makes him rejoice that he has left his wife and daughters at home, out of the way of temptation, or apprehensive if they should have accompanied him that he may have to draw too largely on the sum received for the pair of oxen or the load of grain, and in either case he is filled with astonishment and concludes in his own mind that Charlottetown is getting to be a great place surely, and reckons that they are all becoming immensely rich in town, while they in the country are at a stand still. Begin to ask him about his farm, and how he is getting on, and what are his prospects, and he tells you poorly, poorly, has great thought of going to Canada, Ohio, Australia, or some place or other where the winter is not so long and more money is to be made with less labor. Get him however, to describe what his farm is like, the number of acres, how much under the plough, how many horses, oxen, and sheep there are upon it, and then ask him what is the difference in the value of his property between the time he and his wife first settled upon it and now. He can't tell you; its present value is a matter of serious calculation. Enquire of him what he was worth twenty years ago, and he will readily enough in all probability reply, nothing or something worse than nothing, but to counterbalance that they had between them two pair of stout hands and two willing minds, that in those days they neither found the winter's cold nor the summer's heat too much for them, and by this time the old man's heart will warm to the tale of his life and he will tell you that five out of his six sons are well to do in the world, better than himself at their age, that most of his daughters are married, and that he has no end to grandchildren, and expects if he has luck to see their children, and it may be their children's children, and yet he would fain persuade himself that this is a poor miserable country, and why? because he has heard tell, or read perhaps, of other places where the seasons are longer and the suns are warmer. Did he enquire or read far enough, he would have found that there are many and great drawbacks to these fancied advantages, which materially counterbalance them, and that on the whole, he is in as good, if not a better condition than he would be by removal. Several of our young adventurers to California and Australia have returned, and most if not all better pleased with their native land than they were before they had made the experiment of change. One thing they all seem to be convinced of,—that Gold is not to be had even where it is most abundant, without hard work, hard fare, and considerable risk of health and life.

SACKVILLE INSTITUTION.—We are authorized to state that in consequence of the excitement in New Brunswick, occasioned by the prevalence of Asiatic Cholera in St. John, the intended public exercises in celebration of the opening of the Female Branch Institution have been postponed to a more favourable occasion. It is however to be understood that the public exercises only are postponed;—the Academic Term in both Branches of the Institution will open on Thursday the 17th inst., according to previous notice, when all who design to become Students in either Branch should present themselves for admission. The Executive Committee report that the state of public health at Sackville is, as usual, good; and they confidently assure parents and all interested that it is one of the healthiest places in these Provinces.

☞ The House of Assembly has been further prorogued until the 25th of September.

☞ On Sunday next, 13th instant, Elder C. J. Burnett, will preach in the Baptist Chapel, Charlottetown, Morning and Evening.

FREE CHURCH.—The Rev. Mr. Murdock Sutherland will preach in the Temperance Hall, on Sabbath first, 13th August, at 11 o'clock, forenoon, at 3, and at 6½ in the evening.

Valuable Property for Sale.

TO BE SOLD, by Private Contract, a valuable FREEHOLD PROPERTY, on which the owner, the REV. C. LLOYD, now resides. It is situated eight miles from Charlottetown, on the Princetown Road, at Milton; and comprises 273 acres, of which one hundred are in high cultivation, and about 30 more in new pasturage, nearly ready for the plough; the rest is in green wood. There is an excellent Residence ready for immediate occupation of a gentleman's family. It is as good as new, favorably placed as regards the Farm, with a fine prospect, and combining the usual requisites for comfort with convenience. There is a pump well of unfailing water at the back door.

The Farm Buildings are sufficient for all purposes, on a well conducted system of Agriculture, and contain an effective Threshing Machine. The Land is chiefly fenced with Posts and Rails, and is so well circumstanced with water, as to admit of it being all used in Pasture, if desired, although the most of it is high lying ground.

To a practical Agriculturist, the above Property would now furnish the means of obtaining a livelihood, as considerable sums have been expended to make it productive, while to others, should Property in the neighbourhood of Charlottetown, increase in value, it would prove a profitable investment of money. For terms or farther particulars, apply to the owner, the REV. C. LLOYD, Milton, by Post, or on the Premises.
