How to Mark the Ballot.

Electors of London who wish to see this fine city advance, and to reward those who do not desert her, should support the London candidate by marking their ballots as in the ballot below:

HOBBS.

1 THOMAS SAUNDERS HOBBS, of 296 King street, London, Merchant and Manufacturer. X

MEREDITH.

2 WILLIAM RALPH MEREDITH, of 4 Lamport avenue, Toronto, Barrister-at-Law.

GET THERE EARLY.

Get to the Princes skating rink, Queen's avenue, early to-morrow evening—say by 7:30 p.m., if you wish a good seat. There will be an immense crowd to hear Hon. S. H. Blake, Mr. Hobbs, Mr. C. S. Hyman, M.P. and Mr. Gibbons, Q.C. This is the closing meeting of the campaign.

A WELL-MANAGED BANK.

Those who are interested in the business prosperity of Canada—and who is not?—will find much food for reflection in the report of the annual meeting of the Bank of Commerce in to-day's ADVERTISER. Not only are the statistics of this well-managed bank interesting in themselves, but its president and its general manager, both of whom are most careful financiers, discourse on the situation in a cautious, hopeful and decidedly helpful manner. General Manager Walker, indeed, can put into an address on the financial outlook more interest than probably any other financier. Under his management the Canadian Bank of Commerce continues to prosper and progress.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS

—Mr. Meredith has his revenge. Toronto beat London at cricket yesterday.

—Mrs. Butterfield and Mrs. Phillips, of Windsor, are visiting Mrs. Alex. Stewart, Talbot street.

—A benefit concert and assembly will be held in the East End Hall to-night in aid of an unfortunate cripple named Fred Brennan.

—The closing exercises at the Convent of the Sacred Heart took place yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was a very pleasant one.

—The numerous friends of Mr. W. F. W. Findlater, East London, will be glad to hear that he is out of danger and is slowly convalescing.

—Mr. Meredith can hardly be said to be taking his controversial punishment very well; but is squealing on various platforms loudly enough to be heard on the other side of Lake Erie.

—The Free Press asks the citizens of London to accept Mr. R. M. C. Toothe as a model Protestant, and Lawyer Bartlett, late of St. Louis, as a model of fairness in political warfare!

—Mr. William Sanderson, M.A., actuary, Toronto, formerly mathematical master of the London Collegiate Institute, has won honors in London, Eng., by passing the examination of the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain and Ireland.

—Mr. J. T. Russell, proprietor of the "American Fair," on Yonge street, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs or 30 days yesterday for not supplying seats in his store for his women employes, as required by the Shop Regulation Act.

—The Y. P. S. C. E., choir and Bible classes of the First Presbyterian Church were royally entertained last evening by Rev. W. J. Clark and his wife at their residence, Wolf street. The evening passed with games and refreshment.

—This is the hottest day of the present season. Observer Dewar's thermometer registered 92° in the shade at 2 o'clock. During the middle of the day the street car horses were given a head sponge bath at the corner of Richmond and Dundas streets.

—The garden party on the pretty grounds of St. James' Presbyterian Church last evening attracted a large crowd. The Seventh Band and the refreshments were excellent. Chinese lanterns illuminated and adorned the lawn, and financially it was a success, too.

—Mr. Shore, the East Middlesex candidate, on the question of licenses, favors leaving them with the municipal councils. Mr. R. W. Jackson takes strong ground in opposition to this view of Mr. Shore's, holding that it would demoralize the municipal councils to throw upon them the issuing of licenses.

—In the hurry of preparing his notes for the Morning ADVERTISER a reporter accidentally classed Mr. George D. Cameron, the present coal contractor of the London Asylum, among the Conservative asylum contractors whom Mr. T. H. Purdom was enumerating. The speech is corrected in this evening's paper.

