SPECIAL TO THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST

Eastern States.

NEW YORK, May 9—The police authorities have discovered an organized conspiracy of rum sellers and city roughs to precipitate a riot on the scale of that of 1863; the object being resistance to and the overthrow of the Excise Law, and to wreak vengeance on the Metropolitan Police. The disaffected of different wards have been holding meetings for several weeks; an association has been formed, and the members sworn to secrecy. Arms are to be procured—the organization partaking of a military character. The leaders and prime movers will be disappointed. All the meetings thus far have been attended by policemen and detectives in disguise. The names of the leaders of the plan are fully known. No fears are entertained of the result of the uprising.

NEW YORK, May 10—The Tribune's special says the Administration receives large numbers of petitions and suggestions from the South, complaining that the military commanders interfere unjustly with the rights of citizens, interpret the reconstruction too liberally, and are deposing civil officers and exercising the functions belonging to the civil authorities. The President is holding these petitions under advisement, and may give instructions to the commanders to prevent unnecessary interference.

NEW YORK, May 9—A delegation of Germans waited on the Mayor to request his influence against the Excise law. The Mayor indulged in a lengthy speech, stating that the Municipal Government had all prerogatives taken away by the Legislature. He urged them to make an orderly demonstration, similar to the Reform movement in England, and keep agitating for their rights. He would give them all the aid in his power.

The New York Superintendent of Police has ordered all shops, restaurants, barber shops, etc, to be closed from twelve o'clock Saturday night until six o'clock Monday morning, under an old law. The order has created considerable excitement.

The probable expenditures of the War Department will immensely exceed the estimates. The requisitions of the Quartermaster's, Subsistence, and Pay Departments, and for miscellaneous service of the Freedmen's Bureau, since the 1st of March to date, have been nearly $26,000,000. It is thought the expenses of the War Department for the fiscal year will be fr m $120,000,000 to $150,000,000, or five times as much as the estimates.
