FIVE HOMERS IN GIANTS' VICTORY

Reds Get Within One Game of Pirates.

Henry Scores Another Shutout — Stuart Does "Iron Man" Stunt and Wins Two Games in Day—The Yankees 12 Games in the Lead.

(Canadian Press)

New York, July 11.—The New York Giants today are in the van by four and one-half games as a result of their victory over the Pittsburg Pirates yesterday in the first game of the most important mid-season series. Manager McGraw's men knew they were in a battle for it required part of an inning beyond the regulation nine for the verdict. Just to show the visiting Pirates that they had not lost their punch, five of the Giants kicked in with home runs, Kelly and Frisch making their second circuit clouts in as many days.

Manager McGraw, by turning in a victory over Pittsburg not only helped his own position but aided an old friend, Pat Moran, whose Reds defeated the lowly Phillies. This game also went 10 innings, and to make sure of it, Cincinnati counted five times in their half of the extra inning. The result brought Moran's team wtihin one game of the second place Pirates.

"Dutch" Henry, a southpaw who was not good enough for other major league clubs, pitched his second game for Brooklyn, scoring a nine to nothing victory over the Cubs. Incidentally it was Henry's second shutout, the first being against the Giants soon after he joined the Dodgers.

Recollections of Joe McGinnity and the days when he earned the title of "Iron Man," by pitching the New York Giants to two victories in an afternoon, were brought to mind in Boston when the St. Louis Cardinals sent John Stuart, former Ohio State University player, against the Braves. The former collegian toyed with President Matty's team in the first game of a double header, holding the Boston boys to three hits. The Cardinals won handily 11 to 1 and then Stuart went back in the second game and although hit more freely, the Cards won 6 to 3.

The participation of the New York Americans in the next world's series came a little closer to being more than conjecture when the Hugmen captured a 3 to 2 pitching duel from the White Sox. With a lead of 12 games at this stage of the season it seems that nothing short of a complete collapse of the entire team can prevent the mite manager from leading his forces in a third attempt to capture the blue ribbon of the diamond.

Cleveland, present runner up to the Yankees, maintained its position by taking Connie Mack's rejuvenated Athletics into camp by a count of 4 to 3. The Mackmen are in third position today only because of the Yankees' victory, for had the White Sox won yesterday they would have displaced the Athletics.

Washington continued its poor playing and fell an easy victim to the St. Louis Browns by a score of 9 to 1. The Boston Red Sox and Detroit were obliged by rain to make it a holiday.

From an intersectional standpoint, the west won five of eight games played, the eastern victories being those won by the three teams of greater New York.

MISSING INDIAN SEEN; WARRANT IS OUT FOR HIM

McVey, whose boat and supplies disappeared on Saturday evening when they were supposed to have been on their way to his camp on Long Island in charge of an India, Louis Morris, this morning received a message relating to the missing articles from Mr. Bonnell, who has a camp at Boar's Head. Mr. Bonnell reported seeing the Indian with the boat which he recognized, on the shore at Boar's Head on Monday night. He says that the Indian got some bread from him and spent the night on the shore at the beach, leaving a package of tarred paper which was identified as part of Dr. McVey's supplies. He was last seen rowing next morning across Grand Bay in the direction of Westfield. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

CLERGYMAN WRITES APOLOGY TO BRIDE OF LIEUTENANT WHO GAVE HIM BEATING

Says He Would Have Stopped Playfully Tickling Her With Grass Stalk if She Had Taken Offense—Kisses of Fatherly Affection Referred to.

(Canadian Press.)

Boston, Mass., July 11.—Rev. George Lyman Paine, executive secretary of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, yesterday sent a letter of apology and explanation to Mrs. Priscilla Redgrave Hague, bride of Lieutenant Westley McLaren Hague, U. S. N., in connection with the incident which culminated Monday in a hand to hand encounter between Lieutenant Hague and Rev. Mr. Paine in the latter's offices.

Lieutenant Hague has said that his anger was aroused when the clergyman admitted kissing his bride and that he went to the clergyman's office with the intention of administering a thrashing.

The letter of apology in part said: "I am gentleman enough to begin by apologizing to you as a lady, humbly and sincerely for having, as it seems, given you any slightest cause for annoyance. That was the last thing in the world that was in my mind. Certainly at the time you took no offense, and I would have stopped playfully tickling you with a grass stalk the moment you asked it.

"I don't think Mr. Hague a man in letting me extend my hand for a friendly hand shake and while saying to him 'I'm glad to see you again,' striking with full force in the face and following it up with further blows while I was dazed and trembling."

