SITE APPROVED FOR NEW CHURCH

King Street Presbyterians Secured the Sanction of the Presbytery at Port Stanley.

A CALL WAS SENT BACK

London Junction Petitions for Sarnia Pastor Must Bear More Signatures—The Dutton Case.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the Presbytery in St. John's Church, Port Stanley, a committee consisting of George Duncan, George Perry and D. Forsythe appeared and requested permission on behalf of the King Street Presbyterian Church, London, to purchase a site for a new church on the southwest corner of Lyle and Dundas streets, and also that they be granted leave to secure a loan on the property. The Presbytery expressed its approval and granted the request.

Rev. J. G. Inkster, Rev. Dr. McCrae and others gave reports of the meeting of the General Assembly. The assembly was held to be the greatest in the history of the church.

Reports were given by Rev. W. Moffatt on augmentation, by Rev. James Rollins on home missions, and Rev. Mr. Nichol on statistics.

A Call Sent Back.

A call from St. George's Church, London Junction, was presented in favor of Rev. John Bailey, M. A., of the Sarnia Presbytery.

Mr. Cairncross appeared in support of the call. It was sent back to the congregation for more signatures.

The Aylmer charge has called Rev. T. Symington, B. A., The stipend is $1,000, with two weeks' holidays. His induction will take place at Springfield on Tuesday, July 5, at 4 p.m. The moderator will preside and induct. Mr. Lindsay will preach, Mr. Currie address the minister, and Mr. Scott the people.

The Dutton Case.

Rev. James Rollins reported for the committee on the Dutton case. The minute suspending Mr. R. S. McMillan was rescinded, and he has been restored to his eldership. Both Mr. McMillan and Mr. D. Campbell have resigned as elders and have agreed to continue to attend and support the church, and to work harmoniously in the church. The Presbytery received the report with much gratitude, and thanked Mr. Rollins for his services, and expressed appreciation of the spirit displayed by Mr. McMillan, the session of Dutton and Mr. Campbell.

A Resignation.

The Rev. T. A. Watson tendered his resignation of his charge. A large delegation from the congregation and session expressed their regret at Mr. Watson's leaving. The resignation was accepted to take effect at the end of September.

The Presbytery was pleasantly entertained to lunch by the ladies of St. John's Church, Port Stanley, and appreciation of the thoughtfulness and kindness of the ladies was expressed in after-dinner speeches by Rev. Mr. Nichol, Largie; Rev. Dr. Ross, Mr. Thomas Alexander, and the moderator. The Rev. Mr. Scott, of St. John, replied for the ladies.

The Session.

The session of Presbytery was presided over by Rev. James Rollins, moderator. Rev. Alex. Henderson acted as clerk. Among those present from London were: Revs. Dr. Ross, J. G. Inkster, A. Stewart, Jas. Rollins, Walter Moffatt, Mr. Thos. Alexander and Mr. Weir.

Presbytery adjourned to meet the first Tuesday in September in the First Presbyterian Church, London.

HAMILTON POLICEMEN WANT INCREASE IN PAY

Ambitious City Constables Ask for 25 Cents a Day More.

Hamilton, June 22—The police commissioners will have two important questions to deal with at their meeting today. One is the appointment of a deputy chief, and the other the request of the policemen for an increase in pay. They will also have to look over a number of men who are applying for positions on the force, and to consider several resignations. While resignations have been rather common of late, the men say that the commissioners will be deluged with them if their request for an increase in pay of 25 cents a day is not granted. For some time the men have been discontented with their pay, and the discontent is becoming more acute all the time. Said one policeman in speaking of their pay:

"'If it were not for the fact that we work on Sundays and holidays we would not draw as much as the laborers on the street. In all other classes of work men are paid higher than we are, and it is time that we got an increase. The firemen get more than we do. We do not begrudge them what they are getting, but think we should get as much. Hamilton is the only city in Ontario where the firemen get more pay than the policemen. We start at $675 a year, as third-class men; second-class pay $802, and after working for six years we receive $840 as first-class pay. Some of the old men are better fixed, as they get pay on good conduct badges, but men who have joined in the last six years have to take the straight pay. A number of men have quit because they could get better pay elsewhere, and a good many more will quit unless something is done for us."

The men believe they have the sympathy of the chief in their request. The chief has several times informed the commissioners that he is having greater difficulty all the time in securing men, and that owing to the low pay the greater part of the men who do offer themselves are men who cannot take responsible positions elsewhere.

