MRS. R. COOK RECEIVED WORD LAST NIGHT WHICH SHOWED THAT MR. COOK IS SAFE

Mrs. Robert Cook, of Brook street, seems to have been unnecessarily alarmed by reports of her husband's death. Her apprehensions of mishap to him were only slight until Saturday when a rumor spread that Mr. Cook had in all probability been lost in the Bay of Fundy.

Mrs. Cook told The Standard last evening that some reporter had called on her late Saturday night with the information that her husband had been drowned for a certainty, as a biscuit box which he had on board his boat had been found floating in the bay.

Saturday night and yesterday she had been in a state bordering on nervous collapse as the result of this report, and her anxiety had only been relieved last evening when she had received a personal message from her husband that he was alive and well.

Had Rough Trip.

This word had been brought by Mr. Hendock McCully, who arrived here yesterday in the schooner Hustler, from Nova Scotia. Mr. McCully said that he had been in Porterville, N. S., when Mr. Cook arrived there on Tuesday last, and had talked to him. Mr. Cook had told him to take a message to his wife to the effect that he was alive and well, and in the best of spirits, although he had experienced a rough trip. The rough trip was a thing to have been expected as Mr. Cook left here to go to Nova Scotia in a small boat sixteen feet in length. The diminutive craft was equipped with two sails. Mr. Cook was bound upon a fishing trip.

The biscuit box which was found was washed overboard from the sailboat. It had been lifted from a seat, where it was placed to keep it dry, by a big wave.

Mrs. Cook was naturally most thankful to learn from Mr. McCully, of the safe arrival ofo her husband, wh reached Porterville on Tuesday morning last, at 10 o'clock. Mr. McCully was in conversation with him on the afternoon of the same day.

WONDERFUL WORK OF THE BIBLE SOCIETY

Dr. G. M. Campbell, secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, preached in the Reformed Presbyterian church, yesterday morning and in the Brussels street Baptist church in the evening. In both churches he spoke from Psalms the 68th chapter and the 11th verse. In the morning he gave an exposition of the verse and Bible, and of God's message to people of all nations and all tongues. A plea was made on behalf of the Bible Society, who translate the Bible into all tongues without note or comment. The value of the Bible in the development of individual and national life was shown. The methods of the society were explained and a plea was made for a liberal support.

Explained Its Origin.

In the evening at Brussels street church, after a description of the Bible house in London, Dr. Campbell explained the origin of the society, whose 105th anniversary has just been celebrated.

Mr. Campbell said that the church has about 518 translations of the Scriptures in use. Over 1600 are needed, to give every man the right of reading the Book for himself. The British Foreign Bible Society is the greatest Bible producing house in the world. It has provided 418 of the 518 translations in use, furnishing 7 out of every 10 Bibles, given to the heathen world. Six new tongues were added to the society's list last year, 2 for Africa, 2 for Asia and 2 for Oceania. These versions have been produced for various sections of the Christian Church, 1 for Moravian Missions, 1 for American Baptists, 1 for the Anglican Church, and 1 for the Congregational Church. The whole Bible is in 105 languages. The whole New Testament is in 102 languages and some portions of the Bible in 211 additional tongues.

Output of Bibles.

The output of Bibles for 1908 was 247,000 in advance of the preceding year and since the origin of the society 215,500,000 Scriptures have been distributed by the society. Their printing presses are in use in fifty different towns and 60 alphabets are employed in doing the work. It furnishes all missionary societies with Bibles as gifts.

The whole world with the exception of Abyssinia, Nepol and Tibet are open to missionaries. The silent messages of the Bible that enter these countries, prove that it has no closed doors. The society circulated last year 150,000 Scriptures in South America, a country which most missionaries neglect. What the roadbed is to a railroad, the Bible Society is to missionary enterprise. In Canada the Scriptures were translated last year into 83 tongues, 40 colporteurs follow the strangers who are settling in the great west who give the Scripture in mother tongue, to poor men as a free gift and sell it to the men who are able to buy, cheaper than they can obtain the Bible elsewhere.

