start if the men accepted reduced pay. Mr. Woodman for one seemed to be. He suggested that a vote be taken to ascertain if any were willing to a reduction. (Cries of no, no!) He was satisfied all mills would start if that was agreed to.

J. NcGowan then moved that the union refuse to work more than nine hours, and that they insist on the same pay as before the trouble.

A dozen jumped up and seconded this, and the motion passed amidst applause and cheers.

M. McDade addressed the meeting briefly.

The president stated that the ship laborers union had offered the millmen the use of their hall.

On motion of John McDonald it was decided to open subscription lists for the collection of money to relieve any who may be in distress. The president, Thomas Hayes and John Collins were appointed to attend to that work.

Votes of thanks were passed to the S. L. U. and M. Mc Dade and the chairmen of the various mills were appointed to look after any cases of need in their mills.

Mr. Robertson was appointed chairman of Hilyard's mill.

WANT IT ON KING SQUARE.

The Committee of the Council Have Changed Their Views, and the Excavation in the Burial Ground Will Be Re-filled.

The work of disinterring coffins in the burial ground has been suspended. So indignant had the citizens become that a number of prominent young men gathered together, at an early hour this morning and decided to proceed to the burial ground for the purpose of re-filling the excavation. After considerable search they secured picks and shovels, and for a half an hour or more the sound of the agricultural implements could be heard for many blocks around. A double patrol of police had been put on this section of the town, but by skilful maneuvering the boys managed to throw them off the scent until they had as good as completed their labors. Policeman Baxter was the first to slide into the station to inform the chief, but the puny little contingent sent out from headquarters didn't do any harm, all those concerned in the loyal work, making good their escape.

It was intended to-day to have an injunction put on the work, the GAZETTE pointing out last evening that the action of the common council in removing the bodies and coffins was unlawful, but as stated in the Equity court report, in another column, the application was not passed, simply because this morning the committee gave orders to have the work stopped.

This committee met at noon today and assured Mr. C. A. Stockton who had been retained to obtain an injunction that the excavation would be refilled. The committee will at the meeting of the common council to be held this afternoon ask for permission to place the Young memorial monument on King square.

At Marysville.

A correspondent at Marysville, York Co., writing under date of July 23, says: Times are brisk here as usual. Mr. Gibson is preparing to build another saw mill, and brick factory also. They are now busy mowing and will have more than an average crop.

Mr. John Gibson is on a tour to Calais and St. Stephen for the benefit of his health.

Mrs. Hatt is recovering from her recent illness.

W. MacFarlane of St. Mary's is busily engaged now in shipping his hay forks to all parts of the country.

Inch Bros., butchers, of St. Marys and Marysville, are doing a fine business. They bought the other day two pair of oxen up the Keswick; one pair weighed each eight hundred and seventy-five pounds; that is, their carcasses after they were dressed, and the carcasses of each of the other pair tipped the scales at nine hundred pounds after they were dressed. These men buy an immense lot of cattle, sheep and lambs. Besides supplying their customers at Marysville and St. Marys, they also supply the Boom Company, whose bill amounts monthly during the summer season between seven hundred and eight hundred dollars. They also supply Mr. Coleman of the Barker House, and others in Fredericton. The grain looks splendid; no potato bugs to speak of in York Co this season, and paris green has declined in price.

HAD SATISFACTION.—A peculiar coincidence occurred on the Marsh road yesterday. James Dickson had been wanted by the police for several months past, and he has naturally been keeping out of the way. Yesterday, he thought he would take a little recreation, and in company with a young lady strolled out the Marsh. Policeman James Greer wanted some recreation also, and he went looking for the same young lady. He was justly indignant when he found her in Dickson's company, so he arrested Dickson and conveyed him to the lock-up, winning fame and satisfaction at the one time.

THANKS LADIES.—The North end firemen feel very grateful to the ladies of Indiantown, who live near the scene of this morning's fire, for their kindness in treating them to refreshments at the conclusion of their labors. The firemen had been turned out before breakfast and the cake and pies brought out to them by the ladies were, of course, most acceptable. They wish to thank the ladies for their thoughtfulness.

THE CARPENTER MAY NOT RECOVER.—William Blatchford, the carpenter who was injured yesterday by falling from a staging on Sydney street, was taken to the General Public Hospital. Up to 3.30 o'clock this afternoon he had not regained consciousness and his recovery is considered doubtful.

THE ECHO.—Capt. Edward Lewis, recently master of the brigt. Curlew, left by train for New York, this morning, where he will take command of the brigt. Echo, of this port. The Echo is loading at New York for Port Natal.

The Benefit to Miss Randall.

A full house greeted the Bijou Opera company at the St. Andrew's rink last evening, when they gave as their farewell performance in this city, a complimentary benefit to Miss Adelaide Randall. The first act of Billie Taylor, and the second out of Erminie, were played, and a number of choice selections were rendered by members of the company.

Miss Randall, for whom the benefit was held, was given a splendid reception, and her singing was so much enjoyed and applauded by the audience that she had to respond to several encores. Other members of the company were also encored and the whole entertainment seemed to please the large audience very much indeed.

The company left for Fredericton today and will play there to-night.

Equity Court.

The business of the Equity court was again delayed this morning as there was no stenographer present. There is such a press of business in this court that Judge Palmer claims he is unable to proceed satisfactorily without a stenographer. Mr. Fred DeVine is sick through over work. He has been writing every day since the 20th. of May and transcribing his notes at night.

