DELCASSE IS SENT TO RUSSIA

Former Minister Is Chosen as New Ambassador

THE CZAR IS WILLING

New President, in First Message, Makes Pointed Reference to Need of Increasing Military Forces of France — The Message Approved

(Canadian Press)

Paris, Feb. 20—Theopile Delcasse, formerly French minister of foreign affairs and minister of marine, has been appointed French ambassador to Russia in succession to Georges Louis, who has retired on reaching the age limit.

The French minister of foreign affairs, Charles Jonnart, informed the cabinet council today that the Emperor of Russia had given his approval to M. Delcasse's appointment.

Raymond Poincaire, the new president, in his first message, read to the two houses of parliament today, made some pointed references to the necessity of increasing France's military forces.

After setting forth his conceptions of the presidency and the necessity for a firm executive power, he alluded to the noble ambitions of the French republic and its services to justice, education, science, letters, art, and finance.

He then referred to the responsibilities of the present time and quoted the adage that "peace is not decreed by the will of one power." He said it was impossible for any nation to be effectively pacific unless it was always ready for war. France with diminished power and exposed by her own fault to defiances or humiliations, would, he said, be France no more. It would be a crime against civilization to allow the nation to decrease its forces while other nations developed theirs without cessation. He eulogized the army and navy and then alluded to the diplomacy of France having labored silently during many months "among the perils of a redoubtable crisis."

The message had been approved by the cabinet council and was countersigned by Premier Briand.

PLAN TO HELP UMPIRE JUDGE BALLS AND STRIKES

Chicago, Feb. 20—President Ban Johnson of the American league has received from Albert A. Lohr, of Washington, a plan which he considers feasible for enabling umpires to more accurately judge balls and strikes.

"The plan Mr. Lohr suggests," said President Johnson, last night, "is to run two white lines down the path from the pitcher's box to the batter's box, just the right distance apart. Thus, when the umpire is looking over the shoulder of the catcher, he has a guide for the corners of the plate, whether the ball be low or high. Whether the lines should be parallel or whether they should converge toard the pitcher's position, or just how far they should extend beyond the batter's box could be determined by a few tests and also the distance apart these lines should be.

"I hold that the plan contains a lot of merit and it may be adopted before the championship race is started."

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

Robert Connely, manager of the Pejebscot Lumber Co., returned home today after having attended the annual meeting of the company in New York last week. The old board of directors, he said, was re-elected, and reports showed a very satisfactory year. So far as plans for the ensuing year were concerned, Mr. Connely said that there was nothing new except that the company intended to push its operations along as well as possible. He was not prepared to say anything as to the present conditions of lumbering in the province, as he had been away about two weeks.

JOINING SCOTT FUNDS IN ONE

Amalgamation For Achievement of Better Results

ROSEBERY'S FINE TRIBUTE

Heroic Britisher's Appeal as Lasting a Memorial as Work of Art, Statue or Book—Contributions by Royalty to the Fund

(Canadian Press)

London, Feb. 20—King George has subscribed £200, Queen Mary £100, Queen Alexandra £100, ex-King Manuel of Portugal £25 and Lord Curzon £100 to the Mansion House Scott fund. The total of all the funds is now £20,000.

Lord Rosebery, who also contributed £100 to the fund for the benefit of those dependant on Scott and his comrades, in the course of a speech last night said:

"People who live after their death need no memorial. Frobisher, one of the greatest and most strenuous of the Elizabethan seadogs, does not need a memorial. The men whose bones have just been found in the icy regions opposite those which Frobisher tried to explore, need no memorial put up by a county council or any other authority.

"The appeal of Captain Scott will be as lasting a memorial to all posterity as any work of art, as any statue, as any immortal book that was ever written."

As the result of a meeting of the Mansion House committee and British Antarctic expedition committee, it has been unanimously resolved to amalgamate the funds. This was done so as to promote unity in the receipt of contributions for the purpose and their subsequent allocation. It is hoped that the newspaper funds will be merged into this and administered by a central committee.

Both classes of workmen will receive double pay for meal time and one half pay for waiting boats up to midnight and full time thereafter.

MADERO HAS NOT YET BEEN SENT INTO EXILE

Order to Quit Mexico Held up at Last Moment

REASON IS NOT GIVEN

Brother Shot as is Old Superintendent of National Palace—Huerta May Not be Able to Swing Things and Peace Not Sure

(Canadian Press)

Mexico City, Feb. 20—The fate of Francisco I. Madero, the deposed president of Mexico was still in the balance this morning.

