"The Black Flag."

The Cummings Stock Company returns to the Princess Theatre for the matinee today, after a short, but highly successful, engagement at the Russell Theatre, Ottawa. "The Black Flag" will finish out the week, with matinees daily as usual, and between the acts the motograph pictures will be given. The pictures arrived so late Monday that they could not be worked to advantage, having no time to make a thorough test, or to get the proper focus, besides four or five hours, on account of the weight of the machine, are required to properly place it. This of course could not be done on Monday, but, two days having intervened, the motograph has been thoroughly tested, and it is said that the pictures will give even greater satisfaction than expected or guaranteed. The pictures include "The Great International Yacht Race Between the Columbia and Shamrock," "The Massive Dewey Reception," "The Naval Parade," "The Land Parade," "Passing the Triumphal Arch," "A Trip to the Moon" (which was not fully given Monday), "The Spanish Bull Fight" and a long list of others, all of which are entirely new and have never been shown before. Another point about these pictures is that they are absolutely genuine and are guaranteed so. Mr. Robert Cummings will announce the returns of the Jeffries-Sharkey contest on Friday night, having had placed a direct wire on the stage. A sumptuous production of "East Lynne" is announced for next week.

Something New.

A genuine American play is promised with the advent of "Parson Jim," which will be presented at the Grand Opera House next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and at the Wednesday matinee. It is a comedy drama, which is said to be one of the strongest plays of the time since the days of "My Partner." The company brings to this city the entire original scenic equipment and the production here will be on a most elaborate scale. The members of the organization, many of whom are well known to theatregoers, include Wm. H. Pascoe, Frank Lander, Fred. Bock, Frank Currier, Walter Thomas, Thomas Doyle, Miss Genevieve Warren, Miss Martha Rudgett, Miss May Tyrrell and Miss Dallas Tyler. The play is by Lloyd Grand, an American journalist, who is now the editor of The London Daily Telegraph. Mr. Grand is a near relative of Sarah Grand, the gifted author of "The Heavenly Twins." He is himself a novelist of note, having two successful books to his credit, "The Ordways" and "The Doctor's Daughter." There will be a popular price matinee on Wednesday.

Engagement of Maud Banks.

Miss Maud Banks begins her first engagement in this city on Monday evening next, and there is a great deal of curiosity exhibited regarding the appearance of the young English actress, who will be introduced to the Toronto public in the role of Maud Radford in "Through the Breakers." The fame gained by Miss Banks through the fact of her being selected by the Woman's Professional League of America to play the part of "D'Artagnan" in the production of "The Three Musketeers" at the Broadway Theatre, New York, has preceded her here, and her debut in Toronto will be awaited with interest. She is one of the younger actresses who have become prominent within the last few years, and her tour this season, it is said, will be a very brief one, as she is one of the theatrical celebrities greatly in demand in New York. The play in which she appears here, "Through the Breakers," is said to be a strong drama, containing a plot built on entirely new lines, and containing several startling situations. One of the scenes in the piece shows a storm at sea, and it has been pronounced to be one of the most realistic bits of stage mechanism ever produced. The rising of the tide, the breaking of the huge waves upon the rocks and the fury of the storm are said to be vividly shown, and the scene is said to invariably raise the enthusiasm of the spectators to a high pitch. The engagement of Miss Banks, which will be at the Toronto Opera House, will, it is expected, prove most popular.

News of the Battle.

The private wire which is to convey the bulletins of the Sharkey-Jeffries contest at New York on Friday to the stage of the Toronto Opera House was tested yesterday and found to be in excellent working order. The wires will be tested again to-day, and a full description of the battle will be given in conjunction with the performance of "The Air Ship."

The Biograph at Shea's Next Week.

For next week Mr. Shea offers several big vaudeville attractions. The chief of these will be the American Biograph, the only perfect moving picture machine in the world. The Biograph has been running continuously in Keith's, New York, for two years, and for the same length of time in the Palace, London. The owners of this wonderful machine have secured pictures of most of the royal families of Europe, and some of these views will be shown for the first time in Toronto next week. Her Majesty Queen Victoria reviewing the Honorable Artillery at Windsor, the Prince of Wales and suite reviewing British troops, a panoramic view of Conway, England, two regiments of Canadian Infantry and many other interesting views will be shown. Leon Morris' educated ponies will be another feature of the performance. There is plenty of comedy in this act, and the wonder is, how did Morris ever train them to perform as they do? Flo Irwin and Walter Hawley, in "The Gay Miss Con," have one of the cleverest one-act comedies in vaudeville. The Eddy Family, acrobats; Blocksom and Burns, Coakley and Husted, and Mons. Cadieux are on the bill.

At the Bijou.

The Bijou has arranged to give the returns of the Jeffries-Sharkey fight. A special wire and operator will be on the stage. The show is one of the best ever seen at the Bijou. Smoking is allowed. No increase in prices. Secure seats in advance.

Saturday's Military Event.

