SUCCESSFUL GATHERING

Many Topics of Interest Discussed by Agriculturists in Session Last Week—Frances District Wins Wheat Trophy.

The chief interest in Wednesday's program lay in the evening addresses at which there was a large attendance.

During the day, T. N. Willing, provincial weed inspector delivered an address on the insects and fungus that are enemies to the growing crops, and suggested remedies.

The judges' awards in the seed grain fair were explained by J. A. Mooney and later R. L. Kidd spoke on how to organize for a fair.

In the afternoon there were demonstrations with horses by Dr. A. G. Hopkins and W. J. Rutherford.

In the evening U. M. Ross of the Indian Head forestry farm spoke on farm forestry. The preparation, planting and cultivation of trees was well outlined. The trees recommended for this climate as the most hardy and serviceable are the Manitoba maple, native ash, willow, cottonwood, tamarac and elm.

Prof. Creelman, president of Guelph Agricultural College, spoke on "Our Profession." He thought anyone who hadn't seen western Canada was not in a position to say they knew much about Canada. In Canada it seemed to be the aim of farmers to acquire money and move into the towns and cities. This he said was a mistake, for it was better to be a prominent resident in his own municipality than to leave the profession to become a second rate town man. He outlined the work being done at Guelph and gave much good advice to western farmers.

Dr. Charlton gave a short address on "Bacteriology in relation to Agriculture."

At the afternoon meeting on Thursday the report presented by the committee appointed to draft resolutions was presented.

The first resolution adopted referred to trespassing of threshers and recommended that instructions should be given to threshers to try to prevent the spread of weeds.

The second resolution favored the giving of some assistance by the government to agricultural societies in purchasing grounds for agricultural purposes.

The third resolution carried was to the effect that in the best interests of the province a number of demonstration stations should be established throughout Saskatchewan.

The next resolution favored agricultural societies giving prizes for the best kept farms.

Another resolution recommended that the department of agriculture should come to some arrangement with the railway companies concerning the handling of stock at fair time.

Mr. Caswell advocated a government grant of $5,000 to the Saskatoon fair, but the members present thought $2,000 was sufficient.

Among the other resolutions passed were ones favoring the formation of a national farmers' association.

The agricultural college scheme was approved of.

A resolution favoring the appointment of a farmer to the railway commission was adopted.

At the evening session which was attended by a large number of ladies Mr. Motherwell announced that the winner of the Field Crops Trophy was Mr. Thompson of the Francis district.

Prof. Murray, president of the university, gave an address on the need of a university and the kind that was needed. Prof. Creelman also delivered an address.

During the evening there were songs by Mr. Angus and Miss Connelly and musical selections by Miss Bessie Lynch.

On Friday addresses were given by M. Snow on the marketing of grain, and F. Hedley Auld also gave some useful information relating to the grain grown, elevator capacity in the province, as well as statistics relating to lumbering, mining and fishing.

Assembly Concludes Work of Session

ount available for public works in the province.

The discussion of the different items in the estimates were concluded at today's sittings.

SATURDAY, JAN. 23.

The odds and ends of business were completed at the sitting of the house held in the morning. Several bills received third readings.

On the third reading of the bills guaranteeing the bonds of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific, Mr. Haultain moved an amendment providing that the control of the lines should be placed in the hands of the province, that the government might at any time grant running rights on the lines north and south to other railways, thus introducing the element of competition. He also proposed the rates should be controlled by the government. In moving the amendment he said he thought the province should secure more than the mere line when going so far as to guarantee the bonds of the railway lines.

The government put up no one to speak on the question, and the house was divided on a straight party vote. The government defeated the amendments by 25 to 14, all members being present.

On the motion to go into committee of ways and means, Mr. Anderson asked if it was the intention of the government to enforce to the letter the law regarding forfeiture proceedings. Mr. Turgeon replied that it was, and Mr. Anderson continued, that to do so would be to work injustice to hundreds of poor people especially in the north of his district and in the south of Humboldt riding. These people, he said, had been up against a lost crop last year and the year previous, and they could not possibly meet the arrears now. He suggested that the government should take some steps to extend the time to these people and to make the burdens as light as possible.

