He Measured It.

BUT HE NOW KEEPS BOOKS IN LUNATIC ASYLUM.

What ruined me and got me into an Idiot Asylum was this: I used to have a strong contempt for lawyers. I thought their cross examinations were brainless dialogues for no purpose. But ever since Lawyer Johnson had me as a witness in the wood case I have had a better opinion of lawyers' skill. In my direct testimony I had sworn truthfully that John Hall had cut ten cords of wood in three days. Then Johnson sharpened his pencil and commenced examining me.

'Now, Mr, Perkins,' he began, 'how much wood do you say was cut by Mr. Hall,?'

'Just ten cords,sir,' I answered boldly. 'I measured it.'

'That's your impression ?'

'Yes, sir.'

'Well, we don't want impressions,sir. What we want is facts before this jury—f-a-c-t-s, sir, facts!'

'The witness will please state facts hereafter,' said the Judge, while the crimson came to my face.

'Now, sir,' continued Johnson, pointing his finger at me, 'will you swear that it was more than nine cords?'

'Yes, sir. It was ten cords—just—'

'There! never mind,' interrupted Johnson.

'How much less than twelve cords were there?'

Two cords, sir.'

'How do you know there was just two cords less, sir! Did you measure these two cords, sir?' asked Johnson savagely.

'No, sir, I—'

'There, that will do! You did not measure it. Just as I expected. All guess work. Now didn't you swear a moment ago that you measured this wood?'

'Yes, sir, but—'

'Stop, sir! The jury will notice this discrepancy.'

'Now, sir,' continued Johnson, slowly, as he pointed his finger almost down my throat, 'now, sir, on your oath, will you swear that there were not ten cords and a half?'

'Yes, sir,' I answered meekly.

Well, now, Mr. Perkins, I demand a straight answer—a truthful answer, sir:—How much wood was there?'

'T-T-Ten c-c-cords,' I answered hesitatingly.

'You swear it?'

'I-I d-d-do.'

'Now,' continued Johnson, as he smiled satirically, 'do you know the penalty of purjury, sir?'

'Yes, sir, I think—

'On your oath, on your s-o-l-e-m-n oath, with no evasion, are you willing to perjure yourself by solemnly swearing that there was more than nine cords of wood?'

'Yes, sir, I—'

'Aha! Yes, sir. You are willing to purjure yourself then? Just as I thought (turning to the judge.) You see, your Honor, that this witness is prevaricating. He is not willing to swear that there were more than nine cords of wood. It is infamous, gentlemen of the jury, such testimony as this.' The jury nodded assent and smiled sarcastically at me.

'Now,' said Johnson 'I will ask' this purjured person just 'one more' question.'

'I ask you, sir, do you know—do you realize, sir, what an awful—a-w-f-u-l thing it is to tell a lie?'

'Yes, sir,' I said, my voice trembling.

'And knowing this you swear on your solemn oath that there was about nine cords of wood?'

'No, sir, I don't do any thing of—'

'Hold on, sir! Now, how do you know there were nine cords?'

'I don't know any such thing, sir! I—'

'Aha! you don't know then? Just as I expected. And yet you swore you did know. Swore you measured it. Infamous! Gentlemen of the jury, what shall we do with this perjurer?'

'But I—'

Not a word, sir—hush! This jury shall not be insulted by a perjurer!'

'Call the next witness!'

This is why I am now keeping books in the lunatic asylum.

Order in a Western Town.

Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

The new city marshal of Beef Gap, Idaho, known before his appointment as 'Onion Bill,' and now called Chief Bridell, has established some new rules which are attracting much attention. As soon as Bill came in power several objectionable people left town, but, as it was feared they might return or that some of those who remained might overstep the bounds of propriety, Bill had the following printed and posted up in conspicuous places in the town and on all the roads leading thereto.

NOTICE.

This is to inform all citizens of Beef Gap and strangers sojourning therein, that on and after this date,

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1886,

it will be unlawful in this town for anybody to CAROUSE! CUSS! OR WHOOP!

On and after this date also there will be in this town—

No more compelling people to drink when they don't feel like it.

No more shooting of plug hats.

No more short card games of chance.

No more drinking of whiskey out of bottles when the bars are open.

No more noisy deviltry.

Any man riding or driving a horse nto a public bar will be shot.

Any man or men compelling another man or men to dance will be shot.

