MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 2, 1888.

Tuesday for the Two to Cut. Oct. 9

The New York Sun on Sunday had an editorial article dealing with Senator Sherman's expression of opinion on commercial union and annexation. From the article we clip:

He [Senator Sherman] does not believe, however, that commercial union would conduce to political incorporation. Herein, of course, he differs from Mr. Erastus Wiman, who has never advocated commercial union on that ground, and also from those American observers of the situation who deem it inexpedient to extinguish in advance those commercial restrictions, whose removal could otherwise be held up to Canadians as a powerful inducement to political coalescence.

This expression of Mr. Wiman's views coming from the paper which has been working hand in glove with Mr. Wiman is of interest to Canadians who are told that he and his coadjutors do not desire annexation. As for The Sun we know that it has for months been preaching not only the annexation, but the conquest of Canada. Grant that Mr. Wiman is only a commercial unionist, what then follows? Why that Mr. Sherman and all the other annexationists who are in the great majority would force Wiman, and Canada into political union very soon after C. U. was adopted. Does Mr. Wiman not see that? Again we ask Mr. Wiman, and The Globe for that matter, if they will please tell us what prospect there is of C. U. or U. R. carrying after Sherman's declaration and the expressions of opinion that have come from U. S. politicians and newspapers within the past few months. Please Answer, as they say at the end of a telegram.

Nicholas Flood Davin points Manitoba and the Northwest Territories to the west for a market for their farm products. He says that Manitoba looks not to the east but to the country beyond the Rockies for her natural market, because in the east she meets competing producers in the same line; and if Manitoba, which last year exported butter, cheese and eggs to the value of one-fourth that of her wheat export, expects such great things from her western business, to how much more should the Northwest look forward with a considerable advantage in distance and with an immense stretch of rich country capable in every way of producing everything that Manitoba produces! Then with mills of their own they could safely look to Japan as an excellent market for their flour. Japan must buy the low grades of flour in immense quantities and hitherto California has partially supplied this market, but the superior quality of Northwest flour and the cheapness with which wheat is grown should soon drive this competitor out of the field.

About Newfoundland.

The New York Times seems to have an idea that Sir John Macdonald must feel "awful bad" because Newfoundland declines to join the Confederation just now. But our metropolitan contemporary need not worry itself much on this score, we should say. Newfoundland's delay won't spoil Sir John's appetite a cent's worth. The people must just please themselves, as we have no doubt they are bound to do anyway. Better by far that the contemplated annexation, if ever it is to be at all, should be postponed until some time away on in the twentieth century than that it should be hurried on prematurely, with the result of the islanders crying out a few years afterwards: "Oh! we wish we hadn't done it; however did we let these rascally Canadians make such fools of us?"

The Newfoundlanders are decent, good people, and would be desirable for our fellow-citizens. Further, the political geography of the Dominion is clearly out of correspondence with its physical geography until the island becomes a part of Canada. We have just one misgiving, however, about the islanders. They are such determined Free Traders, so we hear, that they would not easily become reconciled to Canada's National Policy. Therefore we say: "Friends, consider this well beforehand; and don't come in unless you feel sure that you could be happy under the N.P." One practical kind of a question there is, which we hope we may put without offence: You have had free trade to your heart's content these many years back; now, what is its net result-to-day? Does it not strike you that it might be worth while to try the other plan, just for a change, you know?

There are in New York free night schools at which the English language is taught foreigners. It occurs to The World that the establishment of free schools for teaching the English language in certain parts of Canada would be a step in the direction of one language for the whole Dominion. There are thousands of Canadians, no doubt, who would avail themselves of the opportunity to learn the English language.

Over the Border.

The present popular Mayor of New York city, Mr. Abram S. Hewitt, was renominated on Thursday night by a citizens' mass meeting. On Saturday the renomination was ratified by the organization called the County Democracy. These two organizations both belong to the Democratic party, but can't agree. To say that they do not pull well together would be putting it mildly; they are "at daggers drawn," to use a common expression. The Tammany men had before nominated Sheriff Grant. Some think that, owing to the split in the Democratic ranks, now is the time for the Republicans to run in a candidate of their own. But whether they will risk so bold an attempt remains to be seen. It would be a phenomenon were New York to elect a Republican mayor; in fact, it is something not to be expected.

