something effectual to prevent them. It is thus that the Government of India regards them "as contingencies to be expected to recur with more or less regularity." This is a view of the liabilities of Indian famine most necessary to be kept in mind. As a first duty the Government considers itself bound to make what it describes as a reasonable provision for meeting occasional expenditure upon famines. This is proposed to be effected by accumulating large cash balances which may be drawn upon as seasons of difficulty arise Perhaps all that the Government of India can do for the next few years is to maintain a considerable surplus of income over ordinary expenditure, and so provide for any calls that may arise on account of famines. But no Government can settle quietly down in the persuasion that liability to famine is always to remain one of the conditions of the people whose affairs it administers. As all serious and extensive famines in India may be traced to drought, the Government is bound to consider whether the disastrous effect of periodical failures of rain may not be mitigated or perhaps obviated by the extension of irrigation works and similar means.

The following telegram from the Viceroy, dated Calcutta, the 30th of May, has been received by us for publication:—"Good rain general north of Ganges; partial rain south of Ganges. Fears of agriculturists allayed, but some anxiety is still felt for future crops. Extended inquiry shows that seed grain is generally sufficient, but help from Government will be required in certain peculiarly situated tracts. Private trade continues active near railways and great rivers, but away from these the demand on Government stores is greatly increasing. Government grain is available wherever supplies of trade are deficient. Estimated consumption of Government grain to middle of May about 50,000 tons Sales of Government grain now amount to between 1,200 and 1,500 daily. Condition of people unchanged. Considerable increase of laborers on works in West Tirhoot and on Northern Bengal Railway; elsewhere increase slight. Increase of distress in Beerbhoom and Northern Purneah. Deficiency of grain reported in Pubna and Julpigoree, near which place there was a grain riot on the 21st. Fifty soldiers sent to assist police; two rioters killed. Place reported quiet on 25th. No other bad reports. Transport on all important routes now complete, except East Tirhoot, and on that line completion before rains secured by employment of reserve carriage collected from Northern India. Of one and a half million on relief works, not more than 180,000 are in receipt of daily wages; remainder are employed on relief work system, reduction of wages being cautiously enforced where possible. There has now been a careful inspection by Government officials, village by village, of distressed tract, 350 miles long and 70 broad, comprising 27,750 villages and over two million houses Funds subscribed by public are being used in cases where State aid is scarcely justifiable. No known cases of deaths by starvation reported since last telegram, and Government of Bengal report that four deaths included in last telegram cannot properly be called famine deaths, thus reducing total number of proved deaths to 22. As already reported, it is often impossible to distinguish between deaths from privation and disease; but it is certain that there has been no extensive mortality from want."

The Morning Post says:—How grave the peril now hanging over India is, few perhaps realise. It is not from the famine distress, with which the Government of the country is now earnestly, and we trust successfully, wrestling, that the menace mainly comes. No doubt that distress is immense, and must result in great loss of life and prosperity now and great damage to the progress of the country for years to come; but, so far as can be seen, the famine has been met by measures that promise to keep it within manageable limits. It is something even worse than this that threatens India. Hitherto the years of famine have been followed there by years of plenty, and so, great as the damage done by them has been on each occasion, there has never been any disaster of a crushing character. But the contingency of famine following famine has always been recognized as possible in India; and it has ever been felt that the effects of the occurrence of this contingency would be inculculably terrible. We trust that it will not occur; but it ought not to be disguised that the danger exists, and that it is impossible to assert that it is very remote.

DR. TYNG'S CALL TO THE MINISTRY.

I awoke in the early morning of the 19th of July 1819, with a voice that seemed to sound in my ear with the solemn appeal "What a wasteful life you are leading." I answered in my silent conscience and heart. "I will live so no longer." I immediately arose from my bed, and without dressing, knelt upon the floor and gave myself, in my poor way, to a Lord whom I did not know, but by whose voice I fully believed I was called. I went down as usual to my business, but my whole mind, and purposes, and plans were changed. The world of wealth had passed out of my view; a load of sin pressed up on my heart, but I knew no outward instructor who could comprehend my wants or guide my way. Thus I groped for days without one earthly comforter.

