the Queen's and McCallum's wharves and the new landing-place at the Lower Town market. The sight was altogether animating; the river was clear of ice, and the little fleet of canoes some of them lashed together in pairs, for greater security, crossed in handsome order. As soon as the first boat touched the shore ice and the Colonel set his foot upon it, the Bands of the 15th and 66th Regiments, struck up God save the Queen, and the Volunteers greeted the reinforcement with three hearty cheers in which they were cordially joined by most of the spectators.

The men were speedily disembarked from the other canoes, and having formed, marched in sections to the Jesuite Barracks, preceded by the Band of the 15th Regiment. They were warmly greeted on passing Prescott Gate, and the several Volunteer Corps escorted them, the Quebec Volunteer Artillery taking the lead with the Band of the 66th Regiment at their head. The 43d having entered the barrack yard, the Volunteers continued their march through Fabrique and St. John streets round into Lewis street, and by the Place d' Armes, where they filed off to their respective parade grounds.—They made a very soldierlike appearance, and so large a body of citizen-soldiers under arms for the support of the Constitution and the maintenance of the British connexion, made a salutary impression on those who may have regarded the absence of the regular troops as presenting a favorable opportunity for perpetrating mischief.

Notwithstanding their long march and exposure to the weather, the men of the 43d appeared in good health and spirits, and are a fine body of young fellows with good stamina and well able to encounter fatigue. The order in which they have arrived says much for the discipline of the Corps and not a little for the arrangements which have been made throughout the route for their accommodation and progress.

The number of rank and file in this division, is we understand, 150, and the following are the officers who accompany it: Colonel Booth, Captains Munday and Egerton, Lieuts. Oxenden, Cole, Herries and Paget. The number of sufferers from frost is not great, and the cases are in general slight, indeed we have only heard of one serious case. The second division will be here on Saturday, and the third, we learn on Monday next. They will be stationed for the present in the Jesuit Barracks, the 15th Regiment removing to the Citadel.

MILITARY FORCE OF UPPER CANADA.

72 battalions of Militia, consisting of 500 effective men each	36,000
Dragoons	3,000
Pensioners and discharged Soldiers	1,000
	40,000

The Kingston Chronicle adds:

The impregnable "Fort Henry," filled with the most perfect munitions of war, consisting of every thing from an empty sand-bag to a thirty two pound cannon, and well stocked with provisions. There are also scattered through this Province, a great number of officers, from the rank of Colonel to Ensign, many of whom have learned their tactics under the great Captain of the age. His Excellency is now availing himself of the services of these veterans, whose experience will soon make the militia equal to regular troops. The spirit of loyalty manifested by all classes of Her Majesty's subjects, is most gratifying. When we consider that all the mighty resources of the British Empire are at our command, we may say, without fear of contradiction, that this Province is impregnable against domestic or foreign foes.

MADRID, Nov. 21.—An extraordinary phenomenon occurred at Cadiar, a small village near the Alpujanas, in the province of Granada, at the commencement of this month. A young woman, the grand-daughter of a man in respectable circumstances, named Almendras, and of 17 years of age, died from spontaneous combustion. She was consumed in less than three hours. Her mother, in attempting to save her, was dreadfully burnt. This girl never drank wine nor any spirituous liquor, but was of an extremely irritable temperament, and the day before her death had a violent quarrel with her mother.

INVASION OF TEXAS.—The Mexican army, 2000 strong, with a reinforcement of 600 men, with 300 well mounted cavalry and two pieces of artillery crossed the Rio Grande on the 30th of October. It was given out that they were destined against the Cumanche Indians, but there was no doubt that their march was upon Texas.
