DAM KILLS MANY FISH

Effects of a Power Company's Enterprise on the Susquehanna River.

"The great dam across the Susquehanna river at McCall's Ferry, Pa., is playing havoc with the fish in the river," said a Lancaster county man. "The dam was built by a power company, and its construction was opposed in legal proceedings brought by the state of Pennsylvania on the ground that it would obstruct the annual passing of shad and other fish up the river, thus destroying the fishing interests above the dam.

"The suit was compromised by the power company's agreeing to place four commodious fishways in the dam. For some reason only one fishway was provided, and that one, so it seems, only for the convenience of the dam constructors, for it is the testimony of every fisherman thereabout that fish seeking through it a passage from below the dam to the waters above it might just as well try to make their way up the spiral staircase in Bunker Hill monument.

"The first consequence of this was that there has been no shad fishing in the Susquehanna above McCall's Ferry dam since the dam was built. A second consequence is the destruction by thousands of shad, salmon, black bass and striped bass, besides other valuable fishes that seek the Susquehanna waters, owing to the drawing of the water into the company's power feeders as occasion requires.

"This was again demonstrated a few days ago when the river for a long distance below the dam became instead of a broad and rapidly flowing channel a series of isolated pools in which great hosts of fish were imprisoned. The water becoming quickly stagnated and the fish being unable to get into fresh water, it was not long before the pools were filled with dead and dying fish.

"In these pockets untold numbers of shad, striped bass, black bass, salmon, eels and other fish, from fingerlings to specimens of game fish an angler would give his head almost to have a single bout with, died by thousands. In one pool alone, according to the estimates of old rivermen and fishermen, at least 1,000 shad were doomed.

"Fish Warden Nesley, who had sent word around notifying people to go to the river where this piscatorial catastrophe had occurred and take out and carry away the dead and dying fish, says that in some of thepools dead eels lay to a depth of a foot or more.

"None of the fish survived in any of the pools more than twenty-four hours. As one indignant Lancaster fisherman said, there were more game and food fish destroyed by that fish trap of a dam in twenty-four hours than an entire season's fishing, legal and illegal, in the river from its mouth to its source could have taken out, and of which good use would have been made. And the pity of it all is that when the water is turned on again and other thousands of fish come up into the channel as far as the dam the same fate awaits them when the water is drawn off again."

THE SACKVILLE NEWS LETTER

Mid-Summer Weddings of Interest to Tantramar Folk—Old Maple Leaf Mine at Joggins to Re-open.

Sackville, Aug. 2.—A pretty wedding took place at the home of Seward Hicks, Midgic, on Wednesday afternoon, when his sister Miss Ada Hicks was united in marriage to John Snowden of West Sackville. Rev. H. Cann performed the ceremony in the presence of over one hundred guests. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Hedley Hicks, was unattended and charmingly gowned in white silk mull with bridal veil. A sumptuous repast was served and after numberless good wishes the happy couple left for their home in West Sackville. There was a large array of beautiful gifts.

Another wedding of interest was that of Miss Laura Buck, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Buck, Charlotte street, to George I. Read, of Sackville. Rev. H. Cann performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Read are now enjoying a trip to Nova Scotia towns.

Mrs. Rupert Anderson and children left last week for New York to join Captain Anderson, whose ship is now at that port. They sail with him on a voyage to the Pacific and will be gone the remainder of the year.

The engagement is announced of Dr. John T. Roach, Nappan, to Miss Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Strong, Wolfville, the wedding to take place August 23.

Rev. Dr. Campbell preached to large congregations on Sunday last on the Point de Bute circuit in the interest of the Canadian Bible Society

Rhodes & Curry, Amherst, have received the contract for the erection of the new plaster mills at Hillsboro for the Albert Manufacturing Company. The estimated cost of the mills and machinery is $100,000.

Principal and Mrs. Palmer and son left this week for Cape Breton to spend some weeks.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. George Cole, of Dalhousie, formerly of Sackville, in the death of their eldest son Osborne, aged eight years, while on a visit to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cole, Dorchester Cape. The cause of the death was acute indigestion, and his illness was of short duration.

E. Rene Richard, son of Hon. A. D. Richard, of Dorchester, who recently received his LL.B. degree from Dalhousie law school, Halifax will practice his profession at Dalhousie, N. B.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. J. Wheatley, of Stayner, Ont., is the guest of relatives here.