Nearly opposite the head of the street in which we are assembled, adjoining the Tremont House, you may see a small quadrant spot of grass inclosed. It is all that remains of a large and beautiful yard, in which was then the residence of Mr. Adam Babcock, one of the leading men of Boston in that day The whole residue of the property has been incorporated in the site of the hotel. In that court-yard dwelt a retired nurse, long in the family, in rooms prepared for her. She was a venerated Christian woman, who was familiarly called, by all the branches of the family, Aunt Minot. Some of my young female connexions told her the strange news that "Stephen Tyng was out of his head in thinking and talking about religion." The old lady sent a message desiring to see me. She was a Methodist. The family, like myself, had always been in the congregation of the Trinity Church. Her Christian home was "Bromfield Lane Methodist chapel." That lady was the first Christian friend I found who knew a Savior's love, understood a Savior's gospel, and could enter into my heart, having received this gospel neither by man nor from man. With her I could talk of Jesus, and not be deemed insane.

A single month passed before, under the pressure and guidance of that Spirit by whom I had been called, I left all the business of earth, and gave myself simply and wholly to my Saviour's work. I was considered insane by many in a world which looked only to its own things. I have no doubt that many of my friends really lamented over me as insane. But whether I was beside myself it was to God. I gave up all the prospect of wealth before me, and determined to preach my Savior's gospel. My dear father, with whom I lived, replied to my proposal of this change:—"are you crazy? You are throwing away the most brilliant prospects of any young man in Boston." I answered: "I was never more sane in my life, sir. I cannot help it. I know that I am called to preach the gospel. I know that there are some places between here and the Rocky Mountains for me to preach my Savior's love. I am going until I find them." The venerated man was overwhelmed. "Well," said he, "you will spoil a first-rate merchant to make a very poor parson" "It may be so, sir, but I must go." He was spared to me for ten years after that interview, to value most highly my poor attempts, to encourage with the utmost affection my efforts in the Savior's cause, and gain a part of his consolation in death from my grateful ministry. This was "my manner of entering in"—Dr Tyng's Lecture before the Boston University.

AN INCIDENT OF THE CRUSADE.

THIRTEEN LADIES LOCKED IN A DRINKING-SALOON FOR SIX HOURS BY A WOMAN.

A band of ladies who started out to visit the liquor-saloons in Adrian, Mich., a few days ago, met with some peculiar experiences, which the Times of that place describes. It says: "They reached Fisher's saloon a little after 4 o'clock. They found Mrs. Fisher in charge, and the saloon occupied by quite a party of men. As soon as the ladies entered Mrs. Fisher became very much excited and told them to go out, as she wanted to lock the door She proceeded at once to carry this threat into execution, three ladies, however, leaving before the door was locked. The ladies state that not five minutes elapsed after they went in before the door was locked Of course, as soon as it became known that the ladies were locked in the saloon it caused a good deal of excitement upon the street and among the friends of the imprisoned ladies The crowd in front of the saloon became large, and by dusk the streets were crowded. After the door was locked, the ladies ascertained that Mr. Fisher was away from home, but soon he returned and stood guard over the door on the outside Mrs. Fisher told the ladies they should remain until 6 o'clock in the morning. She was perfectly wild with anger and excitement, and would listen to reason from no one. Mrs. Bourns endeavored to talk with her, but she would hear to nothing. After a short time Mayor Kimball hearing of the state of affairs, went to Mr Fisher, and endeavored to get him to release the ladies He was admitted to the room through the rear entrance, and found that Mr Fisher would listen to reason, and he finally almost consented to release them, but Mrs. Fisher refused positively, saying that they should stay until morning, and as that lady had possession of the key, it seemed for a time that her threat would be carried into execution. The Mayor then talked with the ladies, and endeavored to effect some compromise by which they would be released. Mr. Fisher wanted them to promise not to come to his place again, but this, they said, they could not conscientiously do. After some consultation, Mrs. Bourns addressed Mr. Fisher substantially as follows: 'Mr. Fisher, we have no unkind feeling toward you. Our only object is to promote the cause of temperance. If you will promise to obey the laws of the State, we will promise never to come here any more.' Mr. Fisher here interrupted Mrs Bourns by saying: 'I won't keep the laws of the State.' Mrs. Bourns continued: 'You will have to give an account of this at the judgment seat of God.' Several times during the evening, Mayor Kimball about persuaded Mr. Fisher to unlock the doors, but Mrs. Fisher positively refused. She was encouraged in her position by the German Catholic priest, who was in the back room, and a certain supervisor, and several Germans who were there. Several times Mayor Kimball thought he had matters arranged, when something would be said to her by some of them, and nothing could be done with her. The Mayor finally obtained a promise that they should be left out at 11 o'clock, but Alderman Haag, at the request of Mayor Kimball, used his influence with Mrs. Fisher, and the door was unlocked about 10-30 when the ladies departed and the crowd dispersed. During most of the time of their confinement they were kept without a light. At the request of the Mayor Mr. Fisher gave them a light, but Mrs. Fisher blew it out. We understand that this was repeated several times."

