LORD ROTHSCHILD LAYS BLAME ON GOVERNMENTS

Constant Hitting at Capital is Responsible for Depreciation of Stocks.

Roosevelt's Campaign Against American Railroads is Doing Great Harm---British Financier Says Russia Will Soon Be Seeking Another Loan.

LONDON, Oct. 9—The Daily News today publishes an interview with Lord Rothschild on the depression of stocks at home and abroad in the course of which the well known fianancier attributes the decline not to the booming of trade but to the fact that governments all over the world are "hitting" at capital.

Among other things Lord Rothschild instances prospective British legislation regarding old-age pensions, land purchase, etc.

Continuing, the financier says: "Of course President Roosevelt's speeches against the condition of American railroads are disturbing the market greatly. We must all admit that the manipulation of railroad stock in the United States has not always been quite what it should be but this does not detract from the serious character of the president's campaign. It is difficult, nay, it is almost impossible, as things stand today for us to furnish from this country fresh capital for railroad development across the water."

Lord Rothschild declined to forecast the future course of the market but he said he thought it possible that Russia before long would come to the market for another ten or twelve million pounds.

THE EXPORT OF PULP WOOD

OTTAWA, Ont. Oct. 9—(Special)—The Canadian manufacturers of pulp and paper waited on the Dominion government today and asked that the export of wood pulp be prohibited.

The delegation represented the pulp and paper section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and presented the views of that body. J. D. Roland, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Assiciation, C. R. Riordan, president of the pulp and paper section of the association, Mr. Rowley of the E. B. Eddy Company, F. J. Campbell of the Canada Paper Co., H. Beamans of the Belgo-Canadian Manufacturing Co., L. M. Armstrong, Grand Mere, Que., and Albert McLaren, of Buckingham, comprised the delegation.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Wm. Patterson received the delegation in the premier's room. The delegates pointed out that if the export of pulp were prohibited the Americans would come to Canada and develop the paper industry of the Dominion instead of depleting the forests by taking away the raw material.

LATE LOCALS

In front of a Main street, north end, store there hangs, during fine weather, a parrot that is a splendid talker. It is a common sight to see a group of little tots having an animated conversation with this clever bird. Today just to show that he was thoroughly up-to-date and intended to keep abreast of the times he exclaimed as an automobile whizzed by "toot, toot!" and laughed loudly.

The No. 3 crib of the Clarke & Adams wharf was moved today about 12.30 o'clock from the Dun wharf to a position along the new No. 5 wharf, where it will be held in readiness for moving on the site as soon as it is ready. Five tug-boats were employed to move it. The ferry steamer was delayed at the west side for a time while the crib was being towed across the entrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Green will celebrate the 25th anniversary of their wedding on Friday. Theirs was the first Jewish wedding in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Hart Green, of Chapman & Green, barristers, Winnipeg, a son, will be here for the occasion, as will the only daughter, Amelia, who is at St. Vincent's convent, Rockingham.

DAMAGE DONE BY HIGH WIND

Rev. Leo Hoyt's Barn Collapsed and His Horse Was Barely Rescued From the Debris.

Evidences of yesterday's terrific storm are apparent in numerous places in and about the city and from various points come reports of damage done by the high wind which prevailed.

King Square and the old burial ground look bleak and desolate with trunks and branches of stately trees lying in confusion and which are being cut into convenient lengths preparatory to their removal. The loss of these trees will make considerably difference in the appearance of the square and graveyard.

It was learned this morning that as a result of the storm a barn near the residence of Rev. Canon Hoyt, opposite Foley's pottery on the old Westmorland road, collapsed and the horse, kept therein was almost covered with the debris. Employes of the pottery were quick to render assistance and Canon Hoyt's horse was soon rescued.

The awning in front of Scribner's store at the corner of King Square and Sydney street was torn completely from the metal frame.

Records of damage by the wind also appear on the report book at police headquarters. The night patrolmen report that bill boards on Waterloo street and Paradise Row were levelled to the ground A tree was blown down on Gooderich street and another on Albert street. The flag-pole on Haymarket Square was hurled to the ground, and the fence around the waterworks excavation on the Marsh Road was blown down.

It is also reported that the awning in front of Gorham's meat shop in Carleton was also blown down.

SEVERE JOLT FOR "AFFINITY" IDEA

Gagetown Man Who Cultivated a Colored One Gets Five Years

SHE GOES WITH HIM

Judge Wilson, Who Does Not Believe in "Affinities" As Opposed to Morality, Sentences James Little and Cecelia Eatman

FREDERICTON, Oct. 9 (Special)—James W. Little and his colored affinity Cecelia Eatman, were arraigned before Judge Wilson under the speedy trials act at Gagetown yesterday on a charge of bigamy, and both pleaded "guilty."

