HAS RECORD IN HAMILTON

Tomato Growers Have Decided to Cut Down Production to About One Half.

BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY DROPPED

All Roman Catholic Churches Commence Three-Day Celebration of the Pope's Jubilee.

Hamilton, March 1.—The member of Toronto's "Gay Cat" gang, who is a guest at the jail here, has admitted to Inspector McMahon, when cornered, that the police made no mistake when they put him down as Mat Duggan. He is not such a stranger here after all. Plenty of people in the north end remember him as a boy, and the other members of the family are also well known. They came from Dundas to live here. The prisoner's brother, Jack, worked in the cotton mills in this city until about four years ago. The only time that Mat got into trouble here was when he was before the magistrate for playing ball on the streets.

The tomato growers and the canners are still at war. The growers met again Saturday afternoon, and decided to cut down the production of tomatoes to about half of what it usually is. They say that they can dispose of at least 70,000 bushels under contract at 25 cents a bushel to a new concern in Burlington, and to one of the factories here that is not a member of the Canners' Association. The beet sugar factory project seems to be off at present, at least.

All the Catholic churches in the city commenced the three days' celebration of the Pope's jubilee to-day. Special reference to the life and work of His Holiness was made. The special services will be continued Monday and Tuesday.

Dropped Dead.

John D. Ferman, 197 North Victoria-avenue, dropped dead this morning. Death came without a moment's warning. He had not been ill at all. About 10 o'clock he went down stairs to attend to the furnace. He called up stairs to ask his wife and daughter to fix the furnace checks. A few moments after they heard a fall. When they rushed down, they found that he was dead. He was an agent, and well-known about town.

Called an Embezzler.

John, better known as "Reddy" Dimmick, one of the best known shoe clerks in the city, was arrested last night on a most serious charge. It is alleged that he embezzled over $450. He had been employed until about a week ago by H. A. Soper, who runs a boot and shoe store. He had been employed there for many years, and his arrest caused quite a sensation. Beside the $450 mentioned in the warrant, it is alleged that there are several smaller sums. Part of the time he was employed as a collector, and he had plenty of opportunities to help himself. He led rather a gay life, and has been in court for taking a hand in drunken rows. He was discharged by his employer a short time ago, and has been around town ever since.

O. Denisey was run in to-day, charged with the theft of tools.

WAR BECOMING ACUTE.

The telephone war in East Toronto is becoming acute. Councilman Frank Abbott will confer with Mayor Walters early this week on the subject of a mass meeting. Mr. Abbott is enthusiastic on the proposition for a municipal service. If the Mayor fails to call the citizens together to discuss the matter, a call will be issued in the instance of a number of the councilmen. Some of the timid subscribers to the Bell think they should accept $65 'phones, as this is a reduction of one-half over the old rate, but others are determined since the Bell monopoly held them up so long not to be content with anything less than a municipal system. Mr. Abbott said to The World last night that he was in favor of a conference between the Town of East Toronto and Toronto; in fact, he thought the city and the towns immediately surrounding it should get together in a convention to discuss the question. This would be a practical way of getting at the subject, since all the suburbs wanted to be sure they could get connection with the Toronto system. If the movement was carried forward together it would be a guarantee to the outside towns that they would get into Toronto as the municipal system if they failed to secure a law that would force the Bell to connect with independent systems. The question is attracting much attention in East Toronto.

REMARKABLE INTERVIEW.

A remarkable interview which the Rome correspondent of The Berliner Tageblatt had recently with the Pope's physician is being widely translated and reproduced in the Italian press. Prof. Mazzoni is quoted as saying in part:

"What! The Pope sick? He is so well that we might envy him. Except for a slight hoarseness, which was easily cured, nothing has ailed Leo these last two years. He is truly a phenomenon. He grows older in years, but, paradoxical as it may seem, he appears to gain vigor each year. At the beginning of every new decade of Pope Leo's life it was prophesied that it would be the last. But it never came true.