Our American contemporaries, or some of them, are still harping on about "the annexation of Canada." They will probably find this an enjoyable pastime for three or four weeks more; but then the twanging will cease to interest the audience.

Oshawa people generally, and many Toronto people too, will remember Mr. F. W. Glen, who for many years carried on a large manufacturing business in Oshawa. From an interview with him published in The Press, a New York Republican and Protectionist paper, we learn that he is now a citizen of Brooklyn, the famous "city of churches." Mr. Glen is clear and emphatic on two points. First, that Protection is the policy for the United States. And, next, that Reciprocity with the States would be the making of Canada. According to our reading of the interview, he would agree with The Globe as far as Free Trade across the boundary is concerned. But for the continent Mr. Glen advocates high protection against all the world outside; while The Globe is all for Free Trade; and here the two would not agree at all.

Of course all Senator Sherman wants for the United States are a few of our products such as lumber, fish, minerals and a few other things although there is now no reason why the States should not have these except that they put a tax on them. But certainly they do not want annexation or Commercial Union so that they may flood this country with their manufactures to the destruction of our own industries.

A Young Man on His Travels.

The Emperor William of Germany is now on his travels. A short time ago he visited his friend the Czar, also other friends in the North. The other day he called to see another august friend, the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria and Hungary, and next he will be in Rome, holding friendly chat both with the Pope and King Humbert. As the latter two personages do not harmonize well together, it may be difficult for him to keep up a friendly modus vivendi with both, and all in the same city, too.

He is a very influential young man, the Emperor William, and naturally enough there is much speculation indulged in as to whether this visiting of his will promote peace in Europe, or whether it will hasten the war which everybody believes will come some day ere long. Up to Saturday the prevailing opinion appeared to be (in Europe) that the cause of peace was decidedly the gainer by the Emperor's visits to his brother sovereigns. "The meeting of the Emperors at Vienna," so said one cable correspondent, "has removed the last fear of an immediate disturbance of the peace of Europe." This sounds well, though we like not that word "immediate." It seems to suggest something. But yesterday the cable had an unpleasant addition to make. Count Taafe has been Prime Minister of Austro-Hungary for nine years, he is the most confidental adviser of his sovereign, and undeniably the most powerful subject in the Empire. Well, him the Emperor William treated with marked unfriendliness, though he had been conspicuous in his attentions to Count Tisza, the chief minister of the Hungarian section of the Empire. As to the cause of this contretemps, it has been suggested that the German Emperor may feel piqued at Count Taafe having done his utmost to prevent him from getting a rousing popular welcome in Vienna. Count Taafe's supporters in Parliament, the Czechs Poles, and German Ultramontane aristocracy, although more or less friendly to the German alliance on political grounds, would have strongly objected to Emperor William getting such a reception in Vienna as might have induced him to believe that Austria considered herself to be living under a sort of German protectorate, and was delighted with that position.

Leaving aside for prophecies either peace or war, we venture a theory of our own concerning the object of this very influential young man's tour of Europe at this time. We suggest, then, that his main object is to meet with other sovereigns, to introduce himself to European society as an Emperor too, among the rest of them; and, generally, to let everybody know that he is "there." This would be an appropriate enough ambition on his part; and we have no doubt that these visits of his are intended in the first place to let other Emperors, Kings, and the rest of them—see that he is on hand and ready for business. If we rub the truth pretty closely here, then it may be inferred that the first effect of the tour, at all events, will be in favor of peace. But what later effects may follow from it time must tell. This young man, now on his travels, may, during these visits of his to various capitals, form both friendships and enmities—one here and another there—which will yet powerfully affect the future of Europe.

The Bobcaygeon Independent gives as one reason why Canada ought to go for annexation that the million dollars now spent annually by our militia department would be saved. The Haliburton journalist is far enough back in the bush not to fear the guns of a European man-of-war should Canada have to depend on the United States paper-navy for protection.

The House of Industry and the City Council.