—At Osgoode Hall Thursday: Hollender vs. Floulkes.—Judgment on appeal by defendant from order of Armour, C.J., in Chambers. Appeal allowed with costs here and below to the defendant in any event. Solmes vs. Stafford, 16, P.R. 78, and English cases there cited, followed, in preference to Hay vs. Johnston, 12, P.R., 506, Bartram (London) for defendant. McBrayne (Hamilton) for plaintiff.

—The difference between the East London meeting to hear Mr. Hobbs, the London citizen candidate, and the meeting to hear Mr. Meredith, the Toronto corporation candidate, lay in this fact: Mr. Hobbs' meeting was one composed of genuine working men—the bone and sinew of the fifth ward—whereas Mr. Meredith's meeting was, to a great extent, made up of down town swells. But thanks to Sir Oliver Mowat and his "one man one vote" election law, every worker in East London has just as much voting power as a down town swell, and he knows that the man who stands by London is the man worthy support. Such a candidate is Thomas S. Hobbs.

—At the Board of Works meeting last night it was decided that band concerts would commence next week, the Sons of England band to play in Queen's Park on Friday night and the Seventh Band in Victoria Park on Tuesday, July 3. The Victoria Park ranger was ordered to remove all wires and place the seats in shady spots. A donation of 100 iron hoops for flower beds from E. Leonard & Sons was gratefully acknowledged. The police will be asked to prohibit ball playing on the old Central school grounds. Mrs. Pattullo's request for aid in building a drain from the Aged People's Home was laid over pending a report. The street commissioner will report on George Fox's complaint that the city gravel pit was encroaching dangerously on Wellington street. The application of John Taylor to lay a six-inch tile drain a distance of about 300 feet on Piccadilly street to connect with the William street sewer was granted, as were several applications for the use of Queen's Park buildings.

The Synod Closed.

The Synod of Huron concluded its session this afternoon.

Mr. Bartlett's Misrepresentations.

"I do not feel bad because Mr. P. H. Bartlett, a recent arrival in London, has seen fit to attack my firm," said Mr. Geo. D. Cameron to an ADVERTISER representative to-day. "We were the successful contractors for the supply of coal to the London asylum last year, for the simple reason that our price was the lowest. Mr. Bartlett should have been fair enough to tell his friends this when speaking in South London. But as he has not done so I only regard it as a little free advertising. I greatly admire Mr. Bartlett's assurance in managing to obtain so much free advertising for himself. He certainly deserves it. He works hard enough for it."

A London Girl Missing.

A Chicago dispatch says:

"What has become of Miss Martha Galvin is a mystery which is causing her relatives great anxiety and the police no little worry. Miss Galvin came here from London, Ont., about three months ago to make her home with her sister, Mrs A. H. Schmidt, of 420 East Forty-third street. One week ago yesterday she left Mrs. Schmidt's house for the purpose of visiting the home of her sister, Mrs. Felton, at 991 North Clark street. Since that time she has not been seen, although the police have been working on the case for some days. They have no clues. Letters have been sent to her Canadian home, but they know nothing of her there."

The girl's parents used to live on King street. Her father, John Galvin, is a pensioner, and for many years worked on the corporation. He had a pension of 2 shillings a day, and when he went to Ireland some years ago he left one-half of it to his wife in this city. The name does not appear now in the city directory. A married sister of the girl is supposed to be living in town.

A Separate School Trustee's Calculation.

