MADE A FATAL PRECEDENT

Aberdeen's Action Brings Up Bitter Criticism.

Senate Reading Room

HOW LIBERALS GOT BEHIND THE RULES

With the Object of Preventing Free and Full Discussion.

Sir Charles Tupper Called to Order by the Speaker When He Attempted Any Pointed Reference to the Governor-General, Whose Acts, According to Procedure, are Beyond Reproach—A Secret Informant Spoken of—Premier Laurier Accuses the Judges of Canada of Having Political Bias—The Government Assumes Full Responsibility for the Position Taken by His Excellency—Therefore No Vote in the House Would Have Availed and the Matter is Dropped Pro Tem.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Hon. John Costigan entered the House for the first time this session, and was given a rousing cheer. He looks in fine trim after his trip to England. Two or three minutes later Hon. Edward Blake was ushered in and given a seat of honor to the right of Mr. Speaker. Brother George Casey, forgetful of the fact that Mr. Blake was no longer his leader, attempted a cheer, but signally failed.

MANY REPLIES.

Mr. Paterson, answering Mr. Charlton, said the total amount of duties collected upon the import of ales, beer, wines and spirituous liquors for the past fiscal year was $2,241,000. Of this amount spirituous liquors contributed $1,942,724.

Mr. Maclean was informed by Mr. Fisher that only one application had been received for the position of agriculturist in connection with the Experimental Farm, viz., that of Thomas Henderson of Ottawa. No appointment has been made.

Mr. Foster ascertained from Mr. Fisher that the total cost of the buildings on the Experimental Farm at Ottawa was $176,012.

Dr. Sproule was informed by Mr. Fisher that an exhibit of hogs was sent from the Experimental Farm to the fair at Three Rivers, the cost of transportation being borne by the Government.

ALEXANDRIA REFORMATORY.

Mr. Tarte informed Major McLennan that the contract for the Reformatory at Alexandria was entered into with Mr. Bourque on the 7th March, 1896, for the sum of $95,000. Only one progress estimate for $2490 had been paid. The work was progressing and the contractor has not signified his intention of not fulfilling his contract. Mr. Adams, Clerk of Works, had been dismissed on account of the slow progress of the work not requiring a clerk.

Mr. Davies informed Mr. Lemieux that Mr. Angers authorized Commander Wakeham to carry the Conservative candidate on the Government steamer to the Magdalen Islands during the recent election.

TWENTY YEARS YET.

Mr. Bergeron learned from Mr. Blair that the estimated cost of the Soulanges Canal was $4,750,000. The total amount expended up to Sept. 18 was $2,279,977. At the present rate of progress it would take in the neighborhood of 20 years to complete the work. (Laughter.)

Mr. McDougall was told by Mr. Davies that some delay had occurred in the settlement of the claims of the owners of the schooners Willie McGowan and Ariel, seized by Russian authorities some years ago. This delay had arisen owing to necessity for detailed explanation by law officers of the Crown. Her Majesty's Government had expressed the hope that no further delay would take place. This information had been communicated to the parties interested last May.

Sir A. P. Caron was informed by Mr. Davies that no charge of any kind had been preferred against Commander Wakeham, and the question of his removal had not been considered.

Mr. McAllister was told by Mr. Blair that it was not the intention to ask Parliament to vote any railway subsidies this session.

WANT THEIR PAY.

Mr. McNeill asked the Finance Minister how soon he expected to be in a position to pay employes of the Government Printing Bureau. It was a great hardship to these men to be deprived of their wages. Mr. Fielding said he hoped to have a supply bill through by to-morrow night. It would be quicker to do that than to take a special vote.

AFTER THE GLOBE.

Mr. Davin called attention to a matter that concerned the dignity of the House. In The Toronto Globe of Saturday there appeared an editorial headed "The Salary Grab," which sought to place on the Opposition the responsibility for the House sitting over 30 days. He did not know how it would be possible to use language strong enough to characterize the injustice to that article. He proceeded to show from the public records that members on the Ministerial side were more responsible for prolonging the sitting of the House than the Opposition, pointing out how on many occasions the chief criticism of it was in supply and came from the Government benches. Take, for instance, that of the High Commissioner's office. Swash-bucklers, like Mr. Lister, had opened out on that appropriation, but had been compelled to eat the leek before the day was out.

IN SUPPLY AGAIN.

