RAW SUGAR MARKET STILL ON UP-GRADE

Indicative of Even Higher Prices On Refined.

The Canadian Grocer this week publishes the following comment on conditions in Toronto.

Following the recent advances on Acadia and Dominion sugars, other refineries have also registered advances. Redpath, $2 per hundred, and Atlantic and St. Lawrence $2.50 per hundred. The differentials on gunnies and cartons have also advanced. The situation in the raw sugar market continues upward, and these advancing prices on raw are indicative of even higher prices on refined. Lyle's cane syrup has advanced, and higher prices on corn syrups are not unlikely in view of the higher cost of corn and containers. Cereals are ruling firm in a quiet market, but the steadily advancing prices of grains, especially corn and oats, is having a firming tendency. Manufacturers of cereals state that the present price of grains warrants an early advance on all oat and corn products. The ever-increasing consumption of tea and the difficulty of transportation are causing a shortage of spot stocks. Shipments that are arriving are mostly of the medium grades and a scarcity of the finer grades and the lower grades is noted. No new developments are manifest in the market for rice. A few small shipments are arriving, but with the big season for rice approaching, it is stated in some quarters that prices will reach even higher levels, due to the short crops and the control of exports in European countries. Canned goods are steady and dried fruits also. Imports of spices have been extremely small and in consequence spot stocks have ben steadily dwindling. Local importers are predicting firmer to higher prices in view of the scarcity of certain lines and the keen bidding amongst European buyers. Potato supplies are scarce and quotations are higher. Advances have been registered on washboards, parowax, cigarette papers, condensed milk and Lenox soap.

The produce and provision markets are slightly firmer. Fresh meats have advanced one to two cents per pound. Hams and bacon are quoted higher. Cooked hams are quoted two cents per pound higher. The egg market is firmer, probably due to the fact that storage operations are now under way. The butter market is easier and quotations are one cent per pound down. Cheese, lard and shortening are steady.

ST. THOMAS GIVES BANQUET FOR LONDON RAILWAY COMMISSION TO MARK NEW DEPOT'S OPENING

Sir Adam Beck Predicts Big Developments in Radial Facilities in Western Ontario and Port Stanley Lake Commerce—Ancient Rivalries Laid Aside.

Important developments in hydro-radial facilities in Western Ontario and Port Stanley lake commerce in the near future were predicted by Sir Adam Beck, replying to the toast to the "London Railway Commission," at the banquet tendered by the corporation of the city of St. Thomas to the commission at the Grand Central Hotel on Friday night to mark the official opening of the new St. Thomas Depot of the London and Port Stanley Railway. A survey of the proposed hydro-radial route from London to Brantford had been quietly taken, said Sir Adam, and at Brantford the road, when built, will be linked up with the Dominion road to Hamilton. The need of an elevator at Port Stanley was dwelt upon. Ships were waiting to come in with grain from the west, and the elevator would be built, there was no doubt.

At the depot opening ceremony late in the afternoon brief addresses were given by Sir Adam Beck, Mayor F. L. Brinkman and ex-Mayor E. A. Horton. The key was turned in the new depot by Mayor Brinkman, followed by ex-Mayor Horton, who officially presented a flag on behalf of the city to the commission to be flown from the top of the depot. The only little hitch in the ceremony occurred when Mr. Horton, after expressing the hope that the flag would wave for a long time, proceeded officially to unfurl it. The flag refused to be unfurled, but a volunteer from among the spectators promptly climbed to the top of the station and relieved the situation.

The Banquet.

Mayor Binkman presided at the banquet following, when toasts were drunk to the provincial and federal legislative bodies, sister municipalities, public utilities, transportation interests and chambers of commerce and boards of trade.

Mayor Brinkman, welcoming the guests, referred to the proud title adopted by St. Thomas as the "Flower City," the beauties of which had been enhanced greatly by the new depot, for which the city was fully grateful to Sir Adam Beck and the London Railway Commission. He also touched upon the importance of Port Stanley as a seaport of the future.