Dr. Campbell showed the value of the Bible in nation building and closed with a plea for an increased support from the large congregation in attendance.

LORETTA WILL NOT HEAD THE R.K.Y.C. CRUISE

When the steamboat Loretta was towed around to Millidgeville yesterday by Mr. Fraser Gregory's gasoline launch, and anchored in front of Mr. Gregory's residence, the report spread among the yachtsmen that she was going to lead the R. K. Y. C. fleet this summer, as the commodore's boat.

Inquiry from Mr. Robert Thomson showed however, that the Loretta is not to be so used, and that Mr. Thomson will not sail this season. His hospitality and the timely assistance which he has often given to the yachts when in trouble during cruising time, will be hugely missed by the members of the club.

The Loretta is one of the quarantine boats hired by Messrs. Robert Thomson and Co., to the Dominion Government. During the past winter she has served the island station. She will lie up at Millidgeville for the summer.

FREDERICTON NEWS

The induction of Rev. M. Sherman as rector of Kingsclear, will be conducted by Bishop Richardson at the evening service on Trinity Sunday, June 6th.

Mr. A. R. Slipp, M. P. P., has received an inquiry from Ceonto, Wisconsin, for information regarding the estate and heirs of the late David A. Goulder, son of the late Wm. Goulder, of this province.

A delegation from Victoria Lodge of Odd Fellows will attend the big celebration of the Odd Fellows of Maine and the Maritime Provinces at Fort Fairfield, Me., in June.

S. OF E. HEARD MR. M'KIM IN FINE SERMON

Yesterday Malborough and Portland Lodges, Sons of England, joined in a parade to church. They assembled at Marlborough Lodge rooms in Oddfellows' Hall, Union street, about ten o'clock and headed by the St. Mary's band, they marched to St. Luke's church, by way of Union, Germain, King, Dock, Mill and Main streets.

Rev. Mr. McKim's Sermon.

Rev. R. P. McKim delivered a very interesting and eloquent sermon. He recalled David's injunction to Solomon regarding the building of the temple, and pointed out an analogy that could be worked out between the temple building and the nation building of today. He spoke at some length of the responsibilities and opportunities of those who are connected with patriotic societies and made mention of the great opportunities that were open to such men today, making special reference to the Sons of England.

Canada's Resources.

He spoke of Canada with regard to its natural resources, forests, waterways, etc., and stated that there was a great and equal opportunity throughout Canada from east to west, but in order to build up and make Canada a great country, it was necessary that we should transform the excellent conditions of the old land to the new land, and translate and study the traditions of great men of ancient times, and practise the principle contained therein, and above all, to live up to the great ideals of our forefathers. Imperialism, he stated, was also effected in the building up of a great country, and he was of the opinion that it was fit and proper that every person should be an Imperialist.

After the service the line reformed and marched to the lodge rooms of the Portland Lodge, in Alexandra Temple of Honor building.

Mr. McKim at St. Clement's.

Rev. Mr. McKim conducted the service at St. Clement's church, at Millidgeville last evening, and during his absence at St. Luke's, Rev. Mr. Watkins, of Chipman, N. B., took charge of the services and delivered a very interesting sermon.

CARLETON MAN HAS CLOSE CALL FROM DEATH

An accident occurred off Reed's Point Saturday afternoon in which a Carleton man came near losing his life. Edward Toole, a fisherman of the West Side was in his boat in that vicinity when the tug Waring collided with his frail craft. For a few moments things looked serious for Mr. Toole, but besides being badly frightened he escaped uninjured.

WHO GETS IT ALD. ELKIN OR C. H. FLOOD?

There is a sharp contest for the position of agent for the Marine Department. Captain E. C. Elkin has the support of many sea-going men and ship owners. Also the majority of the Board of Trade are for him.. But a large majority of the Board of Trade members did not vote for Dr. Pugsley and what have they to say about a Federal office?

