Mowat and His Fee System.

While there may be some diversity of opinion among the witnesses who have been examined before the Fee Commission as to the appointment of sheriffs and registrars by the county councils, there is very little as to the way such officials should be paid. Payment of salaries by fees has been condemned by most of the witnesses who have given evidence. Interested witnesses like Registrar Lindsay of course uphold the principle of payment by fees, but the business men who have been examined generally condemn the system. And why shouldn't they? The same ability that is necessary in an office yielding $1500 salary a year could equally well look after one of the offices that yields three or four times that amount. All the money over and above a certain minimum sum, say $1500 or $2000 a year, that is paid the registrars, sheriffs, etc., is money shamefully wasted. If a man is competent to look after the registry office in Halton he is competent to look after the same office in Wentworth. There is no economic reason why such differences should exist between the salaries of our different fee-paid officials. Everyone knows that the system is maintained because of the fat sinecures it affords the party Peter Ryans. When the two registrars of Toronto got $17,000 in 1891, does anyone believe they earned that money? Does anyone believe the sheriff of Toronto honestly earns $8805 a year? Every one knows that the system is a fraud, but Sir Oliver Mowat will not break it up. No, not he. While Sir Oliver has tried to hoodwink the people by issuing a traveling commission, the Opposition has already made a definite statement of its intention in regard to the fee system. Here is a copy of a resolution moved by the Opposition in 1891:

That in the opinion of this House the system of paying provincial officers by fees is objectionable in principle, and the law ought to be so amended as to provide for the remuneration of sheriffs, registrars of deeds, clerks of the peace and county attorneys by salaries, instead of by fees, and a like change should be made in the mode of remunerating all other provincial officers now paid by fees, to whom the same could be satisfactorily applied.

There is no doubt as to the policy of Mr. Meredith on this very important question. While Sir Oliver is at present hiding behind the commission it should be remembered that his party voted down the above resolution proposed in 1891. Even if Sir Oliver felt that the straight salary system is the only fair one yet he is so surrounded by office-holders and heelers that he would find it next to impossible to change the system. Mr. Meredith has a free hand, and he alone has the power to enforce the will of the people. Mowat's hands are tied. He is not his own master. The Peter Ryans must be reckoned with before a change can be made.

The following shows the net amounts received in 1891 by certain surrogate registrars, most of whom throughout the province are also County Court clerks, and in some instances also deputy clerks of the crown:

Carleton Co., J. P. Featherstone	$2768 91
Elgin Co., D. McLaws	2248 03
Grey Co., George Inglis	2260 60
Hastings Co., A. G. Northrup	2402 07
Huron Co., D. McDonald	2311 65
Leeds and Grenville, S. Reynolds	2763 41
Middlesex Co., John Macbeth	3574 65
Northumberland and Durham, John Fisher	2615 85
Oxford Co., James Canfield	2835 [illegible]
Perth Co., James McFadden	2387 94
Simcoe Co., J. McL. Stevenson	2944 56
Wentworth Co., S. H. Ghent	3472 12
York Co., J. G. Brown (surrogate registrar)	4041 19
York Co., Hon. A. M. Ross (County Court clerk)	4124 55
York Co., T. H. Bull (clerk of peace)	2369 46

The system is rotten to the core. The men who do the real work get little more than starvation wages, while the officials themselves draw large incomes and do but little, if any, work. If the present tariff of fees is to remain who should get the surplus after fairly remunerating the men who do the work? There can be but one answer—the counties where the work is done.

Give the People Air and Freedom.