It was expected that an injunction would be asked for this morning restraining the common council from desecrating the old burial ground. But as it was understood the committee had ordered the work to be stopped the application for an injunction was not pressed.

A number of common motions were made and the court adjourned.

In Maine.

(Bangor Commercial.)

A Lewiston institution is a man who goes from house not only selling sausages but cooking them to order. He carries a basket on his arm and the basket is provided with an oil stove over which the sausages are fried.

On the Kennebec near Fairfield a curious old Indian burial ground has been found, where bones and skulls are being exhumed. The strange thing about the burial was that the bodies were apparently dumped in "all in a heap" as the skulls rest directly on the top of the whole of the other bones of the body. Who can tell us the mode of burial in vogue then?

South Portland has the most original idea yet discovered for advertising for summer visitors. It is announced in the papers that a boarder there hunting for four leaved clover pulled up a handful at random and in it were two five leaved and three four leaved stems. Now will come a rush of the giddy young damsels to that resort.

It has leaked out through reliable sources that Lewiston and Auburn rum dealers, in order to prevent seizures, have their wet goods delivered at Oxford station in Norway, when they are taken to the two cities in the night time and there disposed of. A whole carload was delivered at the Oxford station a short time ago and several horse loads were carted away into some hiding place till it could be safely taken to the city.

BAD MAN WITH A GUN.

Indian Doctor Shoots a Young Lady at Fall River.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

FALL RIVER, July 23.—Dr. H. Hawkins, an Indian physician, shot Miss Mary J. Powers tonight.

Dr. Hawkins is six feet tall, weighs 250 pounds, and wears his hair down over his shoulders. He lives in a cottage near the corner of Rodman and Second streets. The doctor was evidently suffering from an attack of delirium tremens.

About 9.30 the front door of his house opened and the burly doctor burst forth, hatless and coatless, with a belt around his waist containing a revolver case and a powder flask. He brandished a huge horse pistol and mumbled something about boys disturbing him. He fired two shots, one of which struck Miss Powers, who was passing with a male friend, and she fell to the ground.

She was taken to Brown's drug store, and Drs. Tourtelott and Wilbur found that she had been hit just as she was about to step, the ball entering her right foot at the sole, passing out through the instep.

The surgeons fear that lockjaw will set in, and the woman may die.

Miss Powers belonged to Lowell.

Dr. Hawkins, after firing the last shot ran back into his house and locked himself in his sitting room. A crowd of 1500 persons gathered around the house. Officer Barker and several other policemen heard the shots; but when they were about to enter the house they were warned by a voice inside that to attempt to open the inside door would be sure death.

The doctor could be seen through the blinds pacing up and down the room with the big horse pistol.

City Marshal Hilyard and Assistant Marshal Fleet arrived, but none of the officers cared to take the risk of entering. The doctor held the fort until 11 o'clock, when Assistant Marshal Fleet and Officer Harrington went to the door and rung the bell. The inside door opened and the officers marched in and disarmed the doctor.

A moment later each arm was handcuffed to that of an officer, and the big fellow was marched down Main street surrounded by policemen. A crowd of 1000 people followed the prisoner through the streets, and alternately cheered for Fleet and Harrington.

B'Henry Not Poisoned.

LONDON, July 23.—The result of the post mortem examination of the remains of James McHenry, the Erie railroad litigant, whose life was heavily insured, and who was supposed to have died from poisoning, shows that there was no ground for the suspicion.

Lodged on the Beach.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

GIBRALTAR, July 23.—The hull of the Anchor line steamer Utopia, which was wrecked here some months ago, has been safely lodged on the beach.

A Driving Accident.

Mr. Douglas McArthur, the King street stationer, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon while driving to his new summer residence at Grand Bay. His horse took fright at a picnic train and bolted so suddenly that he and his wife were thrown out of the carriage with great force. Mr. McArthur was rendered unconscious and Mrs. McArthur, who had just seized the reins as she saw the horse about to bolt, held on and was dragged along the road for about 30 feet before she got the animal to stop. Albert McArthur, and Mr. D. McArthur's little boy who were sitting in the rear seat of the carriage had retained their seats in spite of the sudden jerk of the wagon, and with their assistance Mr. and Mrs. McA. were got to a house near by and had their injuries attended to. Mr. McArthur received several cuts and bruises about the head and was badly shaken up, but while Mrs. McArthur received some injuries they were so slight that she may be said to have escaped quite fortunately.

Notice to Mariners.

On or about August 1, the whistling buoy off the Graves, Boston Bay will be moved ⅓ of a mile N. ½ E, from its present position.

Portland, July 21—Notice is hereby given, that the fog-bell at Deer Island Thoroughfare Light Station, Me, recently reported disabled, has been repaired.

New York, July 21—Probably the most dangerous wreck now adrift on the ocean, is reported by the Hamburg-American steamer, Augusta Victoria, which reached this port on the 18th inst. The derelict lies in the highway of commerce about 250 miles westward from the Scilly Islands. Her position on the 12th inst was lat 50 23 N, lon 13 33 W. The vessel is one of about 1000 tons burden, has her hull painted black with white painted ports. Her masts are gone with the exception of the fore,' which shows a stump about ten feet. The vessel floats rather high, as if she had a cargo of oil, and has evidently been on fire. The pilot chart for July has no derelict anyway near this locality, so that it becomes a most dangerous menace to ocean commerce.
