FRUIT GROWERS OPPOSE REMOVAL

Of Observatory to Ottawa, Says Hon. Mr. Prefontaine.

Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, when seen by The World yesterday, stated that the chief argument that could be put forward for the transference of the Observatory from Toronto to Ottawa lay in the principle of concentration of government institutions. It was felt, he said, by a great many people that the Observatory being an institution of the government its proper location was in Ottawa. Its present site being menaced by the action of the University in securing the right to make a road thru it, the question of where to locate the Observatory naturally arose, and Ottawa was merely suggested as a prospective location. Nothing definite has as yet been arrived at, according to Hon. Mr. Prefontaine, who added that a natural opposition to the mooted idea of transference was to be looked for. For one thing, the fruit growers of the district round about Toronto would show hostility. With the Observatory situated in Toronto they receive more accurate weather forecasts for their own district than they would were the Observatory stationed in Ottawa.

Regarding his inspection of the new lightship Lurcher yesterday morning, Hon. Mr. Prefontaine said that he had found it in every respect satisfactory. The not yet entirely finished, it will leave the Polson dock to-morrow morning for Nova Scotia. Its departure is hastened by the desire to avoid trouble in getting thru the canals, as the approach of cold weather means freezing up.

The twin lightship, now under process of construction at the Polson yards and designed for service off Anticosti, will not be said in conclusion, be pressed into service until the opening of navigation next year.

FEED HER RIGHT.

The Sure Way to Rear a Healthy Girl.

The relation of food to comfort and health impressed an Iowa teacher who says:

"After teaching school for several years I became a victim of insomnia, and night after night it was 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning before I would fall asleep completely worn out. Of course, I lost strength and brain power, and became terribly nervous until I was on the verge of nervous prostration.

"About that time I read an article about Grape-Nuts that convinced me that my trouble was due to indigestion, something I had never thought of before. I got two boxes of Grape-Nuts and began to use them for breakfast and supper with good rich cream. Well, the change was something wonderful, and my health came back in bounds.

"Grape-Nuts took the place of non-nourishing food, and I am now better in health, brain power and spirits; sleep well and work longer and harder and never feel nervous or worried. When I have finished my school session I still feel I have lots of reserve force and energy left, and when I go to bed at night I get sound and refreshing sleep and get up early, happy as a lark.

"I have had numbers of my scholars try the food, and I must tell you about one case. She was a puny, nervous little girl, and her mother told me she did not eat enough to keep a bird alive. All she wanted was candy and other trash. When I told her mother about Grape-Nuts food she followed my advice, and its effect upon this child shown in the awakened energy of the body and mind, was simply wonderful. Her school work became entirely satisfactory and she gained in bodily strength, lost all her nervousness, and soon became a rosy, chubby, young miss." CANADIAN LIVE STOCK FACTOR IN CHICAGO SHOW

Two Continents Prepare for a Million Dollar Display of Prize Animals.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—A $1,000,000 display of live stock—probably the greatest the world has ever seen—will be held in Chicago from Nov. 28 to Dec. 5. Five thousand head of the most valuable cattle, horses, sheep, and swine, obtained on either side of the Atlantic will on eight days compete for prizes aggregating $75,000 at the big pavilion in South Halsted-street. The occasion will be the fourth annual international live stock exposition.

The prize-winners of two continents, ranging in value as high as $10,000, will come here for final adjudication of their merits at the hands of judges selected from among the most eminent breeders in Great Britain and America.

Canadian herds will be largely represented. At the close of the exhibit many of the exhibits will be removed at once to Guelph, Ont., to contest for honors in the Canadian Fat Stock Show.

Canadian Herds Present.

The Secretary of Agriculture, the Governors of many states, hosts of farmers, feeders and ranchmen, and students of agricultural colleges from every part of the country, will attend.

In the last year a permanent organization, composed of the leading stock growers of America, was formed to perpetuate the exposition. Life memberships have been taken in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

The first exhibition of this character held in Chicago was the American Fat Stock Show, established in the autumn of 1878, under the auspices of the Illinois State Board of Agriculture, in the old Exposition Building, that stood on the lake front on the present site of the Art Institute. This was a display of fat animals intended to promote the trade in fancy Christmas meats. It was popular and was continued each year until the demolition of the structure in which it was held.

Helped by the Dominion.