The House went into committee of supply on the Customs appropriation amounting to $314,100. Objection was taken by the Opposition to voting the amount in bulk, and the Government consented to abide by the details of the appropriations as contained in the appendix to the estimates.

Mr. Clancy asked if the position of Collector of Customs at Wallaceburg had been filled and Mr. Wallace asked about the collector at Berlin.

Mr. Paterson understood that they had. He did not know if the officers had been notified of their appointments. This reply led to a discussion regarding appointments sanctioned by His Excellency before the late Government went out.

Mr. Laurier said that Lord Aberdeen had approved of all the appointments except those which came within these categories: First, new offices; second, those vacant over 12 months; third, vacancies caused by superannuation. Many officers appointed had probably not been notified owing to the large number of orders which had gone through and the vast amount of work thereby thrown on the Privy Council office.

ABERDEEN'S ACTION.

By consent of both sides, after dinner Sir Charles Tupper rose to call attention to the circumstances under which the resignation of the late administration took place. He began by remarking on the advantage possessed by the British and Canadian constitution as compared with that of the United States, that the head of the nation was entirely free from and above party associations. "I take it for granted," he said, "that the gentlemen who form the present Government of Canada are necessarily responsible for every act that the Governor-General has committed. (Mr. Laurier: Hear, hear.) Therefore, that will relieve me at once from the disagreable necessity of saying a single word in disparagement of His Excellency, because the First Minister and his colleagues on assuming office were necessarily and naturally obliged to assume all the responsibility for every act of His Excellency from the time of the crisis which ensued upon the general election."

NOTHING PERSONAL.

Having read extracts from Todd and from speeches of Sir John Macdonald and Mr. Alexander Mackenzie in support of this position, Sir Charles remarked that this left him free to make animadversions upon what he regarded as a departure from the constitutional principles which govern this country, without in the least degree assailing the person who represents the sovereign in this country. It was not a matter between the late Government and His Excellency, but between them and the present administration, who had accepted full responsibility and were here to answer any criticism that might be offered in regard to the conduct of the Government. Sir Charles then briefly reviewed the facts from his acceptance of office under Sir Mackenzie Bowell to the general election, and described the course taken by Lord Aberdeen as "A grave and most important departure from constitutional usage in England and Canada." From the moment of receipt of the memorandum of July 4 from His Excellency, the Government made no recommendations whatever, because they were forced to the conclusion that they did not possess the confidence of His Excellency, and felt that to offer any advice whatever would be derogatory to themselves and injurious to the public service.

ONE SENTENCE.

Sir Charles drew particular attention to the following sentence in Lord Aberdeen's memorandum: "After taking every means in my power to inform myself, it is impossible for me to ignore the probability that in the event of your deciding to meet Parliament the present administration will fail to secure the support of the House of Commons." Upon this Sir Charles commented thus: "There are no means which His Excellency, without violating the constitution of this country, could take to inform himself of the position in which the Government stood. I take the ground that under our system of parliamentary government, the Governor-General, no more than Her Majesty, can take no means of informing himself except by his constitutional advisers and the voice of Parliament." The leader of the Opposition then read from a large number of English authorities, from Alexander Mackenzie's letter in 1873 and from The Globe newspaper of the same date, to show that precedent fully justified a Ministry defeated at the polls in performing the ordinary duties of administration and meeting Parliament. This might have been the better course. In that case a vote of credit might have been asked for from Parliament, and the Conservatives would have offered no opposition to its being granted, even before the formation of a new Government.

TWO POSITIONS.

Sir Charles then drew attention to the statement by His Excellency that "the business to be transacted by Parliament (the granting of supplies), though foreseen and not in character exceptional, is urgent," and contrasted this with the subsequent position assumed by the present Government that the purposes for which money was obtained by Governor-General's warrants were unforeseen and exceptional. He did not in the least wish to criticize His Excellency for signing the warrants presented to him, but he wanted to know how the present administration reconciled these two positions, for which they were equally responsible. Lord Aberdeen's statement that the Government of Sir Mackenzie Bowell had failed in its legislation was challenged by Sir Charles as misleading, unless accompanied by an explanation of the circumstances, and in giving this explanation the leader of the Opposition vigorously condemned the unpatriotic course taken by the Liberal obstructionists in the last Parliament.

ABERDEEN PARTISAN.

