LETTER FROM "B-P."

Writes of the Death of a Canadian in Last Fight of the War.

New Westminster, July 25.—Mr. J. Devereaux has received the following letter from Gen. Baden-Powell, touching the death of his son in the last engagement of the war:

South African Constabulary,
Johannesburg, June 4, 1902.

Mr. J. Deveraux:

Dear Sir,—You will have received by cable the sad news of the death of your son Percy Leonard Deveraux, of this corps. I deeply regret to have to confirm this. He was one of a column of the constabulary who attacked the Boers on the 30th ult. at Buffersdoen, Western Transvaal. We inflicted a defeat upon the enemy, but in doing so lost one man killed and four wounded, among whom was your poor son, and his officer, Sergt. Redemiche; they both succumbed to the wounds the following day, in spite of every care.

"This case seems particularly unfortunate, as this was the last engagement of the war. I can only express my sincere sorrow at the loss of so promising a member of our corps, and I beg to tender to yourself and his relatives my respectful sympathy in your bereavement.

"You may rest assured that his grave will be carefully tended by us and a cross will be put over it in memory.

"Believe me, sincely yours,

"R. S. Baden-Powell."

GIRL DISGUISED AS A MAN

Explanation of Amy Wilson's Mysterious Disappearance From Her Home at Copetown.

SAID TO HAVE SECURED EMPLOYMENT

Theory That She Was Kidnapped Not Disproved, However, By Rumors.

Hamilton, July 25.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Amy Wilson, the young Copetown girl, supposed to have been kidnapped, continues. A rumor is in circulation that she left her home disguised as a man, and that she had secured employment somewhere in this disguise. The authorities are still investigating the case.

Telephone Matters Discussed.

The Finance Committee met this morning, according to agreement last evening. The principal business was the consideration of the Modern Telephone Co.'s application for a franchise to do business in the city. Ald. Dunn, the chairman, thought the company should put up a deposit of $20,000, as an evidence of good faith.

After some discussion it was decided, on motion of Ald. Waddell, seconded by Ald. Thompson, that a subcommittee be appointed to consider the application. The chairman appointed the following the sub-committee: Ald. Waddell, Biggar, Thompson, Dunn and the City Solicitor.

C. Peebles and W. H. Judd, for the Board of Health, asked the committee to appropriate $1500 for the purchase of a site for an isolation hospital. TThe Bowerman site in the Macklem property, in the southwest part of the city, was mentioned.

Ald. Thompson declared that when he and another city father had got an option on a site in the same locality for $300 the Bowerman people hauled building material close by and stopped the purchase.

After a lot of talk it was decided to lay the matter over till the next meeting.

R. Griffiths of the waterworks office was advanced to the position of first-class clerk.

Police Points.

No action was taken at the Police Court to-day against the old man, Charles Gracey, who told the police that he was a bigamist. Gracey was discharged, the police say, by the instructions of the Crown Attorney, who held that some private, interested party, and not the police, should prosecute.

Crown Attorney Crerar denied he gave any such instructions.

Half a dozen tramps found sleeping in freight cars on the Grand Trunk, waiting for a ride, were each fined $5 or 20 days. One of them paid his fine.

Minor Mention.

There was a severe hailstorm at Abingdon yesterday. The windows on one side of the Baptist Church were broken.

Widow Sees the Mayor.

Mrs. Everist, a stout, good-natured lady of about 40, accompanied by another rather stout, good-natured lady, was a visitor in the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon. His Worship cheerfully granted an interview, and Mrs. Everist explained that she was the widow of a fireman, who met almost instant death at a fire at the corner of Maitland and Yonge-streets over 12 years ago She wanted to know if she could not get a look-in on the big fund which is being raised for the benefit of dependents upon deceased fire-fighters. Mrs. Everist was very candid, and said that she had been treated most generously by the city after her husband's death. When the fatality occurred she had five young children, and another was born two months afterward. She claimed that a portion of the fund, some $300, collected for her benefit, was invested in a mortgage on some property without her consent, and that the investment proved a failure, inasmuch as the property mortgaged was sold for taxes, and she never since saw a cent of the principal or interest. She thought that possibly she might be recompensed for her loss, as she said that everyone thought she had received that $300, and she had not deemed it right, in view of the generosity shown her at the time of her bereavement, to say that she had not.

