Some of the debris fell on the bed, on which one was sleeping, cutting her head and face severely. Luckily most of the debris was supported by the roof remnants.

So stormy was it on the bay that men working on the island refused to cross over.

A PLAIN STATEMENT.

Quality of Beer Depends Upon Superiority of Materials, Treatment and Maturity.

Purity is a universal essential in all beers. The observance of cleanliness and sterilization will secure it.

Healthfulness, combined with flavor and taste, constitutes real quality, and these are impossible without the very best materials and the highest order of treatment. This is what science and experience teach.

Quality, depending upon the character of materials and the methods employed, is the real goal for competition among brewers.

Materials: To provide the public with a really good, palatable and wholesome beer of the highest quality, we use the best barley malt, the highest grade hops, superior yeast, and in our pale beers a small percentage of rice. In all our beers we use the best and purest materials, regardless of cost.

Corn we never use, although it is not excluded by authority, and has the advantage of cheapness. We use no substitute of any kind to reduce our expense. We spare neither money nor care to fortify and increase our well-earned and long-established reputation.

Treatment and Maturity: We employ only the most modern methods in our brewing: our latest acquisition being 200 glass-lined steel tanks made by the Pfaudler Co., of Rochester, N. Y. The beer, after leaving the brew kettles, is conveyed to glass enameled fermenting vats. After fermentation it is lagered (aged) from four to five months in the glass-lined steel tanks before it is bottled; thus absolute purity of our beer is insured, because it is in glass from the time it is brewed until it is consumed. Our present storing capacity of 500,000 barrels is more than that of any other two breweries in the world.

These facilities enable us to age our beer the length of time necessary to guarantee its purity and maturity—not in printers' ink—but in fact.

For these reasons Budweiser, the King of Bottled Beers, must and does command a higher price than any other beer, and at the same time has a greater sale than all other bottled beers.

DR. LYND HAS "RED ROOM" ALIBI WITNESSES PLACE HIM IN COUNCIL

Himself Swears Positively That Mr. Jones is in Error—Missing Books of Bennett & Wright Cause a Postponement.

The sensational did not figure largely in the civic inquiry doings of yesterday, but there was a hint at possibly interesting complications for the future, in the long examination by Mr. Drayton of representatives of Bennett & Wright anent their continued failure to produce certain cash books dating between the years 1896 and 1901. Judge Winchester and the crown attorney seemed to attach particular importance to the missing volumes, and it was owing to their absence that the inquiry was adjourned till Friday morning.

From Joseph Leech, treasurer of the company, it was learned that a cheque had been made out in 1903 for $2366.50 to the Master Plumbers' Association and charged up to a special merchandise account, which did not stand for merchandise transactions. The rest of the morning was taken up with efforts to establish an alibi for Dr. Lynd in the alleged red-room episode.

Dr. Lynd said it wasn't true he had told Lennox he expected something from any contractor. Lennox told him Mr. Rogers would like to see him. He reaffirmed that Rogers had told him the money was for election expenses. Dinnis had said his gift was for "expenses" whether he mentioned elections or not.

Wasn't There.

Witness said he understood John Jones was vexed at his (Lynd's) having argued for the transfer of authority on July 17, and positively declared he had not been out of the city hall up to 7 o'clock on the fateful afternoon.

Ex-Mayor Urquhart testified that he had not noticed Ald. Lynd go out, and Ald. Harrison was positive Dr. Lynd was present in council during the whole discussion on the hospital scheme, which closed about 5.45.

Dr. John Hunter testified that he was present and had watched Dr. Lynd carefully because he was one of the aldermen whose support was counted upon by the medical deputation. Dr. Lynd had not gone out before the vote was taken.

Dr. John Ferguson testified along the same line.

"I want you to be frank with me. Wasn't there a good deal of friction between yourself and Mr. Jones?" asked Mr. Johnston of Dr. Sheard, who replied that there had been before the transfer. Dr. Sheard said so far as he knew, Dr. Lynd, who had asked him to speak shortly after 4 o'clock, had not gone out during the next two hours.

Dr. Lynd, recalled, said he could swear positively he was not in the "red room" that day.

City Engineer Rust, who was called on Dr. Lynd's request, said that Dr. Lynd had never tried to influence him in connection with any contract.

