THE HEALTH BOARD

Regular Meeting Was Held Last Evening—Cleaning Up City.

The regular monthly meeting of the city board of health was held last night in the Mayor's office, with Chairman J. M. Patte. The following were present: Dr. E. G. E. Pearson, M.H.O., W. E. Walsh and Sanitary Inspector Glover.

The laying of sanitary sewers was sanctioned for Dufferin Avenue, from Roberts street to the west end of lot 22, and on Campbell street from Dufferin Ave. to Park property.

A complaint was registered against the unsanitary condition of a barn on Charlotte street, and the sanitary inspector was notified to take steps of prosecution if the stable was not cleaned up.

Sanitary Inspector Glover said that he had received complaints as to the unsanitary condition of many stables and some were very unhealthy now that the hot weather had arrived. The inspector was ordered to take immediate steps against every unsanitary barn or house if, after notifying the owners, they refused to clean up. After routine business had been transacted, the board adjourned.

ADDRESS ON THE PROGRESS OF MISSIONS, BY MRS. W. E. ROSE

Feature of Convention at Colborne Street Church ---Hamilton Woman Made Fine Impression--- Closing Session Today---Convention Notes.

The second day's sessions of the 26th annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, Hamilton conference, were held yesterday morning, afternoon and evening in Colborne St. Church and proved exceedingly interesting and most successful. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit,' is the Scripture verse on the fly leaf of the program and this seems to be the key-note of all the meetings. The different conferences, the model classes, the various discussions, all seemed to be ruled over and permeated by that Spirit of the First Great Missionary and a great forward step in the advancement of the cause of missions and the carrying of the Cross of Calvary to those that sit in darkness, both in our country and in foreign lands, has certainly been taken by the holding this convention. No delegate could attend the meetings without learning something of missionary work and enterprise, and each one will undoubtedly take home to their respective societies or band, an enthusiasm for the cause of Christianity that shall work untold benefit to the home church and to the church as a whole.

The afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises, led by the Milton District. Minutes of the A.M. session were read and adopted.

Reports were then received from the Welland, Brantford and Woodstock districts.

The following District Organizers were then appointed:

Brantford—Mrs. G. S. Chrysler, Brantford.

Galt—Mrs. John Sherwood Taylor, Galt.

Guelph—Mrs. R. L. Guild, Rockwood.

Milton—Mrs. S. R. Beurs, Milton.

Mt. Forest—Mrs. Callaway, Mt. Forest

Norwich—Miss N. Lancaster, Burgessville.

Palmerston— Mrs. Edy, Harriston.

St. Catharines— Mrs. T. W. Jackson, St. Catharines.

Simcoe— Mrs. Kitchen, Waterford.

Welland—Miss Hettie Box, Ridgeway.

Woodstock—Left to Executive.

Walkerton—Miss L Jackson, Southampton.

Wiarton—Miss M. Foster, Tara.

The young peoples session was led by Mrs. Annie Ross of Hamilton. The following subjects were discussed by Circle and Band workers:

'Ideal Circle Member—Miss Kirk, Moulton Station.

Preparation, Conduct and Purpose of Meeting—Mrs. Laker, Hamilton.

How We Create and Hold Interest in our Bands—Mrs. Robinson, Guelph

The Most Interesting Program—Miss Machell, Jarvis.

A model Auxiliary Meeting was conducted by Mrs. Adah McLachlin and assisted by the delegates from Hamilton. As far as possible this program was carried through so that the delegation might have instruction as to systematic methods of conducting their auxiliary meetings in a business like way.

This was followed by an address by Mrs. Morton of Hamilton on 'Systematic Giving. Mrs. Morton's address was one of the best delivered at the convention and she explained in a clear and concise manner the great advantages of and the good results that accrue from systematic giving.

The evening session opened with Rev. T. E. Holling, pastor of the church, in the chair. The opening exercises were conducted by Rev. A. E. Lavell, B.A., who after the singing of the hymn "Oh Thou Who Camest from Above," led in prayer. Rev. Mr. Lavell, then as chairman of the district, welcomed the delegates most heartily to the city, and then read the evening lesson from the sermon on the mount. The choir of Colborne street church then rendered the anthem "Oh come to my heart Lord Jesus" most effectively.

Rev. Mr. Holling then called on Mrs. A. Ross to give the report of the mission circles and bands in the Hamilton branch. Mrs. Ross' report showed exellent progress in the work of both the mission bands and circles The bands had now a total membership of 1988 in the Hamilton branch, and all the work had been very gratifying.

The address of the evening was then delivered by Mrs. W. E. Ross of Hamilton, president of the Women's Board of Missions, who spoke on the "Progress of the Missionary Movement." Mrs. Ross' address was a splendid exposition of the missionary cause, and created a profound impression upon all her hearers, who followed her remarks with intense interest from start to finish.