"Mark my words, the Pope will live to be a hundred years old and longer, and even then he will enjoy life as he does to-day. What should the Pope die of, anyway? He has the constitution of a young man, and all his organs are in perfect working order. He leads a regular life, consumes very little alcohol, and it is therefore not astonishing.

"His Holiness reads without spectacles, walks without a cane, dresses and undresses without assistance, and works about fourteen hours daily. Really, one can hardly believe that Leo should ever die."

DENVER HAS PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Denver, March 1.—The Supreme Court has sustained the Rush Home Rule constitutional amendment, adopted at the November election. The bill creates the city and County of Denver out of the city and half a dozen surrounding towns, gives absolute Home Rule and complete power for acquiring and operating public utilities and provides that no franchise shall be granted except on the vote of the people.

GAMEY'S POSITION SETTLED.

Algoma Conservator: This brings up the question "who controls the patronage." Now we are not guessing when we say Mr. Gamey certainly has the patronage, and no Grit or Tory in the district can get an appointment, a position or a road job, without Mr. Gamey consenting to the appointment. It is no doubt a fact that he is in receipt of letters every mail from Reformers who see out for the spoil approving of his course.

NOSE STUFFED UP.

If Bothered With Catarrh, Bad Breath, Hawking, Cold in the Head, Use Catarrhozone—Guaranteed to Cure or Money Refunded.

Catarrhozone is nature's way of curing Catarrhal troubles. Its healing vapor spreads through the nostrils, throat and air passages. It stops mucous discharges, relieves pain and "stuffed-up" feeling, sweetens the breath and prevents dropping in the throat.

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant and absolutely certain to cure as Catarrhozone. The inhaler can be carried in the vest pocket ready for use while at work, in church, theatre—any place, at any time.

Every breath of Catarrhozone brings relief, and its regular use will cure any cast not beyond human aid. The percentage of cures is so nearly one hundred per cent. that Catarrhozone is sold under guarantee. Those not benefited can have their money back.

Rev. D. R. Smith of Whitehead, N.S., says: "Catarrhozone permanently cured me of chronic catarrh of the nose and throat, from which I suffered for many years. I heartily recommend Catarrhozone."

Mr. R. McCallum of Spring Brook, Ont., says: "A sample of Catarrhozone benefited me more than years of treatment with doctors, and by using the dollar outfit I was completely cured in a few weeks. I recommend Catarrhozone as the most satisfactory cure for catarrh on the market. Every word said for it is true."

Catarrhozone treatment for two months costs only one dollar. Extra bottles of liquid separate from the inhaler 50c. Sample size 25c. Sold by druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

ALDRICH BILL IS UP TO-DAY

Important Financial Measure Before American Senate That is Attracting Very Much Attention.

DEMOCRATS FILIBUSTER SATURDAY

Real Fight to Come on a Compromise Proposition From the Republican Caucus.

Washington, March 1.—A lively time was had in the senate Saturday over the Aldrich financial bill, and it looked for a time as if the Democrats meant to filibuster it to death. Their fight was not carried beyond speech-making, however, as they received no sympathy or support from the rank-and-file of the Democratic senators. The Democrats on the Finance Committee sat silent in their seats because they had given the bill their endorsement in advance of its introduction, and Senator Bailey even went so far as to make a speech in favor of it. After much spirited debate the measure went over until Monday.

Were it not for the Aldrich bill and the Philippines tariff bill this congress would come to a peaceful close after its stormy career, but those measures will take up a good deal of the time of both houses between now and Wednesday at 12 o'clock, when the session ends. A majority of Republicans and Democrats, both in the house and senate, want the Aldrich bill to pass, but the members of the House, Banking and Currency Committee, especially Fowler of New Jersey, are determined to defeat it, if any way can be found to do so.

Similar Bill Comes Up.

The house bill introduced Friday by Mr. Payne of New York, which is similar to the Aldrich bill, was taken away from the Ways and Means Committee, where it had been sent, and referred to the Banking and Currency Committee, after a report had been made that it had been improperly referred. Chairman Fowler of the Banking and Currency Committee now sees a chance to defeat the Aldrich bill and resurrect his asset-currency measure at one and the same time. His bill has been nominally the order of business in the house all during the week, but there has been no intention of seriously considering it, and it has not been mentioned, except in the most perfunctory way.