If the $8000 which the Board of Directors of the House of Industry wish to spend this season has to be guaranteed by the city, the Council should also be responsible for the judicious expenditure of the money. For a long time the public has demanded an improvement in the method of dealing with the casual poor at the House of Industry. The management of that establishment turned a deaf ear to the demand until at last public opinion compelled the Board to open ears and eyes too. Now in hot haste and with extravagant hand they wish to spend from $8000 to $12000, the responsibility for which must eventually fall on the city, and for buildings which cannot possibly be ready in time for this season's casuals. If the Board would act wisely they would test the bath and labor scheme this season by a process which could be got ready immediately at small cost, and by the experience thus gained they would be able early in spring to commence such buildings and alterations as would be suitable. If the Board can not or will not act in this sensible way then Mayor Clarke should withhold the $2000 promised by the city.

Ottawa as a Mining Centre.

The Mining Review looks into the future and sees the changes that a few years will make in the Ottawa district. The timber trade will naturally decline and the stalwart raftsman will give place to the rugged miner. The Review tells us that the whole Laurentian range of mountains possesses mineral wealth of one kind or another, iron, plumbago, galena or lead, phosphate or apatite, asbestos and mica, all being found there. Few have suspected the untold value of the country in that part of our Dominion. There are plumbago mines at Buckingham which have been crippled by mismanagement but which gave a yield of mineral of such a pure quality that they will soon be worked again.

The iron deposits, which abound, will prove as valuable in the near future as the gold-bearing quartz in the lands where the latter is worked. The iron of the district is known abroad for its excellent qualities, and compares with the finest Sheffield steel. One mine alone, in the townships of Templeton and Hull, is estimated by Professor Chapman to contain 6,300,000 tons, equal to a daily out-put of 100 tons of ore, or 60 tons of metal during a period of a century and a half. The iron deposits in Bristol are also now a centre of attraction, a number of capitalists having taken them in hand, and the only requisite to perfect a large iron trade are smelting works, which time will certainly bring about.

To the mining industry Ottawa must in future look for her trade. And to her mining industry Canada can confidently look for vast returns. The World has considered Canada's mining possibilities as enormous, but the reports from the various mineral districts tell us that the half had not been told of their wealth.

Mr. Wiman's commercial agency publishes a list of the failures in Canada during the past nine months of 1888. But in the list we looked in vain for a report of the failure of his Unrestricted Reciprocity—Commercial Union—Continental Free Trade—Annexation fad.

The Growth of the Cotton Industry.

The history of the expansion of the cotton industry in Canada is given in The Canadian Textile Directory. Cotton mills there were before 1878, but they did a business of comparative insignificance until the protective policy boomed the industry and increased it so that where there were four mills there sprang up nineteen more. Such a spur was given to the industry that it has grown to such dimensions that there are now in Canada 23 mills, 11,370 looms and 529,100 spindles, distributed over the provinces as follows:

	Mills.	Looms.	Spindles
New Brunswick	5	2161	89,000
Nova Scotia	3	763	33,500
Quebec	7	5338	260,300
Ontario	8	3103	144,300
Grand total	23	11,370	529,100

East Northumberland has had more than its share of elections. There have been six during the past three years and sixteen during the past fifteen years.

THE RYERSON STATUE.

Hamilton McCarthy's Colossal Bronze Figure Finished.

From The New York Herald, Oct. 5.

The late Rev. Dr. Egerton Ryerson won the proud title of "the father of education in Canada." A colossal bronze statue of him will be unveiled shortly in Toronto in front of the Normal School.

The statue, which is the work of Hamilton McCarthy, an English sculptor, whose studio is in Toronto, has just been finished in bronze at the Henry Bonnard works in this city. It was shipped to Canada yesterday.

The figure of Dr. Ryerson is nine feet ten inches in height, and the statue and accessories weigh 3,34 pounds, over a ton and a half. Dr. Ryerson stands as if addressing an audience. His right hand is extended in oratorical gesture and the left one holds a book. The right foot is advanced.

On a pedestal, bearing on one side the arms of the Province of Ontario, lie, one on the other, several books. The clergyman wears over his low cut, buttoned, double-breasted frock coat, the flowing robes of a doctor of divinity.

The statue is well posed and fairly well modelled, the best work in the latter line being seen in the massive head and the basic of the robes. The expression of the face is life-like and the head, which in its apparently excessive size is said to be true to nature, makes a pleasing impression. The doctor, whose flowing locks are brushed off the forehead, is partly bald and wears on his face but short side whiskers. The face has been most conscientiously modelled.

