An Expert Opinion.

"There is no truer portrayal of the character of the firm than the appearance and cost of the sheets of paper they use to make their representations. A poorly-printed piece of advertising literature, unless designedly made so, is a sure indication of a firm with loose business methods, or, perhaps, with an undue desire to economize at the expense of appearances, in which latter class can be put the cheap man, for whom anything is good enough. This man has the easy faculty of feeling that anything is good enough for all the rest of humanity, and therefore it behooves you to ask yourself if you can agree to be put in this class with this man."—The Advertising World.

Many English doctors are now convinced that the eating of pigs' flesh in different forms is greatly responsible for the increase of cancer. They point out that it is most common among the poor, whose chief meat is that of pigs, while the disease is extremely rare among the Jews.

Of Egypt's imports during the first quarter of 1903, which amount to $17,078,745, the United States furnished one-fiftieth. Her exports for that period amounted to $27,646,400, of which the United States got one-sixteenth. But these figures show that our business with that country has doubled in a year.

Research in the chemical laboratory of the University of Pennsylvania shows clearly that whisky and other alcoholics increase the bacteria-destroying power of the blood given in medicinal doses, at least in certain cases, and that this increase of bacteria-destroying power is in direct ratio to the dose, both in rapidity and degree.

Walking as an Exercise.

We must all walk, just as we must all talk prose. It is said that there as persons who make it a rule never to walk when they can ride. But it is never good economy to spare shoe leather. The man who keeps his legs in condition (it is equally true of the female) is doing much to keep his nerves and brain in condition, and he will probably be able to measure his degree of vigor by observing the strength of his knees.

It is true that walking is not the ideal exercise, from the anatomical point of view. It is better than cycling, for it allows of that half-swing of the pelvis at the advance of the legs alternately which is wanting in the cyclist's seat; and it gives much play to the arch of the foot and to the ankle. The chieif demerit of pedestrianism is that it gives no exercise for the arms and shoulders, and not much for the loins. The kind of walking which fulfills every end of exercise is that which one takes with a golf club in hand round a links. The swing of the body in wielding the club is a variety of muscular exertion which is too seldom practiced, and cannot be too much prized. A golfer will sometimes have remarked that certain groups of his muscles must be comparatively unexercised in ordinary, from the stiffness which he feels in them after his first day's play following a long interval; and among them are the muscles of the loins and flanks. It may be said to be a sound principle, needing no proof, that the better the condition of the muscular walls the safer the state of the organs contained within them.—London Hospital.

SWEPT 500 FEET THROUGH SEWER

The Wild Adventure of Three Waterbury Youths Far Underground.

Waterbury, Conn., July 22. — After being swept for 500 feet through an underground sewer, helplessly battling in the blackness against a wild rush of water, four lads, none of them over thirteen years old, were dragged limp and terrified, but still living, from a manhole on Cherry street yesterday afternoon.

The boys, Albert and George Travers, Jacob Wiseman and Wesley Borse, were gathering scrap brass in the dry bed of Great Brook, just back of the Waterbury Manufacturing Company. At this point Great Brook disappears in an underground conduit and becomes a sewer.

Suddenly someone opened the gates just above the boys. In an instant the bed of the brook became a raging torrent.

Screaming for help the boys were swept into the yawning black mouth of the tunnel. For more than 150 yards, floundering in the rush of waters which filled the conduit to its roof, and completely submerged them, they were hurled along, choking and clutching at the smooth sides. The Cherry street manhole has an iron ladder. This saved their lives.

The two Travers boys and Borse seized it as they were being swept by. Wiseman missed it. Albert Travers seized him by the collar and hung on, although the strain almost pulled his arms from their sockets.

The half-strangled four cried out weakly.

George Mulligan, a well-known athlete, sitting in a window of the North End Social Club, just across the street, heard the cries. He ran to the manhole and saw four white faces looking up at him. He dropped to the pavement and caught Wiseman's hand. Other young men, hurrying up, dragged the others to safety.

"It was all black and wet," said little Jacob Wiseman. "And Bertie almost had to let me go; but I prayed hard and a man came."

CYCLE CASE DISMISSED

Court Decides There Was No Breach of Contract.

Toronto, July 22. — An application was made before the court today by Walter J. Stethen, of Montreal, for the winding-up of the estate of G. A. Thorpe & Maddock, clothing manufacturers, Toronto. Stethen's claim is for $658 on a matured note and $1,979 on notes not matured. The estate is already in the hands of an assignee and the court made no order.

