SEVEN RECRUITS TAKEN OF FOURTEEN EXAMINED

Board System Lessens Chance of Discharges Later.

Fourteen recruits have been examined by the medical board at the armories since October 16. These are from all parts of the district. The board system makes the examination slightly stricter, but it is almost certain that the man, after being passed, will not have to be discharged later because of physical defects.

Seven out of the fourteen passed the medical examination: A. Pye, C. M. R., Stratford; T. J. Morrison, C. M. R., Stratford; A. P. Hennigan, 63rd Battery, St. Thomas; N. Norry, 241st Battalion, London; John Davis, C. M. R., Stratford; J. Zebrac, 149th Battalion, Sarnia; C. Casler, Cycle Corps, Sarnia.

The battalion is being recruited from all parts of Canada. Two companies which have already been raised are stationed at Truro, N. S. The other two companies will be stationed at Windsor. One hundred men have already been obtained for these last two companies. The battalion will carry on construction work. ENTENTE PLACES

CAN'T TRUST CONSTANTINE.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, Oct. 18—11 a.m.—Every act of Vice-Admiral Du Fournet, commander of the Allied fleet in Greek waters, respecting control of the Greek administration has, by direction of the Allied Government, it is explained here, been made, with the sole object of safeguarding the communications of the Entente armies on the Macedonian front. According to the view expressed here, the safety of the Entente armies, now fully occupied in the campaign against the Bulgarians has been imperiled by what are regarded as the pro-German leanings of the king, the cabinet, and the commanders of the army and navy.

King Not Trusted.

Such offers as King Constantine recently made to join the Allies were not trusted. It was felt that to accept them might have been to arm and finance a potential enemy, for the king's offers were always conditioned upon being amply supplied with money and fighting equipment. About one-quarter of the Greek armies' fighting material recently was surrendered to the Bulgarians, and it is regarded by the Allies as unwise to provide more equipment and pay for the troops.

GREEK CAPITAL

monstrations have been held, and now at the time of telegraphing, 11 o'clock, there are very strong cavalry and infantry patrols in the streets, and also considerable military movements in other cities.

Started by Reservists.

The trouble really began shortly after midday on the conclusion of a naval parade. A great crowd of reservists, mostly from Patras, paraded noisily through the main streets of Athens. After this obvious sign of unrest certain information reached the Allied forces that public order was in danger. Early in the evening, therefore, the French admiral landed a force of 150 marines with two machine guns. These, sent by train to Athens, took possession of the Municipal Theatre.

A Dangerous Situation.

A large crowd gathered in the square which the building faces. For some time the situation was very threatening. A cordon of French sailors at the front of the building was driven back and forced to take refuge insue the theatre. Mixed up with the crowd were numbers of Greek sailors, some of whom were armed with revolvers. After the crowd had been yelling for some time a Greek gendarme officer arrived, and consulted the officer commanding the French force. As a result the cordon was again formed in front of the theatre and the people in the crowd hurled many insults at the French officers.

A Tense Moment.

Just behind a colleague of mine a Greek sailor pulled out a revolver and said he was going to fire.

"Don't!" said his companion. "If you do it's all over. They've got Maxim guns."

Shortly afterwards strong detachments of Greek marines, soldiers and gendarmes arrived, cleared the square and held the streets leading to it.

Later a great assemblage with a huge American flag demonstrated outside the United States legation, calling on that country's representative to interfere to save Greece. The American minister watched from the Athenian Club opposite. Great excitement still prevails.

Many Rumors.

Many fantastic rumors are afloat. The king came from Tatoi Palace, and is now consulting politicians such as Dr. Streit, M. Gounaris and M. Stratos. Palace circles are almost panic-stricken, some advising immediate action—that is, flight—and others counseling a waiting on events.

No casualties are reported so far, except one case when a man shouted "Long live Venizelos!" and was badly injured for doing so by the crowd. Despite orders prohibiting street gatherings, the demonstrations were not interfered with by the police. The situation is obviously beyond the police to deal with.

CONSTANTINE'S FATE HANGING BY THREAD

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 18.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Athens send the following under yesterday's date:

"The fate of the king and the government is hanging by a thread. Yesterday afternoon, when Premier Lambros communicated to the king the French Admiral du Fournet's refusal to moderate the Allies' fresh demands, high words passed, the king telling the minister that only a confederate of the admiral would venture to present his king with such a note. Lambros visited the ministry of foreign affairs, where he declared his intention to resign. He told his friends that he realized that the country had become an autocracy. Afterward he visited the Allied ministers. Lambros decided not to press his resignation for the moment. Later in the evening, on the disembarkation of French sailors, he hastened to the king and found him in a state of anger and consternation. The king said: 'There is nothing left for me but to go with my family to Larissa.'

Preparing to Fight.

"The premier was unable to shake the king in his decision, and hastened back to Athens and saw Skouloudis, Gounaris and Dragoumis, who went to Tatoi and implored the king not to take the irrecoverable step. The king was influenced by their arugments and consented temporarily to defer his departure.

