MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR IN HISTORY

Wellington Street Methodist Church Makes Splendid Records — $12,000 Raised.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings in the history of the Wellington Street Methodist Church was held last evening, when the business of the fiscal year was discussed. Twelve committees reported on their year's work. The pastor, Rev. W. J. Ashton, gave a report of his five years as pastor of the church. Rev. Mr. Ashton is to receive a new charge this year. He reported that there was a membership at present of 557. During the last five years there have been 283 new members received into the church. He conducted 81 funerals, 65 baptisms and married 102 couples. The amount of money raised for general purposes throughout the year was approximately $12,000. About $1,125 of this went to the general mission fund.

The superintendent of the Sunday school reported that there were 585 children on the class roll. This included the cradle roll. The average attendance for the year was estimated at 367. The sum of $1,100 was raised by the children for general use, and approximately $201 went for missionary purpose.

The Epworth League now has a membership of 59. The average attendance for the year was 30. One hundred and fifteen dollars were raised for missionary work.

160 W. M. S. Members.

The Women's Missionary Society reported a membership of 160, an increase over last year of 23. Seven women were made life members. Approximately $625 was given to missionary work.

The treasurer's report indicated that approximately $5,265 had been subscribed for the Forward Movement, and $4,800 had been sent to headquarters. The remainder of the money will soon be collected. The report also said that during the year $850, plus the interest, had been paid towards wiping out the debt of the church. The remaining debt is estimated at $8,500.

The leaders of the boys under the C. E. S. T. program and the Girls in Training reported splendid progress. The boys have been organized for four years, and this is the first year of the girls' club. There was an average attendance of 40 at the boys' classes, while in the girls' classes 36 attended the meetings.

John Watson, recording secretary, spoke to the congregation at the close of the committee reports.

Regrets Pastor Leaving.

"It has been a pleasure to me to act as secretary," he said. "Our pastor is a good man to work with, and it will mean a big loss to London if he leaves this district."

Rev. Mr. Ashton replied that during his pastorate in London he had had the fortune of being in touch with the best of people. He wished the church and the people success under their new minister.

Rev. Mr. Ashton was confined to his bed practically the whole of the winter months. But recently he has been able to do the entire work. He said that he was feeling much better, and was looking forward to a much greater success in his work.

At the close of the meeting a buffet lunch was served by the ladies.

BABY CLINIC IS HELD AT CHATHAM

CHATHAM, May 11.—A "well-baby" clinic was opened in the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon, with Dr. Bell of Toronto in charge. Nearly 100 babies were brought to the clinic, and of those, 82 were examined.

Miss Riddle of the provincial board of health, and district nurse, Miss Bicum, were present, also the medical fraternity of the city and nurses from St. Joseph's and the General Hospitals.

TWO DIE WHEN AUTO PLUNGES INTO THE RIVER

Big Touring Car Dashed Over Embankment Near Ford.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, May 11.—The police are investigating a double tragedy, which occurred on the river front a mile east of Walkerville at 9 o'clock tonight, when a Packard touring car, believed to have been driven by Lewis A. Koch of Detroit, got beyond control, and leaving the narrow roadway, plunged down a 20-foot embankment into the Detroit River. Both Koch and a woman who was with him were drowned.

The spot where the accident occurred is rather lonely, and it was nearly an hour before the Ford police learned of it. The car was found in about eight feet of water, a short distance from the river's edge. It was overturned and the bodies of the two victims are believed to be pinned to the river bottom.

Efforts to raise the automobile were unsuccessful up to midnight, owing to the extreme difficulty of obtaining proper wrecking apparatus, which could be used in such a position.

CITY OWES $14,681 TO THE SANATORIUM FOR CITY PATIENTS

Duncan McArthur Presents Request To No. 1 Committee That It Be Paid.

OBJECTIONS RAISED

City Also Asked To Pay $1.50 a Day Instead of $1.25.