In this plea he was joined by Mr. Langley but no action was taken by the government.

At three o'clock the lieutenant-governor arrived and after assenting to several bills prorogued the House. His Honor's prorogation speech was as follows:

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

Your labors having been brought to a successful conclusion, I have now to release you from your attendance at the present session of the Legislative Assembly, and I do so with confidence that the work accomplished by you will prove of great advantage to, and to the material welfare of our people.

The act providing for the establishment of Rural Municipalities will I feel assured, so complete the various organizations in the province providing for popular administration of local affairs as to assist towards a much more direct and close control of such matters.

The material support you have given to the projects for railway extension throughout the province will, I am sure, meet with general approval and give great satisfaction, and will, it may be confidently expected, do much to relieve the difficulties that have for so long retarded the advancement of those sections of the province where transportation facilities have not been readily available.

The various original and amending acts passed by you, will without doubt, prove of great benefit in the general administration of affairs.

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

I thank you for the liberal provisions you have made for the public service and other matters relating thereto.

I now take my leave of you in the earnest trust that the divine blessing may continue to rest upon the people of this province that the measure of prosperity hitherto granted to us may long be continued.

Lang, Sask., Jan. 21.—Lang and district are in a state of excitement over the word that Mrs. Ingles and four children have been burned to death in a farm house twelve miles northeast of town. Mr. Ingles was in Milestone at the time. The surviving child, a boy of 16, walked to a neighbors and gave the alarm, but is badly frozen. His recovery is doubtful. RETURN FOR FARMERS

Second Vice-President Whyte States that Annual Return to Tillers of Western Soil is Fifty Million Dollars.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—"The C.P.R. will eventually electrify its lines in the west and a commencement may soon be made in the southern portion of British Columbia."

Such was the statement made tonight by Wm. Whyte, second vice president of the C.P.R. Referring to the ever brightening prospects of the western country Mr. Whyte said the revival was now assured and would grow into a strong reality with the garnering in of another good crop and the continuance of desirable immigration.

"The settlers from the United States are the better class, they bring chattels, money, and," declared Mr. Whyte with emphasis, "they bring experience. The annual return to tillers of the soil in the west not taking into consideration the minor production, is about $150,000,000," said Mr. Wyhte. This divided must mean a big return individually. This ertimate is based on the return to the farmer from cereals and stock.

Referring to the talk of the great extensions the C.P.R. have in view in the west, namely, the spending of six million dollars, Mr. Whyte remarked that the Montreal dispatch of last week was geographically misleading.

"On the main line of the C.P.R. the line running north and south forms a junction with Moose Jaw and Lacombe north to Edmonton. The portion of the Lacombe-Tuxford line to be built this year is an extension from Stettler of thirty-five miles. There is to be some forty miles of the extension of the line which runs from Winnipeg north to Komarno. This would traverse the great timber and spruce belt between Lake Winnipeg and Lake Manitoba to the Icelandic settlements."

Another remark of Mr. Whyte's by way of correction was to the effect that the road between Winnipeg and Fort William was now, with the exception of 18 miles, double tracked throughout.

SHEEP HUSBANDRY

A timely bulletin entitled "Sheep Husbandry in Canada" by Mr. J. B. Spencer, B.S.A., has been issued by the live stock branch at Ottawa. Mr. Spencer has taken up the task from practically all the standpoints that concern the sheep raiser in whatever province he may dwell. After describing the ideal mutton sheep he gives a brief, though comprehensive history and description of eleven of the popular breeds. Next he covers in a practical way the establishing of a commercial breeding flock. Mutton production as a highly specialized industry is dealt with by reviewing the methods in vogue in Great Britain. Following this are approportionately described the various systems of finishing the mutton for the market in Canada. Nor does the treatment of the subject stop when the animal is fattened for it is followed right through the butchering and curing process until the joint is ready for the cook. Then come sections on handling, dipping, wethering, feeds and feeding, housing, weed destroying, enemies, etc., each subject exhaustively treated according to the practice of the most successful shepherds.