Mr. C. H. Flood has the support of the McAvity influence, and of the other elements which control the Telegraph newspaper. Some of his friends cast doubt on the constancy of Alderman Elkin's Liberalism. As against this there are suggestions that the Flood family have also been variable quantities and that in any case Mr. Pugsley should not be too exacting on this point. Also it is pointed out that Mr. Flood's brother has secured a $3,000 office as Trade Commissioner in the West Indies. for which place he had no outstanding aptitudes.

The claim is made for Alderman Elkin that he is better qualified for the work, but there is a disposition to set that element aside as having nothing to do with the case.

HOW SQUATTERS HAVE SECURED VALUABLE LOTS

"Speaking of titles to land," remarked a St. John solicitor who has had a good deal to do with such matters, "it may surprise you to know that some of the best lots occupied in this city are held on squatters' rights. Some original grantees or their heirs disappeared or neglected their titles, and strangers occupied them until they held them by prescription.

Queen Square Lots.

"It would appear that some early owners of lots on the south side of Queen Square went away, and this land was occupied by colored families. These acquired a title and sold the lots.

Disappointed Heirs.

"A good many years ago," added the lawyer, "a man came here from Albert county with a bunch of deeds. They gave his father a title to one of the best lots on Queen Square. It has an expensive dwelling on it now. The Albert county man wanted to know if his title was good. I had to tell him it was not worth a cent. The owner of that splendid lot was a mechanic and had a little workshop on his lot. He went away and probably cleared for himself a small farm.

Away Forty Years.

For forty years he never saw his St. John land. Meanwhile the squatter came and occupied it and in due time he acquired the title by undisputed possession. When the man from Albert found what might have been his he had deep thoughts. But there was nothing to be done about it."

MR. GREGORY K.C. IS NOW SEN. COUNSEL

The appointment of Hon. H. A. Mc Keown to the Supreme Court Bench of New Brunswick, vacated the office of senior counsel to the Canadian Commissioners who are members of the International Commission to inquire into the waterways disputes along the St. John river.

To this position, Mr. A. J. Gregory, K. C., of Fredericton, has been appointed. Mr. Gregory has received official notification of his appointment.

One of the principal matters that the commissioners have to deal with is the question of the rights of the St. John Lumber Company to hold logs at their booms at Van Buren, Me., until they are sorted before coming on down river to the booms of the St. John River Log Driving Company for rafting and delivery to the mills at Fredericton and at St. John.

Since his appointment Mr. Gregory was in communication with Mr. A. P. Barnhill, of St. John, the chairman of the commission, and it is likely that the commissioners will go to Van Buren, Me., this week, the present intention being to meet there on Tuesday. It is the wish of the commissioners to be at Van Buren when the logs are jammed there and the sorting booms are in operation. At present the jam of logs consists of about thirty million feet and the sorting works are in operation with 150 men employed.

Lumbermen feel that with the water falling off rapidly great financial loss will fall on owners of logs for Canadian mills at down river points, such as Fredericton and St. John, which are held up at the American company's booms at Van Buren.

A GREAT CHURCH PARADE

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, May 30—The largest church parade ever held in Montreal took place today, 3,300 men of the volunteer regiments parading to respective churches. Over 100,000 people lined the route. The number of men who turned out was 150 more than last year, which set the high mark for church parades in Montreal.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AMHERST MAN.

Special to The Standard.

Amherst, May 30—A telegram was received today from Montreal bringing news of the death in that city of George Edward Slack, who until a few weeks ago was a resident of this town. His family were about to move to Montreal, when the sad news was received. He came to Amherst several years ago from Melrose, Westmorland county.

LIBERALS LIKELY TO HOLD ON TO LAURIER AS LONG AS HIS PHYSICAL STRENGTH HOLDS OUT

(Montreal Gazette.)