In response to an invitation by the churchwardens of one of Toronto's suburban churches some fifty young men attended the morning service last Sunday. They came from all over the city on their wheels and appeared in church in bicycle costume. The bicycle is a mechanical means for getting about faster than is possible by walking. It was a rapid and easy means of locomotion that enabled these young men to come together last Sunday and hear the words of the preacher. In objecting to the introduction of street cars on Sunday the opponents of the change did so because they, no doubt, thought the cars would have a tendency to keep people away from the churches. We believe this assumption is a false one and would not be borne out by experience. If the ministers would have their churches well attended let them make the going to church as easy and pleasant for the people as possible. Let them make their churches attractive with music, flowers, and especially let them have brains in the pulpit. Surely the people are not so bad that such an innocent convenience as the street cars must be denied them for fear they will play truant from church. Under present conditions the greatest possible church attendance is not secured. The people are tied up to the half dozen churches in their own immediate neighborhood. Let the cars run on Sunday and the individual will have such a bill of fare offered him that he will be sure to find something to his relish. The church is standing in its own light. If John Smith is so constituted that he won't go to a small outside church, let him have the facilities for attending the crowded down-town tabernacle. It is surely better to get John into the tabernacle than not to get him into the mission house. However, the ignorance and superstition that keeps the cars from running in this city on Sunday cannot long withstand the opposition that is being brought to bear against it. Last Sunday the streets of the city were fairly alive with carriages and bicycles. The bus lines in King and Queen-streets have begun to run on a summer time table, and the business they do is increasing rapidly. The service on these streets last Sunday was little less frequent than the old-time horse car service on week days. The cars are coming, vote or no vote. You cannot legislate common sense out of existence by act of Parliament.

By the way, we trust the anti-Sunday car people will feel it their duty to contribute handsomely to Mr. Gage's proposed hospital for consumptives. We lay on these people a large share of the responsibility for propagating this disease, to abate which an hospital is so sadly needed. They stubbornly refuse to allow the workingman, confined as he is for 10 hours a day in a poisoned atmosphere, to go to High Park on the only day available to him for bathing his lungs, and thereby protecting him from that scourge of scourges, consumption. The least that these people can decently do is to contribute towards the proposed High Park sanitarium, for they are in no small degree responsible for the sickness that will send the victims in hundreds to the hospital.

THE ONTARIO LIFE.

Annual Meeting of the Company at Waterloo.

The 24th annual meeting of the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company was held in the Town Hall, Waterloo, on Thursday, May 24, when, notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, quite a large number of representative policyholders and agents throughout the Dominion attended.

The President, Mr. I. E. Bowman, M.P. for North Waterloo, occupied the chair, supported by the Manager, Mr. William Hendry.

On motion of Mr. Alfred Hoskin, Q.C., Toronto, Mr. W. H. Riddell, the Secretary of the company, acted as secretary of the meeting. The minutes of the last annual meeting were formally taken as read and adopted.

The President then read the report of the directors, which was as follows:

Your directors, in submitting the following as their 24th annual report, desire to congratulate the policy-holders upon the very satisfactory progress which the company made during the year 1893, notwithstanding the general depression which has prevailed in almost every branch of business.

During the past year 2092 new policies were issued for assurance, amounting to $3,004,700, this being the largest amount of new assurance issued in any one year since the organization of the company. The Manager also received 69 applications for $107,500 from persons whose health was not up to our standard, which were therefore declined.

The net premium income for the year is $512,517.80, and we received for interest on our investments the sum of $113,699.87, which makes our total income $626,208.67.

The total assets of the company as at the close of the year are $2,593,424.67, and the surplus on hand, after providing for the full reserve required to be held under the regulations of the Dominion Insurance Department, is $226,120.21, but of which a liberal sum will be divided among the policyholders during the year 1894.

The total number of policies in force at the close of the year is 13,496, covering assurance amounting to $17,751,107 on 13,190 lives.

The amount paid for claims on deaths which occurred during the year is $101,992 on 82 lives, which is only $5992 in excess of the very low death rate of the previous year, and we paid on account of matured endowments the sum of $23,890.

The Executive Committee has again carefully examined the securities held by the company and found them correct as reported by your auditors.

Owing to the increasing difficulty in getting first-class investments on real estate, we have found it necessary to invest more largely in municipal debentures at a lower rate of interest than that which is current on mortgages.

You will be called on to elect four directors in the place of Robert Melvin, C. M. Taylor, Robert Baird and Stuart Henderson, all of whom are eligible for re-election.

The detailed statements prepared and certified to by your auditors are herewith submitted for your consideration.

The President's Address.