Those Missing Books.

The examination of Joseph Leech took a long time. Mr. Leech is treasurer for Bennett & Wright, the nonproduction of certain of whose books is causing delay. Leech asserted that the books were kept in the vault. No one in particular was custodian of the key. The cheques for 1896 had disappeared and the stubs also.

Mr. Drayton was very persistent in inquiries about the nature of the special merchandise account. Leech said the vanished cash books would make clear the entries.

Judge Winchester reprimanded the treasurer for not having personally undertaken to find the books, and told W. R. Riddell, K.C., who appeared for E. J. Lennox, that much time had been lost. From Mr. Leech and Secretary McCullough were gotten the names of those who had access to the books. Mr. Riddell gave Mr. McCullough a verbal shaking up for having neglected to make a thoro hunt.

AN INSURANCE COMBINE?

Kingston Has an Experience Which Savors of the Term.

Kingston, Jan. 16.—(Special.)—The city clerk was notified this morning by the Union Society of England, that the policy held by it on the city property would be cancelled on January 24, and enclosing a cheque for $456.08 rebate for the unexpired term of the policy.

The insurance in question was for $45,000 on city buildings, firehalls, fair buildings, etc. It was first taken out on Sept. 13, 1904, and renewed on the same day in 1905. The premium was $717.55. The Union Society is the one which, tho a tariff company itself, broke the combine in September, 1904 and offered the City of Kingston its insurance at the old rate. The other companies of the combine made a strenuous protest against this proceeding and ever since have been working to have the Union Company cancel its policy with the city. It has taken the combine 16 months to succeed in its endeavor.

The present tariff rate would be about $150 more this year than the city was paying the company. Now, in the days of combines and the punishment being meted out to them, the action of the board of underwriters will not be endorsed by the citizens. The action of the Union Assurance Company in holding the policy up to the present against such odds is commended.

NEGRO TUNNEL WORKERS SMOTHERED IN RIVER BED

Compressed Air Pipe Bursts, But Prompt Action of Foreman Saves Several Lives.

New York, Jan. 16.—Two negro tunnel workers were killed by suffocation and caisson disease, two were drowned, two others were seriously overcome, and the white foreman and assistant suffered severely in rescuing those who survived, when a compressed air pipe burst in the East River tunnel, on the Man o' War reef, opposite Forty-second-street, early today.

The bodies of the drowned men still lie at the bottom of the shaft, 20 feet below the river level. These men were overwhelmned by the water that entered the shaft when the pressure was removed. The other two dead men were hoisted to the surface by the foreman and his assistant, who also rescued the two whose lives were saved.

The foreman and his assistant were hoisted to the river level with the bodies just in time to escape drowning and death by the "Bends," as the dreaded caisson disease is called.

The six tunnel workers were at the bottom of the shaft to-day when Harold R. Shallers, the foreman, who was at the surface, discovered something wrong below. He entered the bucket and was lowered into the lower compartment passing thru an air lock, which permits the high pressure of air to be maintained where the men were digging. This pressure is necessary to keep the water of the river from breaking into the shaft.

In the lower compartment Shaller found that the six inch air pipe by which the pressure of air was maintained and which was supposed to have been tested to a pressure of 200 pounds to the square inch had burst and the pressure of air upon the walls of the compartment had ceased. The six negroes lay on the bottom of the shaft with the water oozing thru the debris and rising even them.

Shallers placed two of them in the bucket and gave the signal for hoisting it to the surface. When the bucket was again lowered into the shaft, the foreman's assistant, Carl Verbeck, came with it. They placed two more men in the bucket and then Shallers fell to the ground unconscious. His assistant was barely able to place him in the bucket, crawl in also and give the hoisting signal.

THE DEPARTMENT OF MILITIA.

Editor World: Is the department of militia in Canada run solely in the interests of the Church of Rome? If not, how comes it to pass that the "religious" one of the newly appointed visitors to Royal Military College, Kingston, is Mgr. Matthieu, rector of Laval University, Quebec? (See Monday's Globe.) Things are so mixed up in this department nowadays that recently, according to this same Globe, the citadel of Quebec had only 127 officers and men on duty.

Are we of Ontario to be directly insulted by having this ecclesiastic to hereafter direct the religious side of R. M. C.?