His Honor immediately sentenced Little to five years in Dorchester penitentiary, and the woman was given a term of two years.

Little is a man nearly seventy years of age, and has had a somewhat checkered career. He is a son of the late Dr. Little, a Scotch physician, who settled at Jemseg many years ago, and reared a large family, all of whom turned out well except James.

The latter married a Miss Clark in 1863, and has a grown up family. The couple separated several years ago, and Mrs. Little has since earned her own living.

Little put in an appearance at Otnabog in August last, and made love to Mrs. Eatman, a colored lady, who already has a husband living at Woodstock. He induced her to accompany him to Gagetown, where they were married by an Episcopal clergyman.

Upon returning to Otnabog they took up their abode beneath the paternal roof and remained there until the hand of the law was laid upon them.

Little was arrested at Lakeville Corner some years ago on a charge of burning a house and causing the death of three people. He was acquitted of the charge for want of evidence, but it was established that the fire was of incendiary origin and many people in that neighborhood believe that he committed the deed.

WANTED TO GET EASY MONEY

Denver Man Has a Neat Plan to Play on Gratitude of Wealthy Colorado Residents

DENVER, Col. Oct. 9—Kemp V. Bigelow, arrested yesterday for sending infernal machines through the mails to Governor Butchel, David B. Moffat and C. B. Kountze, confessed today that lack of money was the impelling motive of his acts. He said he had conceived the idea of sending the dynamite after warning the recipients in the hope that he would thereby become a hero and reap financial reward from the wealthy men whose lives he had saved. He detailed a trip to Eldorado where he secured the dynamite and said that he constructed the machines Sunday and mailed them. He also planted 51 sticks of dynamite in the rear of Edward Chase's residence and then notified the police that he overheard two men plotting to blow up the place and kill Butchel, Moffatt and Kountze. Bigelow has been turned over to the authorities.

A FOLLOWER OF "ELIJAH" SANFORD VISITS CITY

RABBI ANDUR IS THE CHOICE

He Will Succeed Rabbi Rabbinowitz in the Hazen Avenue Synagogue.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Hazen Avenue synagogue last evening, Rabbi Bernard L. Andur, of Hamilton, Ont., was chosen as successor to Rabbi Rabbinowitz, who had accepted a call to New York city. The vacancy since Rabbi Rabbinowitz's departure has been filled by a Russian Rabbi, from New York, and it is believed that his name for a time was under consideration. The fact that he could not speak English, however, worked against him, as the congregation are desirous of having for a rabbi one who can speak English fluently. In Rabbi Andur they have such a man. He is well known in the United States, but especially in New York state. He spent fifteen years as rabbi of a large synagogue in Buffalo, and has been in Hamilton three years. Rabbi Andur is a scholar and an able preacher. His congregation in Hamilton is Beth Jacob.

TO BOOM VALPARAISO

VALPARAISO, Chili, Oct. 9—Plans that will convert Valparaiso into one of the world's largest and best ports have been accepted by a committee appointed by the president for the purpose. French engineers submitted the proposal. The work will take nine years.

Elder George H. Miner Was Quietly Looking for Shiloh Converts.

Understood That a Number of New Brunswickers Will Heed Call of Prophet and Become Adherents of the Erratic Elijah of Maine.

An interesting visitor who has just concluded a tour through the provinces stopping a few days in St. John, was George H. Mines, a follower of "Elijah" Sanford, the famous founder of Shiloh.

Mr. Miner, who uses the prefix Reverend or Elder in front of his name when he is at Shiloh, is a former resident of Westmorland county and joined the Shiloh sect some years ago. His purpose in revisiting this province was for the purpose of making converts to the doctrine in which he is a believer.

Mr. Miner's chief work is proselytizing and that was the purpose of his visit to New Brunswick. That he has converted some at least with whom he has conversed, is well known, and several are said to have decided to leave the province and take up their residence at Shiloh.

Miner as before stated, hails from Westmorland county where he spent some years as a school teacher and in commercial work. He was finally converted to Shiloh and has since been a zealous worker for the cause, giving up his entire time to it.

He says the reports that have been circulated to the effect that the financial condition of Shiloh was in a bad way, are entirely wrong. The finances are in good shape.

Miner is a man about 60 years of age, of medium height and he wears a close cropped beard. He is an ardent believer in "Elijah" and looks for great success in the work they are engaged upon.

Shiloh is the name given to the big building, which is the home of the sect. It is located in Maine, and occupies about an acre of ground, being built with a large court in the centre. Here the teachers make their home and a resident physician is also in the ranks.

There is a theological seminary for training their missionaries, also schools for children all the way from the kindergarten classes to the seminary course.

A large tract of land surrounding the building is also controlled by the Shilohites. Those who work are employed chiefly in farming or at other pursuits necessary in a colony of that kind. They associate freely with the neighbors who are not of the sect and trade with them.