The Citizens Band gave a promenade concert and informal dance in the curling rink on Saturday evening. The town people always ready to further the interests of this organization turned out in full force. Besides the choice musical programme rendered, an attractive feature was the Chinese laundry. Several valuable prizes were received by fortunate ticket holders. A small admission fee was charged. Ice cream and other seasonable refreshments were on sale and the financial results were highly satisfactory.

Dr. W. W. Andrews, president of Saskatchewan College, arrived home last week and is making arrangements for the disposal of his attractive property on Main street, and the removal of his family to Regina.

Sackville delegates attending the meeting of the Royal Arcanium at Yarmouth, N. S., are Messrs. Alex. Ford, J. F. Allison, H. R. Fawcett, and Hiram Copp.

News has reached here of the reopening at Joggins of the old Maple Leaf mine. The promoter of the undertaking is J. D. Betts who has had charge of the Black Diamond mine. The machinery and moveable requisites are to be used in operating, as work in the Black Diamond will be suspended. Maple Leaf mine, situated half way between Joggins and River Hebert, is being worked by Mr. Betts on a sub-lease.

Work on the new opera house in Amherst is being pushed rapidly forward and is expected to be completed in October. The lessee, F. G. Spencer, of St. John, is asking the assistance of Amherst citizens in the selection of a suitable name for the new building. The amusement standard of the town will be considerably raised by its possessing such a splendid theatre.

C. T. Elderkin, of Amherst, left on Thursday on a business trip to Calgary.

The annual excursion of the Methodist Sunday School, Amherst, was held on Wednesday at Pugwash. A delightful day was spent at this picturesque resort. Nine cars were required to convey the large number attending.

Rev. D. E. Hatt, of Dorchester, accompanied the Boy Scouts of that town, numbering over 20, to the "Rocks," Albert County last week, where they spend two weeks camping.

A pleasant event in Baie Verte last week was a garden party on the grounds of Mr. Burder Goodwin, which was largely patronized. The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church were in charge.

A number of our young men from here and the surrounding country left today on the harvest excursion for a trip to the West.

Is the questionable advantage of a Pugsley park on the Fort Howe rocks to outweigh the indignation of honest men at scandals like the Sawdust Wharf and the Gaspereaux dredging deal?

DR. MELVIN'S REPORT OF THE CITY HEALTH

Public Health Officer Submits Practical Report for Month of July, Containing Some Valuable Suggestions.

Dr. G. Melvin, public health officer, submitted his report yesterday for the month of July and incidentally makes practical suggestions regarding means of bettering hygienic condition. During the month there were the following cases of notifiable diseases reported to the board of health: Diphtheria, 12; typhoid fever, 2; scarlet fever, 2, and tuberculosis, 5.

The following table exhibits the number of deaths in the city in July arranged in age groups, the death rate per 1,000 per year of each group and the total death rate for the month. In addition the deaths from notifiable diseases are also given. It will be noted that tuberculosis furnished the only cases under this heading. The estimated population of the city for the middle of the year is 42,343. The total death rate is very low indeed, about the lowest in years. No optimistic conclusions, however, should be drawn from this respecting the general healthfulness of the city, as the period covers only one month, a term far too short to base deductions upon.

The table is as follows:

Stillborn—2.

Death from intestinal disease, under 5 years—9.

Deaths under 5 years comprise nearly 54 per cent. of the whole number, although this is an excessive percentage it is owing to the abnormally small number of deaths from all causes. However, it is yet larger than could be wished as most of the intestinal cases, especially, were undoubtedly due to imperfect sanitary conditions.

August and September will probably produce a decided increase in sickness and mortality from typhoid. The origin of this disease, may be said to be due to three conditions, all quite easily preventable. These are drinking polluted water, neglect of thoroughly washing the hands of those engaged in nursing the patient and of washing the utensils used in attendance upon the sick one, and the presence of the house fly. It seems to be a widespread opinion that if water be obtained from a boiling spring or from a deep well, or from a running stream that it must be pure. This is quite erroneous. Water may be perfectly clear and cold and good tasting and yet be very dangerous to health. All sources of water supply, such as those mentioned, within a thickly settled neighborhood, should be inspected, especially in the dry season, and the water should not be used for any domestic purpose, without boiling for at least one hour.

So much has been said about the house fly lately that it is only necessary to remind the public that the main source of this nuisance is horse manure. The manure itself does not breed the fly. The eggs of the insect have first to be deposited in it. If, therefore, every keeper of horses in the city would take the little trouble necessary to keep his manure bin closely covered and the contents tramped down flies would become much less numerous and a corresponding decrease in typhoid might reasonably be expected.