"Let me state you a few facts that may not have occurred to the friends of Mr. Meredith who urge that separate school abolition should be made an issue in this contest between a London merchant and manufacturer and a Toronto civil official," said a separate school trustee to an ADVERTISER representative yesterday. "These men know very well that the separate schools are guaranteed us by a British act of Parliament, and cannot be taken away unless a British Government repeals the act that binds the Canadian Provinces together. But that is not the point I make. Do you know that if the separate schools of London were abolished the taxes of London would be increased over $3,000 a year more than now suffices to educate the children of the city? I make it out in this way: In the separate schools there are ten teachers of the Order of St. Joseph, all properly qualified for teaching the young, and some holding first-class certificates. These receive $200 a year each. Three sisters of the Sacred Heart teach the children in Queen's avenue. They, too, are properly qualified teachers, but they serve the people gratitously. Thus, we have 600 children taught by thirteen teachers for $2,000 a year. At an average of $400 a year as public school teachers, these educationists would cost the taxpayers of London $5,200 per annum. It is a mistake to allege that because the women who teach separate schools have devoted themselves to the work and impart religious instruction as well, these schools are inefficient in secular instruction. The trustees hold that they send up and pass as many pupils through the high school entrance examination in proportion to their numbers as do the public schools under Protestant management." It is well to hear both sides of the question. This is an interesting statement.

A Silver Leaf Success.

The Silver Leaf Social and Athletic Club gave a grand concert to a packed house in Cullis' Hall last night. The numbers were well given. Special mention might be made of John Fountain's solo and the acting of Levi Bell, who proved himself to be a very good comedian. Thos. E. Taylor, as Parrhasius, was exceptionally good. He is an elocutionist of no mean order. The chair was occupied by the president of the club, Thos. E. Taylor, who introduced the following programme: Chorus, "Steal Away to Jesus"; chorus, "I Hear a Mighty Rumbling in the Sky"; solo, "Way Down Upon the Swanee River", Levy Bell; chorus, "Ching-a-ling Kei"; harmonica selection, organ accompaniment, N. Martin; chorus, "Way Down Yonder in the Corn Field"; solo, "You Can't Lose Me, Charlie," John Fountain; chorus, "These Bones Shall Rise Again"; solo, "Chop Me in the Head With a Golden Axe," Levi Bell; chorus, "Don't You Hear Them Bells"; intermission; scene from Parrhasius, entitled "Parrhasius and the Captive"—Parrhasius, an artist, Thos. E. Taylor; the captive, Fred Fuller; attendants, Thos. Logan and John Fountain. "How Pete Tried to Be a Doctor"—Pete, the office boy, Levi Bell; Dr. Jones, N. Martin; Willie Smith, Thos. Logan; Mr. Reid, the patient, I. Bird. A social gathering at Miss Didemus', by the club, introducing the following choruses, "Down on the Farm," "When My Rover Comes Again," "Adieu, Adieu Kind Friends Adieu." Those who took part in the choruses were: Levi Bell, Thomas E. Taylor, Thomas Logan, Edgar Morehead, Ike Bird, N. Martin, John Fountain and Fred Fuller. The affair was a success, financially and otherwise.

Big Sales.

Mr. J. W. Jones has just made the following sales:

The stock of Marshall Bros., tea merchants, valued at over $7,000; sold to Mr. John Dunn, city, at 62 cents on the dollar.

Two lots on north Princess avenue, 104 feet, at $29 per foot.

The homestead of the late Stephen Saunders, Dundas street, for $2,000 to John H. Chapman.

THE WHEEL.

THE METEORS' RUN.

The Meteor Bicycle Club run last night to Crumlin, returning by the road back of the Asylum and Hellmuth College, was very largely attended, and a very pleasant time was spent. They hold club runs every Thursday evening, and a good deal of interest is taken in them by the members.

The record made by W. E. Sherbrooke in the St. Johns road race Wednesday evening was not on a racing wheel assisted by pace makers, but on a light roadster, unpaced.

CRICKET.

LONDON VS. TORONTO.

Empire: London met Toronto yesterday on the 'Varsity lawn and was defeated by a handsome margin. Wickets were drawn at 4 o'clock, as the Londoners had to catch a train, and only one innings each was played. Dr. Williams and Dr. Beemer alone made a stand against the bowling of Laing and Wadsworth, which the visitors found most destructive. Terry did not come off, although everyone was hoping to see him bat. For Toronto Judge Street made a half dozen in a way which showed his arm had not lost its power since the day when he was the mainstay of the London club. The score:
