GERMAN POSTOFFICE TO DO BANK BUSINESS

Anybody With Twenty-Five Dollars May Open a Checking Account.

BERLIN, March 20.—The German Government has decided to establish a postal check system modeled after the Austrian system. It proposed to introduce postal checks eight years ago, but the reichstag demanded conditions which the government would not accept. The present system is to be put in operation by decree, which will remain in force till 1911. This will give the government time to accumulate data to serve as the basis for a general law.

At present it is intended to open check offices in only nine of the larger cities. These are Berlin, Breslau, Cologne, Dantsic, Frankford, Hamburg, Hanover, Karlsruhe and Leipsic.

Each person wishing to avail himself of the check system regularly must deposit 100 marks (about $25), and always keep his balance up to that sum. He receives a number for his account, which must be used on all his checks. Payments to his account may be made not only by other account-holders, but by any other person at any postoffice in the imperial system.

Payments on an account may be made by means of so-called pay cards, by ordinary postoffice money orders or by means of transfer orders from other accounts. An account holder can ask to have all moneys received at the postoffice for him carried to his account. He can draw against his account in making payment to other account holders or to outsiders. In the latter case the postoffice will send the money to the receiver thru a messenger.

Small fees will be charged for various forms of service in connection with the system. They are placed just high enough to cover estimate cost of operation.

Cheques cannot be endorsed and passed from one person to another. This precaution relieves the postoffice of responsibility to ascertain that the cheques have not been stolen and indorsed by forgers, and the cheques can, therefore, be sent to the postoffice in ordinary letters.

Extra check offices will be opened in the cities named. These will be in the present postoffice buildings wherever possible, but when necessary other houses will be rented.

Surplus money not required for meeting current payments will be deposited with the richsbank, which will invest it for account of the imperial treasury.

Account holders receive no interest on deposits.

Passing of James Muir.

DETROIT, Mich., March 20.—James Muir, for many years a well-known character on the St. Clair flats, where he was first manager of the Toronto Club house and later proprietor of the Muir House, is dead.

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS ON HIS BACK AT ONE TIME.

TWO BOTTLES OF BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS CURED HIM.

Boils are simply evidence of the bad blood within coming to the surface.

Just when you think you are cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

The only way to rid yourself of boils, pimples, and all skin blotches and blemishes, so that they will never return to bother you again, is to have the blood thoroughly cleansed of all of its impurities.

For this purpose there is no other blood medicine to equal Burdock Blood Bitters.

It has been on the market for over thirty years, and in that time we have received thousands of testimonials stating positively that it will cure the worst known cases of boils.

Mr. James Combs, Eden, Ont., writes: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly.

CHILD WAS MURDERED SAYS HAMILTON JURY

Nephew of Rabjzk Arrested for Taking Part in Street Corner Row—General City News.

HAMILTON, March 20.—(Special.)—"That the unknown child came to its death by wilful murder at the hands of some person or persons unknown." This was the verdict brought in to-night by the coroner's jury that investigated the death of the child whose body was found on the bay Tuesday night.

There was a serious row this afternoon near the corner of Barton and Wentworth-streets, as the result of which this quartet was locked up: William Randall, 29 East King-street; Clarence Foster, 210 North James-street; John Harris, 9 Bristol-street, and Andrew Rodzyk. The two last-named men are Poles, Rodzyk being a nephew of the man murdered by Jake Sunfield. The Poles got into trouble with the other two, and it is claimed that one of them drew a small pocket knife but dropped it. According to the stories that have reached the police, Randall picked up the knife and slashed Harris about the throat. Harris was not hurt seriously, tho the cut extended almost to the jugular vein. Randall is charged with cutting and wounding, and the other three with being drunk and disorderly.

Now is the Time to Build.

The temporary tightness of money has had its effect on the building as well as other trades, consequently there will be close competition the early part of this season and evidently no strikes. There is plenty of money, and it is a losing game to hold it at 3 per cent. I am in a position to take care of any reasonable building proposition, furnish any monies my clients may require to complete undertaking and, if desired, arrange loans on completion.

This is an easy way to get a home at first cost with all your requirements, and under architect's supervision, without running the risk of losing the amount of your investment by not having sufficient to carry building far enough to obtain loan, which at the present time means building must be completely finished.

DELEGATION FROM SOO MAKE OUT STRONG CASE

Premier Gives Encouragement in Their Quest for Provincial Aid for Railways.

"We are discussing it from the point of view of our policy. You have come here with a strong case and have rather more than half of the whiffletree. You have got the long end anyway." (Applause.)