"Meanwhile there is growing proof of his intention to organize for defence at Larissa. I have information that at Orfanon station, a large and lonely junction on the Larissa line, there are 16,000 shells, nearly 10,000 cases of cartridges and 40 field guns. At two other stations there are respectively 5,000 and 4,000 rifles."

Live hogs were a little firmer at $10.25 a cwt. Fat sows were sold for $7.75 a cwt. Small pigs dropped selling for $4 and $6 a pair. Butchers' meats were firm and hides and wool were unchanged.

GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 17.—Today saw the wildest bull market of the entire season on the local exchange, with the fluctuation of 8½c for October and 8¼c for May. During the last five minutes pandemonium reigned. Wheat jumped from 6c to 8c for the different options. Today's session beat the whole of the last ten days for excitement.

Snow over the northwest was a surprise and started a bullish movement. The trade lost sight of the curtailing features of the last week or so and attacked the market with strong buying orders. The bulls had little opposition and the end of the first half hour found wheat up three cents from the previous close. The snow throughout the prairie provinces was not the only factor on the bull side. The whole world's conditions were unfavorable. Rains in most of the European countries are delaying threshing. The Argentine drought shows no signs of letting up.

Buying by certain brokers here today was so insistent and of such volume that it aroused interest, and investigation confirmed the fact that nearly 600,000 bushels were purchased on behalf of one speculator alone.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Fresh advances of wheat resulted today from a continuance of foreign buying. The chief incentives were drought in Argentina and snowstorms in Canada. Enlarged crop damage was a necessary consequence of the drought, and there seemed no doubt that Canadian threshing would be seriously postponed if not ended for the season because of the snow. Reports of delays to plowing for winter wheat, especially in the Southwestern States, counted also against the bears.

Opening prices, which ranged from ¼c to 2⅜c up, with December at $1 64 @1 65⅝, and May at $1 65@1 66¼, were followed by a considerable further advance and then something of a reaction.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, Oct. 18.—The stock market was dull and irregular today. Gilt-edged shares dropped from lack of support, and Greek bonds and Rumanian oil stocks were weak, while Brazilian tractions and rubber and mining shares were firmer. American securities were uninteresting and closed dull.

The sales of exchequer bonds and treasury bills last week amounted to £32,000,000. Reports that another Allied loan is being arranged in America caused a little surprise here in view of the large purchases of bonds and bills being made.

Money was in decreased supply and discount rates were steady.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 18—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Specialties, particularly those comprising paper and leather groups, were again the standard features of today's early operations, advances ranging from 1 to 3 points. Shipping shares, Industrial Alcohol, United States Rubber and some of the coppers also scored material gains, with General Electric and American Linseed issues. United States Steel improved fractionally on its first offering of 5,000 shares, but allied issues were barely firm. Among rails, Chesapeake and Ohio and Atlantic Coast Line were conspicuous, rising over a point, with 1-point gains for Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western and Reading.

Noon. — Standard stocks reacted sharply before the end of the first hour, selling variably under yesterday's final figures. The movement, which savored strongly of a bear drive, based presumably on prevailing market uncertainties, was readjusted. Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Reading, Lehigh Valley and Norfolk and Western guided the list to higher levels. Steel, which had yielded over a point, made almost complete recovery. Fertilizers in general followed the lead of linseed issues and coppers, petroleum, Alcohol, Harvester Corporation, National Biscuit and Pacific Telephone were appreciably better. Bonds were strong.

1.30 p.m.—Alcohol, Distillers Securities, Crucible Steel and Sugar and Biscuit shares were conspicuous during the mid-session at extreme gains of 2 to 8 points. Representative stocks were were strong but comparatively dull.

CHEVROLET GETS WARNERS.

[Canadian Press.]

Toledo, O., Oct. 18.—The Warner Manufacturing Company's plant, a branch of the Willys-Overland Company, will pass out of existence today, having been absorbed by the Chevrolet Motors Company. The transfer was arranged some time ago. The plant will be used for the manufacture of transmissions for the six Chevrolet factories. The new company will employ about one thousand men. Thomas W. Warner, president of the old concern, will continue as general manager under the new ownership.

SENSATIONAL ADVANCE.

New Orleans, Oct. 18.—The most sensational advance of this extraordinary season in cotton occurred around the opening of the market today, as the result of the rumor that the tropical hurricane had struck the cotton region near Mobile. Prices were lifted 65 to 90 points, nearly $4 50 a bale on the strongest months. The July option went to 19.17c a pound, the highest price ever recorded on the local future contract boards.

COTTON PRICES BOUND WITH STARTLING JUMP

[Reported by Thomson & McKinnon.]

New York, Oct. 17.—Prices ran up 40 to 44 points to a new high level with movement well over the 18c mark. The speculation is broadening. Liverpool was strong and closed 28 to 31 American points higher. Bullish dispatches are being received from the south. They are predicting 20c in the cotton trade by Christmas or earlier. To many the market looks dangerous and certainly on general principles, a reaction is due but as often pointed out in these advices, reactions are seized upon by sold out bulls and others to buy.