He denied Lord Aberdeen's state-

A GLOBE BUBBLE PRICKED

And it Was Sir Oliver Mowat Who Pricked it.

NO SETTLEMENT REACHED

The Manitoba School Question Remains the Same as Before.

Conservatives Not Troubled About the Mission of Abbe Proulx to the Vatican—Nipissing Catholics Want a New Diocese With Abbe Proulx as the First Bishop—Mr. Oliver Gives Notice in Regard to C. P. R. Lands—Ottawa Fair Opened by the Premier—Young Kearney's Life Spared.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Sir Oliver Mowat to-day very deftly pricked The Globe's bubble about the settlement of the Manitoba school question. This story has been industriously circulated for several days past, and in some quarters has obtained credence; but, as shown yesterday, there is a good deal of the improbable in the story, and Sir Oliver to-day conclusively showed that such was the case. In the Senate this afternoon Sir Mackenzie Bowell called attention to a statement in The Toronto Globe of Saturday announcing that the school question was practically settled. He asked the Minister of Justice what truth there was in the report, which he supposed had been made by The Globe on authority. Any definite information which could be given would, he was sure, be welcomed by the country.

Sir Oliver Mowat replied: I may say that the paragraph to which the hon. gentleman refers is not a paragraph with which the Government has had anything to do. With regard to the condition of the Manitoba school matter, it is in precisely the same condition in which it was when it was last spoken of in this House.

ABBE PROULX'S MISSION.

Conservatives say they can afford to laugh at the report that Abbe Proulx has gone to Rome for the purpose of making a formal complaint against those bishops who took an active part in the last general elections. It is pointed out that in the bye-election in Charlevoix last year, when the school question was the chief issue, Mgr. Lafleche, bishop of the diocese, had the formal assent of his ecclesiastical superiors to do all that he could to secure the return of the candidate pledged to aid in the restoration of Catholic schools to Manitoba. In like manner, Bishop Legin also secured the necessary commission to exert his influence. The Quebec Conservatives have, therefore, no fear as to what the Congregation of the Propaganda at Rome may do on Abbe Proulx's representations. The Prefect of the Congregation is Cardinal Ledochowski, a Pole by birth, who has undergone imprisonment in his own country in the past in defence of the principle of Catholic schools. Under these circumstances, the friends of the Quebec church say they can well afford to treat with disdain any representations that Mr. Laurier's emissary may make to the Vatican.

WANT A NEW DIOCESE.

Judge Valin of Nipissing left for Rome to-day, bearing with him, it is said, a petition very numerously signed, asking for the creation of a new Roman Catholic diocese, embracing most of the Nipissing District. The petition requests that Abbe Proulx be named first bishop of the new diocese.

C.P.R. LANDS.

Mr. Oliver gives notice of a lengthy resolution, setting forth the present position of the C.P.R. land grant. He says that of the land granted to the company, viz., 18,206,986 acres, only 1,259,717 acres up to the end of August, 1896, have been patented. This is 15½ years after the passage of the act authorizing exemption from taxation for 20 years on the lands granted from the Crown, that 20 years' exemption has not yet commenced to run on 12,683,152 acres already selected by the company, and, therefore, exemption on these lands has been extended 15½ years beyond the term originally intended by Parliament by the failure of the Government to issue patents. He claims that settlers of Manitoba and the Territories have been subjected to conspiracy to defraud them of the municipal and other taxes which the C.P.R. should pay on its lands, and wants the House to declare that the Government must forthwith patent all land to which the company has become entitled, so that the 20 years' exemption from taxation shall be no further extended.

CENTRAL CANADA FAIR.

The formal opening of the Central Canada Fair took place to-day. The weather was very pleasant, and large crowds assembled in the grounds this afternoon and evening. Mr. Laurier opened the fair, but refrained from making a speech. After making a tour of the grounds in company with the president, William Hutchison, M.P., the Premier was conducted to the grand stand, and declared the exhibition open. Their Excellencies visited the fair later in the afternoon.

KEARNEY'S LIFE SPARED.

John Kearney, the Lindsay boy, who was lying under sentence of death, has had his sentence commuted to imprisonment for life, on the ground that he has no moral understanding. The execution was to have taken place Oct. 1.

NOTES.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has received many replies to the circular sent out some time ago for information regarding the business affairs of the country.

From this time out the Canadian canals will be open on Sundays until the end of the season of navigation.

