Medical.

RH — Is a fearful disease, although at first it may appear to be only a cold in the head. Ordinary treatments will not cure it. Its terrible effects are nervous weakness, loss of smell, loss of taste, loss of hearing, loss of sight, weak eyes, dizziness, faint feelings, corrupting matter forming in the upper part of the head, hawking and spitting, nasal deformities, disgusting odors, and deafness. It is ever aggressive, although often its victims are unconscious of it. It may become so great as to cause ulceration or sloughing, and the house is a disease, which makes life so miserable that its victims almost wish for death.

ASTHMA BRONCHITIS — Is a disease of the throat or bronchial tubes, and of very much the same nature as catarrh. It is dangerous if neglected.

CONSUMPTION — Is a disease that numbers its victims by thousands every year. For these and all pulmonary diseases the most reasonable, satisfactory and successful treatment is by the use of INHALENE — A compound of refined OIL OF TAR, and the most healing oils and balsams known to medical science. By simply breathing the vapor for a few minutes from the inhaling instrument, it is converted into a cleansing, invigorating, and healing vapor, and takes direct to the disease, where its healing power is felt at once. The medicine is not taken into the stomach, but reaches the diseased surface of the air-passages, in the ulcerated cavities of the lungs, and inflamed surfaces in the respiratory organs and nasal cavities are the parts of the body by the application of the best liniment.

Of this remedy is of vast importance in view of recent investigations by scientific men and physicians, showing conclusively that many diseases are carried in the air. The organic matter in Catarrh has been found to contain myriads of germs, they cannot be seen without the aid of a powerful microscope. The germ is the development and kills all germs of these lower forms of organic life. This treatment, while it acts as a local application to the parts affected, also furnishes the blood passing through the lungs with a rich supply of oxygen. This being taken up by the blood, it quickly carried to every part of the system, so that every inhalation new life and health is imparted to the whole system, and the decaying matter are carried off. As this process is repeated the blood becomes purified, the lost appetite is restored, the digestive organs are put in order, the system is built up, invigorated and vitalized. Thus it cures the disease by the healing balsams, vaporized and deposited as a local application, and building up the entire system. No System of Treatment has proven so successful in even the last stage of consumption, when beyond the power of any other remedy; and many cases, considered hopeless, even after excessive doses of cod liver oil have failed. As the oils and balsams combine in the numerous air-cells and the hollow chest soon becomes rounded and full. To catarrh it is a specific, by breathing the vapor and forcing it into the diseased cavities of the head. The terrible and almost universal disease can only be cured by inhalation. This method of treatment is endorsed by prominent physicians everywhere, and highly commended by thousands who have used it with entire satisfaction. It is the most least and without inconvenience of any kind, simply by breathing or inhaling, and is always ready for use. It is the cheapest and most complete system of medication. MR. PELL'S REPORT.

Result of the Agricultural Commission's Visit to America.

LONDON, Jan. 31.

Mr. Pell, M.P., who visited the United States to gain information of the agricultural interests has made his report. It is very voluminous, but treats mainly of the comparative condition of the farming interests of the United States and England, offering no satisfactory solution of the causes of the depression. It appears more like a studied effort to reconcile the English farmer to his lot than to attempt to show how he may better his condition. Mr. Pell dwells on the fact of British emigration to Mexico, and in a tone which would discourage such emigration. He considers at length the relative merits of Canada and the United States and generally to the discouragement of the latter as a place of residence, and paints Canada's future in most glowing colours. He admits the recent prosperity of American farmers, but claims that the farmers of England occupy a higher social position, are better and happier, realizing more uniform and reliable returns, and are less the victims of transporting monopolies. He also claims that England sustains her supremacy in scientific knowledge, and that her productions of the farm are superior to those of the United States.

ROBBERY ON A STEAMER.

A Man From London, Ont., Arrested and Held in Custody.

NEW YORK, Feb 2.—Geo. H. Randell, West 22nd street, dealer in mica, had occasion to go on to New London to pay off some hands on his father's property. On his return he had to travel over night on the Vermont Central railroad, and was considerably fatigued from the loss of sleep. When he got on board the steamer City of New York of the Norwich line at New London, he slept soundly in his state room until awakened between five and six o'clock this morning by Jas. Murphy, steward, who told him that he saw a man coming out of his cabin, and that he had been robbed. Mr. Randell ascertained that his gold watch and chain were safe, but $27 and one dollar in silver currency and a certificate of shares in the Valley Gold Mining Company, of Idaho, of the value of $500, had been stolen from his clothing. Two passengers, who afterwards gave their names as Geo. Willard 23 years, of Detroit, Mich., and Sydney Dyer, aged 36 years, of London, Ont., Canada, had been observed moving about at an early hour long before daylight. Entrance to Mr. Randell's room had been effected by means of skeleton keys. Although it was quite dark, Murphy, the steward, was able to recognize Willard, and Randell suggested that a berth jointly occupied by him and Dyer should be searched. When the steward pulled up a piece of carpet on the floor he found three skeleton keys, pinchers, gimlet, a screw, and other articles, with a passenger ticket on the Lake Shore and Michigan railroad. When the City of New York touched pier Forty, North river, this morning, the men were placed in custody. Seventy-three dollars in notes were found in their possession, including a five dollar note of the Maverick National Bank of Boston, and a five dollar note on the First National Bank of Lonia, Mich., to Dyer, which was identified by Randell as part of the money stolen from him. The accused men were committed each in default of $1,500 bail.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 3.—The Southworth paper mill, West Springfield, was burned to-night; insurance, $70,000.

MR. PARNELL'S GREAT CRIME.

[BY CABLE TO THE MAIL.]

N. Y. HERALD BUREAU, LONDON, Feb. 3.

The correspondent of the Herald at Dublin telegraphs:—The daily, hourly cry of distress in Ireland becomes more and more urgent and widespread. Every day reveals new horrors in the catalogue of suffering. The outlook for the coming months is gloomier than any prediction as yet painted. No language can describe the appalling privations, the utter destitution which prevail, but a vivid picture can be found in the statement and figures below. They are unexaggerated and well authenticated.

It is impossible to overdraw the situation. So rapidly do matters become worse, that what might have been an exaggeration yesterday will to-morrow be an understimate. Three hundred thousand people are slowly starving, and can only be kept alive by superhuman efforts on the part of their fellow creatures. Some of them are living on one meal a day of turnips or meal. Thousands more are consuming their last potatoes. Local efforts are becoming feeble. The people are looking to the world for succour. In the cause of humanity, the land agitation has hidden its head for the moment, the agitators lending a hand in the common cause. Parnell's attack upon the Mansion House and the Duchess of Marlborough's funds is a crime, the responsibility of which no man should take upon himself at this time. The confusion thus caused only blinds the eyes of America to the present awful necessities of the Irish peasantry. If Parnell be a true Irish patriot, he will sink animosities, which every one here deprecates, even his friends and sympathisers, and will become the champion in America of that cause in which all the world is one—the cause of charity.

The following figures are compiled from the official returns of the local committees to the central bodies, organized for the distribution of relief in Dublin, as well as from private inquiries made by your correspondent. They are vouched for by Protestant and Catholic clergy, gentry, and public officials. Further returns are arriving daily in overwhelming numbers. The returns by counties where the chief distress exists shows the numbers of those suffering to be as follows:—

Returns by Counties.

Mayo	64,509	Tipperary	6,300
Galway	43,360	Limerick	7,600

The following tabulated statement contains an analysis of the actual condition of 250,000 of the persons represented in the above summary. The remarks quoted are taken from the appeals, which pour into Dublin at the rate of thousands daily:—