With regard to the appointment of a deputy chief it is believed that a local man will get the position. The men are in favor of this, and will resent the importation of a man to fill this vacancy. They contend that if outsiders are brought in to fill the head positions on the force there will be nothing for them to look forward to, and that it will be poor encouragement for them to put their best foot forward. While the commissioners are saying little about the man they have in sight, Detective Bleakley's name has been mentioned.

It will take about $4,600 or $4,700 a year to finance the request of the men and they consider that as their demand is reasonable it should be granted.

BACK TO DETROIT FOR A HEARING

Auto Man Arrested at Toronto Waives Extradition Proceedings.

Toronto, June 21.—Julius Haltenberger, of Detroit, left this afternoon in charge of Lieutenant Detective Kane, where he is wanted to answer a charge of theft of automobile plans. After signing papers waiving extradition proceedings before Judge Winchester, today, Haltenberger said: "I have absolutely nothing to fear. This man, W. M. Campbell, realizing that he will be beaten hands down in the Canadian courts, has gone to Detroit and begun proceedings which will terminate here.

"When this is over Campbell will have the pleasure of a suit for $10,000 for false arrest, slander and defamation of character." Haltenberger is a member of Palestine Masonic Lodge of Detroit, and local Masons feel that he has been dealt harshly with.

O. HENRY MADE JOKE OF DEATH

Article Written While He Was Ill Is Full of Humor.

New York, June 20.—The body of O. Henry, humorist and story-teller, has just been laid at rest, and there is a touch of the uncanny, therefore, aside from a full effect of pathos, in a magazine article just off the press which reveals him looking in the face of death with the same twitching smile on his lips and twinkle in his kindly, keen eye, that his countenance used to wear as he wote his famous stories with the stubs of lead pencils on big yellow pads.

At the very time that his body was racked by pain and insomnia tortured his nerves — when he knew, in fact, that his life had only a little while longer to go, he wrote a burlesque of his very tribulations and poked fun at his very doom. He gave the title of "Adventures in Neurasthenia" to his article, which appears in the current issue of the Cosmopolitan. Whatever his illness did to him physically, it never touched with any blight his brilliant mind, and the "Adventures in Neurasthenia," which he practically wrote on his deathbed, have all the flash of wit and kindly satire for which his work became famous.

Tells of Doctors' Consultation."

"So I went to the doctors," he begins characteristically. "After asking me if I had ever had a grandfather with a curvature of the spine, or a cousin with swelled ankles, the two doctors returned to the bathroom and sat on the edge of the tub for their consultation. The doctors came out looking very grave. More, they looked tombstones and Tennessee papers please copy."

Rest and exercise, they told him, he must take, and they gave him a prescription.

"It will be $2 87 for an ounce bottle," the druggist said.

"I made a hole in the prescription, ran a cord through it, tied it around my neck and tucked it inside. All of us have a little superstition, and mine runs to amulets."

Following the other advice to take rest and exercise he went south to visit "John," a relative in the Blue Ridge mountain country.

"After I had been there a week, I began to grow alarmed. I was sleeping and eating well and beginning to enjoy life. So I sneaked down to Pineville and went to see one of the best physicians.

Astounded a Country Doctor.

"I hung my hat on the back of a chair, and said rapidly:

"'Doctor, I have cirrhosis of the heart, indurated arteries, neurasthenia, neuritis, acute indigestion and convalescence. I am going to live on a strict diet. I shall also take a tepid bath at night and a cold one in the morning. I shall endeavor to be cheerful and fix my mind only on pleasant subjects. In the way of drugs I intend to take a phosphorus pill three times a day, preferably after meals, and a tonic composed of gentian, cinchona, calisaya, and cardamom compound. In each teaspoonful of this I shall mix tincture of nux vomica, beginning with one drop and increasing it a drop each day until the maximum dose is reached, and shall drop this with a medicine dropper, which can be procured at a trifling cost at any pharmacy. Good-morning!'

"After the consultation I felt much better."

For search of a cure the writer next puts himself in consultation with an old, retired country doctor.

The old doctor tells him of a magic plant that can only be found in the depts of the mountain woodlands. Daily he is to go in quest of it—and O. Henry would have you think he found it—that the magic plant was simply to be found in the walks he took to find it.

As a matter of fact, the writer returned to New York with all hope gone—with the gloomy knowledge certain in his mind that his end was not far off. But this he kept to himself, until the end was at hand.