FENIAN TYNAN'S FEARS.

He Appealed to Mr. Eustis and the United States Government—To Hand Him to Britain Would Mean Death.

Paris, Sept. 21.—The fact that Patrick J. Tynan, the alleged dynamite conspirator, had appealed to Mr. Eustis, the American Ambassador to France, and to President Cleveland, demanding protection asan American citizen, was announced in the despatches of the United Associated Presses on Tuesday last, but at that time the contents of his letter were not known. It is now learned that in his letter to Mr. Eustis Tynan informs him of the fact of his arrival in the United States in March, 1883, and his naturalization in 1888. He gives his place of residence as New York, enumerates the members of his family and refers to Judge Fitzgerald, Recorder Goff and Judge Roger A. Pryor as his friends. He adds that he left New York with the object of making a Europtan trip, but that as he was being shadowed by English detectives he traveled under an assumed name. In the course of his travels he went to Italy, Belgium and France. It was his intention to return to New York on Sept. 20th.

Tynan pledges his honor that he has not taken part in any political affair in France and that he has done nothing beyond the ordinary sightseeing of a tourist. He appeals to Mr. Eustis to use his influence to prevent his surrender to the British authorities, for, he says, to hand him over to the British Government would certainly mean death. He recalls the help given by Irishmen to France at Fonttnoy. In conclusion he states that if Mr. Eustis will graciously urge his request for release upon the French Government, and if France will kindly permit him to depart for his home, both will receive tht thanks of millions of Irish throughout the globe.

The letter is dated Sept. 15, but Mr. Eustis did not receive it until to-day. He immediately notified the French Government of its receipt and informed it that Tynan was a citizen of the United States.

MR. BLAIR'S SUICIDAL POLICY.

MR. J. ROSS ROBERTSON, M.P.: Excuse me, Mr. Blair, but you seem to have lost your own head in this matter.

PREMIER PETERS GETS A JOB.

All the Liberal Premiers of the Provinces Save One Are Now in the Employ of the Ottawa Government.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—The Government have appointed Premier Peters of Prince Edward Island, and Mr. Bieque, Q.C., of Montreal, as Dominion counsel in connection with the Behring Sea Claims Commission, which meets in Victoria shortly. Sir Oliver Mowat confirmed the news today.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said he had heard it stated that Premier Peters of Prince Edward Island had been appointed counsel, and he was pleased to have the information, as it enabled him to congratulate his friend from British Columbia, Senator McInnes, upon being one st ep nearer the foot of the throne, as one of the remaining Liberal Provincial Premiers had been provided for. He asked Sir Oliver whether the remaining Liberal Premier had yet been provided for. This question evoked some laughter. Sir Oliver replied in the negative.

Mr W. Wainwright, Assistant General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, was offered and refused to accept the position of General Manager of Government railways in Canada.

FROM NIAGARA FALLS.

Two Men Wanted at Belleville Arrested by Chief Young—Fight Over a Child—Brutal Assault.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Young and Officer Malns this morning arrested Carter Rodgers and John P. McLellan, two young men who have been in the vicinity for several days selling a patent kitchen utensil. The arrest was made from the description of a circular letter from the Chief at Belleville, where the prisoners are charged with conspiring to defraud one Johnson. A Belleville officer is expected to-night to take them in charge.

Henry Eddy, who was arrested at Cobourg last week on a charge of obtaining a team of horses and other goods under false pretences in 1892, and brought to this place by Officer Malns, appeared before Magistrate Logan to-day. The case was withdrawn and Eddy was liberated.

There was an exciting fight over a child on the Upper Suspension bridge on Saturday. An Italian woman ran away from Syracuse with a lover, taking her child with her. Her husband traced her to this place, and succeeded through the authorities in obtaining possession of the coveted child. While going across the bridge on his way home he met his departed spouse, and a running fight over the bridge and up to Falls-street, on the American side, was the result. All three are now in jail.

A strange case of assault just came to light this morning. On Friday evening Mrs. Ryder, a resident of this place, was going over the bridge across the G.T.R. track, Victoria-avenue, when two men suddenly sprang upon her and struck her a heavy blow on the head, driving a hat pin one and a half inches into her skull. The woman was found unconscious soon after and taken to the doctor. She is now improving. The police have made four arrests on suspicion, but nothing further has developed.

A FATAL SPOT FOR HIM.