In commenting upon the report Mr. Bowman said that it would doubtless commend itself to the meeting for its brevity, inasmuch as it contained all the material facts, and in such form as business men could readily understand, without first finding their way through a labyrinth of words, which might be mystifying and unsatisfactory. The President referred to the depression which had prevailed in the business world throughout the past year, and the difficulty on that account of inducing people to insure their lives, notwithstanding which new assurance had been taken during the year to the extent of over $3,000,000, an increase of $338,000 over the amount of new assurance written during the previous year. During the past two or three years the company had, owing to the increasing difficulty in most sections of the country of finding suitable investments in real estate, because of the large decline in the value of mortgage security, been obliged to invest its funds to a greater extent in municipal debentures. The mortgages on real estate have not, however, become in any way impaired by the decline in real estate values, the very easy terms of repayment enabling borrowers to gradually reduce the amount of their indebtedness. To show the careful manner of investment the President pointed out that during the past year applications from borrowers were received for no less a sum than $1,127,200. The amount accepted was $313,650, or just about one-quarter of the amount offered, these only being held to be up to the company's standard of value. The remainder, $813,550, was declined. Of the $313,650 accepted by the board, investments to the amount of $146,600 only were actually placed. As for the balance, the borrowers could not accept the terms offered by the company. The increase in the amount of new assurances written for 1893, continued the President, was due largely to the energy put up of new districts and the appointment of agents to cover the field thus extended. The death rate and cost of obtaining business being low, the surplus had accordingly been considerably increased. In conclusion the President congratulated the agents upon the fact that the business they had secured up to the present this year was about the same as for the same period last year, although the difficulty of obtaining it was probably somewhat increased. The President then moved the adoption of the report. Mr. Bowman resumed his seat amid hearty applause on the part of the numerous policy-holders present.

Mr. Robert Melvin of Guelph, the Second Vice-President, seconded the adoption of the report. In doing so he remarked that the report showed the affairs of the company to be in a very satisfactory condition. It was true the company had been unable during the year to secure as high a rate of interest on new investments taken as it had done in some former years, but it had thus secured a much better class of investments than would have been the case if it had obtained a higher rate of interest on an inferior quality of security. The company had confined its operations to investments on mortgages on improved farm property, to choice town and city loans, and to loans on life policies, avoiding all doubtful securities, such as railway and other stocks, the wisdom of which course was amply justified when the recent depreciation in railway stock and similar securities on the other side of the line was taken into account. Municipal debenture security was undoubtedly good and safe, and the same might be said of all securities held by this company. He held it was the duty of every insurance company to so select its securities that there could be no reasonable doubt of their absolute and entire ability to meet their obligations as guaranteed under their policies when the same became a claim, whether by maturity, as in the case of endowments, or at death, as in the case of life policies. He regarded the report as eminently satisfactory. Property had been exercised in the selection of investments, and it was to the credit of the company that no losses of any importance whatever had accrued under mortgage or any other securities held by it. The management of the company had been conducted on the usual lines of economy as well as enterprise. The directors did not believe in locking up its funds in the erection of costly buildings, such as have been found a poor investment by such companies as have seen fit to indulge in that class of luxury. It had frequently been found that the returns from this class of expenditure were doubtful and unsatisfactory. He closed by congratulating the policyholders on the satisfactory nature of the report presented.

The report was then unanimously adopted.

Thanks to the Directors.

Rev. G. F. Salton, Ph.B., of Stratford then moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Daniel Buckborough: "That the hearty thanks of this meeting are due and are hereby tendered to the president, vice president and directors for the manner with which they have conserved the interests of the company during the year."