Combines the Measures.

At a meeting of the Republican members of the Committee Saturday morning it was decided to attach the main features of the Fowler measure to the bill introduced by Mr. Payne, and to introduce it as an entirely new financial measure. This plan was carried out later in the day, when Mr. Fowler introduced a bill, of which his asset-currency provision is the head, and the Aldrich bill the tail. When the Aldrich bill comes over from the senate the committee will probably report its own bill back to the house as a substitute, and then the real fight over the Aldrich bill will begin.

The house has no idea of passing the Fowler bill, but there is a determination to enact the Aldrich bill as passed by the senate, if this can possibly be accomplished. The Committee on Rules will bring in a special rule for its consideration, and if the Banking and Currency Committee show any disposition to smother the Aldrich bill it will be brought out by the passage of the rule discharging the committee from its further consideration. The Aldrich bill is not a party measure, and there is a strong desire among both Republicans and Democrats to pass it.

ALDRICH FINANCIAL BILL.

Operation of Special Rule Needed to Get Action on It.

Washington, March 1.—The Democrats of the House have decided to prosecute their filibuster until Congress expires by limitation at noon March 4, and, therefore, during the three remaining days of the session all business will have to be transacted in the face of every obstacle which the minority can interpose. In spite of this, it is believed ample time remains to get thru the conference reports on the remaining five appropriation bills. Of twenty-seven bills with Senate amendments that are on the Speaker's table, one or two may get thru, but the majority are doomed to die where they are. The one bill in which the Republican leaders are particularly interested is the Aldrich Financial Bill, and if it comes over from the Senate, a way will be found, probably thru the operation of a special rule, to secure action on it.

COUNTERPART OF KING.

Brooklyn Eagle: The physical counterpart of King Edward startled a great many observers in Washington last week in the person of William Ross, member of the Canadian parliament, and a resident of Port Perry, Ont. He was escorted into the Senate Chamber by Dolliver of Iowa and was warmly welcomed. He was able to give the American statesmen a piece of information in regard to a matter then under discussion. A difference of opinion had developed as to whether closure rules were in force in any of the Canadian parliamentary bodies. Mr. Ross said no such rule was known in either House of parliament in Ottawa, and Mr. Hoar thereupon announced the fact in the Senate.

William Ross represents South Ontario in the Dominion House.

East Middlesex Conservatives.

London, Feb. 28.—At the annual meeting of the East Middlesex Conservative Association, held here this afternoon, a very encouraging report was read and adopted. Officers were re-elected, as follows: R. Shaw-Wood, president; S. F. Glass, vice-president; R. L. Guest, R. H. Smith, Samuel Pardy, W. E. Wright, Thomas McFarlane and R. A. Jones, division vice-president; P. H. Bartlett, secretary; James Priddis, treasurer. Resolutions of confidence in the Conservative leaders were adopted.

CLEANLINESS IN MILKING.

Bacteriological Study by Prof. Harrison of Guelph.

The myriad micro-demons, yclept bacteria, had a fair showing up at the Canadian Institute on Saturday night, the occasion being a lecture by Prof. Harrison of Guelph on "Bacteriological Matter in Milk." The professor described in detail some of the tests that had been made by experts in America and the Old World as to the number of bacteria in a given quantity of milk under certain conditions, and some very interesting transparencies were projected on the screen, illustrating the separation and culture of these bacterial colonies.

The main point of interest to those not well versed in matters biological, was the necessity for cleanliness in milking, as well as in the work which precedes and follows it. Professor Harrison drew a picture, alas, all too true, of the average milker on some of the farms whence the city's milk supply is drawn, and highly commended the action of the New York State Dairy Commission, which has encouraged farmers in that state to conduct their milking operations under improved conditions.

