CLASS OF EIGHTEEN NURSES GRADUATE FROM ST. JOSEPH'S

Bishop Fallon and Doctors Give Suggestions at Exercises in Parish Hall.

Eighteen nurses wearing white uniforms and each carrying a bouquet of crimson roses took their seats on the stage of St. Peter's Parish Hall on Wednesday night, amidst applause. Dr. W. J. Tillmann, chairman of the evening, introduced them as being one of the finest classes that ever graduated from St. Joseph's Hospital. He said they had gone through a more strenuous course than any other graduating class, having nursed through two sieges of the worst epidemic that had ever visited Canada.

Dr. H. A. McCallum, who presented the badges, addressed the graduates, and also referred to the strain which they had undergone during the last three years. Dr. McCallum said: "Not every girl is fitted for a nurse, but nevertheless the training is one that is an education which will always be of advantage to those who take it and yet do not practice. The nurse must know how to be calm and careful and have self-control. Her being in the sick-room must brighten and cheer it. The medical profession has been given three wonderful things, vaccination, antiseptic surgery and the trained nurse."

Child Welfare.

Dr. W. J. Tillmann told the nurses that he wished all of them would enter into child welfare work, and that just a part of their training could have been spent with the Victorian Order of Nurses, who go amongst the very poor people. Here, he said, they would learn to do their work without the conveniences which they have in the hospital."

Bishop M. F. Fallon also addressed the graduates, saying: "Dr. Tillmann and Dr. McCallum have given you a few suggestions as to what to take with you in the nursing profession, and I would ask you to take a book of the life of some good priest, the New Testament and plenty of rosaries, for you will have many an opportunity when you can speak of the soul to your patient. You, perhaps, and the priests have more opportunities to do this than any other person. You can not only comfort the body, but the soul, too." The bishop congratulated the graduates and expressed his wishes to them for a brilliant and successful career.

Musical Program.

The program was added to by Miss Josephine McCarthy and Miss C. Terry, who gave vocal selections, and Miss Ruth Kerwin of Ingersoll, who gave readings. Each received a bouquet of Richmond roses. As the graduates received their diplomas from Bishop Fallon, little Miss Harkness, frocked in white organdy, presented each nurse with a bouquet of pink roses. After the exercises a dance was held for the nurses and their friends. The nurses who graduated were: Helen Ashwell, Marion Shaughnessy, Margaret Harrington, Kathleen Webb, Winifred McMahon, Lillian Andrews, Kathleen Lashbrook, Sarah Woodcock, Lillian Morrison, Ruby Davidson, Gertrude Kent, Jean Robertson, Jean McVicar, Anna Howitt, Maude Egan, Erma Harkness, Walburta Hill and Myrtle Patterson.

ALGONQUIN PARK.

The "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park, is open for the reception of guests. In just the out-of-the-way sort of place, among the pines and balsams of the "Highlands of Ontario," this comfortable hotel offers good accommodation to those desiring rest and recuperation. Algonquin Park, where the hotel is situated, is nearly 1,500 feet above sea level. Get illustrated publication from any Grand Trunk Railway Agent, or write, N. T. At The Theaters

AT THE PATRICIA. LIVELY ACTION IN NEW RUSSELL FILM.

Suspense, surprises, thrills and romance crowd fast one upon another in "The Lincoln Highwayman," the new William Fox feature based on the great stage success by Paul Dickey, which opens today, Friday and Saturday at the Patricia Theatre, with William Russell as the star.

From the beginning one realizes that there must be some trick in Jimmy Clunder apparently turning bandit. The problem increases in interest, as the situations develop, and it is not solved till the last few minutes of the feature.

The setting of the play is certainly unusual. The locations along the Lincoln Highway are of great pictorial beauty.

"An Eastern Westerner," a Fox News Weekly and Mutt and Jeff in "The Pawnbrokers" will complete a most entertaining program.

AT LOEW'S.

