Miss Binney a Success At the Unique

Last night saw the first presentation at the Unique Theatre of "Erstwhile Susan," in which Constance Binney makes her intial appearance as a Realart star. The picture is notable for dramatic suspense and strong heart interest. Interwoven through the main theme are touches of quaint comedy. The scenario combines the most striking incidents of the play which was Mrs. Fiske's starring vehicle two years age. In the role of Barnabetta, the slavey heroine of the story, Constance Binney has created a screen-characterization that insures her succes.

"Erstwhile Susan" is the story of a modern Cinderella. The heroine is Barnabetta Dreary, the only daughter of Barnaby, a stern, brutal farmer of the Pennsylvania Dutch colony of Reinhartz. Left motherless at a very early age, Barnabetta has known neither love nor laughter; her time is too occupied with serving her father and her two loutish brothers. Later, however, Barnaby marries again, and it is the step-mother who helps the girl blossom into glorious, beautiful young womanhood.

Miss Flora Boyko Tells How Cuticura Healed Her Pimples

"My face was very itchy at first, and after that it was covered with pimples that disfigured it badly. The pimples were hard and red and they were small, and they were scattered all over my face and were so itchy I had to scratch and I could not sleep.

"These bothered me nearly a year before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and when I had used five cakes of Cuticura Soap and five boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Flora M. Boyko, Gardenton, Man., Dec. 26, 1918.

Having obtained a clear healthy skin by the use of Cuticura, keep it clear by using the Soap for all toilet purposes, assisted by touches of Ointment as needed. Do not fail to include the exquisitely scented Cuticura Talcum in your toilet preparations. Splendid after bathing.

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c. Sold throughout the Dominion. Canadian Depot: Lymans, Limited, St. Paul St., Montreal. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.

WOMEN WORKERS' CLAIMS.

Miss Agnes Dawson, of the National Federation of Women Teachers, speaking on "Equal Pay and Status for Women" at a meeting of the Women's Industrial League in London, said that only a short time ago women were fighting for political enfranchisement, and now they had got the vote they were demanding promotion and equal pay. The women teachers were leading the way in this fight for justice and she thought it was a pity they did not begin the campaign years ago. Women seemed to have proved themselves of greater usefulness to the State than men in matters of education. The work of the women was certainly equally well done. The differentiation in pay was an insult to women, and was only upheld to satisfy men's vanity. Women were full of determination, and could not fail to get equal pay if they banded themselves together. They were out for economic progress as well as justice for women."—Liverpool Post and Mercury.

NEW BRANCH OF "GREAT WAR VETERANS."

Alma, N. B., Aug. 1.—At a meeting of the Returned Soldiers, recently held here, plans were discussed regarding the organization of a local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association in Alma. After a very interesting and prolonged discussion all present decided in favor of forming a branch, and a resolution was passed to that effect. Accordingly the following officers and executive were elected provisionally:

President—S. S. Kennedy.
1st Vice Pres.—J. H. Wilbur.
2nd Vice Pres.—B. G. Cooper.
Sec.-Treas.—D. E. Rommel.
Executive—D. Conner, W. Chambers and J. Horseman.

At a later meeting plans were discussed in regard to raising funds, etc., and many helpful suggestions were offered aong these lines. It was eventually decided to give a public entertainment at which the public could be informed regarding the aims and objects of the association, and the support of the public solicited. A committee was accordingly appointed, with J. H. Wilbur as foreman, to plan and arrange the entertainment. From latest reports very favorable progress is being made in this direction and the public may look forward to seeing a real good show in the near future.

Supplies, application forms, etc., are now coming to hand and there is no doubt that from now on, the secretary will be kept busy receiving applications for membership.

English Star In Fine English Play

H. B. Warner Splendid in Wm. J. Locke's London Story of Professional Life, "The White Dove"—Very High Class and Refined—The Imperial Packed.

One of the best pictures in which H. B. Warner ever has starred is "The White Dove" which is on the screen of the Imperial Theatre again today. This Robson-Cole special production which was made by Jesse D. Hampton, with Henry King as director, gives the masterful Chesterfield of the screen the role of an English physician forced to travel a long hard road to understanding.

The backgrounds are beautiful English country and city scenes. The opening of the picture relates how Dr. Sylvester Lanyon has been for years kept in ignorance of a secret which his dead wife once confessed to his father, the serious fact of her love affair with another man since her marriage.

The dramatic death of an old friend of the doctor is the means of breaking the news to the husband. He is a rather puritanical man. Convinced that his wife had been guilty of a grevious error, he leaves home and goes to London to try to forget.