Pictures of milking machines that had been tried at Guelph and in other places were shown. These machines did not prove satisfactory, insofar as the milk that was drawn by them contained more bacteria, probably because of the suction of the rubber cups drawing into the milk a quantity of dirt, etc., from the udder.

The care of the animal was emphasized, and the professor strongly recommended the moistening of the flanks previous to the commencement of milking.

Steam sterilization of milk cans before and after use should be encouraged, as mere washing with hot water was not sufficient to destroy all the bacteria, and milk contained enough even at the best of times.

The keeping quality of milk would be greater if, as soon as drawn, the milk were cooled by a water cooler.

He referred to the Dentonia farm as one the Torontonians knew already, and showed several photographs of the splendidly equipped premises of the City Dairy Company, as models of what farms and dairies ought to be.

IMPROVE FRIENDLY RELATIONS.

What Effect the Settlement of the Land Question Would Have.

London, March 1.—Captain Shawe Taylor, secretary of the Dublin Landlord and Tenants Conference, who has just returned from a visit to the United States, describing this visit to a representative of the Associated Press to-night, said:

"President Roosevelt, who is himself half an Irishman and extremely proud of it, received me most cordially. I believe there is nobody in the United States more anxious than he for Ireland's welfare. Referring to the Dublin conference, Mr. Roosevelt said: "I am not speaking now as a politician when I say that in company with the whole civilized world I heartily welcome the prospect of a final settlement of the Irish land question.'"

Captain Shawe Taylor concluded the interview by saying:

"I have the highest possible authority for making the following statement: 'A final settlement of the land question, by removing the barrier now existing between Ireland and England, will greatly improve the relations between the United States and England, and will also link in closer friendship Canada to the British empire.'"

PLAYED A CRUEL JOKE.

Legislators Had Sport With One of Roosevelt's Strenuous Ideas.

H. Clay Thompson, traveling passenger agent for the Chicago & Great Western, is a guest of the Queen's. He tells the following unique joke perpetrated in the Missouri legislature, apropos the recent public utterance of President Roosevelt on the duty of families to raise many children: "A great admirer of the President's, and an enthusiastic advocate of big families, is a member of the legislature. He had 12 children in his family and was proud of every one of them. After the President's famous letter was published suggesting that some public form of encouragement be given to induce families to raise more children, Hon. Horace M. Burton of Bolivar, Mo., prepared and introduced in lower house a bill providing that for each child born in excess of eight in a family a certain amount per head be paid from the state treasury to the head of the family. The phraseology was 'every man who shall be the father of more than eight children residing within the limits of this state shall receive ——,' and the blank space was left for the engrossing clerk to fill in with the amount decided upon by the house. While the father of the bill was in the cloak room some wag proposed for insertion in the blank space the words, 'ten years,' and before the promoter discovered what had been done to his pet measure the lawmakers had placed a law on the statute books providing a penalty of ten years for the head of every family who dared to raise more than eight children, to Burton's great disgust and the delight of those on the inside of the joke. This is a sample of the reception given to some of Roosevelt's 'strenuous' ideas in the states of the free and easy West."

GALE ON THE ATLANTIC.

Steamers Have Rough Time—Vessels Arrive Battered by Storm.

London, March 1.—The gale over the British Isles continued Saturday night and to-day, but with less violence. Vessels are still taking refuge in the ports and arrive battered by the storm. Others have gone ashore. A quantity of wreckage has been seen off the coast of Northumberland, and the indications point to the wreck of the British ship Cambrian Prince.

The British steamer Pharsalia went thru a terrible experience. She left Boston January 30, for Leith, calling at St. John, N. B. The hurricane struck her on February 24 and the heavy seas flooded her hold, damaged her cargo, smashed the bridge and almost all thedeck fittings, stove in the boats and swept the pinnacle overboard. The captain and several of the crew were injured. The Pharsalia was obliged to put into Queenstown.

The British steamer Cebrian, from London, February 13, for Boston, also put back to Queenstown, after being seventeen days out at sea. She only got seven hundred miles west of Ireland, and experienced repeated hurricanes. The decks were swept of everything moveable, and the boats damaged. The captain thought the steamer would never weather the storm.