Preparations had been made at midnight for his departure with the members of his family into an unknown exile, but these, although they had been ordered by General Huerta, the new provisional president, were suddenly halted by mysterious orders of the chief executive. The ex-president, therefore, until long after daylight, remained in the capital.

Senora Madero and the ex-president's two sisters, Angela and Mercedes Madero, and his father, Francisco Madero, together with the family of ex-Vice President Jose Pino Suarez, waited at the station ready to depart for the port of Vera Cruz, where it was believed they were to be placed on board a steamer for Europe.

At midnight, however, the hour fixed for the departure of the family of the president, congress was still in session and almost at the moment when his train should have steamed out, the legislators were listening to the reading of the formal act of resignation which Madero had been forced to sign.

Senor Madero and the rest of her party of exiles, had waited impatiently for more than two hours for Francisco Madero to appear, but they were then informed verbally by ex-Foreign Minister Pedro Lascurain, acting on the orders of Provisional President Huerta, that the ex-president had been prevented from joining them on their journey.

Senor Lascurain declared that he was unable to give any explanation of the delay, and fearing the intentions of General Huerta in regard to her husband, Senora Madero wept profusely. She and her party then left the railroad station and went back into the city.

May Not Be Peace Yet

Only the most optimistic residents of the Mexican capital pretend to believe that the substitution of Victoriano Huerta for Francisco Madero will result in the restoration of complete peace throughout the republic. It remains to be seen, it is pointed out, how many of the rebel leaders will accept the invitation extended to them by General Huerta through the federal commanders in the various states to join in an effort to restore normal conditions.

It appears to be taken for granted that Emiliano Zapta, an irreconcilable rebel, will continue at the head of his powerful force of desperate men in the south, while Dr. Vasquez Gomes, by the issue of his proclamation, claiming the presidency, has rendered conditions in the north somewhat problematical.

Those familiar with the propaganda of the northern rebels express the belief that Pascual Orazco, Inez Salazar and other leaders may not be satisfied with the selection of only one of their comrades, David De La Fuente, as a cabinet minister. On the other hand, it is well known that the men who have been operating in the north are tired of fighting, and have repeatedly said that their main object in doing so was the removal of Francisco Madero from power.

The new administration appears not to be inclined to temporize with any of the rebels. It declares that all that is possible will be done to effect a reconciliation, but in the event of the failure of its efforts in this direction, it proposed to renew the war against all of them with more vigor than ever. Already the federal troops have been sent to Guernava to prevent the occupation of that city by the rebels. In the meanwhile attempts have been made to convince Emiliano Zapata that he should order his men to lay down their arms and return to work.

The execution of Gustavo Madero, brother of the deposed president, was the most tragic occurrence of yesterday. He was subjected to the "fugitive law," and was shot to death by his guards.

Collapses on Hearing of Brother's Death

Ithica, N. Y., Feb. 20—Evaristo Madero, brother of the former President of Mexico, and of Gustavo Madero, collapsed when he was shown a despatch today telling of his brother's execution.

He retired to his room in the Spanish American Club at Cornell University, and for some time would not admit his friends. Only a few days ago he received a reassuring cablegram from his sister-in-law, the wife of Gustavo Madero. He could not believe the news at first, he said. Madero graduated from the Cornell State College of Agriculture this week. He will leave at once to join his sister-in-law, who is in Monterey.

New York, Feb. 20—Gustavo Madero made his headquarters in this city during the early critical period in the revolution headed by his brother Francisco, and was a prominent figure for weeks in upper Broadway, and in the financial district. This was two years ago. With his father Francisco Madero, Sr., and his brothers, Ernesto Everisto and Gabriel, he was busy here financing the revolution, and held many conferences in his hotel uptown, presumably in furtherance of his plans.

Between conferences he was not idle, his recreative activities leading him the rounds of the "white light" district, where he was joyously welcomed as a spender. Word of his death was received with regret by many in that district. Early in March, 1911, Gustavo Madero and his family went to San Antonio, Texas, to take charge of the revolutionary junta there, and later they joined Francisco in the field, moving to the capital when the revolutionary cause finally prevailed.

Douglas, Ariz., Feb. 20—Mexican officials here yesterday expressed the belief today that Zapata, Orozoco, Salazar, and other rebels will not join Huerta. They declare that Huerta will lack the necessary support to make him more than a passing incident and that De La Barre is the man upon whom the salvation of Mexico depends. General Ohara, at Agua Prieta, Sonora, favors De Barra.

The new government has been proclaimed in every state, and practically all the governors and the military commanders have telegraphed Huerta declaring their allegiance.