Occasional efforts were made to hold similar shows, but not until the present management of the Union Stock Yards Company became interested was the project completely revived, and the international exposition, a yet greater enterprise, was set upon its feet. This was in the fall of 1900. It had been the custom of all the national associations of breeders of pedigreed animals to hold their annual meetings in Chicago about Dec. 1, so when it was proposed that the International Exposition be started with a complete prize list for all kinds of breeding animals, as well as butchers' stock, the enterprise met with enthusiastic support thruout this country and Canada. The show sprang at once into the front rank of all exhibitions of the character on either side of the Atlantic.

It is to rural England that the world primarily is indebted for a majority of those fine breeds of farm animals which will be seen at the international exposition. The fox-hunting squires of Yorkshire developed the lordly shorthorn (sometimes still called by its old-fashioned name of "Durham"). The tenant farmers of the valleys of the Severn and the Wye originated the broad-ribbed, burly Hereford. The best farmers in the world, those who have subjugated by science and skill the naturally forbidding soil of Scotland, originated those valuable black and hornless varieties known thruout the agricultural world as the Aberdeen-Angus and Galloway.

Some Fine Displays.

In the horse barns may be seen particularly fine exhibits this year. A large entry of massive draft stallions and mares belonging to the Percheron, Shire, Clydesdale and Suffolk Punch breeds will be among the lot. The Percheron comes from France and is usually black or gray in color. Gelding teams of this sort are a familiar sight on the streets of all other great cities. Clydesdales and Shires are of Scotch and English origin respectively, usually bay or brown, often with white markings, particularly about the legs below the knees. One of the great sights of the show will be the gaudy geldings in harness to be shown by the big packers—pairs, fours and sixes.

Classes have been arranged this year for stallions and mares of the coaching breeds, including trotting-bred horses of a certain type, French coachers, German coachers and English hackneys. Shetland and Welsh ponies will also be on exhibition.

In the sheep section a large majority of the animals will be found belonging to the medium-wool or mutton types, originated in England. The largest entry will be on Shropshires. The greater portion of the entries in the swine department will be of the American type known as the Poland China, the great mortgage lifter of the corn belt. In the classes for butchers' stock will be found some pure-bred specimens of various types, a majority representing the results attained by the use of pedigreed males on grade or native stock.

A Scottish judge has been engaged to award the championship prizes among the fat bullocks. One of the great sights in the fat stock department will be the car load lots of beeves fed for the holiday market.

SOCIALISTS MAY ENTER FIELD

And Present Straight Runners at Coming Municipal Election.

A new element is expected in the municipal campaign approaching. A rumor that is given credence in labor circles is to the effect that the Socialists are seriously considering the advisability of placing candidates in the field for both aldermanic and Board of Education honors. A meeting of the Socialist League was held Saturday night, at which the matter was brought up. The organization of the different wards was discussed, as well as the probable candidates to be put in the field. Organized labor men look upon this move, if carried thru, as detrimental to their chances of gaining office, as it is felt the votes that the Socialist candidates would receive would otherwise go to them. Should the Socialists decide to place candidates in the field, it is looked upon as the outcome of the mandate issued by the league in Canada prohibiting their followers from receiving a nomination from any other party but their own. They have a strong following in the city and will undoubtedly receive many votes, should they decide definitely to present candidates.

ABIGAIL BECKER ALIVE.

Mrs. Roarer, an Old Lady Now in Oil City, is Heroine of Story.

Petrolea, Nov. 23.—(Special.)—The school children around this district have suddenly taken an interest in the story of Abigail Becker in their readers. The reason is apparent, for Mrs. Roarer, once Abigail Becker, is visiting in this district, and the teachers have taken the opportunity to teach the children the lesson again.

As almost everyone remembers the story, told by Commander T. Jones of Abigail Becker, the brave young woman, on Nov. 24, 1854, was the means of saving the lives of a crew of seven shipwrecked sailors, from a ship which went ashore off Long Point Island, Lake Erie, on that memorable day. Her husband was away for the day, and while going down to the lake for water Mrs. Becker saw the stranded ship about half a mile from the shore with the seven sailors clinging to the frozen rigging. She knew that they would not last over another night with their limbs and hands in a frozen condition, and she returned to her lonely hut and warmed blankets and made such articles of food as would warm and strengthen the men should she pull them thru the thundering surf.

As they began to come ashore one by one dropping off the rigging they found Mrs. Becker up to her neck in the surf waiting to clutch them and drag them to the dry land. After they had all come ashore she took them to the cottage and there nursed them to life again.

