INCENDIARISM AT BOTSFORD.—On Monday night, the barn and house formerly owned by the late Paul Niles, and now belonging to Messrs. D. E. Casey & Sons, Bay Verte, was discovered on fire, the premises being unoccupied. An alarm was raised and the neighbors gathered and succeeded in subduing the fire in the house, but the barn was destroyed. Loss $100. Not insured. A warrant has been issued to apprehend one Joseph Niles, who is suspected to have committed the deed.

NOTES FROM ANDERSON.—This place is fast becomming noted for foul play. Some unknown person or persons mutilated a fine ox belonging to Mr. Hazen Lowther one day this week. The wounds along the animal's backbone bore evidence of an axe having been freely used. Mr. Lowther had to butcher the animal at once, or he would have sustained a greater loss.—No person can complain of the expenditure of the road monies this year, as the commissioner of bye-roads for this section has done his duty economically.—The crops are looking well.

Westmorland Circuit Court.

The Queen vs. Downing.

DORCHESTER, Thursday, July 17.—Court opened at 9 a. m.

The Hon. Attorney-General said he would first take up the case of the Queen vs. Polite Downing, and moved for trial. Hon. P. A. Landry appeared for the prisoner. The jury were sworn in as follows:—

John Witter,
William Richardson,
Elias Edgett,
Marcel Legere,
Arthur Dobson,
Charles B. Godfrey,
Isaac N. Evans,
W. Dixon Baird,
Silas Robinson,
James Fillmore,
John O. Phelan,
James Dalton.

The Attorney-General opened for the Crown. He said: Gentlemen of the Jury; on looking over the depositions handed in in this case, I think the Crown has an easy task, as the case seems very clear. I will therefore not keep you long. Both parties to the suit, live, it appears, in the Parish of Botsford. It seems that Lewis Avard was loading a wagon and the prisoner started for the place from his house half a mile away, with a loaded gun. He may have had some erroneous ideas of property. However that may be, he was warned by his mother-in-law before he left home not to take his gun. The hurried manner in which he seems to have gone to the place would show that he was excited. Downing came and told Avard to clear out. He then began to throw hoards off Avard's wagon holding his gun in one hand. Avard told him to stop; he cocked his gun and said he would shoot. Avard seized the gun, and the gun immediately went off. The shot marks are to be seen in Mr. Avard's hat. This free use of fire arms must be put down. If a man has property, he may take any reasonable steps to defend it, but in defense of life alone can weapons of this description be used with impunity. Avard may be rich and Downing may be poor, but you must not let that influence you, as all men are alike in the eyes of the law. I will not detain you longer. I am not a long-winded speaker at any time, and I generally get to the point as soon as I can. While the Crown officer must not push a prosecution with the same vigor that would be used in a civil suit, yet he must see that strict and impartial justice be meted out to all parties. I will now call the witnesses.

LEWIS AVARD

sworn:—I live in the Parish of Botsford. Known prisoner for some years. I saw him on the third of July. I was then on my own property. (Sheriff's deed put in evidence to prove property of Avard.) I cut the hay on that land last season. I took possession of the land last season. I went on the land the 3d of this month. There were with me Josiah B. Marvin, Charles Avard, (my brother) John Legere, Thade Melancon, and Edward Treen. I was loading a wagon with boards. It was 7 or 8 a. m, I saw the prisoner coming rapidly towards me with a gun in his hand. He said, "Stop! You have gone for enough." I told him to go away. He went to the other side of the wagon and threw off some boards, holding the gun in one hand. I again ordered him away. He paid no attention to me. I then started to where he was. He turned around, took the gun in both hands and pointed her directly at me, and said he would fire or shoot, or blow a hole through me; I don't remember which. I then saw him cock the gun, and heard the click of the lock. My brother Charles told me to take the gun from him or he would shoot me. I then seized the gun by the muzzle to turn it out of range. The gun then went off. I saw him pull the trigger. I then picked up a stick and hit him and got possession of the gun.

The evidence of the other witnesses corroborated Avard's testimony more or less, and will not be of sufficient interest to publish. Edward Treen, a boy of 14, distinguished himself by the clearness and readiness of his replies to the questions asked by the counsel.

There were no witnesses called for the defence, and the addresses of the Counsel on either side were short.

The following is the gist of His Honor's charge to the Jury.