The Mayor in a kindly manner discussed the matter with Mrs. Everist, and told her that this fireman's fund was for needy dependents of firemen who were killed on duty. If she was needy she might be among those entitled to consideration. He was sorry that she had lost money on an investment made presumably by a Civic Committee on her behalf, and he asked her to state the circumstances in writing to him, and he would thoroly investigate the matter on receipt of the communication.

The circumstances attending the death of Fireman Everist are rather harrowing. He was at the top of a burning building, and fell thru a trap door, a distance of 35 feet. He alighted on his feet, and the force of the fall drove his limbs into his body. He fell backward and his head struck the floor, causing a gash in his skull from which the brains issued, and he died ten minutes afterwards without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Deacon, whose husband was killed at the Hees fire about four years ago, is also applying for consideration in the distribution of the fund.

GLAD TO SEE THE SOLDIERS.

South African Heroes Welcomed in Little Bunches Yesterday.

The Union Station was thronged all day yesterday with relatives and friends of South African soldiers, who were expected home. Many went away disappointed, on finding that the expected one did not come, while many others were made happy when out rushed the soldier boy who had been away fighting the battles of a great empire. There were friends at the depot as early as 7.25 o'clock a. m., the time of the arrival of the first train from Montreal. It was the regular C. P. R train, and had on board fully 75 soldiers. They had left Montreal the night before, where they were given a big send-off.

It was daybreak when the train rolled into Peterboro' but Peterboro's sons were on board the train, and the residents of that town were down at the depot to welcome them. At that point eight soldiers disembarked, and were met with open arms. The Regimental Band was out and a large concourse of citizens.

On arriving at Toronto, the local boys were hurriedly taken away by relatives and friends, while the others passed on to their homes in Western Ontario. The afternoon trains from the East brought in another delegation for the city.

There was a disappointment in store for the large number that waited around the station last night. The C. P. R. and Grand Trunk trains from the East were late, but the crowds waited. When the trains pulled in, about 9 o'clock, there were no soldiers on board. The trains for the West had been held for the Eastern trains, in order that soldiers living west of Toronto might be rushed thru to their homes last night, providing they reached Toronto.

No returning soldier could have wished for a more hearty reception than that which was accorded Trooper William James Lendon of the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles, at his home, 67 Portland-street, last night. Trooper Lendon returned to Toronto yesterday morning, accompanied by Corporal John Walker, an intimate friend, and both received a good welcome at the Union Station. In the evening, two huge bonfires blazed away outside the Lendon home, which was in gala attire for the occasion. Friends of both soldiers welcomed them back, and, after an informal banquet, speeches were made, and musical selections rendered by a large number of those present. R. B. Tate of the Tate Mfg. Co. presided over the gathering, and, during the evening, Trooper Lendon was made the recipient of a beautiful gold watch and chain, the gift of his friends. The presentation was made by R. B. Hutchinson. Trooper Lendon is a son of W. H. Lendon, last manufacturer, of West Richmond-street.

MOULDERS FINISH TO-DAY

Delegates Will Conclude Their Three Weeks' Convention and Start for Home To-Night.

MARTIN FOX IS PRESIDENT AGAIN

Splendid Tribute to Veteran Officer From Companions—Toronto Men Secure Recognition.

The Iron Moulders' Union of North America, whose delegates have been in convention in Toronto for the past three weeks, will see the end of business of this character to-day for the next three years. The convention will probably conclude business at noon, and the delegates will begin to get out of the city on the evening trains. Nothing remains in the way of important business but the election of a board of trustees. This will be attended to the first thing to-day.

The feature of the work yesterday by the delegates was the re-election of most of the old officials, the only new man to be placed in office being Alex. Faulkner of Cleveland, O., who was made treasurer, to succeed Henzel, who died in office. With this exception, all the old officers are re-elected. This is the conservative way the moulders do business. They keep a man in office as long as he does efficient work.

The election for the fourth term of Martin Fox, the popular president of the organization, provoked the greatest demonstration of enthusiasm among the delegates. This election is a distinct compliment to Mr. Fox, because he refused re-election on the ground that his health demanded his immediate attention, but the delegates proceeded to put him back in office, with a proviso that he be permitted to take a vacation as long as he required the same.

Other Officers.