After the manner of newly installed governments, that of General Huerta began the liberation of political prisoners, while the proclamation of a general amnesty is expected. More than 300 political prisoners have been released in the capital, while from Vera Cruz are to be brought those who were imprisoned with Felix Diaz in the castle of San Juan De Ulula, an island in the bay of Vera Cruz, as the result of the failure of the Diaz revolt in that city.

Only three of these arrested by General Aurelio Blanquet and General Huerta at the moment of the overthrow of Madero remain in custody. These are Francisco Madero himself, Jose Pina Suarez, the ex-vice-president, and Gonzales Garsa, governor of the federal district, and who incurred widespread enmity owing to his close affiliation with the political group known as "La Porra," and which was directed largely by Gustava Madero.

Aged Patriot Dies Bravely

Adolfo Basso, sixty years old, superintendent of the national palace for many years, was executed last night. It is said that the aged man faced the firing squad bravely. He laid bare his breast to the riflemen and his last words were:—"Viva Mexico."

(Canadian Press)

Tokio, Feb. 20—More than 15,000 persons are homeless as a result of a fire which swept through the centre of the Kanda district of the city yesterday. The fire started in the Salvation Army hall. ## BURNS MAY MOVE BIG PLANT TO CALGARY SUBURBS

Calgary, Alta., Feb. 20 — Interest has been created here by the announcemnt that Patrick Burns, western cattle king, is likely to remove his entire packing plant, part of which was recently destroyed by fire, to a point several miles outside the city, and there establish a model town. Though he declares that he has decided on nothing definite, Mr. Burns admitted that he is considering the question.

He owns some 10,000 acres at his Bow Valley farm, and the property is located where it will be served by the railways. Mr. Burns says his new plant, wherever located, will employ about 1,000 hands, and as the Bow Valley farm is nearly ten miles from Calgary, it would not be feasible for these workers to have their homes in the city.

MINERS' STRIKE IN CASE OF WAR

Peoria, Ills., Feb. 20—In unanimously adopting a resolution introduced by a local union representing 6,000 miners in Northern Illinois, the Illinois State Miners Convention in session here yesterday provided that the 82,000 miners in the state go on record as favoring a general strike whenever war be declared by or against the United States.

MELICK ESTATE NOW HOLDS THE WHOLE

Vassie & Co. Have Sold Union Street Holdings Near Carmarthen

The block of property bounded by Union street, Carmarthen street and the northern side of the old burying ground is now entirely in the hands of the Melick estate. Some time ago Vassie & Co., Ltd., purchased a part interest in the land from the estate and also bought the buildings from various owners. If they had completed the purchase of the entire property it was their intention to erect a warehouse there for their wholesale dry goods business.

Since then they secured a site in Prince William street, and as they had no further use for the Union street property they sold their holdings to the Melick estate, which still retained part of the land. The fact that the property is now all held by the one estate may make its purchase easier the next time a big concern wants it.

SUFFRAGETTES SET FIRE TO PAVILION IN THE BOTANICAL GARDENS

London, Feb. 20—Suffragettes paid another havoc-working visit to the Kew botanical gardens today and fired a large refreshment pavilion, which was burned to the ground. Two women were arrested.

The two women gave their names as Lillian Lenton and Joyce Locke, aged 22 and 23 years. Each carired a dark lantern, some cotton soaked in oil, a hammer and a saw.

The magistrate refused them bail. They were told that their offence was not political but highly criminal.

Joyce Locke thereupon hurled a boot at the magistrate, and it narrowly missed his head. She fought desperately against her removal to a cell.

On a previous occasion she threw one of her shoes at the head of an Aberdeen magistrate.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER AT HALIFAX HAD IT ROUGH

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 20—Early this morning there steamed up the harbor the Norwegian steamer Norfolk, bound from Narvik, Norway, to Philadelphia with ore. When Captain Olsen came ashore he had a thrilling story to tell. They were twenty-eight days out and their coal supply was almost gone. They had had an exciting voyage and had undergone severe hardships in the heavy weather. One of the lifeboats was washed overboard the bulkheads smashed and such other damage done that the crew were able to use only one cabin for eleven days. The ship was in danger from floating ice.