GENTLEMEN: Polite Downing is indicted by the Grand Jury for firing a gun at Lewis Avard. If there is any doubt in your mind as to the prisoner's guilt, he has the benefit of the doubt, but I must tell you not to let that doubt arise from any mawkish sentiment that may be induced by the punishment the prisoner will be called on to undergo. It is not for me to make any extended remarks; you are the judges of his guilt, or innocence. To me the case seems very clear. The barn that was being carried away by Avard was beyond a doubt a part of the freehold, and in my mind belonged to Avard as much as the land on which it stood. If it had belonged to the prisoner it might have made some difference, but as it appears this was not the case. The facts reduced down are few and clear. Downing starts from his own house with his gun. His mother-in-law told him not to take the gun; better for him if he had taken his mother-in-law's advice, for it was good. (Who disparages mother-in-law now?—Rep.) Avard, on his own property, was quietly loading his wagon. Downing comes up and throws off the lumber. Avard passed around the wagon to stop him. Charles says, "Take the gun away from him. I am afraid he will shoot you." I think Charles' advice sound, as the inference was natural enough. Avard says he threatened to shoot before the struggle took place. The witnesses all seem respectable. He then says Downing pointed the gun towards ne and cocked it. Young Treen corroborates this statement. I could not but remark the excellent manner in which this boy gave his evidence. Clear, bright and intelligent he seemed to have a more exact knowledge of the details than any of the others, and his testimony was given in well chosen language. That is my experience with boys. You go into a town and ask what is going on and not a man in ten can give you any reliable information, and the first boy will tell you all about it. The boy says, "I saw Avard come around in front of the horse, and Downing cocked the gun. This corroborates Avard. The boy saw no stick before the gun went off. Avard says he had none. If you believe Downing fired the gun as that boy swears, you must find the prisoner guilty, that is all I have to say. How there can be any misapprehension about the case, I can't see. If men are allowed to carry and use guns in this manner, it is a terrible thing. If you have any reasonable doubt that man fired the gun, acquit him; if not, convict him, that's all.

The Jury after being out about an hour, returned a verdict of guilty of the second count in the indictment, i. e., that Downing is guilty of shooting at Avard with intent to maim him. The indictment had five counts, viz: 1st, Intent to murder; 2nd, Intent to maim; 3rd, Intent to disfigure; 4th, Intent to disable; 5th, Intent to do grevious bodily harm to the said Lewis Avard.

The Queen vs. Smith.

DORCHESTER, July 18.—The Court opened at 9 a. m. Hon. Attorney General moved for trial in Queen vs. Smith. The following Jury were empannelled:

John Witter.
Elias Edgett.
Marcel Legere.
Arthur Dobson.
Charles B. Godfrey.
Isaac N. Evans.
William Tait.
Silas Robinson.
James Fillmore.
John O. Phelan.
James Dalton.
William McGlashing.

The Attorney General opened briefly as follows:—

Gentlemen of the Jury: The indictment that you are to try contains a serious charge. It appears that Israel Atkinson, on the 18th of June last, was going to his home in Sackville between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening. He had proceeded but a short distance when he heard a gun discharged behind him, the contents of which entered his body. He had strength to reach Dr. Fleming's office. The Doctor came out and found Mr. A. badly wounded.

It seems a miracle that the man was not instantly killed. Immediately after the perpetration of the deed, Dr. Fleming and others proceeded to the spot to search for a clue to the perpetrator of the dastardly act. Fortunately a clue was found—a clue which, followed up, points clearly to the prisoner at the bar as the one who did the deed. They found on the spot the wadding of the gun, composed of two kinds of paper, one of which smelled strongly of musk. Inquiries led suspicion to the prisoner at the bar. It appears that he borrowed a gun from John Hicks, getting the gun from the possession of a Mrs. Wheaton an hour or so before the crime was committed; so as to just about allow him time to reach the spot. On endeavoring to ascertain the whereabouts of that gun, after some search it was found hidden away in the barn of the prisoner's father. Mr. Hicks had loaded the gun, and in so doing he had used for wadding some paper with which he had wiped a ramrod after killing a muskrat with it. That accounts for the smell of musk. The gun was locked up till given in the hands of the prisoner for nearly the whole time. It seems like a dispensation of Providence that all these circumstances should come out so plainly. The The act is a most atrocious one—an inoffensive man proceeding quietly to his home and fired upon from the darkness in this murderous manner. It would be entirely satisfactory to me if the evidence can show the prisoner to be innocent of this heinous crime, but if the proof carries out what I find in these depositions, then your duty is plain, and it would seem very fortunate that the prisoner does not find himself indicted for wilful murder instead of the mere attempt. I will not keep you longer, but proceed to adduce the evidence.