Some newspaper which did not stop to think before relieving itself of the burden of what it thought was its prophecy, started a report that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would retire before the close of the present Parliament, and turn the leadership of the government and of the Liberal party over to a new man; and some other papers, also without stopping to think, are giving the story currency if not countenance. It is possible, though it does not seem likely, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, if he felt himself free, might prefer to retire while yet his power has received no serious blow. As with other men who have occupied the premier's office, however, his personal inclinations can be but one factor in a complicated situation. He is even more to the Liberal party than Sir John Macdonald was in his day to the Conservative organization. Macdonald left his party a tradition and an idea. Laurier can leave the Liberals nothing to inspire to enthusiasm or maintain the courage that makes for success, even when circumstances seem darkest.

He Has Been an Opportunist.

People may think it a good thing that he was able to settle the Manitoba school question to the satisfaction of his political associates, who raised it; but hardly anyone could be proud of the figure he cut in the process or say that it inspired belief in his convictions or his attachment to principle. The same remark applies to his attitude on the school clauses of the bills creating the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. He made a speech in Parliament in favor of schools for the Catholics in which doctrinal teaching would be given, and even condemned as dangerous public schools where such instruction was neglected. Then, because Mr. Sifton retired from the cabinet on the issue that had thus been raised, threatening loss or reduction of the government's parliamentary majority, Sir Wilfrid Laurier abandoned what he had advanced as his convictions, and substituted for the clauses that would have secured doctrinal schools for the religious minority in the two provinces, others that met the approval and secured the vote of Dr. Sproule, head of the Orange Order, and the big bugaboo used by Liberal speakers in Quebec from casting Conservative ballots.

To Frighten Uninformed Voters

Such an attitude and such a course may have been politically profitable, but it gave no occasion for saying of the man who figured in it, that here was one who for what he thought was right was ready to sacrifice even popularity. And in the hearts of people, even when they are partly blind from partizanship, there is respect for the man who is ready to go down for the sake of what he thinks is right, and something of contempt for him who shows himself ready to shed his principles, like an old suit of clothing, whenever it seems they can be no longer useful to him. In his record as an administrator of the country's business affairs Sir Wilfrid Laurier gives as little to inspire as he does in his career as a man of convictions. It was only the other day that an industrial commission, acting under a law which his government had put on the statute books, declared in the cotton trade because changes made in the tariff under his regime had encouraged importation at the expense of the home manufacturing industry. The collapse of the Quebec bridge was the outcome of the way in which those whom he delighted to honor mixed non-business considerations with a business and technical proposition.

That Wages Were Low

The National Transcontinental railway scheme, which at its inception was trumpeted as the evidence of his imitative genius, is to-day a proof of his utter incapacity to comprehend the meaning of a great commercial enterprise, made worse by that trait in his character which causes him to reject the advice of men who can and do study the meaning of propositions when what they say is not flattering to his self-love. After such a man in such a place, his followers

Might Well Look for the Deluge.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is necessary to the success of the Liberal party, now more than ever. He is even more necessary to some who have become prominent in the party than he is to the party itself. He alone, to all appearance, can command the moderate majority of the voters of this province which ensures the large majority of the government in the House of Commons. For him only will some people overlook the extravagance and waste that has made Mr. Fielding's administration of the finances so disastrous to the credit of Canada. For his sake alone will the majority of the Liberals accept the leadership of a man with a provincial record such as Mr. Pugsley made in New Brunswick. For him, and for no one else, could the mass of the people be expected to overlook the scandals that for a dozen years disgraced the administration of the Yukon and Northwestern lands and timber resources. Those of the Liberal party who enjoy being in power, and those who find in the party's being in power the opportunity to make their purses fat, will resist any proposal that would remove from the leadership of the government the man behind whom they carry out their plans and gain their ends. Sir Wilfrid Laurier will stay where he is as long as his physical strength will permit.

MISS YERXA RETURNS SOON TO AFRICA

Miss Yerxa, who has been visiting this city and Fredericton for the last few weeks will leave on Wednesday on her return to the Transvaal. The visit has been a short one after six years' absence, but Miss Yerxa promises a shorter residence abroad next time. Besides, her holiday is not measured by the length of the New Brunswick visit, as her party came hither by leisurely travel, with stops on the East coast of Africa, a fortnight in Egypt, a side trip to the Holy Land and a fortnight in Paris.