COMBINE IS SCENTED.

Shipping Federation of Canada is After a Dominion Charter.

Ottawa, March 1.—The application for a charter to incorporate the Shipping Federation of Canada, with power to amalgamate steamship companies, etc., is exciting considerable interest here. The phraseology of the notice of application is delightfully vague and no one seems able to interpret the inner meaning of it. It may be that some company is merely preparing itself with power to act, should a merger of ocean business from Canadian ports materialize in the future.

John Barron Dead.

John Barron, a brother of the well-known Yonge-street grocer, died suddenly about 10.30 o'clock last night at his residence, No. 165 Strachan-avenue. Deceased was 64 years of age, was a native of Elgin, Scotland, and was a prominent Oddfellow. He came to this country about 30 years ago, and has resided in this city since then, being first in the employ of the old Jaques & Hay Company, and latterly he has been connected with the firm of Charles Rogers & Son. Death was due to hemorrhage of the brain. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to Mount Pleasant.

Horse Was Killed.

Montreal, March 1.—Two freight cars on the Canadian Pacific collided near St. Rose to-night and were wrecked, but no lives were lost. Some of the cars caught fire and were burned. A race horse, which was in one of the freights coming from Ottawa, was killed.

WILL DRIVE OUT GAY CATS

and in that way the gang spreads some every year. The younger element is taught gambling, crap-shooting and that sort of thing, and it becomes a school for crime. Right along these big fellows collect money from the little ones, for no other reason than to permit the helpless kids to sell on certain streets. It is blackmail, of course, but if the little ones don't pay it they are kicked and cuffed by the Gay Cats, until life is a burden to them. Any time we catch them we take them in, but it is hard to get evidence against them. The little victims themselves are intimidated and will not testify in most cases."

While the inspector was talking a plain clothes officer came up and added his testimony to the unsavory record of the Gay Cats. "More than once I have seen these big fellows taking money from the little ones, and have forced them to return it. The little ones give it to them thru fear. Only two weeks ago I observed one of the Gay Cats collecting five cents each off a bunch of little newsboys for the privilege of selling their papers that night. I forced him to hand it back, but, of course, I could not watch them all night, and I have no doubt, that as soon as I turned away the big fellow got the money again. They drink and gamble and steal, and are real tough propositions.

Will Fight, Too.

"A drunken man is what they are after most, but they are fighters, and will, if in a crowd, tackle anybody. They scatter so fast and have so many holes it is hard to get evidence against them. As fast as one of the little ones grows up, if he is tough and cliued to become a criminal, he becomes a Gay Cat and begins a criminal career. They thrive on notoriety, and nothing pleases them better than to get their names in the paper. Since Duggan's picture appeared in the papars as the author of the hold-up in Hamilton, he has become the hero of the Gay Cats. If he could come back to town tomorrow he could live at the expense of the Gay Cats for a long time. They glory in crime, and this makes them even more dangerous than otherwise."

Here is a statement of the bookkeeper of a well-known mortgage and loan company, concerning a highly interesting seance he had with the Gay Cat desperadoes: "I was returning home from the club about two o'clock one morning not long ago with a companion. Down on Bay-street we noticed a crowd of young men, roughly dressed. They occupied the sidewalk. We attempted to pass between them, and in about a minute we were fighting for our lives. They gathered around us in such force that about all we could do was to prevent their murdering us. One of them, at least, was armed with a murderous-looking bludgeon, and struck my friend repeatedly with the weapon. He finally hit him over the head, and he fell like a log. I was knocked down, and, believing I was about to murdered, called for the police. At my shouts the gang scattered. I had been hit in the head with a slugshot. In a moment not a man was to be seen. I got my friend, with the aid of a hackman, to a drug store, and he was given aid. At first it was thought he was dead, but he recovered, tho the physicians said his skull had received a terrific blow. The hackman says the gang was the Gay Cats. He had seen them around the corner, tho he did not see the assault. I did not make a formal complaint to the police, as I realized how difficult it would be to convict them. I could not identify a single one, for I was expecting nothing of the kind, and after they jumped on us I had no time to look at faces. That was my first and, I hope, last experience with the Gay Cats."