The general effect of the treatment is rather heavy and the handling is somewhat conventional. There is little that is picturesque and the decorative quality is lacking. The statue is impressive in its way, and while not a brilliant work is a creditable one. A decided mistake has been made in allowing a corner of the pedestal on which the books rest to project over the plinth.

To Entertain Our American Brethren.

There were present at yesterday's meeting of the Reception Committee Ald. Dodds (Chairman), Shaw, Piper, Swait, St. Leger, Frankland and Macdonald. The cause of the calling together of the members was to discuss the ways and means of receiving in due form the American Humane Association, whose members are to visit Toronto on Oct. 17. As Chairman Dodds and the Mayor will be out of town when the members arrive, Ald. Frankland was appointed chairman of the Reception Committee for the purpose of entertaining them, and it was further resolved to ask the Council for the necessary funds.

Cost of Heating the City Hall.

The Property Committee met yesterday afternoon. Present: Ald. Irwin, Chairman; Denison, Roaf, Maughan, Hewitt, Galbraith, Gibbs, and City Commissioner Coatsworth. The special object of the gathering was to consider what supplies were necessary for the proper heating of the City Hall during the present winter. A report submitted showed that at present there were in actual use in the building 5 furnaces, 13 grates, 6 box stoves, and 4 self-feeders. These burn up on an average 100 tons each season, and now it was proposed to place another furnace for the purpose of heating up the new addition to the western wing. There was only one tender, that of George Guest, who offered to do the work, put in boiler and fixings, for $1500. Mr. Guest is the man who was called in to give an opinion as to what was needed to heat the wing in the first place. The tender was accepted.

"Yes, I come from Truro, Nova Scotia," said a gentleman yesterday, in one of the leading hotels. "I am up here buying my fall stock of underwear and clothing. I find though that I can buy cheaper at the Army & Navy stores than at the wholesale houses. You Toronto people have a soft snap, being able to buy at the Army & Navy. Why, they sell far cheaper than wholesale houses."

For the Mission Field.

Arrangements are now being completed by the College Y. M. C. A. for the departure of their missionary, Mr. James S. Gale. Nearly all the funds immediately required have been secured. This gentleman is expected to leave Toronto about Oct. 18 and will sail about a week later from Victoria, Vancouver Island, for Corea, which will be the field of his labors. Mr. Robt. Harkness, B. A., a fellow-student of Mr. Gale's, accompanies him. He goes under the auspices of a small committee composed chiefly of business men of the city, whose plans in the management of the mission and method of obtaining money are similar to those of the China Inland Mission.

The Central Bank and E. S. Cox Once More.

At the Civil Assizes yesterday the case of Central Bank v. Cox came up. It was an action by the liquidators of the Central Bank against E. S. Cox, Alice Cox and F. W. Worts for $14,000, the amount of three promissory notes made by E. S. Cox and drawn on the Central Bank. The defendants were not represented, and a verdict was entered for the plaintiffs for the whole amount.

ORILLIAS ARE CHAMPIONS.

THEY WIN THE C. L. A. INTERMEDIATE PENNANT.

Meeting of Shareholders of the Toronto Baseball Club—Ball Games Yesterday—Racing at Jerome Park—Baseball and Turf Gossip.

The 1888 intermediate championship of the Canadian Lacrosse Association was decided upon the Rosedale grounds yesterday when the Thistles of Fergus, champions of the Northwestern district; the Orillias, champions of the Northeastern district; and the Excelsiors of Brampton, champions of the Central district, met to play off for the final championship. The Niagaras, champions of the Niagara district; the Dufferins (Orangeville), champions of the Southern district; the Cartwrights, champions of the Western district; the Lakevews, champions of the Gerry district; and the Blenheim Kents, champions of the Southwestern district, did not appear.

As will be seen the Fergus and Orillia clubs played first. The Orillias defeated Fergus by 3 goals to 2, after which Orillia played Brampton, the bye team, and defeating them won the C. L. A. intermediate championship—which last year went to the Dufferins of Orangeville—by a score of 3 to 1. The games were timed to last 1½ hours each instead of the regulation 2½ hours of the association.

ORILLIA V. FERGUS.

In this match the teams, times, &c., were:

Referee, D. Small, O. L. C.; C. Robinson, T. L. C., and W. Paps, O. L. C., umpires.