A man raking down the pot at poker will be shot dead.

Tramps, tin-horn gamblers, back-door lunchers, beggars, bone-yard bummers, horse thieves, three-card men, spill-pail scrapers and coffin-paint demolishers are

WARNED AWAY FROM BEEF GAP.

It is determined by the new administration to usher in an era of reform, and all good citizens will array themselves on the side of the law. All others will be turned over to the coroner. BILL BIRDELL, Chief.

As soon as this hand-bill made its appearance there was a great exodus.

SHERIFF'S SALE

To be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION, on Friday the 24th day of December next, in front of the Post Office in Chatham, between the hours of 12 noon and 5 o'clock p m;

All the right title and interest of Owen Hackett, in and to all those several pieces, parcels or lots of land situate, lying and being in the Parish of Glenelg and County of Northumberland, and described as follows, viz:—

All that lot of land situate, lying and being on the east side of the Queen's Highway known as the Richibucto Road, in the Parish of Glenelg aforesaid, and bounded in front or westerly by the Queen's Highway aforesaid; southerly by lands owned and occupied by John Flanagan; northerly by a lot of land granted to Robert Loban; and easterly by vacant Crown lands, and containing 100 acres—and which piece or lot of land was formerly owned by Robert Dickens and lately conveyed by him, by deed, to the said Owen Hackett.

Also, all that other piece or lot of land situate, lying and being on the east side of the Queen's Highway known as the Richibucto Road, in the said Parish of Glenelg; and bounded in front or westerly by the Queen's Highway aforesaid; southerly by the lot of land lately conveyed to the said Owen Hackett by Robert Dickens as above mentioned and described; Easterly by vacant Crown Lands; and northerly by lands owned and occupied by James and William Hackett and containing 50 acres,—and being all that piece or lot of land granted to Robert Loban and lately conveyed by him, the said Robert Loban, by Deed to the said Owen Hackett.

The same having been seized by me under and by virtue of an Executi issued out of the Northumberland County Court by John Fraser against the said Owen Hackett.

JOHN SHIRREFF.
Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Newcastle, 2nd Sept. 1886

CARD.

To the Electors of the County of Northumberland and of the other counties of the North Shore of New Brunswick:—

Gentlemen:—Political events that have recently transpired in the Dominion impress me with the idea that it may not be out of place for me to address you at this time. The Chambly election was, no doubt, a genuine surprise to many of you, while that in Haldimand seemed to still further complicate the situation, so much so that even our wisest politicians cannot now predict with any precision whether we shall or shall not have a Dominion election this fall. In the midst of such uncertainty it is well that at least one of your fellow-citizens should give no uncertain sound, for whatever may be the existing doubts surrounding the issues of the great political contest that is pending or not pending, whatever may be the opinions you hold respecting the N. P., the administration of the fisheries, the justice of the stumpage policy, secession, maritime union or annexation, there can be no doubt whatever that with the splendid facilities I now have in both machinery and men, I am safe in saying that I can manufacture Office, Church and School furniture—such as Desks, Bookcases, Counters, Showcases, Pulpits and School Desks—both in solid workmanship and style, equal and, in some features, superior to anything that can be bought in any other town in the Maritime Provinces. On the strength of this assertion I invite any persons in want of such articles to inspect my work and give me a call before going elsewhere.

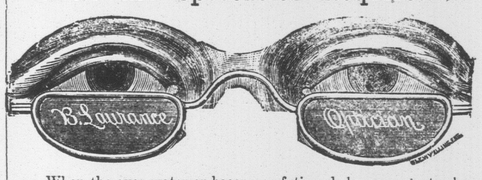
LAURENCE'S SPECTACLES.

When are Spectacles Required?



When the eyes water or become so fatigued by use as to be obliged to be frequently closed or relieved by viewing different objects

When more light is required than formerly.

When the letters of a book appear to blend with one another or to become double.

When the lamp has to be placed between the eye and the object.

When objects cannot be seen without holding them at an increased distance.

When much difficulty is found in threading a needle.

When the eyes appear confused as though they had a mist before them.

When black specks seem floating in the sight.

When any of the above indications arise all affectation should be laid aside and a pair of Laurences Spectacle's or eye Glasses should be worn immediately.

Good fitting glasses are a great comfort. Our facilities for testing the sight and suiting the age are not surpassed anywhere.—Prices to suit everybody.