Mrs. Becker, of all the gifts that were to be heaped upon her, accepted only a gold medal, which two of the crew sent her. She was offered $5 a day and expenses to go and visit the Queen, but she thought it right to refuse. Shortly after this her husband died and she married Mr. Roarer.

She is seventy-five years of age, and is still strong and in good health. Last Sunday evening she was present at the evening service of the Methodist Church of Oil City, where she is staying with her sister, Mrs. Deo. The minister seeing her in the audience invited her up to the platform, and she made a few modest remarks, but took no credit for her brave deed of younger days.

Couldn't See the Joke.

Alfred Carter, a youth who lives in Dovercourt, and is employed at Wilson's Scale Works, took a ride in the ambulance yesterday afternoon. He had been seeing a fellow-employe named Frank. The latter used a heavy file on Carter's head to good advantage, making a nasty wound.

Building Trades' New Secretary.

A new secretary of the Building Trades Council was elected last night in the person of Edward Skill, also president of Ward No. 2, Wine and Malt Laborers' Union. It was the council's regular meeting, but no other business of public interest was transacted.

WHY EXHIBITION BYLAW SHOULD NOW BE ADOPTED

President McNaught and Manager Orr Discuss the Necessity for the Investment.

Just why the two hundred thousand dollar bylaw should be adopted at the approaching election was discussed last night by President McNaught and Manager Orr in the presence of a number of representatives of the press.

Every aspect of the case was gone over carefully. The exhibition officials are confident the law can pass when the public becomes familiar with the occasion for the expenditure. They are thoroly imbued with the idea that the success and scope of the big show this season indicates that its growth cannot be retarded now except by the untter failure of the management to provide adequate means of handling the exhibits and the crowds.

Want an Amphitheatre.

Next year the official title of the fair will be the Canadian National Exhibition. A great amphitheatre, to cost $110,000, an addition to the art gallery, that shall be fireproof and conserve to make the art display the finest of its kind in North America; more turnstyles, so as to avoid the crush that was witnessed during the big days; a general system of lavatories that will furnish accommodation in keeping with the splendid scope of the fair; more dining room space, where persons may eat with a degree of comfort, and a press building that is not an eyesore, are some of the improvements the management deem absolutely essential to the growth of the Canadian National Exhibition. These are the sources that must be supplied with the two hundred thousand dollars asked.

President McNaught and Manager Orr in turn explained in detail the needs that were forced prominently to the front as a result of the tremendous attendance of the past year.

Means Much Money Saved.

The amphitheatre is the building on which the most attention will be lavished. It is required first for a closed exhibition hall for fancy stock, constructed on approved lines, with large floor space and gradually rising toward the roof with raised seats. It is proposed to give the interest that invests such enormous sums in live stock at the exhibition a building where the judging can be carried on regardless of the weather. As it is to-day, a rain prevents the carrying out of the program in this department, recognized as one of the most important in view of the standing of the Dominion live stock industry thruout the world.

But it is not wholly for this purpose. It will be so commodious as to afford all space now required on the sides for dining room purposes. This is intended to economize space and utilize every nook for public convenience.

Increased Cash Receipts.

The management suggests that the display of live stock before the grand stand for the first time this year is responsible for the increased receipts from that source that day of some $15,000. But an item not to be overlooked is that the pavilion may be occupied during inclement weather to give the afternoon and night concert, now staged in front of the grand stand. A rainy day as it is now costs the company in loss of revenue some $5000 or $10,000 from the grand stand show. This will be evaded with the use of an amphitheatre.

The big structure, which is expected to be as substantial as the manufacturers' building, will not stand idle thruout the year when the Fair is not in session. It is the conception of the management to induce the great live stock show now held at Guelph to hold its sessions in Toronto if this accommodation can be offered. There is little doubt expressed as to this change being effected. The Guelph facilities have long since been outgrown by the fat stock show exhibit. Last year the railroads were forced to carry crowds from the town at night to outside points in order to give them places to sleep and return them the next day. The leading hotels had four to eight persons in a room, and every private residence was crowded. The management thinks a good purpose will be served in supplying a building for this show. However, if it could not be arranged, a fall fat stock show especially would be organized without interfering with that at Guelph.

Another Inducement.

Again, it is pointed out that the Horse Show and other gatherings now held at the Armouries at considerable expense could very likely be held in this building. It was said that $4000 or $5000 dead loss was incurred annually in erecting seats for the Horse Show at the Armouries. The only question about making the building a paying investment, aside from the Exhibition proper, was street car facilities, and it was thought that was now certain, via the bridge, thru the Garrison Commons and making a belt of the road.