ISRAEL ATKINSON

sworn.—Am a carpenter. Live in Sackville. Remember June 18. About 10.15 in the evening I left the store of C. W. Richardson for my home. Had proceeded about 300 yards on my way when I felt a shock and heard the report of a gun. could not speak at first. As soon as I could I said, "My God, you have shot me!" and turning around I saw a man behind on the road about 30 yards away. He ran away I went as best I could to Dr. Fleming, who lives near, and fell down on his door-step. The Dr. came out and took me into his office. Dr. Moore and others came It was pretty dark—stars visible but hazy. Have shot marks on my body now. Here are some in my hands. I spit blood, and was under the doctor's care for ten days. I still suffer from the effects of the shot which are in my lungs.

Cross-examined by Hon. Mr. Hanington:—I never had any trouble with prisoner. Did not know him till arrested. Have heard that some others have a spite against me. I am a widower. Mrs. Gratto, a married woman keeps house for me. We were good friends before either of us married. Her husband is still living. He is in Boston. He did not use her well and they separated. I heard there was a strange man lurking around Fairfield Road. I heard a man got into Wry's house there and took a loaf of bread. They said he was a Norwegian sailor. Gratto married about 8 years. I don't know how long they lived together before separation.

Re-examined.—I know Gratto. Have not seen him for two years.

DR. ALEXANDER FLEMING

sworn.—I practice medicine and reside in Sackville. Know Israel Atkinson. Saw him on the night of the 18th of June. I went upstairs to bed at 10 p. m. Had just laid down when I heard a loud report of a gun. I raised the window. Some one came and rang my door bell. I accosted him. He said his name was Israel Atkinson. I went down and found him sitting on the steps, coughing and spitting blood. He seemed faint, and could hardly take his breath. I took him to my office, took off his clothes and several shot fell to the floor which I afterwards gave to the Sheriff. He raised a couple of mouthfuls of frothing blood. I found 25 or 30 shot marks in his back, from his hips to his shoulders. I went for aid. Dr. Moore and others came and we went to where the shooting took place, and found pieces of paper recently used as gun wad. There were two kinds of paper, brown paper and newspaper. Newspaper was a piece of Daily Telegraph of 27th March, 1879, and contained a notice of Fred. Barker's death. The papers had a strange smell of musk, and were stained as if by blood. Examined stains with microscope and am satisfied they were of blood. (Wadding and shot produced and identified.) The wounds were highly dangerous. I would not have been surprised had he died that night.

Cross-examined: Q. Is not there a good deal of shooting around there people going gunning, &c.

A. Yes, altogether too much, I think, from this. Slab Lane, in Sackville, has shooting too. Two men were shot there a short time ago. I live on Cow Lane. People don't try their guns much within half a mile of my office.

Q. Don't boys go out sporting or shooting robins around there?

A. Not often.

Re-examined: People don't go shooting robins at 10½ o'clock at night.

MRS. ELIZA WHEATON

sworn:—I live about 1½ miles from Richardson's store. About 8.15 p. m., on June 15th prisoner came to our house and asked for Mr. Hick's gun, which was there. We had it locked up in the entry. He took the gun away with him. No one could get at the gun from the outside of the house.

Re-examined:—Am husband of last witness. I borrowed the gun Smith got from Hicks. When I got it he put the ram-rod in and it showed it was loaded—a large load. It had a cap on. It had it about three weeks before Smith got it. I never fired her off while in my possession, nor was she fired off to my knowledge by anybody.

DORCHESTER, July 19.—C. W. Ford and Captain Charles Moore, corroborated the testimony of Dr. Fleming as to the nature of the wadding, etc.

AMOS OGDEN

sworn.—Reside in Sackville. Keep a grocery and supply my men. Last spring my wrapping paper ran short and I used newspapers. I remember having a copy of the Telegraph in my store containing a notice of Mr. Barker's death. After reading, I threw it aside. In my books I have John Hicks charged with a pound of tea about the 10th April. I think that Telegraph was used as wrapping paper, as I missed it afterwards.