Evidently recognizing that the industry differs in the various provinces by reason of climatic and other conditions the author treats each separately. The section devoted to diseases will appeal to thousands of sheep men. This chapter covering upwards of twenty of the common ailments and accidents, was personally prepared by the live stock commissioner, who is also Veterinary Director General. As a practical home doctor book for the flockmaster this work will undoubtedly become a helpful standby. A review of the wool industry concludes the text of the work of more than 125 pages of reading matter. The book is profusely illustrated by some sixty beautiful plate illustrations printed in sepia and a number of line drawings. This attrative, comprehensive and practical "Bulletin No. 12 of the Live Stock Branch" is ready for free distribution to all those interested in the sheep or its products who care to apply for it to J. G. Rutherford, Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa.

The story s told of a Scotch preacher who gave his people long, strong sermons, and delivered them in a remarkably deliberate manner. One Sunday he asked a friend who was visiting him to occupy his pulpit in the morning. "An' were you satisfied wi' my preaching?" asked his friend as they walked home from the kirk. "Weel," said his host slowly, "it was a fair discoorse, Will'm, a fair discoorse; but it pained me at the last to see the folk looking sae fresh and wide awake. I mistrust 'twasna sae long nor sae sound as it should hae been."

The Choral Festival.

There was organized last year, as our readers are doubtless aware, the Saskatchewan Provincial Musical Association for our province. It is proposed that the festival for this year be held in Regina in the second or third week of May, and judging from the entries already received from various points it is estimated that there will be a chorus of four or five hundred taking part.

There will be competitions for choirs divided into two parts, choral societies, male voice and female voice choirs, male quartettes and female voice quartettes and trios, and other entries may be received. Choirs will be required to sing an anthem set by the committee and an anthem or part song of their own choice. Larger societies desiring to do so may render a larger work, say a cantata or operetta, taking possibly forty-five minutes in the performance.

By means of these competitions it is hoped that the incentive to higher efforts will result in the improved rendering of our church services and the cultivation of part singing and the love of music generally, in the province. But besides this, the competitive side, there is an additional feature of equally great importance to the educative side of music in our midst. This is the advantage gained by having so many singers gathered together and utilizing that gathering to secure a rendering of certain choral works which the choirs of our towns would otherwise deem beyond their scope in their more limited spheres. The result of this amalgamation, it is hoped, will have a three fold effect; firstly, the establishment of choral societies in communities where in ordinary circumstances it might only, after years, be possible to attain that end; secondly, the advantage to be gained by acquaintance with, and the study of the works of the great masters; and thirdly, the privilege of hearing performed these works by a chorus and orchestra which in point of numbers could only be exceeded in the very largest centres of population.

The services of competent musicians from outside the province will be secured in the adjudication of the various competitions and all other arrangements towards the success of the festival are in the hands of a special festival committee.

The music for the combined work is now being dispatched to choir leaders and those who have not already sent in their list of numbers should do so without delay.

Any who may desire further information, should communicate at once with Mr. F. W. Chisholm, Indian Head, secretary, who will also receive entries.

In Five Minutes.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Tringule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name of your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If you appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

This Japanese proverb has much wisdom in it:

"He who knows not and knows not he knows not, is a fool. Shun him
He who knows not and knows that he knows not, is humble. Teach him.
He who knows, and knows not that he knows, is asleep. Wake him.
He who knows and knows that he knows, is a wise man. Follow him."

POWERS CURTAILED

The Regina Inter-Urban Tramway Company Not Given All They Asked For—Only Allowed to Build to City Limits.

Early in the session of the assembly a private bill was presented in the legislature to provide a charter for the Regina Inter-Urban Tramway Company. This company proposed to build lines around the city and north to Last Mountain Lake. The citizens of Regina objected to the granting of the charter for lines through the annexes on the ground that some day the city might extend its limits to take in these and if these lines were built previously it would be detrimental to the city's interests. Ald. Sinton and City Clerk Hunter presented the city's side of the case before the Private Bills Committee. As a result when the bill came up in the Committee of the Whole it was so altered as to make the charter of little value. All the line the company is given a charter to build is from the city limits to the lake. Two miles of this they are to build in two years. It is probable that the company will not act under the limitations granted them in their charter.