NEW BRUNSWICK.—A correspondent writing from St. John on the 14th inst. says:—Sabbath desecration was unblushingly and daringly perpetrated here on a large scale, and under the sanction of railway and city officials yesterday. The place, both on the north and south side of the river, was thrown into an uproar as on a fair or race day by the rush of railway cars, waggons, horses and throngs of idlers, old and young. The occasion being the entry, as the bells were ringing for evening service, of "The Great (?) New York Circus" into town, with its long string of dirty retainers and hangers on.

BANKS.—A branch of the Bank of Montreal has been established at Chatham. The Bank of Nova Scotia will shortly open a branch in St. John.....HON. MR. SMITH left Ottawa yesterday for home.

AN EXPENSIVE INSTRUMENT.—Dr. Sweeny, Bishop of St. John, is ordering from England for the Roman Catholic Cathedral of that place, an organ to cost $6,000.

MELANCHOLY AND FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Friday afternoon, several lads living in the neighbourhood were having a rehearsal, for a private theatrical performance in a barn near the Valley Church. Among the lads were Fred. Allan, son of Mr. Harris Allan, and Albert Goddard, son of Mr. C. E. Goddard, each about 14 years of age. At one part of the play young Allan flourished an old rusty dagger at Goddard, and the latter presented a Smith & Wesson revolver, which he had procured in some way, and snapped it at Allan. It was supposed to be unloaded, but unfortunately one of the chambers contained a cartridge, and the ball took effect in Allan's chest, a little towards the left side. The lad fell back, and an alarm being given, a mattrass was procured and he was carried to his father's residence on Wright street. Drs. Christie, Bayard, Steeves and McLaren were all called in, but they gave no encouragement that life could be saved. The ball could not be found. The poor lad was unconscious almost from the first. During the night he received all the attention that affectionate relatives and friends could bestow, and he did not seem to suffer much pain. All was of no avail, however, for he died this morning about half-past nine o'clock. The deceased was conscious for some minutes after the fatal accident, and, feeling that death was certain, called young Goddard to him, kissed him, bade him farewell, and exonerated him from all blame in the sad affair. An inquest will be held by Coroner Earle this afternoon. This trying circumstance has evoked the deepest sympathy to-day for Mr. Allen.—Globe.

DEATH OF YOUNG ALLEN.—Master Fred Allan, who was accidentally shot on last Friday evening, died on Saturday morning at ten o'clock. He had passed a comparatively quiet night and died calmly. An inquest was held in the afternoon before Coroner Earle, but nothing materially different from the facts already stated was adduced by the evidence. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts. Nothing so sad as the death of this fine boy has occurred in our city for many a day. The family have the deepest sympathy of all who know them.—St. John Telgraph.