President McNaught said as a business proposition he believed the city could afford this investment, and it would carry the Fair for 15 to 20 years. The municipality has at present $360,000 invested. Adding this new amount requested it would represent an investment of some $500,000, with a property worth to exceed a million in sight. The earnings of the big show this year, a surplus of something like $75,000, for the first time in its history, showed how the scope of the Fair was increasing. He knew it could not stand still. It must retrograde or go forward. President McNaught was satisfied the investment would earn a dividend of 4 or 5 per cent. for the city, to say nothing of the business brought to Toronto.

As Mayor Sees It.

President McNaught, Manager Orr and Director Leslie of the Industrial Association interviewed Mayor Urquhart yesterday in regard to the passing of a bylaw to appropriate $200,000 for the improvement of the Exhibition grounds and buildings. Nothing was done, however, further than to discuss the matter informally.

The Mayor expressed himself as being opposed to submitting the matter to the electors at the approaching elections however, chiefly on account of the complicated ballot that will be presented to the voters. He appreciates the necessity for the expenditure of more money, but could not say what amount would be required, and if Council decides to submit a bylaw he will favor a proposition to take the vote on a special day.

For the Trans-Atlantic Race.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—Lord Lonsdale, who, on the occasion of his present visit to Emperor William, is acting as "Ambassador of the American Yacht Clubs," spent five hours with His Majesty. The delicate relations between the Atlantic Yacht Club and the New York Yacht Club were discussed and a way out of the difficulty in selecting the club which will present the Emperor's cup for a trans-Atlantic yacht race, will probably be found.

Isidore Proulx Ill.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Mr. Isodore Proulx, M.P. for Prescott, lies in the Catholic General Hospital in a precarious condition. He had suffered from gangrene of the left leg for some time, and it got so serious his doctor decided on amputation as the only possible chance for life. The leg was amputated on Saturday and while there is hope the chances are against Mr. Proulx.

William Bailey, manager of the King Edward, returned from Europe yesterday, after an absence of six weeks. He was looking over hotels and things in that line just to get an idea of the comparative value of Toronto's big hostelry. He failed to see anything that might be considered an improvement on what Toronto offers the public and returns altogether much pleased with the big house here.

LEARN THE ART OF RESTING.

Rest is a True Food for the Body and Strength for the Spirit. Almost a Lost Art Now.

Sense of rest is a very rare gift and enjoyed by extremely few. It is, after all, the very salt of life, because it renders sweet and wholesome every duty, and imparts a point of view that maintains a hopefulness and buoyancy that makes life happy.

The absence of rest accounts for much of the ill-health, irritability and despondency that we find everywhere about us. We can't eat our pudding and have it, nor can we go on wasting our energies without soon reaching the limit of our reserve power.

Better not let it go this far. Much wiser to take Ferrozone when that tired, enervated feeling is first noticed. Nervous collapse is avoided in this way. If you feel the need of rest, but can't get it because of overwrought nerves, nothing in the world will do you so much good as "Ferrozone," which is noted for promptly restoring perfect health in just such cases as yours.

Perhaps you wonder how Ferrozone does this. The different stages are easily explained. The first result of Ferrozone is a better appetite. Everything you eat is digested and properly assimilated. The natural outcome of this is the formation of pure blood, which is the fundamental basis of health. When the body is given a new supply of blood the circulation is quickened. This gives the weak nerves something to feed upon. They quickly lose their sensitiveness, and your old irritable companions become a help instead of a drawback. Pretty soon you begin to feel the vim and buoyancy that Ferrozone always brings. Your strength increases, you can work longer, toil harder, sleep better than ever before.

If half the pale, nervous women could only realize how beneficial Ferrozone is, there would be a lot more happiness in the world. No remedy applies so directly to the peculiar ills from which women suffer. It is specific for anaemia and brings a ruddy glow of health to pale cheeks in a remarkably short time. In all diseases arising from impairment of blood and in cases where a tonic is needed to stimulate appetite and digestion nothing is more helpful than Ferrozone. It replaces tiredness and lack of energy by a reserve of force, and maintains such a healthy condition of the system that sickness is impossible.

Every person, man, woman or child, who wants more strength, more flesh, stronger nerves, purer blood, should use Ferrozone. Take one tablet at meals. Price 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at druggists, or by mail from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.