Sanford is at present in the Mediterranean with his personal yacht, and a smaller vessel, on board of which are about fifty disciples as well as the prophet. Their ultimate object is to circumnavigate the globe for the purpose of spreading the gospel as they understand it, in all parts of the earth. They propose to stop at such points as they consider expedient, and on the conclusion of the voyage a return to Shiloh will be made.

It is stated that previous to "Elder" Miner's visit to the province that quite a number of residents had taken up with the teachings of Elijah and had gone to Shiloh, while there are others who visit the colony regularly every year. It is believed that as a result of the elder's visit a number more will go to the "palace of Elijah."

It is understood that Elder Miner while here endeavored to induce a local physician to accompany him, saying there was a splendid opportunity for an up-to-date medical practitioner among Sanford's followers.

Mrs. J. H. S. Sweet

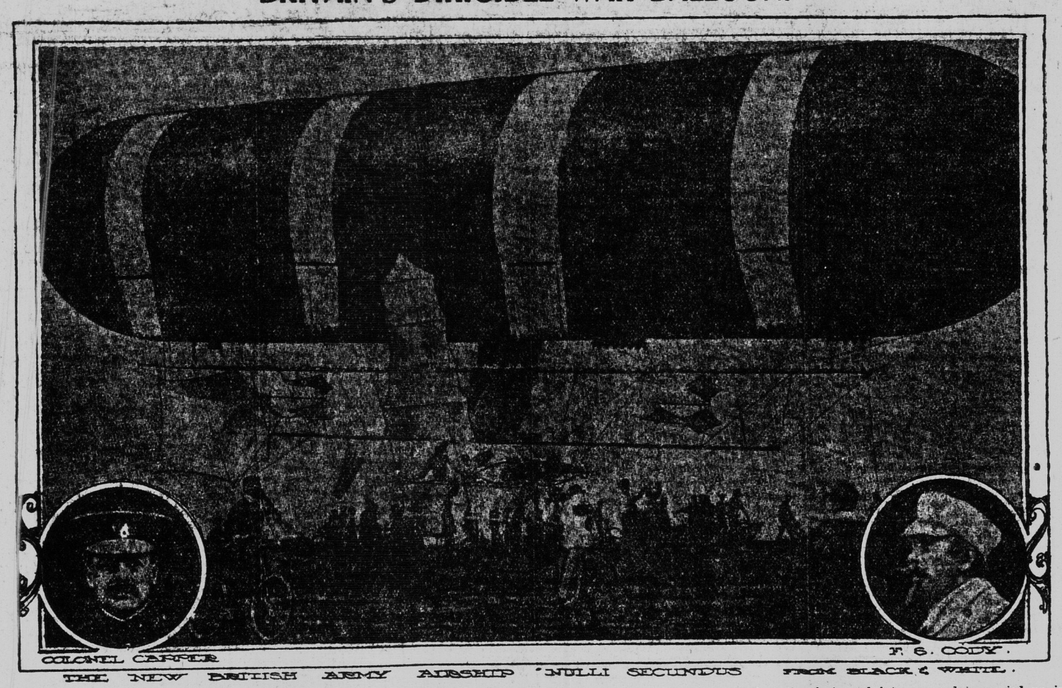
The death took place at the Royal Jubilee hospital on Sunday morning of Mrs. Sweet, wife of Rev. J. H. S. Sweet, rector of St. James Anglican church. The late Mrs. Sweet, who was in her 54th year, had been ill only a few days, so that her death came as a great surprise not only to the members of the church, but also to a large circle of other friends throughout the city.

The late Mrs. Sweet was a daughter of Rev. W. B. Vial and a native of England, but lived for a number of years in Quebec, coming to Victoria in 1895 from Newcastle, N. B., where her husband had been engaged in church work. During her residence in Victoria Mrs. Sweet had taken great interest in church work, as well as in charitable work generally. At the time of her death she was president of the Girls' Friendly Society of the Church of England. She is survived by her husband, one son, John Sweet, barrister, of Vancouver, and two daughters, Misses Violet and Mildred, both of whom reside at home, the former being a member of the staff of the South Park school. —Victoria Colonist, Oct. 1

MONTREAL STOCKS

MONTREAL, Oct. 9—(Special) — Declines were general in the stock market today but the volume of liquidation was extremely limited with the exception Dom. Steel, about which there were conflicting rumors. There was no pressure to sell in any particular issue. Reports that the bears were gunning for the recent pool purchases in Steel are doubted, as it is stated on good authority that 7,000 shares have been bought and put away for a long pull. Steel Common sold off to 18 3-4, but bonds were better at 74 1-4, compared with 73 5-8 yesterday. Montreal Street which, today, declared a regular quarterly dividend, was also lower at 185 3-4. Other features were Toronto Ry., 99; Mont. Power, 91 3-4 to 7-8; Dom. Coal pfd, 95; Lake of Woods Milling, 74 3-4 to 73.