The announcements already made of the Saturday night military patriotic concerts in Massey Hall seems to have struck a popular chord, if the enquiries regarding tickets yesterday at the box office is to be taken as any criterion.

Among the stereopticon views which will be thrown on the canvas on Saturday night, besides those which have already been mentioned, will be the departure of the Canadian contingent from Quebec. Manager Suckling, having photographs taken of the embarkation for this special purpose: a picture of H.M.S. "Crescent," the convoy of the Sardinian, and also one of the "Powerful," the guns of which ship played such an important part at Ladysmith the other day.

The plan of seats opens this morning at the Massey Hall box office at 9 o'clock.

Massey Hall Great Concerts.

The sale of seats for the course of three grand concerts, which are to be given in the Massey Hall this season, opens this morning at the box office at 10 o'clock.

The first of these events takes place next Monday evening, when Miss Clara Butt, the great English contralto; Sig. Alberti, the eminent baritone, and Miss Leontina Gaertner, the charming 'cello soloist, will all take part.

A SHOCKING REVELATION.

Crown Prince of Austria Infatuated With a Woman Who Proved to Be His Sister.

Vienna, Nov. 1.—A most remarkable revelation has now been made in connection with the death of the Crown Prince Rudolph in 1889. It is positively asserted in court circles that the Crown Prince not only committed suicide but also killed the woman with whom he was infatuated, Baroness Marie Vetsera. At the time of his tragic death it was plain that he had shot away the back of his head with a cavalry revolver. The woman to whom he was so madly devoted that he was willing to renounce a crown to become her husband lay dead beside him, her body covered with wild flowers. It was publicly supposed that she had voluntarily taken poison, and the details, shown by investigation, were suppressed.

It is now asserted that on the night of the tragedy the Crown Prince had an interview with his father, the Emperor, Franz Josef, in which he once more pleaded to be divorced from the Crown Princess Stephanie, so that he might marry the Baroness Vetsera. Driven to desperation by his son's insistence, the Emperor is said to have confessed to the young man that the Baroness was, in truth, the daughter of the Austrian ruler. Despair then led the Crown Prince to commit the crime at his hunting lodge.

Lipton Sails for Home.

New York, Nov. 1.—Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, the Shamrock, convoyed by the Erin, left her anchorage at 10.30 a.m., and started on the home voyage to Greenock.

Sir Thomas Lipton, before going aboard, was formally notified by a committee, of which former Mayor Strong was chairman, of the loving cup to be presented to him as the result of a popular subscription.

In the ship's saloon the cup was presented by his American guests, who had been entertained by him on the Erin. As the liner moved down stream Sir Thomas waved a United States flag.

MR. T. G. SHAUGHNESSY DINED

Vancouver Board of Trade Paid a Compliment to the President of the C. P. R.

AND PATRIOTISM BROKE LOOSE.

The Guest of the Evening Had Warm Words of Praise for His Working Staff.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 1.—The Board of Trade banquet, given at the Hotel Vancouver last night, will go down in local history as the most remarkable and most successful in the first twelve years of the history of this thriving Pacific coast city. It was given primarily in honor of Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy, on the occasion of his first official visit to Vancouver as president of the C.P.R. It served, however, not only as a banquet to the president but as a means for the chief business men of the town to express their unswerving devotion to the Queen, and their belief that despite the reverse in Natal the British will ultimately bring the Boers to their knees and give the Uitlanders their rights in the Transvaal. Every mention of Tommy Atkins or the attack at Ladysmith provoked most enthusiastic cheering. This show of intense love of the Mother Country six thousand miles away from home was a sight that those who were there will never forget.

What Mr. Shaughnessy Said.

Mr. Shaughnessy, in replying to the toast of his health, spoke in earnest praise of the C.P.R. staff from Vancouver to Halifax. He said, "In carrying on our work we have a vast army of officers and employes, an army numbering, I think, about 28,000 men at the present time. Among those in the service of the company, apart, of course, from the railway staff we have lawyers, doctors and literary men, and in this western country, where morals require special attention, we have even retained missionaries. [Laughter.] In order to make organization perfect, to properly care, for the affairs of the company, to see that everything that should be done is done properly, the greatest possible care is required on the part of our managers, general superintendents and traffic officers, the Engineering Department, the Land Department, and all others connected with the organization. I have been with the C.P.R. almost since its inception. Previous to that I had 14 or 15 years experience in railway life. I know, I think, our organization from one end of the continent to the other in every detail, and I can say without fear of contradiction that no railroad in this world ever had or has the same compact, loyal staff that the C.P.R. has. [Loud cheers.] Without such a staff, no ability, no energy, no labor on the part of the president would be effective. Without it no railway could reach the highest degree of success. With it we are able to accomplish more than any of our competitors. [Cheers.]

Fast Atlantic Service.

A significant statement made was in regard to the fast Atlantic service. The president of the C.P.R. said: "We have our steamship lines on lakes and rivers, and on one of the oceans for the present, and possibly it will not be long before we are on another as well." This indirect reference to the fast Atlantic service produced much cheering.