Drunk, Faulkner Lost an Arm Twenty Years Ago, and Drunk He Has a Foot Cut Off Near the Same Place Now.

Elizabeth, N.J., Sept. 21.—Twenty years ago Richard Faulkner, then a prosperous man of fifty, began to drink, and on one of his sprees he was run over by an engine and lost his left arm. Friday night he, under the same circumstances, lost his right foot, a drill engine running over it within twenty feet of the spot where he lost his arm.

Faulkner is an old man of 70 now, and in consequence of his besetting sin is an inmate of the almshouse. He was rolled over and over by the drill engine, is at the General Hospital and will probably die. Gangrene has developed as the result of the inflammation caused by the amputation. The old man has a son and a daughter living here.

A SNAKE CHASED HIM.

Belleville Man Tried to Kill a Big Reptile by Stepping on It.

Belleville, N.J., Sept. 21.—William Hamlin of Main-street, while walking through Jeroloman-street yesterday, encountered a big blacksnake, which later was found to measure 6 feet 4 inches in length. The reptile was lying in the roadway, and upon the approach of Mr. Hamlin sought to escape by making for a stream of water. Mr. Hamlin pursued the snake, but made a mistake in trying to kill it with his foot. The snake turned upon him and pursued him for about 50 yards, when Mr. Hamlin made a close picket on the fence and succeeded in despatching the reptile. Mr. Hamlin had difficulty in preventing the snake encircling his legs. The snake was the largest of its kind ever killed in the township.

CLUBS CHARTER 20 CARS.

Mayor Fleming Asks That the Streets be Kept Clear.

Treasurer Patterson Reports That the $1000 Purse is Almost All Subscribed—Highlanders' Band Will Cross on the Corona With a Big Delegation That is Expected to Include Many Ladies.

His Worship the Mayor, president, being unable to attend, Mr. H. S. Piper presided at the final meeting of the Gaudaur Reception Committee in the Queen's Hotel last night. Mr. R. L. Patterson, the treasurer, reported, on behalf of the Finance Committee, that upwards of eight hundred dollars had been subscribed towards the testimonial fund, of which $750 had been paid in. Other committees reported that all the necessary arrangements had been made for the success of the reception, which promised to excel any other ever made in the country. Applications had been received for twenty cars, the last being from the Caledonian Society, who would have the pipers of the 48th Highlanders on board. On motion, it was resolved to request the champion to embark at Lewiston instead of Queenston on the arrival of the Corona there. A question was asked as to stopping the cars at certain points to take on passengers, and after discussion it was decided no stop should be made. All intending, therefore, to ride on the cars will have to meet them on the line at the foot of Church-street. On account of the change in route made on Saturday night bicyclists are requested to rendezvous between Church and Scott-streets at 8 o'clock sharp, when the marshals, Messrs. George H. Orr and Fred Bryers, will direct them to their positions.

Secretary World, on behalf of the Music Committee, reported that it was impossible for the Queen's Own Band to go by the boat at 2 o'clock to Lewiston. It was therefore resolved to engage the band of the 48th Highlanders, who will therefore be on the Corona, which leaves the Yonge-street dock at 2 o'clock. The fare is only 75c for the round trip, and as a third of that amount will go to the testimonial fund it is hoped that everybody who can will make the trip across, if not only being positively the last trip of the season, but one that, what with the music and the fireworks, will be one of the most enjoyable ever made. Ladies will be as welcome as gentlemen. In fact, the trip by the Corona will afford families a splendid opportunity to take part in the reception comfortably and with pleasure. Supper will be provided at fifty cents a head and tickets will be good to go either at 7 a.m. or 2 p.m.

The route of the parade, which starts at 8.30, will be: Front and Market to York, to King, to Sherbourne, to Bloor, to Spadina, to King, to Yonge, to College, to Pavilion in the Queen's Park.

The Mayor states that the success of the parade of electric cars and bicycles will depend largely upon the streets through which it passes being kept clear from curb to curb and free from vehicles. He hopes that the citizens will turn out in large numbers to honor the champion, and at the same time do all in their power to keep the route of the procession clear.

One of the last subscriptions received was that of $10 from Sir Charles Tupper.

It is to be hoped that the speakers tonight will get hold of the champion's name correctly. Half a dozen pronunciations are daily heard for Gaudaur, when there is only a single correct one, simply two monosyllables combined, "Good-on."