Rev. J. W. J. Andrews, chairman of the board of education, responded to the toast to "Parliament and Legislatures," proposed by Ald. Dr. J. D. Curtis, and graphically referred to the great scenic and natural resources of Canada, and expressed the opinion that there was "on the whole a splendid body of men legislating in the Dominion of Canada." Among them were men of high convictions and "religious persuasion."

Ald. C. E. Raven proposed the toast to "The London Railway Commission," a body of men who had achieved splendid results in the reconstruction and successful operation of the railroad.

London Not Antagonistic.

Sir Adam Beck referred to the occasion as the most pleasant of many pleasant occasions when London, St. Thomas and associated municipalities had come together. Antagonistic feelings sometimes prevailed between rival communities, but London at least entertained no antagonistic feelings toward St. Thomas. Railway transportation was the big thing of today. Where would the West have been had not a great railroad been constructed to unite Western and Eastern Canada? he asked.

Interests of electric and steam roads were not really antagonistic. They served different interests and purposes. Sir Adam quoted Pere Marquette officials as saying at a conference held recently to discuss a proposed hydro radial from Chatham to Sarnia that in Michigan electric radials had increased the business of the steam roads.

"It is service alone gets business, whether in the pulpit or in the management of a railroad," said Sir Adam. In the last year of steam operation of the Port Stanley road 105,000 passengers had been carried. Last year the road carried 996,000, and this year it would carry over a million. The Port Stanley road was electrified not to make money, but to put London on the lake and, incidentally, it had put St. Thomas on the lake, too. With a Great Lakes commerce not exceeded by that of the Mediterranean the increasing of Port Stanley as a port was beyond doubt.

The Pioneer.

Sixty-one miles of municipal hydro radials were now being operated and 69 extra miles authorized. Five hundred miles had been surveyed and recommended by the hydro commission. In the Border Cities, and everywhere else that the people had voted on the project, the vote had been ten to one in favor of operation by the commission. The London and Port Stanley was the pioneer hydro radial. Port Stanley was destined to be the one great port on the north shore of Lake Erie. Another ferry was in view, and before long hard coal as well as soft coal would be shipped via Port Stanley. Guelph radial would be taken over by the commission next July. The steam roads offered good facilities for trunk traffic, but the Michigan Central, for instance, was of no value to the people of Western Ontario in getting their produce to market.

Sir Adam paid tribute to the members of the London Railway Commission who had exhibited splendid team work and unanimity of action, he said.

Referring to the demands of the Port Stanley railroad employees for higher wages, he hoped it was only a difference of opinion. "We want to give them a fair deal," he said. "We know what they're up against," he added with reference to the soaring cost of living, "and we'll try to go just a little further than we have gone to try to meet them.

"Let's develop Port Stanley; let's develop St. Thomas; let's develop everything that will make for our mutual betterment. Don't let's always think of the almighty dollar."

The First Time.

Ald. Patrick Meehan proposed the toast to "Our Sister Municipalities," jocularly referring to the occasion as the first time in his forty years' experience that London and St. Thomas had been brought amicably together. There had been friction too long. A year ago the two municipalities were at war over the provincial highway. Their ammunition, however, was harmless. It was not poison gas, but just hot air. Some day London and Port Stanley would grow into St. Thomas, the hub of the whole district. Already the trend was evident in the building of the new military hospital half way between the two cities.

Mayor E. S. Little of London referred to railway stations as the gateways of cities. Too long had they been made backdoors instead of frontdoors. The Port Stanley development was a big project. Hydro development was a big project. But the canalization of the St. Lawrence was a bigger project still, and embraced all these projects.

Warden W. H. Mills replied for Elgin County, and Reeve Nate Cornell of Port Stanley dwelt upon the certainty of enormous trade developments at Port Stanley.

Ald. C. A. Walker complimented London on its economical and efficient management of public utilities under a commission, and Philip Pocock, replying, referred to the popularization of electric power by the London utilities department in eight or nine years. Practically every home had electric light and household power now, whereas the London Electric Company in 25 years had only secured 2,800 customers.

Matter of Economy.