Mr. Salton referred in eloquent terms to the gratifying progress made by the company since it first pioneered its way into existence in 1870. He was glad to see that the President, First Vice-President, Second Vice-President and Manager were just as they were when the company started out with the humble assets of $6000, and insurance of some $500,000, as compared with the present assets of over $2,500,000 and assurance of over $17,500,000. The company had been founded on correct principles, and its success was certain from the first. Its growth, though slow, was solid and sure, as might be seen from the following figures, indicating the assets and assurances at different periods from its foundation to the close of the last financial year:

	Assets.	Assurance.
1875	$ 55,681	$ 1,177,085
1880	227,424	3,084,884
1885	753,661	8,259,361
1890	1,711,686	13,667,721
1893	2,593,424	17,751,107

Continuing, Mr. Salton pointed out that since its organization the company had paid to its policyholders in death and endowment claims nearly $1,000,000, in exact figures $982,253; and in dividends and surrender values no less than $768,358; in addition to which it held at the present time for the security of its present policyholders the handsome sum of $2,593,424. Mr. Salton concluded with a graceful compliment to the President on the careful and courteous attention which he had devoted to the affairs of the company, the effect of which was evident in the successful record of the company, and in the admirable report now before the meeting. Mr. Salton's remarks were heartily applauded by those present.

Thanks to Medical Referee.

Mr. J. H. Halstead, banker of Mount Forest, moved the following resolution: "That as a company's success much depends on a prudent selection of risks, and inasmuch as the mortality experience of this company has always been of the most favorable character, the thanks of the policyholders be offered to Dr. J. H. Webb, the Medical Referee, and to the company's examiners throughout the Dominion for their care in and attention to this important matter."

In speaking to the resolution Mr. Halstead said that as a policyholder he was pleased to notice the satisfactory progress made by the company. As an essentially Canadian and a purely Mutual Company it had been a notable success. This he attributed largely to the prudent men selected from time to time as directors. In the course of his remarks Mr. Halstead mentioned that a member of his family had taken out an endowment policy in the company and at its maturity the actual results achieved showed that, apart from the protection afforded during the life of the policy, the money paid on account of premiums constituted also a profitable and absolutely sure investment.

Mr. Alex. Millar, Q.C., of Berlin, seconded the resolution, which was put to the meeting and carried with hearty applause.

Dr. Webb, on behalf of himself and the Medical Examiners for the company throughout the Dominion, made a brief and appropriate reply in response to the resolution.

The Manager and Staff.

Mr. B. M. Britton, Q.C., of Kingston, seconded by Mr. F. C. Bruce, wholesale seed merchant of Hamilton, moved the following resolution:

"That the thanks of the directors and of this meeting are hereby tendered to the Manager, Secretary, officers and agents of the company, for their unremitting attention to the company's interests during the past year, and for the very satisfactory state of its business which the efficiency and faithful discharge of their respective duties has enabled the directors to submit on this occasion."

Mr. B. Britton, in moving the resolution, referred to the great amount of work involved in the care of the constantly increasing volume of business of the company. He thought there was cause for great congratulation on the part of the policyholders that the officers of the company had done their work so well. He paid a high tribute to the efficiency of the general staff, especially eulogizing the Manager, Secretary, Actuary and Superintendent for the faithfulness with which they had discharged their duties. Mr. Britton said he thought the agents also deserved a word of thanks. They were men of substantial business integrity and sincerity, and had had exceptional claims to consideration for their fair and perfectly candid statement of facts in presenting the claims of the company to public patronage. These two points, a good staff and good agents, were, after all, what the success of an insurance company really depended upon. He congratulated the company on being in possession of these essential features of success.

The resolution was carried with much applause.

Suitable responses were made by the Manager, Mr. William Hendry, on behalf of himself and the office staff; by Mr. E. M. Sipprell, manager of the company's agencies in the Maritime Provinces, and by Mr. W. S. Hodgins, the company's superintendent.

Mr. Sipprell's remarks were of especial interest, referring, as they did, to the estimation in which the company is held among business men down by the sea. He spoke of the success which had crowned the operations of the company in these Provinces, and of the low death rate prevailing there. It afforded him much pleasure and satisfaction, he said, to meet the agents and policyholders of the company on the occasion of their annual meeting, and to listen to a report containing so many evidences of the continued success and prosperity of the institution.

Election of Directors.

On motion Messrs. George Weguenat, actuary of the company, and George Diebel, merchant of Waterloo, were appointed scrutineers for the election of four directors in place of those retiring. The balloting resulted in the re-election of Messrs. C. M. Taylor, Robert Melvin and Robert Baird, and in the election of Mr. W. J. Kidd, barrister of Ottawa.