"Never has the flood of missionary enthusiasm been higher than at present," said Mrs. Ross, in commencing her address. She had read in the Courier of what Mrs Baker had said in her address to the convention and she had covered a great deal of ground that would make it unnecessary for her to repeat. During the last six years, Mrs Ross went on to say, the attitude of the public has greatly changed with regard to missionary work. Even the map itself had changed and the church was awakening as never before to the necessity of missionary effort. One could not shut the heathen out of their eyes even if one wished. Sometimes we are inclined to believe that no progress has been or is being made, but that is because we are living in the valley and have not that broad outlook on the needs of the world so necessary to a true understanding of what missionary work means. During the next five years, Mrs Ross affirmed great progress would be made along missionary lines 100 years ago there were only 1600 Christian missionaries, to-day there are 20,000. To-day the Methodists of the Hamilton branch spend $30.000 annually on missions. Yet even that is a small sum when the importance of the work is taken into consideration. The government is about to spend $45 000 on a railway, but the church is laying a railway line by their missionaries that shall bring men and women home to God. Mrs. Ross then went on to speak of the great unifying force the missionary cause had proved to be among the Protestant churches. At the national and international conventions, men of every denomination sat side by side working for the same cause. The educational efforts of the missionaries had proved eminently successful. Only last month at the Union College at Pekin, China, two Chinese women had graduated in medicine. A college for women in Japan had been proposed and would shortly be gone on with. It is a fact that to-day 90 per cent of the Japanese people do not know about Jesus Christ. One of the greatest factors in the progressiveness of missions had been the student volunteer movement. The great students meeting at Kansas city, at which students from every university met together, showed a willingness and a purpose among the students, and without these two things—willingness and a purpose—Christian work was in vain. There are to-day 45,000 American students engaged in the study of missions. Princeton University supported a Y. M.C.A. in Pekin, China, which cost $15,000, $10,000 of which was donated by the Christian Chinese themselves. Harvard University maintains a medical college at Shanghai, which is doing a good work. There is a great opportunity for Canadian girls in the foreign field, and they should ask God if their life work does not lie there. Mrs. Ross then pleaded strongly for the cause of women and their taking of an active part in all religious work. To-day 15,000 women, representing 6,000 culture clubs are meeting in Chicago, devising plans for city improvement and social betterment. The Women's Missionary society should be regarded as an association of mothers for those who need motherly care. "Christ for every life and all life" should be the slogan. Women should seek to Christianize the social order. In times gone by the donation of a $5 bill has constituted the missionary effort of most people, but work must radiate in every direction. If we do not solve these social problems they will render futile most of the efforts put forth. No amount of external piety will win people to God who are smarting under social injustice. The way should be made easy for people to lead a Christian life. The problems at hand should be studied and every one should have or get a contagious Christian character.

Mrs. Ross then spoke of the traffic among the yellow women, which was even worse than the white slave traffic. In this regard, the Women's Home in Victoria, B.C., was doing a great social work, and last year 184 happy marriages were celebrated at the home. The girls going out from the girl schools in Japan meant the regeneration of that country. The reason the Gospel is so successful is because it is so adaptive, and it is is just as effective in Japan as in Canada.

Mrs Ross closed her address with an earnest appeal for more workers in the field. The situation is critical, and workers must be secured. 'Whatsoever He saith unto you, do it." was the final message of Mrs Ross to the convention.

After a solo by Mrs F. Leeming, "If I were a Voice," beautifully rendered, the prizes for the general proficiency of Mission Bands and Circles in the Hamilton branch were presented by Mrs Rose. Of the bands, the Band of the First Methodist church, Hamilton, secured the first banner, and that of Milgrove, the second. Of the Mission Circles, a set of books, valued at $5 were presented to the circle of Wesley church, Hamilton, while Ingersoll and Galt circles came in for honorable mention.

The offering was then taken, after which the closing exercises were conducted by Rev T. E. Holling.

To-day the final sessions of the convention will be held, the closing meeting commencing at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

CURZON IS SNUBBED BY THE LIBERALS

It Has Been Remarked That None of Them Were at the "Coming Out" Ball for His Daughter

LONDON, June 11.—The absence of Liberals from the coming-out dinner and ball given by the Earl of Curzon for his daughter, Lady Mary Irene Curzon, granddaughter of the late L. Z. Leiter, of Washington, which the King and Queen would have attended but for the death of the Duke of Argyle, has been commented upon.

"A good deal of remark," says Truth, "has naturally been caused by the absence of anyone known to be connected with the Liberal party from the magnificient ball given by Lord Curzon last week. It is not to be supposed that none were invited on an occasion when the King and Queen were to be present, and all the less seeing that the noble host owes his English peerage to a Liberal government; so one is reduced to the conclusion that the entertainment was boycotted by the Liberals—including, it is to be presumed, some of His Majesty's ministers— notwithstanding that His Majesty was to be a guest.

"This introduction of class or party feeling into social life is very deplorable and a bad imitation of the Dublin precedent."

DREAMS OF CACHE, HE FINDS $42,600

Treasure Had Been Wrested From California Mines and Hidden in a Dutch Oven

SANTA ROSA, June 11—Hidden treasure amounting to $42,600, won from the mines in the early days of the gold excitement and cached in a Dutch oven, has been found near here by A. W. Lehrke. The discovery, Lehrke explained, was the result of a dream in which he saw the rich cache.

At first he attashed no importance to the dream, but it kept him wakeful and restless, and finally he went to the cellar and dug down where the strange vision had shown him the hidden gold.

The dream persisted for several nights. At length, restless and excited, he arose and went to the cellar where he attacked the cement floor with a pick.