Geology and antropology aren't the most interesting subjects in the world for young wives. And you couldn't blame Georgina for hating them. But there were other things that bored Georgina far more than did geology and anthropology—her main nemesis being Henry, her husband. He had a system of virtue that he must have borrowed jointly from Sir Galahad, Diana and Little Red Riding Hood. That wasn't the kind of a husband Georgina wanted. So, after St. Peter had relieved Georgina of the responsibility of her beloved Henry, she steps forth to angle for her "ideal." "In Search of a Sinner," starring Constance Talmadge, adapted by John Emerson and Anita Loos, tells you how Georgina went about selecting her "soul" mate.

And maybe you don't think it makes some hot little yarn. "In Search of a Sinner" is the feature photoplay attraction at Loew's for the next three days—don't miss the fun! An extraordinary bill of Loew vaudeville, a rattling good comedy and Loew's Screen Pictorial rounds out a tidy bill of entertainment for the last three days of the week.

"KEEP HER SMILING" AT THE GRAND TONIGHT.

One of the most notable comedy successes of recent seasons, "Keep Her Smiling," will be presented by Richard Walton Tully at the Grand Opera House three days, beginning tonight at 8:15, with a matinee Saturday.

This attraction has already enjoyed long runs in New York, Boston and Chicago. "Keep Her Smiling," by John Hunter Booth, author of "The Masquerader," is Mr. Tully's first comedy production. His other successes, either written or produced by himself, or both, including "The Rose of the Rancho," "The Bird of Paradise," "Omar, the Tentmaker," "The Flame" and "The Masquerader." His most recent production, the comedy, "Keep Her Smiling" is founded on the Edgar Franklin series of stories which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. It is in three acts and four scenes, with its locale laid in a new York office and a nearby suburb. The story revolves around the efforts, all too often desperate, of Henry to keep his adored wife Polly continually smiling and contented. Henry is a reserved, underpaid cashier of a big New York corporation, and Polly, with social ambitions, thinking her husband's position and income very different, continually requests things which Henry, to "keep her smiling," dares not refuse. The natural result is a series of hilariously funny complications, which provide a long evening of side-splitting, eye-streaming laughter. Incidentally, it may be stated that "Keep Her Smiling" is refreshingly clean and wholesome in theme, dialogue and action. The large company of twenty-four players includes the noted English comedian, David Miller, Isabel Withers and De Witt C. Jennings.

ROMANTIC SPAIN, THE PASSION DANCE, FIERY LOVES.

Sunny Spain, with its romance, its color, its fire, and its fierce passions, tempestuous loves and stormy jealousies, is the scene of the picturesque and colorful "The Woman and the Puppet," which stars Geraldine Farrar and Lou Tellegen at the Allen today, tomorrow and Saturday.

The photoplay is taken from the story by Pierre Frondaie, which startled Paris with its exceptional character; and is by the same man who wrote the wonderful stage spectacle "Aphrodite," which is now the talk of New York, and is showing at the Century Theatre there.

Miss Farrar is shown in the role of a cafe cander of Seville, a spitfire, devil-may-care damsel, creator of the passion dance, and whose kisses men went mad for. Her husband, Lou Tellegen is shown in the romantic role of Don Mateo, young wealthy aristocrat, who would buy Concha for his mistress, but finds that her wild soul is not for sale, and that he must first bend this fiery dancer to his will before he can make his conquest.

As a special musical feature the big Allen Concert Orchestra will present Bizet's "Carmen" and a special score of Spanish music prepared by Maurice Poure.

There will be a number of added attractions also of comedies, news weeklies, and beautiful scenic pictures.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL OF THIS CITY HAS DISAPPEARED.

Did you read in the papers yesterday that a beautiful girl of this city has disappeared, and when you say there are no White Slavers in these days. Pshaw, why you pass them every day, with slinking, lustful eyes, ever watchful for the innocent young girl, who unsophisticated and uneducated in the ways of the wicked world, places her trust in the first young man of good appearance that she meets.