Considerable objection was evident amongst the members of No. 1 committee yesterday afternoon, when a request was presented that the city recoup the Queen Alexandra Sanatrotum at Byron to the extent of $14,681, loss sustained in the care of city of London patients from September 30, 1919, to September 30, 1920, and also that the city increase its daily payment per patient from $1.25 to $1.50.

The request was presented to the committee on behalf of the London Health Association by Duncan McArthur, who quoted from the auditors' report showing that the number of days residence of city patients in the period named had been 1,318. During a part of this period the city only paid $1 a day and the Government 50 cents. The city's grant had later been raised to $1.25, and in July last the Government had increased its grant to 75 cents a day, making the total received on behalf of city patients $2 a day.

The auditors' report showed that the average cost per patient had, during the period, been $2.81 a day, so that for the main part of the time convened the Sanatorium had been losing $1.31 a day, and since July last, 81 cents a day on each of the city patients, with the exception of a few who themselves were paying 50 cents a day toward their care.

In view of these facts Mr. McArthur claimed that the city should reimburse the sanatorium. He also pointed out that the care of the treatment and restoration to health of the patients at Byron was not the only advantage to the city. "Removal of the people suffering from the disease treated at Byron from the city," said Mr. McArthur, "removes a great menace to the general public health, and surely this is a great thing to realize when considering the granting of the request."

Ald. Harley asked "why this statemetn had not been made to the city council before the estimates were prepared, so that provision might have been made for such a grant? The only way it could be done now would be by the issue of debentures."

Mr. McArthur replied that the auditor's statement was not complete at that time, but that a request was made to the mayor before the estimates were struck that the city should increase its grant from $1.25 to $1.50.

City Clerk Baker remarked that there was no power by which the payment of $1.50 a day could be made retroactive as suggested in the request presented.

"But here is a debt contracted by the sanatorium on behalf of the city," said Mr. McArthur, "surely the city would not repudiate such a debt."

Mr. Baker asked: "How do you make that a debt of the city? The city has paid the price agreed upon."

Mr. McArthur replied that it had been impossible to fix a correct figure on a rising market, but that now the market is falling it would be more possible to arrive at a correct estimate of the cost.

Ald. Watt wanted to know "if it is true that there were 80 acres of wheat grown at Byron last year and if it was true that an electrically driven mower had been purchased to cut it?"

It was true, replied Mr. McArthur, that wheat had been grown, but he did not know how many acres. "It certainly was not true that an electric cutter had been purchased to harvest it. The purchase of an electrically driven mower has been approved, but it had not yet been purchased.

"But you have lots of men up there who could do that work," said Ald. Watt.

"The work is medically beyond their power," replied Mr. McArthur.

Some further discussion of the matter took place before it was finally decided to recommend to the council that the grant be increased to $1.50 a day and that the council consider whether it has power to make the grant retroactive.

MOTION TO SEAT WOMEN IN SYNOD IS ROARED DOWN

John Ransford's Suggestion Provides Heated Discussion At Lively Session.

BUT "NAYS" PREDOMINATE

"In God's Name, Keep Synod a Man's Place," Says Opponent.

The closing session on Wednesday afternoon of the Synod of Huron in Cronyn Hall was perhaps the liveliest of all sessions, when John Ransford of Clinton introduced the motion that women be allowed seats in the synod. With a "Nay" that was almost a roar, the motion was voted down after a heated discussion.

Mr. Ransford, in his preamble to the motion, brought before the synod the admission of women into every walk of life with great success.

"Women have proven themselves by their admirable service in everything which they have undertaken," said Mr. Ransford. "At vestry meetings the women have been most welcome and we are only following in the steps of our motherland. In England commencing last year the women took their places on the church councils, but as the system has been only working a year it is almost impossible to say whether they have been a success or not. My proposition is just to give you an opportunity of saying yes or no," said Mr. Ransford. Rev. S. E. McKegney, who is also of Clinton, supported John Ransford in this motion. Mr. McKegney stated that he certainly thought women should be admitted to the councils of the church. "Then we shall be keeping abreast with England and following our recommendations to the Lambeth conference. For once let the London synod take the first action along this line, and let Toronto and Niagara dioceses follow after," he said.

