JUDGMENT FOR THE CITY.

Court Holds Street Railway Plant is Liable for Assessment.

Decision at Osgoode Hall Yesterday—Chief Justice Burton Dissented—Consumers' Gas Company's Case Formed a Precedent—Decision, Which Has Been Long Awaited, May be Appealed.

The long-standing litigation over the assessment of the poles, wires and tracks of the Toronto Railway Company was settled yesterday by the Court of Appeal giving judgment in favor of the city, Sir George Burton, C.J., dissenting.

When the city made the assessment on Ward 1 last year, the company appealed to the Court of Revision, which sustained the assessment. Then the company appealed and brought the matter before a bench of three judges, composed of Judge McDougall, County Judge of York, and the senior judges of the adjoining counties, Dartnell of Ontario and McGibbon of Peel, who decided in favor of the company, Judge McDougall dissenting.

In the meantime the Assessment Department went on and assessed the poles, wires, etc., of the company in the other wards of the city, and in each case the company appealed to the Court of Revision against the assessment, the Court of Revision, in view of the judgment of the three judges in the case of Ward 1, sustaining the appeal of the company.

This placed the city in the position of being the appellant against the decision of the Court of Revision, and an appeal was taken to Judge McDougall, it being deemed unnecessary to call in the other two judges in this instance. Judge McDougall, after hearing argument, reserved the decision of the Court of Revision, and held that the company was liable for assessment. Then the company appealed from this decision to the Court of Appeal, with the above result.

This decision creates a precedent for the guidance of County Court judges in future cases.

By the decision the assessment of $452,277 against the company in Wards 2 to 6 is confirmed for 1898, which will probably yield between $7000 and $8000 in taxes. Next year a further addition to this assessment of about $85,000 for the First Ward will be made, making a total assessment of about $540,000.

This judgment also disposes of a special case stated by the Attorney-General in order to settle the question.

A Charming Millinery Display at McKendry's.

Yesterday was the first day of McKendry's spring opening, and, of course, the show rooms were crowded with ladies who well know the ability of this firm to cater to their wants in the line of headgear. McKendry & Co. have decided to make the millinery business their specialty, but will also keep a full line of ribbons, laces, velvets, etc., in stock, whilst the corset, blouse and skirt department shall also have special attention. The store has undergone many changes for the better. Large mirrors extend the full length of the first floor, whilst the second floor has been newly decorated and occupies double the space of the floor below. The display of pattern hats and bonnets is almost bewildering in quality and variety; notable among them is a chic sailor hat of fine Panama braid in silver white. The brim is bordered by a hemmed-in roll. Around the crown are four folded silk scarfs in green, lemon, sea foam blue, and pearl white. A large knot formed from the four scarfs, with the ends fringed out four inches in depth, falls at the left side of the back and holds a cluster of curled mottled brown quills. No one could imagine a more Parisian effect than is made by this lovely "sailor."

The "Bartet" is a toquet of delft blue silk net, wheel shaped brim banded with black sequin, a handsome sequin crown and ostrich plumes clasped by cut jet darts, a most becoming and indeed elegant conception.

The Phebe or Shepherdess is a large shape with moderately low crown, ruffled at edge and broad shelving brim. These are trimmed with feathers and flowers, and some are lapped at the back under a mass of flowers and ribbon bows with plumes set within the brim to nod over the crown.

The display of flowers is simply wonderful, and they appear so true to nature that one is apt to involuntarily take a sniff. The popular kinds are roses in the usual garden shades, besides some novelty tints, such as burnt orange, blood orange and nasturtium; all these shades are in great request and will prove trade winners for those who have them in stock.

Plumes are used mostly in shadowy tufts and to sweep around the hat from side to side. The most recent fancy is to mount the stiff tips with a line of crystals, set in silver on the quills, the line of crystals in some instances representing the shaft of an arrow, the head serving as an ornament at the foot of quill. The display made by McKendry & Co. would do credit to any store in New York, and no doubt the show rooms will be crowded for the next two days whilst the opening lasts.

Can Deputy Clerks Administer Oaths?

Mr. R. S. Robinson, a clerk in the County Court office, has found a decision in the case of Regina v. Trew which combats the decision given a few days ago by Judge McDougall that deputy clerks cannot administer the oath, and on which a prisoner was dismissed from custody a few days ago.

James Harper Doyle of 167 Beaconsfield-avenue, while playing last evening with a number of companions, was accidentally struck with a brick just over the temple. Although the wound caused much pain and inconvenience, examination shows no more serious consequences.