It is expected that the return journey will be shorter. South Africa is like Canada, a place of generous distances. Miss Yerxa spent several vacations in Durban, 1,000 miles from her work, and on one holiday went to Victoria Falls, a matter of 1,800 miles, involving at that time some five days' continuous travel each way. It is a quicker journey now.

Miss Yerxa says that while Johannesburg is a city of about 100,000 inhabitants there are only 20,000 whites. As yet the educational system does not take much account of the native population..

Miss Yerxa does not discuss South Africa political problems. The Botha administration seems to be getting along all right, and the ministers are very agreeable men.

THE CATCHES OF SALMON AND SHAD

Reports from the shad and salmon fishermen show that they have been making very good catches within the last few days of shad. But the salmon are reported to be very scarce. On Thursday and Friday nights the fishermen made good catches. As high as 200 shad were netted each night by oneboat. Shad are selling wholesale at 20c a piece. Salmon sold readily at 25c a pound. The first St. John river salmon was caught near Fredericton and sold at the country market there at 25c per pound.

Gaspereax have been running quite plentifully, as high as four thousand being caught one day last week and by one boat.

AMUSEMENT LICENSES INCREASED.

Special to The Standard.

Moncton, May 30—At a meeting of the city council license committee Saturday, it was decided to increase opera house licenses from one hundred dollars as at present to two hundred dollars. License for circus and side shows was fixed at a hundred and fifty; increase of twenty-five dollars.

LEARNING TO FACE A BANQUET

Budapest, May 30.—An enterprising woman named Hoiker has started a school where pupils of all ages are given a full course of instruction in the art of eating.

Practical demonstrations are given in ordinary table manners, but the chief aim of the establishment is to teach the ignorant how to deal successfully with such dishes as they have never heard of.

'Who does not recollect in his experience moments of unspeakable anguish," asks Frau Hoiker, "when at a dinner party he finds that he is using his knife and fork for a dish that only requires a spoon, or vice-versa? It is to save men and women from these little tragedies that I have opened my school."

Examinations are to be held at the end of each term, when the students will be requested to attack an array of unknown delicacies set before them. Those who undergo the ordeal successfully wil obtain a certificate from Frau Hoiker which will enable them to face any banquet without flinching.

COST HIM $24 TO INTERFERE WITH POLICE

Saturday was a busy day in the Police Court so much so that the half-holiday was not observed. Albert Murphy, one of the trio who figured in the struggle with the police on Friday night was fined $28.00 on Saturday afternoon, $24.00 for interfering with the police and four dollars for being drunk, while his associates, Patrick Bennett and Thomas Highman were remanded. Murphy stated that he was very anxious that the sentence should be pronounced, as he was in a hurry to get away, and his instructions were obeyed. He did get away, but was minus $28.00. Minard Sabean was fined $8.00 or two months for drunkenness and using profane language, while Jos. Pike was fined $4 or thirty days for drunkenness. Both were lodged in jail in default of paying their fines.

The quintette arrested on Friday evening for wandering about the streets without being able to give a satisfactory account of themselves, were let go with a warning, and the youthful prisoner, Ronald Harrington, arrested for disorderly conduct on Charles street was fined $8.00, but the fine was allowed to stand against him.

CHANNEL AT FALLS MAY BE MADE WIDER

Mr. J. K. Scammell of the Public Works department has made a number of soundings on the pitch of the falls at Union Point. These soundings show the channel could be made much wider without great difficulty. At the point referred to the channel is about 500 feet wide, and the soundings show that a bar runs out from Union Point for a distance of about 300 feet. This is of rock and apparently is a very jagged and dangerous obstruction, having some points that come perilously near the surface at low tide. There is a channel a full 100 feet wide from about 300 feet out to within about a hundred feet of the eastern side that shows 25 feet and more water at low tide. The last 100 feet on the eastern side is again a shallow jagged bar. The soundings indicate that it would not be a very difficult or expensive job to remove a portion of the rock towards the western shore and so widen the channel there to say, 200 feet, and thus render it absolutely safe for all craft that want to go up and down the river.