Needs Serious Consideration.

Rev. Dean L. N. Tucker, speaking to the motion, said: "This is the first time that this question has been placed before any of our larger bodies, and we must give it serious consideration. I am not sure whether it is a practical thing to introduce it just at this time. We already give a large place to women in our churches, and they control and raise a large amount of money, and the women have been a glory to our church in Canada, and the Women's Auxiliary has been an inspiration to us all. The door does seem open to women and open wide. No woman has ever been allowed in the Jewish church, and the Christian church has more or less followed that church out in this respect."

"I do not see any reason why women should not be in our councils," said Rev. Mr. Dunbar of Listowel, "although I do not know why it should be introduced at this time, when the laymen are awakening to the duties and needs of the church. In the name of God, keep the synod a man's place. Your lordship, if women are admitted, I fear there will be less men every year until at last they disappear." (Applause.)

No Petitions For This.

Henry Macklin did not agree with the proposition at all and stated that he knew that the women had got up several petitions on different occasions for other things, but he had yet to hear of them getting up a petition to sit in the synod. "I think it would be foolish in the extreme to introduce such a motion at this time," he said. "I am a good Britisher, but we do not have to follow England in this step." (From the audience, you could do worse.)

After the discussion, John Ransford said very little and left immediately to catch his train to Clinton, saying, "You will see the sense and wisdom of this motion in three or four years' time."

Commended Orange Order.

Rev. Mr. Appleyard of Woodstock, and Rev. William Lowe moved and seconded that a resolution be passed appreciating the efforts that have been carried on for years by the Orange Order in efforts which have succeeded to prevent mixed religious marriage being made null, either in the province of Quebec or throughout the Dominion. It was stated that the Orange Order, for the past fifteen years has spent thousands of dollars, time and money in getting this decision from the privy council. The synod and bishop unanimously agreed that this resolution be passed. A resolution was also passed, that the committee and R. E. Davis, who were responsible for the banquet in the Masonic Temple, receive the thanks of the synod, also to Canon Fotheringham of Brantford for his synodical address, and the daily papers of the city for the extensive reports given of the synod meetings.

The report of the committee on deceased brethren was received and read by Venerable Archdeacon J. B. Richardson. The ranks of the clergy suffered less in the past year by death than for many years previous, Rev. William Francis Brownlee of St. Thomas having been the only clergyman who was removed by death. The ranks of the laity were depleted by four, and John Ransford reported on these. They were: R. M. McElheran, Chancellor of the Diocese Verschoyle Cronyn, E. G. Henderson of Montreal and Charles Jenkins of Petrolea. A tribute of respect and esteem was paid to each of the departed members.

Laymen's Association Report.

Sheriff Johnston gave the Laymen's Association report, and reported great activity during the past year, although it had hoped to do more. Colonel E. S. Wigle stated that a campaign to arouse interest in the churches of every deanery of the diocese would be commenced shortly. He urged that the laymen and clergy do all in their power to assist in the campaign. "Any man who is not live enough to associate himself with some church should be dead tomorrow," said the colonel.

He advocated that efficient laymen be appointed superintendents of the Anglican Sunday Schools and laid stress on the fact that if laymen are given work to do they will do it readily.

The following were appointed chairmen of the following archdeaconeries: Colonel E. S. Wigle for Elgin; A. K. Bunnan for Norfolk; R. E. Davis for London, and Judge Sutherland for Owen Sound.

Rev. A. L. G. Clarke gave a full report on the boys' work in the diocese, over which there was much discussion.