CURE CONSTIPATION

IN THE UPPER HOUSE.

Senator Kirchoffer Discovers a Glorious Opportunity and Makes Some Sarcastic Remarks.

Ottawa, March 15.—(Special.)—In the Upper House yesterday Senator Kirchhoffer called attention to a paragraph published in The Toronto World, and sent by its Montreal correspondent, to the effect that a fund of $200,000 ahd been raised to bribe the Senate into passing the Yukon Railway bill. After quoting the article in question, Senator Kirchhoffer, in a jocular mood, remarked that he had always heard that there was money to be made out of politics, but as he was not a railway contractor or a publisher, he had unfortunately never been able to come across any opportunities in his experience. Now here was a glorious opportunity. Counting out the twenty Liberal Senators, who would have to vote for the bill in any event, the remnant of sixty-four Senators would be able to divide this little nest egg to the tune of $4700 each. [Laughter.]

Speaking seriously, he said that it was simply scandalous that such a report should be published in any Canadian newspaper, and probably be copied into the newspapers of the United States and Great Britain. It was quite possible that the contingency might arise—for the Senate was not pledged against the bill—that the Upper House would be able to see its way to pass the Yukon Railway bill if it was amended, for instance. In that case the Senate would be open to the imputation that it had been bought. Some means, he thought, should be devised of punishing any newspaper which would publish such a gross and scandalous libel on any body of men.

Hon. David Mills thought it was a mistake for Senator Kirchhoffer to have called attention to the matter in the manner in which he had. The story was so palpably untrue that there were few newspapers in Canada which would be found to publish it. By referring to the matter Senator Kirchhoffer had only given the story further publicity. The Senate was above such a contemptible suspicion in the public mind. The Toronto World was a sensational journal, and anything which was calculated to attract the public attention to it would find publication in its columns. The public would never believe that the Senate could be influenced by considerations of that kind.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, on a motion for returns, scored the Government for the wholesale superannuations in the Belleville postoffice, the result of which has been the imposition upon the country of a burden of superannuation equivalent, capitalized, to $40,000, although most of those whose services had been dispensed with were young men and women.

An Important Omission.

Just before adjournment it was discovered that by some mistake Senator Lougheed's bill to incirporate Mr. Hamilton Smith's company to build a railway into the Yukon from Pyramid Harbor had been set down for its second reading on Monday, the 21st, instead of Monday, the 14th.

As the bill is indirectly opposed to the Government's policy of granting Messrs. Mann and McKenzie a monopoly, the accidental shelving for a whole week rather nettled the Senator having the bill in charge.

The Minister of Justice, after raising some technical objections, observed that the passing of this bill ment that the Senate would throw out the Yukon Railway bill; and it was unprecedented for the Senate to commit itself in advance against a Government measure.

After some further discussion the second reading was deferred until Wednesday, but Senator Lougheed assured the Government he would press the bill to a vote in the Upper House.

Cobourg Spring Assizes.

Cobourg, March 15.—The spring jury Assizes opened before Mr. Justice Falconbridge at noon yesterday. His Lordship, in addressing the grand jury, expressed surprise that suc ha large and wealthy county had taken no steps towards erecting a home of refuge for the aged and poor.

In Queen v. Henry Phillips of Clarke township, prisoner pleaded guilty to a charge of rape. In Dickinson v. Wilbur, an action for damages for assault, the Judge suggested settlement after the case opened, and consent judgment was entered for $400, without costs. The seduction case, Hugh v. Lytle, caused considerable interest, owing to the girl siding with the defendant and against her mother, the plaintiff. Verdict for plaintiff for $5.

S. Ackerman, commercial traveler, Belleville, writes: "Some years ago I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for Inflammatory Rheumatism, and three bottles affected a complete cure. I was the whole of one summer unable to move without crutches, and every movement caused excruciating pains. I am now out on the road and exposed to all kinds of weather, but have never been troubled with rheumatism since. I, however, keep a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Oil on hand, and I always recommend it to others as it did so much for me." ed

C. M. B. A.

At the first meeting of Branch 15 of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, held in their new hall, Queen and McCaul-streets, there was a large attendance of members. Rev. Father Hayden was present and delivered an instructive address on the work of the association. Rev. William Ray read the report of the auditors for 1897, and after some discussion it was laid over until next meeting. Bro. P. J. Rooney, grand trustee, also gave the members advice on the increase of membership.

Toronto Chapter of Architects.