The narrow-minded, they also have a pet proverb, that it is wrong to enlighten our young men and daughters of the mysteries of life. Why, do you know the great cause for all the immorality of our civilized world? It is because our rising generation, not securing the information their natural curiosity craves on the subject, which has been tabooed from the social life of our present world, they must preforce seek it elsewhere, and the easiest way is to find out for themselves.

Are you one of those broad-minded persons who acknowledge the truth, that a proper understanding of this subject is the best defence that our girls and youths can have against the lure of passion. Do you realize that forbidden fruits are always the sweetest, and that with full knowledge of life and its secrets they stand a greater chance of winning happiness, love and honor in the turmoil of life. Will you grasp the splendid opportunity that is now offered, will you have the good common sense to see for yourself and have your children see also, the real truths, as they are shown in the great morality picture "Enlighten Thy Daughter," which is shown at the Majestic all this week under the indorsement of the National Council of Women and the Y. W. C. A. Or must the beauty of your family, your heart-endearing innocent daughter, stand in daily peril of having her body sacrificed to the lusts and passions of those human wolves, who are ever watchful for just such young girls, knowing that in their ignorance they become easy prey to the rotten, sneaking advances which, tinged with the colors of the primrose path, lure them to a fate worse than death.

This is your opportunity, the picture is for you. You need it, and should see it.

A dramatic tale told with vivid action, with no less than the two most beautiful women who ever graced the screen in the stellar roles. Golden, blue-eyed Ruby De Remar, whose wonderful form and natural grace has been the inspiration of many a divine statute and painting, and Zeena Keaf, brunette, fiery, passionate, who portrays too ideally the girl whose soul was marked for destruction by the narrow-minded methods of her parents, who trusted to her innocence to shield her from all harm.

NEW TAX DOES NOT MEAN HIGHER PRICES

Local theatre managers do not contemplate a raise in admission prices as a result of the additional license fee of ten cents per seat, which the Provincial Government will levy.

William L. Stewart, manager of the Patricia, said that this tax was counterbalance by the repeal of the Dominion tax, which on his place of business amounted to nearly $400.

John R. Minhinnick, manager of the Grand, was of the same opinion, but thought that the matter might be discussed by a meeting of managers.

Other theatres here will await instructions from their head offices before considering the matter.

TIE VOTE IS BROKEN; NURSE APPOINTED

The board of health, on Wednesday afternoon, by a majority of one vote broke the tie vote of Tuesday's meeting in the matter of appointing a nurse. Mrs. M. Patterson was appointed by the close majority over the number of votes cast for Miss McDermid.

It was decided to renew automobile insurance on the board of health motor car, which is not protected in the blanket insurance carried on other city cars. J. H. Saunders presided.

DEATH AN ILLUSION, SAYS THEOSOPHIST

"There is no death. Death is birth—birth into a more subtle, a less dense sphere of matter. In fact, death as we think of it is the greatest illusion possible. What we call death is laying aside our densest outer body, as a man might lay aside his overcoat," declared Francis G. Hanchett, national lecturer for the Theosophical Society, in his talk, "Life After Death," at the Theosophical Hall on Wednesday night.

"After laying aside our outermost body we use our less dense body, the astral body. After some time we again lay aside our outermost body and function with this spiritual body in what all religions call 'the heaven world.' The whole process of evolution consists in this flowing of life, endless life, using and discarding form after form."

GREATEST OF ALL PIANOS.

"I have traveled the world over," writes De Pachmann, one of the world's great pianists, "and have had the opportunity of using pianos bearing the names of the greatest piano builders of all countries. I do not hesitate to say that the Heintzman & Co. Piano, that I used in my Canadian tours, surpassed in beauty of tone and delicacy of touch any piano I have used anywhere." Inspect these instruments in the firm's warerooms, at 242 Dundas street, London. b