W. K. Cameron, chairman of the Ontario Municipal Association, and of the St. Thomas Hydro-Electric Commission, declared that in his judgment before many years the great steam trunk lines would be clamoring for hydro power. It was a matter of economy. Coal was becoming too costly as a source of motive power.

Ald. F. A. Lemon introduced the representatives of the "Transportation Interests," Superintendent Roger S. Black of the Pere Marquette Railroad, Ald. Robert Middleton of the Michigan Central, and Chief Engineer and Acting Manager Arthur Morrison of the London & Port Stanley Railway.

Regret was expressed by the speakers for the illness of General Manager Richards.

The Michigan Central, said Ald. Middleton, had received $50,000 last year in passenger traffic from London to Buffalo and eastern points that it would not have received but for the London & Port Stanley Road.

Following an introductory address by Ald. G. E. Hill, T. W. McFarland spoke for the London Chamber of Commerce, and Ex-Mayor E. A. Horton for the St. Thomas Board of Trade.

"The London Chamber of Commerce does things," declared Mr. Horton, who added that a public elevator at Port Stanley would be a step in the right direction.

The toast to the press was responded to by E. MacIver of the St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A vote of thanks, moved by Dr. R. W. Shaw of London and Reeve Cornell of Port Stanley, was tendered to the City of St. Thomas, Mayor Brinkman and aldermen.

Among other civic representatives were City Clerk Baker, Ald. G. B. Drake, Commissioner F. G. Mitchell and W. A. Martin.

HARDWARE PRICE TENDENCY STILL DECIDLY UPWARD

Many Lines Revised to Higher Levels This Week.

Hardware and Metal, in the current issue says:

The price tendency on nearly all hardware commodities continues to be upward and many lines have been revised to higher levels this week. Cotton goods of nearly all kinds, including cotton bed cord, seine twine, candlewick, awning and sash cord, have new prices. Food choppers, glass jar sprayers, cup and axle grease, metal polish, butter molds, cow ties, ironing boards, barn door hangers, stove bolts, wood faucets, gasoline torches, knife handle wrenches, floor wax, sash chains, structural shapes, barb and plain galvanized wire, wood handles, wire nails, mirrors, pipe cutters, door mats, carriage-makers' clamps, auto lamps, hand cultivators, door checks, chest and cupboard locks and saddlery chains are all on the list of advances, some of which are of a substantial nature.

Owing to the tie-up of the United States railroads, factories are considerably delayed in making shipments, and material in many cases is held up at the border. Jobbers state that the manufacturers are trying to handle business already on the books, but are forced to accept new orders for shipment at their convenience. This condition makes it very hard for jobbers to replenish their stocks, which at present are very low.

Business is very good despite the cold weather which set in. Collections are also coming very satisfactorily.

PUNCHBOARDS MUST STOP IN COBALT

Cobalt, April 23.—Following the receipt of instructions from the attorney-general, whose attention to the matter had been drawn in a letter from a citizen of Cobalt, Chief of Police Bonneville tonight notified the proprietors of punchboards that they must remove these from their stores. Many boards have been operating in town, payment of ten cents upwards having been exacted, but these have been declared illegal by Magistrate Atkinson, who advised the chief to have them removed.

Feed the whole Chick!

By feeding grain alone you over-feed part of the chick's body and under-feed other parts. Grain feed supplies an excess of heat and energy but is deficient in elements that make blood, nerves, bone, lean meat and feathers.

Purina Chicken Chowder

BEST MEDICINE HE HAS EVER TAKEN

Father Tells of Son's Help From Dodd's Medicines.

He Recommends Everybody Who Has Shaking or Pain in the Heart to Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills.

