A passion for helpfulness is a plan for happiness.

Suffering alone will not make anyone better, but suffering with prayer will.

We cannot expect too little from men, nor too much from God.—Matthew Henry.

Why pull dow thy barns and "build greater"? Thou hast barns enough,—the bosoms of the needy, the houses of widows, the mouths of orphans.—St. Ambrose.

What a delightful place this world would be, if each one of us felt the necessity of passing on to some other every single kindness done to us! Think of every unselfish action blossoming fruitfully into a never-ending series of lovely deeds down the ages!

No good deed, no genuine sacrifice, is ever wasted. If there be good in it, God will use it for His own holy purposes; and whatever of ignorance or weakness or mistake was mingled with it will drop away, as the withered petals drop away when the full flower has blown.—W. Farrer.

The purposes of the experience of life are to develop our moral natures. The value of the trials and work of life is not in the material good we acquire, but in the character we develop from them. The material good is transient, the character is eternal.—Rev. George Schaffer, D.D.