In a postscript the clergyman added: "I can't help adding that I think you owe me an apology for acting as you did."

The episode referred to in the letter was alleged to have occurred when the Rev. Mr. Paine took Mrs. Hague for an automobile ride to Belmont and later for a walk.

A statement made by Mrs. Hague last night, in connection with the affair follows:

"When Mr. Paine asked me to go for a ride with him, I had in mind that he both baptized and married me and, even though my mother who was unexpectedly present at the time he called, was not invited, I saw no harm in going with him. If I had not been reluctantly forced to the conclusion that Mr. Paine's motives were not innocent, I would never have written to my husband about the occurrence at all.

"I am proud of my husband and his conduct in the whole affair."

Rev. Mr. Paine, who officiated at the marriage of Lieutenant and Mrs. Hague and who baptized Mrs. Hague, has said that he kissed the girl on both occasions as well as the day of the automobile ride and that in each case it was merely a display of fatherly affection.

Lieutenant Hague said that he had retained counsel in connection with the case. It was also announced that Rev. Mr. Paine would conduct the services at Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church next Sunday.

ELEVEN DIE IN GREAT EXPLOSION

Six Women Among Victims at Alton, Ill.

Five Killed Outright, Six Succumb in Hospital — One was Mother of Ten Children and was on First Day's Work at Factory.

(Canadian Press.)

Alton, Ills., July 11—Eleven persons, six of them women, were killed and twenty-three injured in an explosion late yesterday at the plant of the Western Cartridge Co., at East Alton. Though company officials declined to offer any explanation, it generally is believed that the terrific blast, which rocked buildings within a radius of five miles, may have had its origin in loose powder being jammed in the pockets of a machine used for decapping army shells which had been re-purchased by the firm for salvage purposes. An investigation was started today.

Five victims of the explosion were killed outright, while the other six died at the hospital.

Mrs. Minnie Warren, one of those killed, was the mother of ten children, and had just started to work yesterday.

The explosion occurred in a fireproof building of concrete and steel. Aside from tearing fixtures from their fastenings and wrecking four decapping machines, the explosion did little damage.

According to the survivors, a long flame shot from one of the machines used for removing the powder from the shells and licking the ceiling of the structure, burst into a huge ball-like flare. The next moment a deafening roar was heard.

A guard was placed around the building and rescue work began. Lives of the employes spared from the explosion were endangered by the constant bursting of shells discharged by the fire that followed the detonation. Outside at a distance stood anxious men and women, many of whom had hurried to the plant in automobiles to ascertain whether their kin had been injured or killed.

Trades and Labor Council Asks That Troops be Recalled

WOULD HAVE SPECIAL SESSION OF PARLIAMENT IF NECESSARY

Letter Sent to Premier King—Livingstone and McLachlan Freed on Habeas Corpus—Maintenance Worker at One of Cape Breton Mines Given Beating.

(Canadian Press.)

Ottawa, Ont., July 11—Immediate recall of troops from the Cape Breton strike area, and if necessary the calling of a special session of the Dominion Parliament to deal with the matter is asked in a letter sent by the executive council of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to Premier Mackenzie King, under yesterday's date. A copy of the letter was sent to Hon. James Murdoch, Minister of Labor.

The letter asks that a royal commission be immediately appointed, "with the widest possible powers, to fully investigate every circumstance or condition in any way connected with or leading up to the calaling out of, and the presence in Cape Breton, at this time of military forces."

Representation of the workers is asked by the commission. The letter is signed by Tom Moore and P. M. Draper, president and secretary of the Trades Congress.

Halifax, N. S., July 11—Dan Livingstone, district president, and J. B. McLachlan, district secretary of the U. M. W. of America, two strike leaders arrested at Glace Bay last week on a charge of spreading false information, were today released on bail by Mr. Justice Chisholm on habeas corpus proceedings. Bail was fixed in $2,000 each and two sureties of $2,000 each, the men to re-appear on Tuesday morning of next week, when the matter will be further argued before the full bench. The Attorney General gave an understanding that the men would not be arrested during this proceedure.

This means that the preliminary hearing scheduled for tomorrow must be adjourned until a decision is reached by the full bench of the Supreme Court. C. S. Harrington, K. C., of Sydney, today joined himself with the defence. The two sureties accepted by court were Dr. A. C. Hawkins and Charles McIvor, both of Halifax.

Worker is Beaten.

Sydney, N. S., July 11—John MacPherson, one of the maintenance workers at No. 1 colliery, Dominion, was beaten by strike pickets there early this morning. He was on his way to work when he was assailed and given a rough handling. No other clash with pickets has been reported.

