Spectacle in a Jail Yard—Executing the Death Sentence on a Murderer—Confessing the Crime and Imploring for Mercy.

PITTSBURGH, PA., Feb. 23.

Ernest Ortwein, the murderer of the Hamnett family, was hanged in the jail yard at noon to-day. The crime for which he suffered was committed on the night of April 29, 1874, near Homestead, a village on the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston Railroad, six miles above this city. His victims were John Hamnett, a well-to-do farmer, his wife Agnes, two daughters named Ida and Emma, and a bound boy named Robt. Smith. The murder was discovered early next morning, the burning of the house attracting the attention of the neighbors, and during the day the remains of the unfortunate family were taken from the ruins. At the time of the murder Ortwein was engaged as a farm hand by Mr. Hamnett, and treated as one of the family. He is a native of Germany, and has been in this country about two years. After his arrest he made a confession, and has since expressed himself willing and ready to pay the penalty of his crime. His spiritual advisers, who have been in constant attention, left him last night at midnight. Ortwein then requested to be called at six o'clock and retired. He slept soundly until six this morning, and he partook of a hearty breakfast shortly before seven. The final religious services were held in his cell a little after 9 a. m.

TO THE SCAFFOLD.

At precisely 12 o'clock Ortwein was conducted to the jail yard. Sheriff Hare headed the solemn procession, while Deputy Sheriff Cluley brought up the rear. The Rev. Messrs. Hertzberger and Pizer, with the prisoner between them, were praying aloud. The Sheriff halted at the scaffold steps, and the clergymen offered up a last prayer, Ortwein meanwhile kneeling with his hands bound behind and the fatal noose about his neck. At the conclusion of the prayer, Ortwein exclaimed in German, "In Thy hand, O God. I commit my spirit!" He then arose and ascended the steps of the scaffold, accompanied by the clergymen. His extraordinary nerve did not desert him at the last moment, and as the fatal cap, "a white one," was being placed over his head, he bade those near him a pleasant "good by." Then in a loud, firm voice, he said:

What I have to say is this: I suffer what I have deserved. I committed the murder. I am ready and willing to die. I most heartily thank all for the kindness shown me. May God have mercy on my soul. I hope to meet you all in heaven, for Christ's sake. Jesus Christ have mercy upon my soul. O, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit.

A SHOCKING SPECTACLE.

At three minutes after 12 the drop fell. As the noose tightened about Ortwein's neck the white cap was lifted, revealing his face just as the first shock of death was felt. It was a sickening spectacle. The eyes started from their sockets, the tongue shot out, and the face first flushed crimson, then turned black, or at least seemed to do so. The fall evidently broke his neck, as there was but a slight convulsion of the limbs. He was a powerfully built man, however, in prime health, and his chest continued to heave and throb at least five minutes. His heart ceased to beat at about seven and a half minutes after he fell. He was left hanging for some twenty minutes longer, when the body was cut down and delivered to Mr. Devore, the undertaker. It is understood that it will be taken to Dr. Dickson's hospital for a post mortem examination.

Ortwein made a will before his death in which he left all his claim to property in Germany to his relatives. He also made a full confession, and among his latest requests was that it should not be published until some days after his burial.

NOTES AND NEWS.

In his answers to questions put by Lords of Plantations 1671, Sir William Berkley thanks God there are no free schools or printing in Virginia, and hopes "there will not be these hundred years."

Traveller in New Hampshire to farmer by the roadside—"I suppose you enjoy these glorious views which people come so far to look at." "Why, yes, but if I'd had the 'sortin of these hills I'd made 'em a little peakeder."

It is often asked what is the use of such a high standard in colleges that only a dozen reach it. Dr. McCosh replies that these bright examples bring up the level of each successive grade, and if no other end was gained this would be compensation enough.

Over the way, over the way,
I've seen a head that's fair and gray;
I've seen kind eyes not new to tears,
A form of grace, though full of years,
Her fifty summers have left no flaw—
And I, a youth of twenty-three,
So love this lady, fair to see,
I want her for my mother-in-law.

Hon. Mr. Vail says it is not probable that the Manitoba Mounted Police Force will be required after next year. From all accounts it is probable that by that time there will be nothing left of the Force but a couple of horse bridles and a tent pole.—Toronto Sun.

A boy stood with his hands in his pockets one cold morning watching the burning of his school house, and after the novelty of the thing ceased, he ran home saying: "I'm glad the old thing is burned down, for I didn't get my jogrofy lesson no how."

A Montana editor bemoans the calamities of 1874 in the following touching strain: "First, that Beecher business, then the grasshoppers, then the Democratic victories, and now an increased tax on whiskey. What is this poor country coming to?"

The Berlin Telegraph was anxious to pay Mr. Mackenzie a compliment, and this is the way it went about it: "Mr. Mackenzie sets the example of his subordinates by being found always at his post." Now this may look very pretty in a Dutch newspaper, but when one remembers that Mr. Mackenzie is Scotch, the delicate reference to "his post" is just the least bit suggestive.

One of the New Brunswick papers says Louis Riel cannot enter Canada within five years on pain of death. Fudge. We were told that he dare not show his "coward face" in Canada when resting under a charge of murder, but did he not? His name may even yet be found inscribed on the roll of members in the House of Parliament, placed there when a bogus reward of $5,000 was hanging over his head.—Toronto Sun.

A new religious belief is gaining ground in Ohio. Its adherents are called Eternalists. They hold that a soul is immortal, and that it occupies a succession of bodies on earth, both of men and animals, and when disembodied by death it lovers in the air until by some subtle process of materialization it forms or enters a new infantile body, the character of that body—whether of hog, dog or man—depending upon the manner of life which the deceased person from whom the soul comes, has led.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous disease, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

FIRST MORTGAGE PREMIUM BOND
IN THE

THESE Bonds are issued for the purpose of raising funds for the erection of a building in the city of New York, to be used for a Perpetual World's Fair,
a permanent home, where every manufacturer can exhibit and sell his goods, and every patentee can show his invention: a centre of industry which will prove of vast benefit to the whole country.

For this purpose, the Legislature of the State of New York has granted a charter to a number of our most wealthy and respectable merchants, and those gentlemen have purchased no less than eight blocks of the most valuable land in the city of New York. The building to be erected will be seven stories high (150 feet in height) surmounted by a magnificent dome, and will cover a space of 22 acres. It will be constructed of iron, brick and glass, and made fire-proof. The bonds which are all for $20 each, are secured by a first mortgage on the land and building, and for the purpose of making them popular, the directors have decided to have quarterly drawings of $150,000 each; this money being the interest on the amount of the whole loan.

Every bondholder must receive at least $21, but he may receive $100,000!
Or $35,000, or $10,000, or $5,000, $3,000, etc., etc

Fourth Serie Drawing,
APRIL 5th, 1875.

These drawings take place every Three Months, and eventually every bond will participate in them.

The next premium allotment will be held on Monday, March 1, 1875.
on which day 1,000 premiums, amounting to $150,000, will be distributed among 1,000 bondholders. We have a limited number of drawn series bonds on hand which may be purchased on application.