The other officers are: Alex. Faulkner, Cleveland, treasurer; E. J. Denney, Covington, Ky., secretary; Gen. John Weaver, Covington, assistant secretary; David Black, Covington, editor; R. H. Metcalfe, Covington, financier.

First Vice-President: Jos. F. Valentine, San Francisco, Cal.

Second Vice-President: Michael J. Keough, Green Island, N.Y.

Third Vice-President: J. P. Frey, Frey, Worcester, Mass.

Fourth Vice-President: John Campbell, Quincy, Ill.

The following is the present Board of Trustees and they will probably be re-elected: M. P. Murphy, Richmond, Va.; Jas. S. Flanagan, Elizabeth, N.J.; M. B. Lavery, Brantford, Ont.; W. J. Phillips, Chicago, Ill.; Jas. H. O'Neill, Providence, R.I.; Geo. W. Greig, Denver, Col.; J. P. Recktenwald, Louisville, Ky.

Since the death of Treasurer Henzel, Secretary Denney has been attending to the duties of the office.

Of these officers two are Toronto citizens, Black and Metcalfe, former members of No. 28, local union.

Philadelphiat received the location of the next convention over Milwaukee by a vote of 296 to 196. The contest was a very spirited affair.

The city kindly permitted the delegates to use quarters in the City Hall for their regular meetings and in turn the convention voted ten dollars each to fifteen women who helped keep the building clean and the two elevator conductors, in recognition of the extra work the convention had entailed upon the employes.

All the general officers are required to live where the president lives. Martin Fox lives at Covington, Ky., just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

A Case for the Detectives.

An investigation was commenced last night at the Morgue by Coroner Lynd into the death of the infant, found on Thursday afternoon in High Park by Mounted Constable Guthrie. The only witness examined was Dr. John Caven, who performed the post-mortem examination. The doctor was unable to say definitely whether the child had met his death from natural causes or foul play, but it was his opinion that it was a case for the detectives. An adjournment till next Friday was made, and, in the meantime, an officer will be detailed to secure evidence.

FOR CANADA'S GREAT FAIR.

Preparations Making Rapid Headway—Repairs to Buildings.

Assistant Secretary Bell received a number of applications yesterday for refreshment and other privileges at the forthcoming exhibition. They will be considered at an executive meeting to-day and the allotment made. Mr. J. E. Farewell writes, asking if a room could be had for the purpose of organizing a Western Ontario Good Roads Association. He was informed that rooms are always available on the grounds for holding annual meetings and conventions in. A number of letters have also been received announcing the intention of the writers to organize parties to come to Toronto during the Fair, and requesting information. In this connection it may be stated that the railways in the States having connections with Toronto are advertising specially good rates this year. In fact the prospects for an exceptionally successful exhibition improve every day. Entries do not close until Saturday, Aug. 9, but several have already come to hand. The work of repairs on the different buildings has been entered upon, and a gang of men have been busy during the present week putting the grounds into shape and mending the sidewalks, which have suffered badly. The tower of the old main building has been taken down, and the next thing in order is to thoroly repair the roof. The carriage building is also receiving attention, the Parks and Exhibition Committee having resolved to diligently prosecute the necessary work. Altho a bit disappointed at the non-completion of the new manufacturers' building, manufacturers are standing loyally by the Exhibition, and in every case have expressed their intention to come out with an exceptionally large exhibit. A number of new exhibitors are also promised, while several firms will show processes of manufacture. Work on the new art and dairy buildings is progressing so rapidly that there can be no doubt of their fitness for receiving equipment and exhibits in good time. Amusement Manager Percy Hill states that the attractions this year will be on a scale that will both astonish and delight visitors.

Accounts Will Be Signed.

Ald. Richardson, chairman of the Property Committee, in his effort to effect a reorganization of the City Commissioner's Department, is up against a hadd game. He appeared before the Board of Control yesterday to explain why he refused to sign some accounts presented by the City Commissioner, but the board, after consideration, seemed to decide that he was labouring under some misapprehension, and the accounts will be signed. The matter was not disposed of without a lot of heated discussion, in which the Commissioner and Ald. Richardson figured. Ald. Richardson sticks to the contention that the department should be reorganized.

Before you go on your holiday trip take out one of the Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Co.'s popular accident insurance policies. They afford a complete system of protection at lowest rates. Call on John A. Macdonald, District Agent, 44 Victoria-street, for full information.