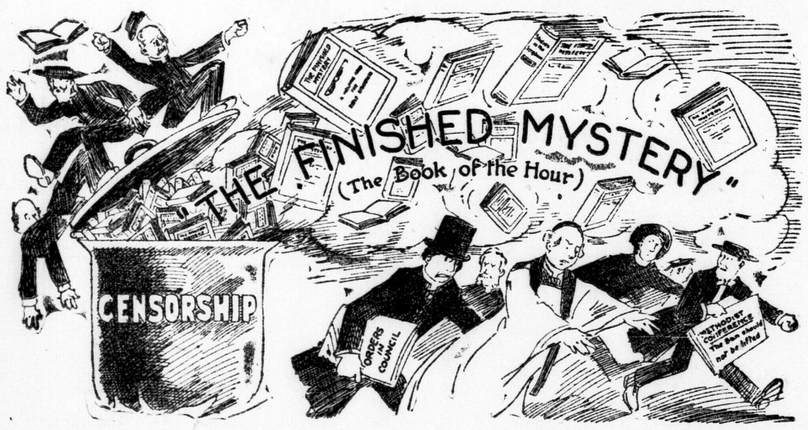
Birmingham, Sask., April 9.—(Special.)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best medicines my son has ever taken."

This is the statement of Mr. Johannes Reinson, a well-known resident here. "When he started to take them," Mr. Reinson continues, "there was not much hope of him. Soon after starting to take the Dodd's Medicines he began to improve in health, and now he is well."

He advises everybody who has shaking or pain in the heart to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The Dodd's Medicines act on the two essentials to good health. The Tablets help to digest the food, and produce good blood. The Pills act on the kidneys, healing and strengthening them, thus insuring that the blood is kept free from impurities. For the work of healthy kidneys is to strain all impurities out of the blood.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen the kidneys.



DOMINION GOES BACK TO PEACE BASIS TONIGHT

"OTTAWA, Dec. 31.—Tonight at midnight all orders-in-council passed and enforced by virtue of the War Measures Act, become ineffective, some hundreds of orders being numbered in those which no longer will be law. Commenting on this, a member of the cabinet stated Tuesday that, contrary to the interpretations of the rescinding orders-in-council which had been published, the order-in-council relating to censorship is among those rescinded from Jan. 1."—Winnipeg Tribune, December 31, 1919.

URGE CONTINUANCE OF PRESS CENSORSHIP.

"TORONTO, Dec. 31.—The Methodist Ministerial Association has passed a resolution requesting the Dominion Government to 'consider carefully whether full pre-war freedom of speech and press ought now to be restored.' The association does not go so far as to indorse the view that one of the chief causes of the prevailing unrest is the restrictions upon freedom of speech and press." Winnipeg Tribune, December 31, 1919.

The Government says:

The Ban Is Annulled!

Once again Canadians are enabled to enjoy freedom of speech and freedom of press. The book of the hour is—

The Finished Mystery

It is the posthumous work of Pastor Russell, whose writings for over forty years have taught that the Bible revealed the world war would commence in 1914. The correctness of his interpretation is manifest to all. The Finished Mystery throws more light than any book yet written on

Present Conditions, Their Real Causes and the Outcome

All Thinking Men Should Have It—No One Can Afford To Be Without It.

It is the FIRST and ONLY book that makes clear every part of the hitherto hidden prophecies of REVELATION and EZEKIEL, and, in so doing, shows what part the

and all other church denominations have played in the world's history, and what part they have yet to perform. It further reveals the part have played and are yet to play in the great world drama.

The book comprises 592 pages, and is well bound. ORDER NOW—The price is but $1.00, postpaid. We would be pleased to supply upon request Price List covering all our publications.

PRESENTATION MADE

J. F. Manning Honored by Firm's Employees.

One of the most enjoyable social evenings in the history of the Sherlock-Manning Piano Company took place last evening in the factory dance hall on Elm street. The employees decided to hold the affair in honor of the return of J. F. Sherlock, senior partner of the firm, who has just returned from Los Angeles, Cal., where he has been since last November.

The employees presented Mr. Sherlock with a smoking outfit, comprising a table and a set of pipes. Mr. Sherlock replied suitably, thanking the employees for their kind remembrance.

A concert staged by the employees was an unqualified success. After the good supply of refreshments had been partaken of dancing took up the remainder of the evening. N. Manning presided.

B. J. Gibbings, superintendent of the Clinton Sherlock-Manning factory, and A. L. Ebbels, representing the American Piano Supply Company of New York, were present.