Steamers Touched Bottom

Within the last year there have come here a number of small steamers to load lumber at the mills above the falls. The narrowness of the channel and the shallowness of the water has resulted in one or two of these craft meeting with slight acidents, but a few charges of dynamite, properly placed would clean off the ragged points and make the channel safe. The work of drilling the holes and placing the dynamite would of necessity be slow and tedious because of the great rise and fall of water and the heavy rush of tide. It might even be difficult to find a diver who would care to undertake the work, but now that the soundings have proved the possibility of the project, it may be that the matter will receive some attention. Any work that is done there would not destroy the falls, because the narrow channel, rather than the ledge of rock, is responsible for the unique conditions prevailing here.

IN THE COURTS

Supreme Court Chambers

Argument in the Carleton county election case will be made before His Honor Mr. Justice McLeod in chambers this afternon at 2.30 o'clock. On Friday Mr. A. B. Connell, K. C., counsel for Mr. W. J. Owens, the petitioner, took out a summons calling upon the respondent to show cause why the time for trial should not be extended. Mr. W. P. Jones, K. C., counsel for Mr. Upham, M. P. P., the respondent will argue against the summons.

At 3.30 o'clock His Honor will fix the day for the trial of the cause.

County Court

The present session of the County Court was resumed on Saturday morning at eleven o'clock and had a continuous session until 2.30 p. m. when it adjourned until some time this week His Honor Judge Forbes presided. The civil case of Goldie and McCullough Co. Ltd., vs Isaac Deboo was taken up and after a number of witnesses on both sides gave testimony, and argument of counsel, His Honor announced that he would reserve judgment.

Mr. Cyrus F. Inches appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Geo. W. Fowler, K. C., and Mr. W. D. Turner, for the defendant.

The case involves a nice question of law and His Honor's decision will be awaited with interest.

The plaintiffs are safe manufacturers at Galt, Ont., and some time ago shipped f. o. b. Galt, a safe to Miller Bros., of Sussex. In payment Miller Bros, gave the plaintiffs a lien note which was not filed in this province. Subsequently Miller Bros became insolvent and assigned to Sheriff Freeze, of Kings Co., for the benefit of their creditors. The defendant bought the safe among other articles under the sheriff's sale, and the plaintiffs are suing in trover for the recovery of the value of the safe, claiming a wrongful conversion of the same. Under the New Brunswick law a lien note must be filed. Under the Ontario law a lien note need not be filed in order to bring an action upon it. The plaintiffs claim that the Ontario law governs in this case, as the safe was shipped f. o. b. Galt, Ont., consequently the cause of action arose there. The defendant claims that the law of this province prevails, and therefore the case should fail.

Italian Players at Nickel Today.

This week will be one of special pleasure to patrons of Nickel Theatre, the fountain head of pure entertainment at a nominal price. Whilst the best motion pictures procurable remain the chief stock in trade of this house, musical features from time to time prove of particular delight and today's feature will be no exception. The Castellucchi Trio is a party of Italian instrumentalists whose art is famed throughout the big cities which they "play" continually. Their overtures, classical and popular selections upon bells, cornets, euphoniums, ocarines, guitars, xylophones, etc., will contain an element of novelty and spiciness that assures universal praise and in his imitations of Creatore, Italian bandmaster, Signor Castellucchi scores a personal triumph for mimicry. The trio will be heard at 3.30 in the afternoon and at 7.45, 8.45 and 9.45 in the evening. The Nickel's Superb Professional Orchestra will have a new bill and Miss Evans' song is to be Chauncy Olcott's success Every Star Falls In Love With Its Mate. The pictorial programme will contain The Woodchopper's Child (Edison); A Faithful Old Horse (Pathe) and A Striking Resemblance (Pathe). About 150 chairs, running from the orchestra stalls to the auditorium doorway, will be sold at a slight premium to avoid long waits in the lobbies.