PRESBYTERIAN UNION.—The St. John Presbyterian Advocate in an article on this subject says:—"The matter comes up for discussion at the meeting of the two Synods to be held at Halifax on the last Tuesday of June. We trust nothing will prevent a cordial acquiescence in the basis as adopted by the two great churches of the west. It is absolutely necessary that the scattered Presbyterianism of this magnificent Dominion should be consolidated and welded into one mighty, united harmonious whole.—Should this union be effected, the Presbyterian Church will be the largest united Protestant denomination in the Dominion. Presbyterianism is second in point of numbers, now, only to the Methodists of different names. What a power for good such a church, stretching from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island, might wield! The united church would then have one of the most magnificent Home Mission fields in the world, and a Foreign Mission which includes the negroes and coolies of Trinidad and the Indians on the Saskatchewan, the Chinese of Formosa and the dwellers in the South Seas. A mighty impulse would be given to every branch of the church work and another step would be gained in the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom."

P. E. ISLAND ITEMS.—Charlottetown was on Monday visited by a hail-storm that "would not be discreditable to the month of November." Lumps of ice of a large size fell for a time thick and fast.

TRUE MERIT APPRECIATED.—"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES," have been before the public many years. Each year finds the Troches in some new, distant localities, in various parts of the world. Being an article of true merit, when once used, the value of the Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always on hand, to be used as occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale everywhere.

TOOTH-ACHE proceeds from ague in the face, operating upon the exposed nerve of a decayed tooth. Rub the gum thoroughly with the finger, wet with Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, heat the face well, and lap a flannel wet with the liniment on the face; also put a little of the liniment into the cavity of the tooth on cotton.

THE system frequently gets out of order and should be at once regulated, else other troubles will ensue; when physic is needed take Parsons' Purgative Pills; they are a safe, wholesome, and natural medicine.

MR. S. G. KERR, Canning, N. S., says:—After an acquaintance with most of the popular Pain Killers and Liniments of the day, I without hesitation say, I have seen more benefit resulting from the use of GRAHAM'S PAIN ERADICATOR, than any other preparation. It must indeed be a virulent case of Sore Throat, or an Influenza Cold (no matter how much the feeling of rawness in the throat and chest) that it will not remove in a single night, by a faithful application on going to bed. It takes immediately it will relieve any case of cough or cold. In cases of Cuts, Sprains and Bruises, it will remove the soreness and restoration follows with surprising quickness. I also use it in cases of burns and scalds with good affect.

The above Camp Meeting will commence (D. V.) on July 8th next, to continue one week.

Circuits or persons desiring to have tents on the Grounds, may receive all necessary information by applying to E. C. Foster at Berwick.

The Camp Meeting Committee have great pleasure in informing the public that a large number of Ministers and other Christian workers are expected, and also Dr. and Mrs. Palmer have acceded to their request to be present on that occasion. They have further pleasure in announcing that the Local Legislature have passed an act specially for the protection of the Camp Meeting, prohibiting the sale of all intoxicating liquors within three miles of the Camp Grounds, and also that the Sessions for the County have passed a resolution, that all shanties and saloons on the highway are a Public Nuisance, and the Police Magistrates are authorized to at once remove them.

The Committee will in due time make arrangements with the Windsor and Annapolis Railway Company that all persons attending the Camp Meeting can come and return at one fare.

Every pains will be taken by the Committee to accommodate the friends attending the Meeting at the lowest possible rate.

By order of the Committee.

E. C. FOSTER,
Corresponding Secretary.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tenders for Custom House, &c., Pictou," will be received at this office until Monday, the 6th day of July next, at noon, for the erection and completion of a new Custom House and Inland Revenue Office, at Pictou, Nova Scotia.

Plans and Specifications can be seen at the Office of Messrs. Stirling & Dewar, Architects, Halifax, N. S., on and after Tuesday, the 16th day of June, instant.

Contractors are notified that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signature and the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same.

For the due fulfilment of the Contract, satisfactory security will be required on real estate, or by deposit of money, public or municipal securities, or bank stocks, to an amount of FIVE PER CENT on the bulk sum of the Contract.

To the Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.

By Order,
Department of Public Works, Ottawa, 9th June, 1874. F. BRAUN, Secretary.