JOHN HICKS,

sworn.—I reside in Sackville—about a quarter of a mile from Wm. Wheaton. About the first of April last, I remember of getting some tea from Ogden's. I know the the prisoner. (Gun shown). I used that gun to shoot muskrats this spring. I went shooting with it with Martin Cole on April 26. He shot a muskrat. So did I. He said he saw another, which disappeared. I looked—found a hole and dug in the bank till I found the muskrat. I stuck my iron ramrod through it and killed it. I wiped the ramrod on some paper wadding I had in my pocket. I afterwards loaded the gun, fired at another muskrat and missed it. I again reloaded heavily, and in so doing, used all the newspaper in my coat pocket with the muskrat skin, and was obliged to use some heavy brown paper from my vest pocket, which I had brought out on a previous day, to finish wadding the shot. I got the newspaper wadding from my wife on leaving the house. I asked her for some and she went to the pantry and brought it to me. The paper in my vest pocket I had torn off the wall on a previous day. It was brown paper that had been pasted over some cracks in the wall. I did not use the gun after that night, but locked it up in the house to keep it away from a little boy. It stayed there till borrowed by William Wheaton some weeks after. Prisoner came to my house on 18th June, about three quarters of an hour after sundown. He wanted the gun. I told him William Wheaton had it. He went right away. It was a cloudy day. I was milking a cow when prisoner came. He lives about 2½ miles away. I don't think I told Gideon Smith on the 1st May that I had shot muskrats the day before. I did not lend the gun to Smith before the 18th June, this season.

T. WILSON BELL

testified to finding the gun, after the arrest, concealed in a loft in the barn of the prisoner's father.

AMY HICKS,

wife of John Hicks, testified that her husband brought home tea about April 10th, wrapped in a newspaper. She put it in chest in the pantry, and when asked for wadding got it from around the tea.

BLAIR BOTSFORD,

sworn:—Don't know whether I am Sheriff now or not; was in June last. I consequence of what I heard of the affair, I went to Fleming's office and got the wadding and shot. I got other information and arrested the prisoner.

Case for Crown closed.

Hon. Mr. Hanington opened case for defence.

Mrs. Smith prisoner's mother, recalled.

I live at Beech Hill. I have ten children. I heard of the shooting the next morning. On the 18th of June my son stopped working because it rained. He went away about 5 p. m. and came back when I was lighting the candle. I think it was 9 or 9.30 p. m. He went right to bed. I don't think he could have again gone out and not be heard. A dog was shot about the 3rd of May, my son said he shot it.

VALENTINE SMITH,

sworn:—(The father of the prisoner,—besides corroborating last evidence witness testified to having seen Hicks' gun at his barn on the 4th of May, the day after the dog had been shot.)

Defence closes. Crown produces rebuttal testimony:

LAURA CRAIG,

sworn:—Reside in Sackville. Early in May, on a Saturday evening, prisoner came to our place; I think it was the 3rd of May, because it was the day after my daughter's birthday. He borrowed my husband's musket. It was a big one. Did not get the gun back till the Monday following.

ROBERT CRAIG,

sworn:—(Corroborated last witness.)

E. BOWES DIXON,

sworn:—Reside in Sackville. About the 18th of May last I was going along the Fairfield Road with prisoner. He showed me a dead dog by the roadside, which he said he had killed with a gun he borrowed from Robert Craig.

Hon. Mr. Hanington addressed the jury ably for an hour.

The Jury found the prisoner guilty of shooting with intent to kill, and recommended him to mercy.

The special docket was taken up and disposed of. Tait, assignee, etc., vs. John R. Calhoun, was struck off the special docket and placed on the general docket.

Gilbert vs. Beaumont resulted in a verdict for plaintiff for $224. H. Gilbert, Esq., for plaintiff; R. B. Smith, Esq., for defendant.

DORCHESTER, July 23.—The Queen vs. David H. Budge has been occupying the Court since Saturday. In this suit a bill of indictment for nuisance was preferred against the defendant at a former session of the Court, which was thrown out by the Grand Jury. Application was made to Hon. Geo. E. King, the then Attorney General, and his consent obtained to bring the matter before the Court as a private prosecution. The alleged misdemeanor is embodied in a complaint that the defendant encroached on Vulcan Street, Moncton, by erecting buildings further out on the street than warranted by law. Hanington & Wells for prosecution; Peck and Emmerson for defence.

Yesterday afternoon a verdict of "guilty" was entered and the Court proceeded to try Carter vs. Landry.

