WANTED TO CARRY OUT PLAN OF REVENGE; THEY ACCUSED THE INNOCENT

Father Saved From Execution at Last Moment and Son From Imprisonment For Life

Cairo, June 6—A remarkable instance of an innocent man being condemned to death for murder and having his innocence proved almost at the foot of the gallows is reported from Upper Egypt.

A very rich landowner was found dead on his doorstep. An inquiry was opened, and his two brothers accused Omran Mahmoud and his son of the crime, which they swore they saw them commit.

The accused men declared their innocense, but, despite the efforts of their advocate, Omran Mahmoud was sentenced to death and his son to imprisonment for life, and the date of the execution was fixed.

The advocate sent in a petition for the commutation of the death sentence to the Khedive. Time passed, and he heard nothing as to the fate of his petition. The day before that fixed for the execution, the advocate determined to approach higher quarters. Just as he was about to proceed on this errand two men were shown into his office. They were the brothers of the murdered man.

They had come to confess to him that their evidence had been false, and that Orman Mahmoud and his son were innocent of the murder of their brother. They had merely accused them of the crime because they wanted to keep the authorities from suspecting the true murderer, on whom they intended themselves to take vengeance.

The real criminal was arrested, and on the eve of the execution Omran Mahmoud and his son were advised of what had happened.