He has said nothing to his father, and his distrust extends to his beautiful little daughter, and to Ella Defries, the woman he has been learning to love. While in London another theme of the story, that concerning the strange hold which Ebenezer Usher, an elderly man of uncertain morals has upon the father of the doctor, develops. Then is broken upon Dr. Lanyon the great secret of his own birth which is sufficient almost to break him down.

But he recognizes and forms a new philosophy to the effect that mercy is more necessary than self-righteousness, and that the right attitude toward those who have strayed from the right is one of pity, and not of censure. He goes to his home to embrace his daughter, and to reassure the woman whom he unjustly shunned.

Mr. Warner does an excellent piece of acting all the way through "The White Dove" which gives him opportunity to portray deeply the emotions of sorrow, of condemnation, horror and final misunderstanding.

In addition to this splendid British story the Imperial has an interesting budget of topical and news films in the Fox Weekly and the comic cullings of The Literary Digest in "Topics of the Day." The orchestra was as usual in splendid form and the large attendance in spite of the weather indicated the really attractive merit of the programme.

Tomorrow Rex Beach's stirring northern tale—so well-known to book-lovers—"The Silver Horde," will be the remarkable Goldwyn feature. This is another of the Imperial's literary photoplays, the highest class of pictorial entertainment.

THE DRAWBACK.

Time was in those dear days of old
One dream I cherished, which
Was if I had what now I have
I surely should be rich.

And now I have what once appeared
To be to be a lot,
But with the prices charged today
I find that it is not.

Oh, what a happy world 'twould be
Each minute of the time,
If wages kept on going up
And prices couldn't climb.

JUDGE OF PROBATE COURT GIVES TANL STRONGEST

After Long Struggle Judge M. F. Short Regains Health—Makes Public Statement in Hope of Benefiting Others.

It is seldom indeed that men of prominence, especially men who hold high office, willingly express their indebtedness to a proprietary medicine. However, when a medicine obtains that singular purity and efficiency shown by the uniform preparation, Tanlac, statements from our best citizens are to be considered thoroughly commensurate with the good that is being accomplished among the people of our Commonwealth.

Judge M. F. Short, of 1026 South Hickory street, Ottawa, Kan., who has held the honorable position of Probate Judge in Franklin County for two terms and has been true to every trust imposed in him, said in a recent statement concerning the great good he derived from the use of Tanlac:

"I have never used any medicine that went right to the spot like Tanlac did in my case. Nearly a year ago I had an attack of the 'flu,' and was so weak after it that even a short distance tired and out of bre a severe cough tha great deal. My appet and what little I d do me no good. I d at night and just f time. I tried severa to be good for resto energy, but none of reach my case.

"The statements about Tanlac so im their sincerity that I it. The very first bot relief, so I kept on after taking five bo even better than I the 'flu.' I can now and have no trouble gestion. My old-time ergy have returned health is better than years. I am only too Tanlac did for me, ing this statement t suffers as I did may

BRITISH-FRENCH OIL AGREEMENT

Has U. S. All "Het Up"—Believed it is Nothing More Than Agreement to Work in Harmony.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Washington, Aug. 2.—The State Department received no enlightenment from abroad today as to the specific terms of the Anglo-French agreement for the division of oil in the near East. Officials of the British embassy also were without exact information but expressed the opinion that the agreement had been made at the suggestion of the French and that America would be welcomed in an arrangement on similar principles.

Officials of the State Department, it became known today have before them figures prepared by Government experts that go a long way to shew why there should be anxiety on the part of the United States as to the disposition of the world's oil supply. The figures show that the oil supply in this country will last but fifteen years longer. Last year the United States consumed 80 per cent. of the oil produced and controlled the production of 60 per cent. The reserves in the world however, are almost entirely in foreign hands and three-fourths of them are under the control of Great Britain, France and Holland with the largest share under British domination.

The viewpoint of the British officials here, although denying any intention to deprive any nationals of the right of exploitation and development, tends to confirm the belief of this government that the agreement is the outgrowth of the policy of the supreme economic council which sought to continue the governmental rationing of the world's supplies of raw materials.

It was learned at the embassy that officials there understood that the Franco-British oil agreement is designed only to replace possible competition and friction by co-operation and partnership between the two countries in their search for supplies of oil and that it is not in any way timed against any other country nor does it diminish the rights or opportunities of the nationals of other countries to seek oil concessions. It is also understood that the genesis of the agreement was France's fear that the British oil interest might exercise a dominating control over oil supplies in the future and that Britain at once agreed to co-operate with rather than compete against France. There can be little doubt, it was said, that Britain would welcome an arrangement with America based on similar principles.