This was the encouraging view Premier Whitney took of the request of the important deputation from Sault Ste. Marie yesterday which asked the government to restore the grant of 5000 acres per mile on 115 miles of the Algoma Central Railway, between the C. P. R. and the G. T. P. Railway.

C. N. Smith introduced the gentlemen who spoke, and it was observable that the premier was severely civil to Mr. Smith while heartily cordial to the deputation.

Mayor Thompson stated the object of the visit, and pointed out that the value of railway building in New Ontario was very great to Old Ontario. The grant had first been made in 1901. In 1904 it was renewed, including $2000 per mile cash and 5000 acres in land. In 1907 the present government renewed the cash grant, but not the land grant, which had expired. The land would be valueless if there was no railway and out of the vast tracks of vacant land he thought it was little to ask.

J. H. Brown, president of the board of trade, described the condition of the Soo, where men had been induced to locate by the prospects held out. It had great advantages from its international situation, its marine traffic, its unlimited water power and the splendid country behind it. They wanted the railway to build up the city.

John McKay described the clay belt thru which the railway was to run as larger than the cultivated portions of Saskatchewan and Alberta. They should manufacture their pulp timber in Ontario and until the road was built the timber was valueless in that region.

John Collins pleaded warmly for government interference. Pulpwood should not be sent to Fox River, but to Canadian ports to be manufactured and the railway was required for this.

A Case of Twisting.

"The Soo Co. can twist things to suit themselves and we'll all die before we can help ourselves," he declared. It was a virtue of the premier that he said what he meant, and Mr. Collins wanted him to say that the railway would be constructed. (Laughter and applause.) Millions of wealth were hidden away in the country to be opened, more than equal to Cobalt, he said.

"Politics do not enter into it. We are greater Canadians than party men," he concluded.

Dr. Gimby and W. H. Hearst also urged the case. Seventy miles of steel were laid, 30 miles were to be graded and 100 miles already graded. There were two charters, but it was the Ontario and Western which would be used. It was understood that the Dominion would make a subsidy grant.

Premier Whitney welcomed the deputation from the "land of clear atmosphere and undeveloped possibilities." They knew perfectly well, he said, what the government policy was. Whether wise or unwise, they had adopted the policy taken up by the United States a generation ago, since which time not a dollar had been given to railways. The government went to the country on that platform and the country had not disapproved. They did not expect after three years that the government would go back on it. There were exceptional cases sometimes, as in the Island of Manitoulin, where there was no winter egress, but such cases should by their mere statement convey conviction and proof of their necessity.

Mr. Whitney commented on the costly nature of the construction of the road, but there was no use crying over spilt milk. Last year they had got the government to renew the cash grant.

"I don't know how you got us to renew it, but you did," he remarked. This gave them a stronger position than they would have had otherwise.

He was strongly of opinion that the Dominion should do something for the road. Half the revenue came out of Ontario pockets.

"And the only advantage Ontario gets is to increase the amount of the bills Ontario has to pay for roads and administration of justice and other matters. When the result of the tariff is to give them a surplus of eight or ten millions, why should they not hand some of it back to the people they get it from?"

A Strong Presentation.

With the assurance that they had made a stronger case than most people did under such circumstances, the premier dismissed them in a tolerably hopeful frame.

Premier Whitney particularly complimented W. H. Hearst on the persistent way he had presented the case for Sault Ste. Marie.

Hon. Messrs. Cochrane, Matheson, Hanna, Monteith and R. R. Gamey were with the premier. Others on the deputation besides the speakers were: J. H. McNally, J. A. Hussy, W. H. Munro, R. H. Knight, John O. Boyle, J. W. Curran, George Woolrich, W. J. Elgie, J. J. McFadden, S. P. McPhail, T. J. Wilcox, H. Sargeant, etc.

Depression in the Spring

Its Cause Explained by a Physician.

When asked why tiredness and languor is so prevalent in the spring, Dr. Hamilton explained that the cold of winter drives the blood from the surface of the body to the liver. Normally, one-fourth of the whole blood supply is in the liver and when more blood is accumulated in that organ, everything goes wrong. No better remedy exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are composed of such vegetable extracts as Mandrake and Butternut, which are well-known for their liver stimulating effect. By clearing the system of all poisons, by toning the blood, and regulating the circulation, Dr. Hamilton's Pills quickly dispel feelings of tiredness, lack of spirit, poor appetite, nervous and sick headache. "When I was so despondent and lacking in spirit, when I felt so run down as to be useless last spring, I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes M. V. Maconochnie of Hamilton, "I felt better at once—the yellow left my cheeks, appetite improved, strength returned. No medicine ever did me such a world of good." Everyone can use Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit, 25c per box, all dealers.