GUM-CHEWING

Reprinted From the Canadian Journal of Medicine and Surgery, May, 1921.

The habit of many people on this continent who chew gum after meals is not without reason, though they may not be able to give a rational explanation of why they do it.

The American spirit is eager and quick; and its incarnations hurry to work, hurry to and during meals, hurry home, hurry to their pleasures, and hurry to bed.

Their minds are exceptionally active. These they stimulate in various ways—notably by taking coffee and by gum chewing.

The resort to the use of chewing gum arises, in part, from the fact that they have swallowed their meals too rapidly. As a consequence, the potatoes and other starchy foods are improperly masticated and insalivated. So they chew the gum, swallow the saliva containing the ptyalin euzyme. The action of swallowing stimuates stomachic peristalsis, which hurries the food contents rapidly into the duodenum, where the starches are further acted upon by the pancreatic juice. The secretion of saliva is under the control of the nervous system. It is reflex action. Under ordinary conditions, it is excited by the stimulation of the peripheral branches of two nerves, the gustatory or lingual branch of the inferior maxillary of the fifth nerve and the glossopharyngeal part of the eighth pair of nerves, which are distributed to the mucous membrane of the tongue and pharynx conjointly. The stimulation occurs on the introduction of such as gum or other confection into the mouth, thus assisting the process of normal digestion.

Chewing of gum also cleanses the teeth by removing particles of food which may have lodged about them. The process of attrition likewise tends to keep the teeth polished.

Further, we have no doubt that chewing gum, through reflex action, stimulates cerebral activity and enables the chewer to think more rapidly and more clearly.

When food enters an empty stomach, as happens at the beginning of a meal, the acid first secreted combines with the proteid foodstuffs, and so does not affect the ptyalin. It usually requires 15 to 20 minutes before the acid is secreted in sufficient quantity to be in excess, as free acid, of the amount which can combine with the proteids, and during this time salivary digestion may continue. Of course, the action of ptyalin on food taken later in a meal is promptly stopped when it reaches the stomach because of the presence of free acid. There is, therefore, a good deal to be said in favor of the use of chewing gum immediately after eating.

CHAPLAIN LOST HIS FAMOUS TROUSERS

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Charlie Chaplin, who was burned about the legs yesterday, when he stumbled over an acetylene blow torch in the studio where he was working, is suffering no serious effects, but will be unable to work for several days, it was said today at his home. The comedian was said to regard the destruction of a pair of patched pants, familiar to millions of film patrons, as the worst feature of the accident.

--Do Your Share for the United Welfare Fund

UNITED WELFARE FUND ASSOCIATION OF THE CITY OF LONDON, ONT.

It's easy enough to say "No"—if you don't stop to think it over. If you do realize what the United Welfare Fund is for, you'll find it hard to say "No"—a "No" to the United Welfare canvasser puts one in the class of the duty shirker.

This week is the one week in the year you are asked to contribute toward the upkeep of the organizations and societies that conduct the welfare work of the city. In one donation—no matter how small—you can do a bit toward caring for the orphans and the aged, cheering the sick and the infirm, saving the babies, providing friends for the friendless, and building up the young manhood and womanhood of our city. Fifteen welfare organizations of the city will benefit by what you give.

The canvassers who call on you are all business and professional men of the city who are devoting some of their working hours to this good cause. They have taken this time so that all the welfare societies of the city can make their appeal together, so that the old method of many appeals throughout the year can be abolished.

Figure out how much you can give. Divide your donation into monthly or quarterly payments as you desire—and have your card filled out ready for the canvasser.

Allotment of donations to one or more societies or organizations is permitted but not encouraged.

Do You Know
what T. H. U. stands for? It means thermal heat units, and the size of your coal bill depends on the number of heat units your coal will produce per ton. When ordering your next lot of coal, just ask your dealer how many heat units he will guarantee per ton? If he cannot offer you as many as we, you know what to do. We are confident of the result.
