Poetry.

WAITING FOR THE MAY.

Ah! my heart is weary waiting,
Waiting for the May—
Waiting for the pleasant rambles,
Where the fragrant hawthorn-brambles,
With the woodbine alternating,
Scent the dewy way.
Ah! my heart is weary waiting,
Waiting for the May.

Ah! my heart is sick with longing,
Longing for the May—
Longing to escape from study
To the fair young face and ruddy,
And the thousand charms belonging
To the summer's day.
Ah! my heart is sick with longing,
Longing for the May.

Ah! my heart is pained with throbbing,
Throbbing for the May—
Throbbing for the seaside billows,
Or the water-waving willows,
Where in laughing and in sobbing
Glide the streams away.
Ah! my heart is pained with throbbing,
Throbbing for the May.

Waiting sad, dejected, weary,
Waiting for the May—
Spring goes by with wasted warnings—
Morning's evenings, sunlight's mornings—
Summer comes, yet dark and dreary
Life still ebbs away—
Man is ever weary, weary,
Waiting for the May!

THE PROTESTANT ANTHEM.

Air—"God Save the Queen"

God bless our glorious cause,
Save us from ancient laws
That made us free!
Let not the sword and blood,
That time-old saints withstood,
For true religion's good,
Forgotten be!

Rouse thou the minds of all,
Bound fast in Papal thrall,
Teach them to see
That from their lowliness,
That, from their soul's distress,
None, Lord, can them release,
Save only Thee!

Send them Thy Holy Word,—
Thine own soul-piercing sword,
Shining and bright!
Urge them to flee from Rome—
Babylon's lorid dome—
Noisome and deadly home—
Pestilent sight!

Lord, in Thy might arise,—
"Scatter our enemies"—
Teach us to stand,
As our forefathers stood
Dauntless, o'er field and flood,
Ever achieving good—
Lord, bless our land!

VARIETY.

WOULD'NT MARRY A MECHANIC.—A young man commenced visiting a young woman, and appeared to be well pleased. One evening he called when it was quite late, which led the girl to inquire where he had been. "I had to work to night," he replied. "Do you work for a living?" inquired the astonished girl. "Certainly," replied the young man, "I am a mechanic." "My brother doesn't work, and I dislike the name of a mechanic,' and she turned up her pretty nose That was the last time his mechanic visited the young woman. He is now a wealthy man, and has one of the best women for his wife. The young lady who disliked the name of a mechanic is now the wife of a miserable vagrant, who haunts the low gin shops, and she, poor and miserable woman, is obliged to take in washing in order to support herself and children? Young women, beware how you treat young men who work for an honest living. Far better discard the idle drone with all his rings, jewelery, brazenness and pomposity, and take to your affections the hard-handed, intelligent, industrious, and pious mechanic. Thousands have bitterly regretted their folly who have turned their backs on honest industry. Years of experience having taught them a sad lesson.

AGRICULTURE.

POTATOES FOR SEED. It is the custom among many farmers to plant the small potatoes for seed. Some think they yield better than large ones, but from experiments which we have seen recorded the actual yield, in bushels, is no larger (and, in some cases, it is less) than when large potatoes are used, but the grain in number is extraordinary. In other words they turn out 'small potatoes,' in every sense of the word. A correspondent of the Germantown Telegraph, suggests that the use of small potatoes for seed is one of the causes of the deterioration of the crop, and adds the following sensible remark:—

"I have been engaged in agriculture for about twenty four years and have during that time, in common with my neighbours, planted small potatoes I believe it is and has been the common practice to save the small potatoes expressly for seed. Now this is totally unlike all other seeds that we make use of No one would think for a moment of shelling his rubbish ears of corn for seed but would on the contrary select the largest finest; in sowing wheat we select that which is the most plump and heavy, and so with all other kinds of seed.

I this year shall select the largest and most solid potatoes I can find for seed, without however, expecting much change the first year, nor perhaps the second, nor even the third year, but if this plan be generally adopted, I think it must prove beneficial eventually."

We wish that some of our readers would make a fair trial of the two kinds of seed, large and small and give us the result next fall, and give us the result next fall. It would be but little trouble to them, and valuable results might be obtained.—The facts to be stated are, the time of planting and harvesting, kind and quantity of manure, description of soil, manner of cultivation and amount and quality of crop. For a fair experiment, the treatment of each kind of seed should be near alike as possible. It would be well, also, to note the difference in yield between the whole and cut seed. —Maine Farmer.

FACTS FOR MARRIED PEOPLE.—The last word is the most dangerous of infernal machines. Husbands should no more fight to get it than they would struggle for the possession of a lighted bomb shell. Married people should study each other's weak points as skaters look out for weak parts of the ice, in order to keep off them. Ladies who marry for love should remember that the union of angels with woman has been forbidden since the flood. The wife is the sun of the social system.—Unless she attract, there is nothing to keep heavenly bodies, like husbands, from flying off into space. The wife—who should properly discharge her duties—must never have a soul above trifles. Don't trust too much to a good temper when you get into an argument.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR SOLES.—It consists merely in melting together tallow and common resin, in the proportion of two parts of the former to that of the former to one of the latter, and apply the preparation reeking hot to the soles of the boots or shoes—as much of it as the leather will absorb. One substantial farmer declares that this little receipe alone has been worth to him more than the price of five years subscription to the newspaper publishing it.

SWEARY.—When you hear a man insisting upon points of etiquette and fashion—wondering for instance, how people can eat with steel forks and survive it, or what charms existence has for persons who dine at three without soup and fish, be sure that that individual is a snob.—How to Remain.

The Subscriber having been appointed Agent to the above Company for New-Brunswick, begs to announce that he is prepared to receive Proposals for FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE The large Capital of the Company, and the number and influence of its Proprietors, enable it to rank with the most eligible Offices, either in America or Europe, with respect to the advantages offered to the Public

FIRE BRANCH.

Persons Assured by this Company are not subject to any covenants or calls to make good losses which may happen to themselves or others, nor do they depend on any uncertain fund or contribution, the Capital Stock of this Company being an unquestionable security to the Assured in case of Loss or Damage by Fire.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of insurance, the Company likewise Assures Lives on any of the following contingencies:—

For the terms of One Year, Seven Years, or any other definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life—The Premiums to cease, after a limited number of Annual Payments.

For Two Joint Lives.—The sum assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the longest of Two or Three Lives.—The sum assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor; or,

The Survivorships.—To secure the payment of the sum assured, if a life A die before another life B.

For a sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Exemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership

Moderate Premiums.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured amounting to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance:—1st. By the immediate payment of the sum so apportioned.—2nd. By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.

Policies lapsed by non-payment of the Premium may be renewed within three months, by paying the premium, with a fine of 10s per cent., on the production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Directors of the good health of the life assured.

The Company will always be prepared to Purchase the Policies of this Office at their equitable value or will grant a New Policy in lieu thereof without any further payment of Premium, for a sum to be agreed on.

Extra Premiums, suitable to special circumstances, will be accepted to enable a party possessing a Policy on the life of another to guard against the possibility of its being vitiated by the Life departing beyond limits, or by any other cause.

Thirty Days are allowed for the Payment of Premiums after the day on which they respectively