The regular monthly meeting of the local chapter of the Ontario Association of Architects was held in the School of Practical Science. Mr. J. A. Duff of the school staff gave an instructive paper entitled "Specifications and Tests for Structural Steel," which was much appreciated, as was also the paper given by Mr. Grant Hellwell on "House Planning." The next meeting of the chapter will be held on April 11.

SINS OF NOAH, JACOB, DAVID

The Immoral and Criminal Actions of These Patriarchs.

Bishop Sullivan Says Our Judgment Should be Tempered in View of the Circumstances of Their Lot—Our Light is Clearer and We Fall and Our Responsibility Greater.

Bishop Sullivan, in his noontide address yesterday in St. James' Cathedral, spoke further of the Moral Difficulty of the Old Testament. He took for his text "Noah drank of the wine and was drunken." He said: In treating the question of morality of the Old Testament, which we are sometimes told is so miserably lax and defective, it is only fair to bear in mind the peculiar circumstances of the case. Our Lord Himself laid down a great maxim here, "To whomsoever much is given, of him will much be required." Again, "He that knew his Master's will, and did it not, shall be beaten with many stripes; he that knew it not, and did it not, shall be beaten with few." In other words, God's judgment of men and His requirements of them are regulated on a graduated scale, marked according to their means and opportunities of knowledge. This being so, can we wonder that the Old Testament pronounces human lives "perfect which yet were stained with grievous sins," or described men as "after God's heart," who yet in moments of strong temptation followed the promptings of their own corrupt natures?

More Knowlege, Greater Responsibility.

If we ourselves, with all our boasted superior knowledge, fenced and guarded as we are on every side from the contact of evil, by the silent message of the written word, by the warning voice of the living preacher, by the secret rebukings of an enlightened conscience, by the strivings of a divine spirit wrestling with us in our inner being, —if we, I say, despite these multiplied safeguards, are yet betrayed into many a sad and shameful fall, is it for us to pronounce severe and censorious judgments on men such as Noah and Jacob and David and others, who, having none of these helps, fall into sins not more grievous than our own, or to complain that Scripture virtually ignores the eternal distinction between right and wrong in picturing them, notwithstanding the trangressions of which they were guilty, as men whose lives were, on the whole, what God would have them be?

The Bishop then described the drunkenness of Noah, the lying and deceit of Jacob, and the adultery and murder by David, and showed how punishment in each case followed, the same as in our own day. "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

Who Knows John Carroll?

Superintendent of Police Linden of Philadelphia has asked the local Police Department to locate John P. Carroll, who left Philadelphia for Toronto last Thursday. CaProll's mother is very ill and he is wanted at home at once. He is 22 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches tall, slim built, dark complexion, dark brown hair, parted in the middle, smooth face, prominent roman rose, brown derby hat, brown tweed suit and no overcoat.

Off to the Klondike.

William Bell, who for a long time has patrolled a night watchman's beat down town, leaves to-day for the Klondike. He joins a party at Edmonton, and the route will be to Athabasca, then along the Peace River to Slave Lake, to the Mackenzie River, where they expect to find the gold. Others in the party will be G. S. S. Wilkins, Orillia, and Messrs. Oliver and Cooper of Edmonton.

A Scotch Evening.

There was a large gathering last evening in Fern-avenue Presbyterian Church of the Sons of Scotland. Mr. John Imrie delivered his lecture, "The Scot at Home and Abroad," and it was made even more delightful by the lecturer's recitation of a number of his own poems. The address embraced Scottish history, song, story, humor, sentiment and patriotism. Aiding Mr. Imrie, a musical program was rendered by the Misses A. McNichol and J. Fisher, Mrs. Lillie and Mr. G. W. Grant. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Y.P.S.C.E.

WANTED AT ONCE—Ten Men to Go to the Yukon.

The Slocan-Cariboo Mining and Development Company, limited liability, are organizing a party to go to the Klondike immediately.

This party will go direct to Claim No. 38, Calder Creek, which will be made headquarters for further work.

Each member of the party will participate in the profits, both on Calder Creek location and on such other locations as will be taken up by the party.

The party will be in charge of Mr. Ewen Morrison, second vice-president of the company, who will remain in charge as captain.

Having this claim to start with and develop, the company can make it a central point from which to send out exploring parties, to keep the stock of provisions, be the first place for development, and in further manner be headquarters for the party.

By this system the dangers and risks of the Klondike are minimized, and by the division of labor and the division of profits the chances of failure are almost entirely eliminated and success almost assured.

Mr. Morrison, the captain of the party will be in Toronto for a few days, and will be pleased to give full particulars to enquirers. He can be communicated with at the office of Currie & Kiteley, 52 Yonge-street.