BRITAIN'S DIRIGIBLE WAR BALLOON.



COLONEL CAPPER — F. S. CODY.

THE NEW BRITISH ARMY AIRSHIP 'NULLI SECUNDUS' FROM BLACK & WHITE.

LONDON, Oct. 8—That the British army has solved the problem of aerial navigation was proved to the satisfaction of Londoners when the dirigible war balloon which has been given several trials at Aldershot Camp, sailed from Farnborough, 35 miles southwest of here, to London, and, after manoeuvring over the city, started back to headquarters.

The balloon crossed the Thames at Blackfriars' Bridge, and, making a sharp turn, proceeded over Fleet street and the Strand, making a complete circle over the latter thoroughfare, to the great satisfaction of many thousands of watchers. The balloon then went around Trafalgar square, over the new war office, and past Westminster Abbey and the houses of parliament, travelling at the rate of about fifteen miles an hour and being under complete control.

After the visit to London the balloon proceeded to the Crystal Palace. After circling the towers of that building, the airship was brought to earth on the bicycle track, the landing being accomplished without damage. The voyage occupied over three hours.

Colonel Capper and Mr. Cody expressed the greatest delight over her performance. The only defect noticeable was that she apparently kept a steady course with the greatest difficulty when going against the wind. The airship made twenty miles an hour with a steady ten-mile breeze.

The balloon is named "Nulli Secundus," and when she made her notable trial on Sept. 10 at Farnborough was in charge of Colonel Capper, Captain King, and F. S. Cody, an American. The balloon is sausage-shaped, about a hundred feet long by thirty feet in diameter, and has a lifting capacity of about one ton, which, after deducting the weight of the car, engines and other apparatus, permits it to carry a crew of three men of average weight. The car, which is shaped like a boat, is constructed of aluminum and canvas. The engines are so built that the exhaust vapor is turned into gas and is carried up into the balloon above by means of a tube. The capacity of the balloon is 75,000 cubic feet. The petroluem for the motor is carried in two torpedo-like cylinders above the car.

During the recent trials Cody stood at the engine in the forepart of the car and controlled the steering plane. Colonel Capper steered.

The "Nulli Secundus" was built in secret, and is understood to contain new developments in aerial navigation, which will put Great Britain ahead of all the other powers in the matter of dirigible balloons, the British invention being said to be able to deliver a considerable gun fire.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

A SURE THING NOW.

That elusive and cautious, but resourceful politician, Mr. Cornfield O'Hoo, is in the city today. Mr. O'Hoo has been under cover since Dr. Pugsley made the Fairville speech which the Sun says marks an epoch in Canadian political history. There is reason to believe that in a general showdown, with regard to the use of election funds, Mr. O'Hoo would present an interesting exhibit. At all events he has not been thrusting himself into the public gaze since Dr. Pugsley made the aforesaid mark.

But, as nothing happened when Dr. Pugsley challenged the beasts of Ephesus, Mr. O'Hoo has responded to an urgent appeal and is out looking for an attorney-general.

"I knew they'd have to come to me," he said to the Times new reporter. "It's all right to preach patriotism, but when it comes to real political business they need a man who has sunny ways and the goods. It's all very well to shove an office under a man's nose and tell him the country needs him—but how much does it need him? That's the question we have to answer, and about that time you see me in the neighborhood. Oh, I'll get a man all right. I know how to overcome a man's scruples and smooth his path."

"Why don't you take the job yourself?" queried the new reporter.

Mr. O'Hoo's left eyelids contracted just a little. It may have been something in the atmosphere, or the contraction may have been purely mechanical, but it attracted the new reporter's attention. As it was not accompanied by any remark except a reference to the weather, the cause must remain unexplained.

There seems little doubt, however, that an attorney-general will soon be discovered. As Mr. O'Hoo himself observes, he generally "delivers the goods."

MARRIED GRANDMOTHER TO SAVE HIS ESTATE

How Tom Alison of New York Got the Best of His Dead Grandfather.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9—A despatch from San Francisco says Tom Hugh Alison of Manlius, N. Y., who married his grandmother, is here on his honeymoon. "My grandfather, Dr. Buffum of Rochester, was a peppery old fellow," said he. "First he disinherited my sister because she married a barber. This left me his sole heir. He decided to marry, although he was past 80, to keep me from inheriting his estate. I did not know it but the girl he picked out was my sweetheart, only 17 years old. She decided to accept his offer to save the estate for me. That was nearly six years ago. He died a year ago and the young woman whom I called my grandmother became my wife."