Games.	Won by.	Scorer.	Time.
1st	Orillias	R. Henderson	43 m.
2nd	Orillias	Moore	1 m.
3rd	Orillias	McMillan	1 m.
4th	Fergus	Mitchell	5 m.
5th	Fergus	Mitchell	6 m.

This match did not prove to be nearly as exciting as that which came afterwards, nor could it by any means be called as fine an exhibition of lacrosse. When the teams lined up it was seen that the Fergus men were by far the heavier men, but the play showed that they were too small for the Orillia boys, who showed themselves in excellent trim. Still, both teams did some wild playing, especially in the matter of throwing and no less than five balls went over the east fence.

ORILLIA V. BRAMPTON.

In this match there was a change made in the Orillia's team, Lou Campbell being substituted for Robins, who had received a bad blow in the eye during the previous match. There was some fear that the game would fall talking about the "ringers," but from all accounts there seems to have been some foundation. Campbell was informally but audibly informed that he was a ringer from Bradford without a certificate and the Orillia team charged in the same unofficial way that T. Manes of the Brampton had played this season with the Aston Club which of course is "agin the law," but then it was explained that by an accident Manes had been issued two certificates. There was a howl of blow and bluster, but no formal protest was entered against the other club. A group of the Ontario Lacrosse Club sympathised deeply and with much strength of voice for the Brampton boys, as against the iron hinged noise made by a Young Toronto Lacrosse Club coterie on behalf of the Orillia visitors.

2nd	Orillias	Moore	10m.
3rd	Brampton	R. Manes	24m.
4th	Orillias	Moore	3m.

This was really a finely contested match in which while the Bramptons worked hard they proved themselves, especially in running, much inferior to the Orillias. The two Hendersons, especially "Dickey," make a strong pair and did valuable service.

The Orillia club worked hard for its victory, and by coming out on top in two hotly contested matches in one afternoon they well earned the title of "Intermediate Champions of the Canadian Lacrosse Association."

WHAT THEY SAID.

J. Goldtoothe Garvin—Get off the field you, or I'll put you off.

G. Orillia Thompson—Boys, you did well and I'm proud.

Billy Kennedy, O. L. C.—A most deliberate foul, gentlemen, a most deliberate foul.

W. Bouquet Pape—It's a cold day for umpiring but a pink in my buttonhole kept me warm.

C. Cheesey Robinson—Say, did you see my English Newmarket fill up the goal and flap in the wind?

D. Argument Rose—As president of the association I must return my thanks. I'm glad someone won it.

D. Referee Small—'Twas in sooth a case of "a Daniel come to judgement."

Young-Torontos-and-Ontarios (to each other)—Booh! Bah! Rats! Ringers!

The Toronto Baseball Club Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto Baseball Club was held at the Rossin House last night. President McConnell was in the chair. The financial statement of the receipts at home was submitted as follows: Receipts from games $16,489; grand stand $4600; Score cards, $621; Cushions $127; ground rentals $594; total $22,433. Visiting clubs received $7132, or $1500 more than in 1887. The receipts abroad were $6507.

The old Board of Directors were re-elected and at a subsequent of the directors Mr. McConnell was re-elected President and Treasurer. The usual vote of thanks was passed to the President, directors and Manager Cushman.

Pitcher Atkinson will leave to-day for his home in Philadelphia. He has recovered sufficiently from his illness to go about.

On reconsideration Decker has decided to remain with the Toronto Club and his sale to Chicago will not hold wood, he refusing to go, preferring the attractions of the Queen City to Chicago salary.

The Torontos all left for their homes on Sunday with the exception of Atkinson and Decker. Hartnett went to Boston, McLaughlin to Louisville, Burke to Sunbury, Kearns and Weidman to Rochester, Rickley and Oldfield to Philadelphia, Mansell to Cincinnati, Shepherd to Smith's Falls, and Connors to London.

Toronto Hunt Steeplechases.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Toronto Hunt Club was held last night to arrange for the fall meeting, which will be held at Woodbine Park Saturday next. The program as present includes five events, all of which are for hunters, but it is likely that the Committee will add an open race, which will be decided upon to-day. It will be a handicap about a mile and an eighth and as the race will likely bring together Harry Cooper, First Attempt, Drake Carter and Wild Rose, it would prove a great contest and be an immense drawing card to the meeting. It is to be hoped that the Committee will decide favorably upon this event and they will no doubt do so. The hunt races, which include three steeplechases and two flat races, should prove interesting contests, and with fine weather the attendance will undoubtedly be large. The entries will close to-morrow night with the secretary, W. T. Murray, as also will the open race, which will be announced in to-morrow's issue.

