some discoveries. At Wasson's Head, on the Parrsboro shore, they found five small seams of coal. Two miles above the same place, at McKay's Bluff, on the coast, in the debris of shale, they found fossils of the coal-bearing measures. They also discovered a seam of coal, of fine quality, six or eight inches thick. Some of these veins might prove much richer if traced for some length.

It is said that the explorers have found considerable deposits of at least one new mineral of much value, but those who have attempted to interview them on this subject have not received much information. No doubt the facts will come out in due time.

They have given attention to the geology of the Bay, and have fixed the height of Blomidon, which they sat down at 1250 feet. They have fallen in with some fine specimens of basaltic trap. The cathedral rocks, so called, are as regular and beautiful as the basaltic columns of the Giant's Causeway, forming fine natural arches, causes, etc. In carrying on their scientific explorations, they have dredged the mouths of the Avon, Cornwallis, and Gaspereaux, but their dredging apparatus has been rather imperfect, a circumstance which Professor Baird of the Smithsonian Institute (who has been engaged on the study of the food fishes, in the Pasamaquoddy Bay) kindly offered to remedy by tendering the use of his own superior dredging apparatus.

The two scientific explorers will probably complete their geological researches this season. They will then go into the botany and ichthyology of the Bay and adjacent regions. We hear that their boat is not well adapted to the purpose, being too heavy and cumbersome, making it difficult for the explorers to land at pleasure and haul it to a place of safety. We should suppose that Mr. Selwyn, the Director of the Canadian Geological Survey, would be glad to have the assistance of such fellow-laborers as Professor Elder and Captain Beckwith. The latter gentleman has given attention to both science and commerce in many lands, and has written a good deal on the subject. The Professor is a distinguished Harvard man, and a writer for the leading periodicals of the day. If the Directors of the Canada Survey would even place a good boat and some suitable apparatus at the disposal of the explorers, this would be a service to them and to the cause of science.—St. John Telegraph.

The following extract from a letter of a correspondent to the Cincinnati Commercial may be of interest to any of our readers who may be contemplating making investments in railroad securities:

"Let the readers take a good map of the West and carefully scan the route of the Indianapolis, Bloomington, and Western Railroad and its feeders. Stretching from Indianapolis to Peoria, through what an ex-President of the Ohio State Board of Agriculture assured me is the richest vast section of farming land in the world, a distance of 312 miles; thence controling northwesterly the Peoria and Rock Island and the Davenport and St. Paul Railroads, which pass through a country as marvelously rich as the other. The whole distance is over six hundred miles, and the country looks like a garden all the way. Such fields of corn, and wheat, and oats, and grass I never saw elsewhere. There are not wanting droves of fine blooded cattle, such as one sees in the Blue Grass region of Kentucky, and countless hogs—enough, one would suppose, for the entire gentile world. Nor must I overlook the attractive farm houses, the extensive orchards, loaded with fruit, and the thriving cities and villages, which one expects to find only in old settled districts. The whole is most extraordinary, and at present the railroad facilities are not sufficient to carry to market the surplus fatness. That difficulty will be removed soon, and then let Cincinnati open her storehouses and increase the number of her elevators.

"But this is only a part of the story. The owners of the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railroad have now nearly completed a branch to Decatur, and are building another from Danville up to Paxton, on the Illinois Central, and a main line from Champaign, via Havana, to the Mississippi River It has not been so announced by those concerned, but I think I can see that the point to be reached is Quincy, and that the Hannibal and St. Joseph Road will be found eventually in this ring, bringing Kansas City Leavenworth and the Kansas Pacific Railroad next door to Cincinnati. Keokuk will be reached by a branch, and from the link that will connect the East with the road passing through Northern Missouri and Nebraska—the Midland Road—which has been built through the management of Mr. B. E. Smith, the Railroad king of Ohio, a man whose success in life has been as remarkable as it is well deserved.

"Here you have a network of roads under one control covering the finest sections of country in the 'boundless West,' capable of feeding the whole world."

BOGUS GREENBACKS.—Counterfeit American Bills to a large amount have been put in circulation in this place. They are so well executed as to be very difficult of detection. We have already heard of several persons who have been seriously victimized by this bogus money, and it is to be feared that it has been operated in very extensively. We have been shown several hundred dollars of these Bills, all of which have the appearance of being much worn. The public cannot be too much on their guard against this fraudulent money.—Yarmouth Herald.

THE LOCAL ELECTIONS.—The elections in Inverness, Yarmouth and Pictou, to fill the vacancies in the House of Assembly, will take place on the 16th of October. The 9th will be nomination day. The candidates in the field are as follows: Pictou—David Marshall and Alexander McKay; Inverness—Hugh McDonald and Dr. Campbell; Yarmouth—John K. Ryerson and Thomas B. Flint.

The late Election in Charlotte County for a representative to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of the Hon John McAdam in the Local Legislature, resulted in the election of Brown over Robinson by a majority of upwards of 400.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND NEWS.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Sunday, the 22nd ult, a sad fatal accident occurred near the mouth of Charlottetown harbor. Some eleven Indians, including squaws, were crossing the mouth of the harbor, near Rocky Point, and being rather in a merry mood, began frolicking in the canoe. All went well for a time, but the result was that the canoe wrs upset, and three of the party drowned. The bodies were recovered the next day.

THE GREAT SENSATION in Prince Edward Island last week was the finding of the body of a man at a place called Fifteen Point. The body was enveloped in a material "composed of birch bark and coal tar, which rendered the package hermetical." Around the waist was a belt containing ancient daggers and pistols. It is supposed that the body is the remains of Sam Belding, who "sailed the seas with Kidd's rovers," and who flourished 115 years ago. He died in Prince Edward Island more than a hundred years since. It is believed that a portion of Kidd's treasure is buried in the vicinity in which this body was found, and there is considerable excitement in consequence.

How few persons sufficiently take into account the demands which are made on the blood to supply the rapid growth of a child. How often do we see them, as they advance in years, get thin, weak, and pale though complaining little, they still fail, and losing their appetite, they become dull, weak and easily wearied. These combined symptoms are best told by themselves, in their own language, "I am so tired." And in this tired feeling is often laid the foundation of disease such as Curvature of Spine, and Disease of the Lungs, in both sexes; while from their weak condition, they are more exposed to the diseases of childhood, less capable of resisting them, and more liable to succumb when attacked. Dr. Baxter's Chalybeate has served such cases too well to doubt its efficacy.