Auditors Re-Appointed.

Messrs. Henry F. J. Jackson of Brockville and J. M. Scully of Waterloo were re-appointed auditors of the company for the year 1894.

President and Vice-Presidents.

This brought to a close the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the company. The Directors met subsequently and re-elected Mr. I. E. Bowman, M.P., President; Mr. C. M. Taylor, First Vice-President, and Mr. Robert Melvin, Second Vice-President of the company for the ensuing year.

The brightest flowers must fade, but young lives endangered by severe coughs and colds may be preserved by Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, in short all affections of the throat and lungs, are relieved by this sterling preparation, which also remedies rheumatic pains, sores, bruises, piles, kidney difficulty, and is most economic.

Motor and Bicycle Collide.

As motor car 324, with trailer 229 attached, was rounding the corner of Dundas-street at Ossington-avenue last evening about 6.30, Alfred Mallish, who gave his address as 26 Lakeview-avenue, was riding a bicycle in the opposite direction. In attempting to prevent running into a pedestrian he turned suddenly and the bicycle struck the front of the trailer as it was turning the corner. Fortunately Mallish threw up his hands and shoved himself away from the car, thus escaping injury, but the bicycle presented a sorry spectacle when extricated.

THE DEACONESSES' HOME.

Dedicatory Services Yesterday—Many Applications From Young Ladies.

A new departure in Canadian Methodism was inaugurated yesterday in the opening at 28 McGill-street of the first deaconesses' home in Canada. The home is centrally situated and has been comfortably but modestly furnished. The dedicatory services took place at 3 p.m., being conducted by the president of the Toronto Conference, Rev. Dr. Parker. Rev. W. F. Wilson read the Scripture lesson, Rev. Dr. A. Sutherland offered prayer, and Rev. Dr. J. F. German delivered an address.

In the evening a mass meeting was held in Carlton-street Church in behalf of the Deaconess' Aid Society, at which Mayor Kennedy presided, and Miss Thompson, superintendent of the home, and Rev. Dr. Bowman Stevenson, London, Eng., delivered addresses, telling of the rise and growth of the Order of Deaconnesses, the great work done by them in the slums of London East, and outlining the work accomplished by them in the different countries of their work.

Miss Thompson and an assistant have already been engaged and there are six applications in the hands of the directors now from young ladies of the city who wish to integrity and sincerity, and had exceptional claims to consideration for their fair and perfectly candid statement of facts in presenting the claims of the company to public patronage. These two points, a good staff and good agents, were, after all, what the success of an insurance company really depended upon. He congratulated the company on being in possession of these essential features of success.

The resolution was carried with much applause.

Suitable responses were made by the Manager, Mr. William Hendry, on behalf of himself and the office staff; by Mr. E. M. Sipprell, manager of the company's agencies in the Maritime Provinces, and by Mr. W. S. Hodgins, the company's superintendent.

Mr. Sipprell's remarks were of especial interest, referring, as they did, to the estimation in which the company is held among business men down by the sea. He spoke of the success which had crowned the operations of the company in these Provinces, and of the low death rate prevailing there. It afforded him much pleasure and satisfaction, he said, to meet the agents and policyholders of the company on the occasion of their annual meeting, and to listen to a report containing so many evidences of the continued success and prosperity of the institution.

Election of Directors.

On motion Messrs. George Weguenat, actuary of the company, and George Diebel, merchant of Waterloo, were appointed scrutineers for the election of four directors in place of those retiring. The balloting resulted in the re-election of Messrs. C. M. Taylor, Robert Melvin and Robert Baird, and in the election of Mr. W. J. Kidd, barrister of Ottawa.

Auditors Re-Appointed.

Messrs. Henry F. J. Jackson of Brockville and J. M. Scully of Waterloo were re-appointed auditors of the company for the year 1894.

President and Vice-Presidents.

This brought to a close the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the company. The Directors met subsequently and re-elected Mr. I. E. Bowman, M.P., President; Mr. C. M. Taylor, First Vice-President, and Mr. Robert Melvin, Second Vice-President of the company for the ensuing year.