The long-drawn suit of Fred S. Evans, of Windsor, against R. M. Jaffray, Chicago, Hon. George A. Cox, W. Y. Soper, Ottawa, Hon. Lyman N. Jones, C. D. Massey and the executors of the Massey estate, was finally decided today by the dismissal of the action. Evans, who claimed to have a partnership in the promotion of the Canada Cycle and Motor Company, sued for an accounting of the partnership proceedings, and sued all the defendants, except Jaffray, for procuring a breach of the contract made by Jaffray. Mr. Justice Britton in dismissing the action held that there was no evidence to maintain the charge of breach of contract.

MOTORMEN WERE STUBBORN

Given an Indefinite Holiday for Delaying Two Street Cars.

Two crews of the street railway company were given an indefinite holiday this morning by Superintendent Break, owing to a delay of over half an hour which they occasioned to the cars on which they were working. The rule of the road is that when a car going to West London is three minutes late in reaching the switch at the baseball park, the car coming in the opposite direction has the right of way over the single track between the park and the corner of Ridout and Dundas streets. The east-bound car this morning had waited at the switch for three minutes, and when it reached the bridge met the other car. The motorman on the latter refused to back up to the corner of Ridout street, as he should have done, and the motorman on the east car would not budge a foot, claiming that he had the right of way. Passengers at the corner of Richmond street waited in vain for half an hour for a car to Pottersburg, while others wanted to go to West London, and finally, when none appeared and no report was made to the office of a delay, the superintendent started out to find the cause of the trouble. He was not a little surprised to find both cars standing on the bridge, with the crews taking life easily inside.

Corralling the Hoboes.

Ottawa, July 22. — All last night John Devlin and Alf Jones, tramps, sat in a Canada Atlantic box-car in Ottawa East and peppered holes through it with 32-caliber revolvers. They were arrested today. Two other tramps from Montreal were sent to Central Prison today for six months by Magistrate O'Keefe in conformity with the general provincial campaign to round up these undesirable gents of the road.

Undertakers test bodies to see if life is extinct by raising a blister with a match. If the blister is dry the body is dead; if it fills with water life is not yet extinct. If the cut made for the embalming syringe bleeds the body is alive. The only absolutely certain sign, however, is beginning decomposition.

Palatine guard. Further along they passed through the hall of tapestry and the chapel of the Pope.

The noble guard, in full scarlet uniforms, glittering brass helmets and silver sashes, the latter covered with crape, kept the last watch at the door of the apartment of their dead master. Outside the Vatican an interested crowd, including a number of Italian soldiers, watched the coming and going of the privileged mourners.

In the meanwhile the congregation of cardinals met in the hall of the consistory under the presidency of Cardinal Oreglia. It was determined to arrange for the accommodation of the cardinals during their enforced seclusion at the conclave in exactly the same manner as when Pope Leo was elected.

Mgr. Merry Del Val today took up the duties of secretary of the consistorial congregation.

TO RESCUE EXPLORERS

Britain Charters Whaler to Search for Captain Scott.

Dundee, Scotland, July 22.—A sensation has been created by the news that the British Government, acting independently of the scientific societies which fathered the British exploring expedition now in the Antarctic regions, will soon send out a relief ship of its own, instead of contributing money to provide any other enterprise.

An admiralty official has been here secretly, and has arranged for the charter of a steam whaler, the Terra Nova, recently absent on the other side of the Atlantic. Orders to return to this port were cabled across nearly two weeks ago. Upon arrival here she will be promptly repaired and supplied with provisions, and will sail for McMurdo Bay, where the Discovery was left last February by the relief ship Morning. When the negotiations for the charter and repairs were concluded the secret could no longer be kept.

Dundee is the greatest sealing and whaling port in the world, and constructs the best vessels for that traffic. Experts say that the Terra Nova is the finest craft in existence for the task. She was built by the same firm which constructed the Discovery in 1900-01. She is a steam whaler, capable of making nine or ten knots, and was launched in 1884. Her material and design admirably qualify her to fight her way through ice.

When the Discovery was last heard from she had been frozen in for eleven months at her winter quarters at the foot of Mount Erebeus, in south latitude 77:50 east, longitude 166:42. Provisions were tranferred to her by sledges over the ice, as the Morning could not approach her. Gun cotton for blasting out a channel will be carried by the Terra Nova, but doubts are expressed as to the feasibility of liberating her. If she cannot be moved her officers and men will be transferred to the relief ship and the Discovery will be abandoned. Every effort will be made to dispatch the Terra Nova by or before September.