Be Firm.

Said an other officer to the World man: "For my part, I am not disposed to treat these overgrown newsboys as kids. They are the worst kind of thugs, and would as soon murder a policeman as look at him. It is only the fear of the gibbet that keeps them at all quiet. I have made up my mind the first time the bunch assault me with their slugshots, which they carry on rubber bands up their sleeves, and can easily brain a man with a blow, to take out a club or a revolver and settle everyone in sight. If one or two were killed by the pedestrians they assault, or the police officers they resist it would clear the atmosphere considerably. For my part, I will not risk my life showing them any leniency."

Nerve Sufferers Need Sympathy

And More Than That the Nerve Cells Must be Restored and Revitalized by the Use of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Too many doctors have no sympathy with the sufferer from diseases of the nerves. They do not understand the nervous system, and when the victim of nervous exhaustion or prostration appeals to them he is told to "brace up," forget his trouble, and he will soon be all right.

Anyone who has had nervous prostration, been scarcely able to drag about, felt energy and vitality gradually growing less, and been in constant dread of paralysis or even insanity itself, knows how utterly useless and discouraging is such advice.

Nervous diseases cannot right themselves. Exhausted, shrivelled nerve cells can never revitalize themselves without assistance from outside. If the blood is weak and watery and fails to afford proper nourishment restoratives must be used. Recovery is bound to be slow, but it is none the less certain, and there is no combination of ingredients which has proven so successful as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This famous food cure is not a stimulant to arouse false hope, but a true restorative, reconstructing wasted cells and tissues, and instilling into the blood and nerves the essential principles of life and vigor.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food soon wins the confidence of all who are pale, thin, weak, or exhausted, for by noting your increase in weight while using it you can prove that new, firm flesh and tissue is being added to the body, and realize that weakness and disease is giving way to strength and vigor. Fifty cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

these great questions to the whole people, as it would then be impossible for corporations to buy up the whole people as they can a handful of our members of parliament. If what The World's correspondent states is true, and there is every reason to believe that his information is reliable, the Canadian Express Companies have a deeper hold than the public ever imagined. How far the pass system has extended may readily be surmised. The Ontario government has only an indirect relationship with the interests of the express companies. When the companies think it worth their while to give Ontario Ministers the freedom of their service it is not to be supposed that members of the Dominion government are accorded scanter courtesy. The World's correspondent opens up an important phase of the express system of Canada. It would be interesting to know just what officials, upon whom the country relies for the protection of its interests, accept these favors from the express companies. That information might do something to explain the languid interest of governments in the grievances that have been discussed in these columns.

TENNYSON'S "IN MEMORIAM."

Address by Prof. Alexander in the Unitarian Church.

"A poem to be great must unfold our own feelings," said Prof. Alexander in the Unitarian Church last night. The subject of his lecture, Tennyson's "In Memoriam," was treated analytically, showing how in the development of the poem, the author turned from despair to hope, from egoism to sympathy, from theory to practice, from regarding the past to regarding the future. It was great, because it mirrored feelings familiar to all.

The stumbling block of backneyism was evaded by the extension of the theme. Novelty was given by the reflections of the philosopher, bringing out new aspects of religious thought. The poem showed the effect of the death of his friend, on the intellectual and emotional nature of the poet. It was great because it was of universal interest; it possessed profound emotion and had novelty and freshness.

The poem had unity. The one thought running thru it was the sorrow of the poet at the death of his friend. But the sorrow had three different phases, as visible at the three Christmas seasons. The first was a frenzy of despair, the second outward calm but inward turmoil, the last hope for a future reunion. The work was that of a philosopher, not of a scientist. It was broad, elastic, suggestive, so that people of all shades of thought could find in it the expression of their ideas.

The lecture was illustrated by the reading of selections in a masterly and sympathetic manner.
