"the keynote of modern medicine is rational therapy. A remedy based upon this principle generally attains the physician's confidence and support.

Antiphlogistine from its inception was intended for the rational treatment of all inflammatory conditions both superficial and deep seated, and that it is exceedingly well adapted for these purposes is amply proven by the unparalleled results obtained from its proper application.

Whether it be a case of Pneumonia or a Sprain, each exhibiting an inflammatory condition to a greater or less degree, antiphlogistine, applied thick and hot, has demonstrated its worth, by the relief of pain, and the subsidence of concomitant symptoms.

Physicians who have used antiphlogistins in their practice are in no need of further evidence of its effectiveness; these remarks are intended for those who may not be familiar with its reputation as a satisfactory and ethical remedy in the treatment of all inflammatory and congestive conditions."