THE HAMPTON NEWS BUDGET

Opening and Dedication of Baptist Church, at Bloomfield—Hampton Men Leave for West—Personal News.

Hampton, Aug. 3.—Fine weather, large congregations, earnest, practical sermons, excellent music, openhearted hospitality, and generous contributions formed the leading topics of interest in connection with the opening and dedication of the new Baptist church edifice at Bloomfield, last Sunday. Teams from all the surrounding districts took loads of worshippers to the morning service at half past ten and the numbers increased at those of the afternoon and evening. There were a number of ministers from other churches present to encourage and congratulate the Bloomfield people on the work they have accomplished, and the local choir was strengthened by the choir of the Hampton Village church, Mrs. S. S. King, Mrs. Olmstead, of St. John; Mrs. Charlton and others, as well as the Orion Quartette of St. John, whose musical selections gave increased interest to the proceedings at all the meetings. The Rev. Dr. McIntyre preached in the morning, the dedicatory sermon, subject, The Glory of the Church, founded on Ephesians 5:27, "A glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing." The afternoon sermon was by the Rev. W. Camp, from Romans 1:16, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation." At the evening service the preacher was the Rev. Joseph McLeod, D.D., who took for his subject, Service, and enlarged upon the injunctions, First, serve Christ; second, serve one another; third, serve in love. The Revs. A. Mutch and A. J. Seely also took part in the exercises. Collections were taken at each service for the building fund, amounting in the whole to over $250. Resolutions of thanks were passed to ministers, singers and friends for their attendance and aid. The building was designed by Mr. Garnet Wilson, architect, St. John, and is conveniently located, tasteful in appearance and well provided with all the modern requirements for comfort and ventilation.

Among the young men who went west in the harvest excursion yesterday were Robert Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Floyd, of Bloomfield, and William Dempster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dempster of Hampton Station.

The Rev. J. A. McKeigan is visiting at the home of Archie Brittain, Cemetery Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Chute, of Boston, have returned from their trip to Digby, N. S., and will spend a week or so more in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Newnham and child, of Woodstock, were guests with Mrs. E. S. Campbell on Monday.

Mrs. George Currey and Miss Currey of New York, are visiting with Mrs. G. E. Frost and Miss Addie Currey on Dominion Square.

Miss Roach, Sussex, is a guest with her friend, Miss Belle Brittain.

Mrs. Thomas Bain, St. John, is summering here and occupying the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Langstroth during their absence at Grand Falls.

Mrs. Douglas Hooper, of Grand Falls, arrived by midnight express Wednesday, and is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fowler.

Miss Annie Barnes of Cambridgeport, Mass., is visiting with Mrs. Geo. H. Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McKay were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Davidson last week-end.

John McKinnon, Fredericton, was a guest this week of his brother-in-law, A. G. Flewwelling, Hampton Village.

There was a re-union of members of the Wm. Dempster family here on the last week-end. Mr. John Dempster, wife and family; Mr. Harry Dempster, wife and family; William and James Dempster, all of St. John, visited the paternal home, and had a lively time during their stay.

Wm. McLaughlin, of the Western Union Telegraph Service, St. John, was a guest of Mr. William Conway over Sunday.

J. D. O'Connell, formerly of Sussex, now of Cuba, is registered at the Wayside Inn, and has many interesting stories to tell of life and conditions on the Queen of the Antilles. He will not return south until December.

Rev. George R. Baker, wife and daughter, of Leominster, Mass., with American and Fairville friends, were here on an automobile trip yesterday.

The united picnic of the Methodist and Baptist congregations and Sunday schools, was held at Chapel Grove on Tuesday, and was an unqualified success. The sail on the steamer Hampton, both down and up, was delightful, and the day being warm and pleasant, the sports were well patronized. The children took to the water as soon as the wharf was reached, and renewed their bathing from time to time, throughout the day, not failing, however, to get to the feeding grounds when the tables were spread with the abundance of good things provided. Fruit, candy, lemonade, tea and coffee were also served on the way home, until the supplies were exhausted. Home was reached about 9 o'clock. R. A. March also took a party down to the grounds in the afternoon in his motor boat, and reached the Hampton wharf a few minutes behind the steamer.

If Laurier is defeated the Stars and Stripes will fly at half mast.