The total number of men now at work in the Sydney steel plant is about 1,300, a slight gain during the last twenty-four hours. About 350 more men were added to the general total of strikers in Cape Breton, when, at the order of U. M. W. officials, four of the small independent mines operating in North Cape Breton were closed down last night. The mines affected are the Toronto, Last Chance and Beaver Hat, operated by the Bras D'Or Coal Company, and the Barrington, operated by John Barrington of Sydney Mines. Up to the present time these small pits had worked steadily with the consent of the union officials. The reason for calling out the men has not been stated.

Corporation Statement.

Sydney, N. S., July 11.—The British Empire Steel Corporation issued the following statement last night:

"American coal can be delivered at Montreal much more cheaply than Acadia coal can be sent by water, and it is the intention of the corporation to protect its commitments by buying American coal to apply on contracts. Water shipments will therefore have to be discontinued from Pictou Landing, and other disposition made of the vessels now chartered for the Pictou Landing-Montreal trade unless speedy resumption of work takes place at the Acadia collieries. It is regrettable that this promising trade should cease so early in the attempt at its revival, and the strike, if continued, will result in short time operations when the men finally return to work.

"In any case, however, the corporation announces its intention to protect its sales."

(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

Sydney, N. S., July 11.—Chief interest in the strike situation centered today in a meeting of the executive of the mine workers at Glace Bay to consider a request by International President John L. Lewis that they return to work, and in the possibility of the coal company making an effort to move coal from the 165,000 ton pile at No. 2 mine Glace Bay. This pile is heated in places.

A company official said yesterday that the matter of moving coal from No. 2 to Sydney only awaited the organization of a working party, including cranemen and enginemen. There is considerable agitation among the miners concerning the possibility of an attempt to move part of this coal and such an attempt is being looked forward to with interest. There are fifteen miles of track from Glace Bay to Sydney, over the Sydney and Louisburg Railway, and it is regarded as possible that there will be picketing of the line. It is considered probable that coal trains, should there be any, will carry military guard.

Warrants For Many Arrests.

A large number of warrants have been sworn out for the arrest on charges of "unlawful assembly" of men said to have been concerned in the disturbances at the commencement of the steel strike. George Adams and William Rose have been arrested, the latter as he was on his way to take a train for St. John. Other arrests are expected today. Provincial police patrols reported to Colonel Eric MacDonald this morning that all was quiet in the strike areas during the night.

New York, July 11—U. S. ships are being given preference in transportation of mails to Europe, it was announced by John J. Kelly, assistant postmaster of New York. He said instructions from Washington were that mails should be delayed as much as twenty-four hours, whenever, by so doing it is possible to send them on U. S. ships.

"What we are doing," Mr. Kelly said, "is no more than any other government does for its ships. We have to give the flag some consideration."

It was said that mails addressed by certain ships are never held.

When the Leviathan sailed on last Wednesday, she carried 7,479 sacks of mail, much of it held over from the previous Sunday. The British liner Aquitania, which sailed a day ahead of the Leviathan, carried only 107 sacks, all specifically routed by the Aquitania.

Mr. Copp said that a start would be made soon on the continuation of the Negro Point breakwater. The Minister of Public Works, Hon. Dr. J. H. King, was at present in the west. The last session had been a pretty long one and there was a general feeling of relief among the members when prorogation came.

Asked regarding the vacancy in the senate caused by the death of Senator Thorne, Hon. Mr. Copp said that the filling of vacancies usually depended upon the time they occurred. If early in the session steps generally were taken to fill the place during the session. If the vacancy occurred between sessions there was really no object in filling it hastily.

Senator Thorne's death had created the only vacancy in New Brunswick.

Referring to the visit here of the Governor-General, Lord Byng of Vimy, Hon. Mr. Copp said His Excellency, by his democratic address and friendly spirit, had endeared himself to the people all over Canada. Just subsequently to the visit of the vice-regal party to the west last year he himself had been over the same ground and on every hand he had heard words of praise and admiration for His Excellency and Lady Byng.

Toward the latter part of the session the weather had been very hot in Ottawa with considerable humidity at times. The duties of his office required his presence in a considerable part of the time even when the House was not in session and he expected to have some traveling back and forth to do.

Hon. Mr. Copp made feeling reference to the death of Senator Thorne and said he had learned with surprise of his death as the last time he had seen him, which was not very long ago, he had seemed his usual hale and hearty self.

In addition to Hon. Mr. Copp other members of the Houses at Ottawa in the city for the funeral were Senator F. B. Black, of Sackville, Senator J. A. McDonald and Senator A. H. Macdonnell of Toronto.