CAPE BALD ITEMS.—The crops in Cape Bald and vicinity are looking splendidly. The potatoe crop looks excellent, wheat and oats are doing well. Cape Bald not being a hay growing country, hay is not much, although there are some good fields, especially where lobster shells have been used as a fertilizer.—J. Winslow, Esq., of Portland, Maine, arrived at Cape Bald last Sunday on a visit to Mr. F. F. Kimball and left on Monday for P. E. Island.—The "Red Coat Volunteers," as they are called, will be long remembered by the people living along the great road between Shediac and Cape Tormentine, especially the Red Coats belonging to the Parish of Botsford, they are excellent marksmen, and their captain ought to be proud of them, especially when he will find out that they even were so taken up with the cause of protecting the interests and devoted to the welfare of the citizens, that they even got out of their wagons to beat pigs on the roadside, and beat them so that they could not move for a few days, and shooting dogs and cats!

PUGWASH.—On Monday the 21st, a lad aged 11 years, the adopted son of Mr. Nelson Buskirk, of this place, met his death by strangulation while playing with a piece of rope in the yard. He was found with the rope tightly knotted around his neck and attached to a cart, from which he had fallen. An inquest was held and verdict given in accordance with the facts.

We have had several cases of burglary here within the last week. During the absence of the family, the cellar of Mr. Creed's house was broken into and a quantity of butter and other articles taken.—The shoe shop of Charles Wadman was entered and about $20 worth of boots and shoes stolen.—The barn of Millege Tuttle was also entered, and harness and some other articles taken. In each case the thieves escaped without detection. A sharp detective might find employment here.

Last evening the Norfolk Jubilee Singers gave a concert in Victoria Hall, before a large audience. We must say the evening entertainment afforded us considerable pleasure, as a capital idea may be formed of the songs that were sung on the plantations during the reign of slavery in the Southern States. The powerful and melodious voices of the singers gave great effectiveness to the songs, many of which were encored and all applauded. Good order was maintained throughout. A matinee will be held this afternoon.—From Bridgetown, N. S., Monitor, July 16th

The Zulu War.

CAPE TOWN, July 3, via LONDON, July 22.—The head quarter columns are in sight of Uluhdi. The enemy is threatening in all directions. A large Zulu force is close to Fort Durnford. Numbers of young men are deserting the King.

LONDON, July, 23.—The Globe and Echo publish a statement that the Government has received a telegram from Sir Bartle Frere announcing that Chelmsford has defeated the Zulus under Cetewayo with immense loss, and the war is virtually over.

THE CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT is proclaimed to come in force in Albert County, upon, from and after the day on which the annual or semi-annual licenses for the sale of spirituous liquors now in force in the said County will expire; provided such day be not less than ninety days from the day of the date hereof, and, if it be less, then on the like day in the following year.

For Severe Coughs and Hoarseness.

Philadelphia, Jan. 1, 1876.
Messrs. Seth. W. Fowle & Sons:
Gentlemen—Miss S. Burns, of 17th and Coates streets, has long been a sufferer from a severe cough and and hoarseness, which I considered chronic. She was treated by some of our most eminent physicians, but they were only able to afford her temporary relief. I prescribed "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," the use of four bottles of which entirely cured her, as it is now four months since she took the last of it, during which time she has had no return of the complaint. For the good of suffering humanity, Miss Burns has requested me to lay the case before the public. Yours truly,
T. D. McGRATH, M. D.,
Druggist and Chemist,
S. E. cor. 7th and Wharton Street.
50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

The Invigorating Fattening and Nutritive properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime are such as would indicate its sufficiency to "sustain the body in the performance of its various functions," with the aid of but little solid food. Hence its superior remedial worth in the "Wasting Diseases of Childhood," —the "Wasting Away," in those of "Consumptive tendency."—in Consumption itself, as well as in General Debility, and all cases of Prostration and Emaciation. Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D. New York City.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment will positively cure chronic diarrhœa of long standing, also dysentary, cholera morbus, and cholera, used internally. There is no remedy known so valuable for immediate use as this old life preserver.

One single box of Parson's Purgative Pills taken one each night will make more new rich blood than ten dollars worth of any liquid blood purifier now known. These pills will change the blood in the entire system in three months, taken one a night.

MARRIED.

On 15th inst., at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Patterson, Coles Island, by the Rev. G. E. Good, A. M., Mr. Albert Anderson, to Miss Mary E. Patterson, both of the above place.

At Amherst Shore, on the 15th inst., by the Rev. Dr. Tupper, of Aylesford, Mr. John William Lockwell, to Miss Nellie Blakeney, both of Amherst Shore.