CHURCH MATTERS IN MAINE TAKEN UP

POWERS LIKELY TO SETTLE THEM

The Differences Between Bulgaria and Roumania

OTHER MATTER NOT SO HOPEFUL

Question at Issue Between Russia and Austria Has Been Complicated—Sir Edward Grey and Ambassabers Resume Sittings

(Canadian Press)

London, Feb. 20—In a review of the European situation, the Times says:

"It is now believed in St. Petersburgh that both Roumania and Bulgaria are willing to submit their differences to the decision of the powers. According to the information of our St. Petersburg correspondent, the actual arbitration is likely to be conducted by the Russian and Italian governments under the auspices of Great Britain. In Sofia considerable uneasiness is caused by reports that the powers are likely to lean towards Roumania's view. In Bulgaria the impression is that this particular danger will soon cease to be acute.

"The Roumania cabinet met today and our Bucharest correspondent reports that public opinion is in favor of arbitration.

"The outlook with regard to the Austro-Russian differences on the subject of the delimitation of Albania is not so hopeful. The question has been complicated and envenomed by being made, in a sense, a test of diplomatic seertngth instead of being discussed on its merits. But there is no reason to despair of a solution. Today Sir Edward Grey and the ambassadors will resume their meetings and will consider the latest Russian proposals which have already been communicated to Vienna."

LONDONER BUYS LETTER OF WASHINGTON FOR $1,250

One Which Never Was Published—Refers to Insanity of King George III

London, Feb. 20—At a sale at Sotheby's yesterday, a letter from George Washington, first president of the United States, to Samuel Howell, dated February 15, 1789, brought $1,250. This is said to be the most interesting letter that Washington ever wrote. It never has been published.

Two months after it was written, Washington was elected the first president of the United States. In the letter, Washington refers to George III's first attack of madness. It will be recalled that in the autumn of 1788 the king returned to Windsor after taking the waters at Cheltenham and on Oct. 15, got wet during a storm. The next day he was taken ill and on Oct. 22 signs of derangement appeared. His mind dwelt on the loss of the American colonies and on November 5 he became delirious.

Washington in his letter says:

"Be the cause of the British king's insanity what it may, his situation (if alive) merits commiseration. Better perhaps, would it have been for his, (Italics) nation though not for ours (Italics) under the present prospect if the event had happened at the time."

The time referred to is not specified.

THREE SKATERS DEAD; HEROIC PARENTS SAVED

Seymour, Conn., Feb. 20—Frank Cavashensky, six years old, and Chester and Joseph Grozack, the former six and the latter seven, were drowned in the Naugatuck River while skating on the thin ice.

When the three victims went down they were seen by the parents of the Grozack boys. The father dashed out on the ice followed by the wife, and both went through. John Reeves, in company with Policeman Doll, rushed to the assistance of the man and woman, extricating them from the river by means of a long pole.

The three boys, however, were drowned.

Question of Corporation Sole in Legislature

MAY BE AGREEMENT

This is Case in Which French Objected to Laws Controlling Business Affairs of Church—Gathering of Those Interested, in Augusta

(Canadian Press)

Augusta, Maine, Feb. 20—The bill for the abolition of the corporation sole method of administering the affairs of the Catholic church in Maine, came up for its first consideration this afternoon at the hands of the judiciary committee of the legislature. The bill, which is put forward at the instance of the French element in the state, seeks not only to abolish the corporation sole system which vests the supreme control of the church's affairs in the hands of the Bishop of Portland, but to re-introduce the parish system of control as it existed here, and as it is in vogue in Quebec province today.

Last year a similar bill was presented to the legislature and defeated. As a result of the agitation which it caused among the French in Maine, the Bishop of Portland interdicted six prominent men in Biddeford for an alleged "grave scandal, given by their various words and acts in the recent attack on church authority, church property and church law in the diocese of Portland, Maine."

The six men appealed to Rome, but without avail.

The principal grievance of the French Catholics in Maine, is that the Bishop sends English speaking priests to them, who naturally do not encourage the maintenance of the French language.

The bill is attracting attention and today the legislative buildings were thronged by French-Americans from all parts of the state. Chief among those who will urge the necessity for accepting the measure are Godfrey S. Dupre, Geo. S. Prescourt, Albert C. Maynard, Albert J. Belland and Alfred Bonneau, five of the six men interdicted. There are heard expressions of a resolution that the defeat of the measure will start an exodus of the French population to Quebec.

Right Rev. Louis S. Walsh, Bishop of the diocese of Portland, which includes the whole of Maine, and many prominent members of the Catholic church are also here to attend the hearing.

Just how much opposition will be presented to the bill is uncertain. It is known that Bishop Walsh went to Biddeford Wednesday evening and held a two hour conference with some of the church members who were interdicted two years ago. None would discuss the result of this conference, but it was intimated by others that all might be settled. It is known that a new draft of the measure has been drawn up, but this differs from the original only in details relating to local conditions and not in fundamentals.