Gossip of the Turf.

Timothy Blong, who had his collar-bone broken while riding Trustee in the open steeplechase at Woodbine Park on Saturday, was out yesterday and was anxious to get in the saddle, but Dr. Moorhouse who was attending him would not permit it.

On the fair grounds at Brockton, Mass., on Friday last, Mme. Marianette drove Major Banks and Trumpet to a wagon one mile in 1.54½ over a half-mile track, the record heretofore being 1.55.

Poole, the great London tailor, once said:—"The secret of my success is that I use the finest trimmings I can get." The Army & Navy seems to have taken a pointer from Poole. The trimmings in their new fall overcoats are really lovely. There is an air of luxury in the very feel of their nap overcoats at ten dollars; their Melton coats at ten, fifteen and eighteen. See them! It will open your eyes to the fact that you can get a ready-made overcoat for ten dollars that will fit and look better in every way than an order cost at twenty. You know small tailors cannot keep the trimmings to match their goods, but at the Army & Navy everything in their coats harmonize. Be sure you go to the Army & Navy.

THE GLOBE ANSWERED.

City Treasurer Harman Answers Its Criticism of His Department.

The following letter was read in Council last night in answer to charges preferred in The Globe newspaper:

DEAR MR. MAYOR: I am extremely anxious to resume my active duties as Treasurer, but I am so strongly advised to prolong the term of rest in which, by the kindness of the Council, I have been indulging, and which my health so imperatively required, that I think, with a view to the future, I had better take a rather longer term of absence.

Let me, therefore, from my table here, write you a few lines on the subject of certain remarks which have appeared in the press on the subject of our forthcoming issues of debentures, and the proposition to bring them out at 3½ per cent.

I cannot think this proposition is the result of a sound judgment, or a well-considered policy of finance, and we should wait, until we see our 4 per cent. thoroughly established on a par basis before we are justified in experimenting on a lower scale. It has always been a source of pride that the management of the Treasury Department, the work of which has almost quadrupled during my term of office, has always received the hearty support of the entire Council from year to year, and a reference to the administration of the succession of able chairmen of the Executive Committee will show that they individually were accorded a like support. When I was appointed Treasurer in 1874, our 6 per cent. were selling below par. They gradually advanced and then 5 per cent. were issued at first below par. They in their turn gradually advanced, and then 4 per cent. were issued, at first also below par. Their advance has been gradual and steady, and I think it would be unwise just as we see the prospect of establishing them at par, or probably an advance over par, to drop to a lower rate of interest.

Our "sixes" are now worth over 120, our "fives" over 116, and let us get our "fours" in the same ratio, to over 100, and then will be the time to issue "three-and-a-half," with a hope of seeing an advance, necessarily a gradual one, all along the line.

To bring out "threes-and-a-half," with the deliberate intention of selling them at 91, or 2 per cent. discount, would be, I think, a grave mistake, and would not be calculated to improve the city's credit, of which, standing so high as it does, we should be most jealously careful.

The question of trying a sale at all just now when the rate of interest has advanced so suddenly is also one for consideration, and which "our strength" is not just at present "to sit still."

Kindly show what I have written to our worthy Chairman of the Executive. I cannot express how sorely I regret I am not able to be at my office desk for the work I have given.

SAM. B. HARMAN, City Treasurer.

Ald. McMillan read the letter, and in his remarks was particularly severe on The Globe. Ald. Gillespie retorted that The Globe was right and hinted that the City Treasurer's department required investigation. Ald. McMillan replied that any man who could say these muse be either drunk with wine or something else. The subject dropped.

Jos. Beaudin, M.D., Hull P.Q., writes:—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil commands a large and increasing sale, which it richly merits. I have always found it exceedingly helpful; in all cases of Rheumatism, as well as fractures and dislocations. I made use of it myself to calm the pains of a broken leg, the fracture of the foot, and in two days I was entirely relieved from pain."
